The papers are full of opportunities for investing you money in oil stock.

Expert promotors fill columns of space, and offer a large amount of stock for a small amount of money.

They give you a picture of a gusher combined with extravagant statements as to profits, and expect the public to pour in the money to help develop their airy, oily project.

Confiding investors may win, but their chances for paying assessments, and more assessments, are better than for recieving dividends.

Compare with these schemes the investment of your money in——The many friends of Mrs. Mattie Waterman (nee Phillips) will be pained to learn of the death, in Philadelphia, Sunday, of her infant child. Mrs. Waterman is doing well.

—News from Capt. J. M. Thompson, who has been wintering at Colorado Springs, Colo., is to the effect that his health is very much improved has very little asthma, and rests well.

—The U. S. fish car comes so often with the young fish for Lake Michigan that it is hard work to keep track of it. It was here again yesterday and sent out 125 cans with one of O'Neill's tugs.

—Alcock & Mudge, the building contractors, on Tuesday signed contracts to erect a $4000 cottage on the Charlevoix Summer Home grounds for L. S. Rupert, of Bloomington, Ills. It will be one of the finest cottages here, and will be ready for occupancy July 1st.

—The Charlevoix County Grange will meet with South Arm Grange on Thursday April 17th at 10:30 a. m. It is desired that all granges be represented as there will be business of importance. Come before the meeting and a good program will be prepared.

—Albert Holmes returned home from Florida Monday. He reports Charlie Lamereaux in improved health, and that he will probably remain there until about July 1st. Mr. Carpenter will probably remain in the south until that date, putting in some of the time in South Carlonia.

—A spring edition of winter came Sunday night, leaving for our astonished morning gaze, four inches of the same kind of snow that falls in January, while the temperature was of the overcoat and overshoe sort. The general comment is that it is all for the best—that early summer will not now borrow March winds and cold, cloudy skies.

—There are ways and ways of making "easy money," but about the biggest graft is a peanut machine. A sample of the earning capacity of the machine is shown by the fact that one man at Flint who bought a machine last September for $75 has had nearly 4,000 pennies dropped into it. The peanuts cost him $15 and he had taken out of it $320.50 or a profit of about $10 with the machine all paid for.

—At a recent meeting of the Charlevoix Sugar Co. the following officers were elected: President, Harry Nicholls; vice President and general manager, Jas. M. Ostle; Secretary, J. Mile Estey; treasurer, A. Burress; supt. Agriculture, E. W. Coulter. It is understood that these officers are elected only until the factory is in operation.

—Supervisors elected: Gray in Hayes; Wagner in Norwood; Adams in Marion.

—Petoskey carried the county seat proposition Monday by 1000 majority and re-elected Mayor Rose (Dem.) over Wm. L. Curtis.

—In Grand Rapids Monday the republicans carried the city, electing Palmer for Mayor over Perry, by a good majority.

—The board of physicians recently appointed by the Judge Mayne to examine Mrs. Coates as to her sanity, on Tuesday did its work and pronounced the prisoner sane and competent to receive sentence.

—We congratulate our neighbors sincerely [on the sugar factory] and agree with the editor and the Charlevoix county farmers, that there is nothing in the rumpus in Congress over the reduction of duty on Cuban raw sugar which in any appreciable way will militate against the success of beet-sugar manufacturing in northern Michigan.—Petoskey Record.

—Service will be held in the Episcopal church Monday evening, April 14, at 7:30 o'clock, by Rev. C. T. Stout. It is hoped that all who are thinking of Confirmation will be present at this service and at the instruction to be given after the service and sermon. Subject of the sermon "The Meaning and Purpose of the Church, and Duty of membership in it. The public cordially invited.

—Election passed off quietly Monday, there being but one ticket in the field. The following ticket was elected: Supervisor, John Ward; Clerk, Lisle Shanahan; Treasurer, L. S. See; Highway Commissioner, J. W. Alcock; Justice, A. A. Swinton; School Inspector, full term, H. M. Enos; Vacancy, E. H. Green; Board of Review, John M. Ackert; Constables, George Williams, Ralph Washburn, Chas. E. See, L. E. Smith.

—S. Shepperson, the Pere Marquette Ry. Co. agent here has been transferred to Petoskey, to take immediate effect. While we are sorry to lose Mr. Shepperson, we congratulate him on his promotion, as the change carries with it a substantial increase of salary. Mr. Shepperson has made many warm friends here, and Petoskey is decidedly the gainer by our loss. Mr. Brown, who has been ticket agent at Petoskey, succeeds Mr. Shepperson here.

—Rev. Dr. James Hyslop begins his third year as pastor of the Charlevoix Congregational church next Sunday. In his morning sermon he will review the work of the past year, and speak of his hopes for the future. Dr. Hyslop's pastorate here has been marked by a steady growth of the church membership and a harmony of co-operation of the church with the pastor that is a guaranty of continued temporal and spiritual good. Under the Catholic system, Dr. Hyslop would be considered an "irremovable," so successful has he been in his relations, not only with his church, but with the public at large.

The last year in the auditor general's office has been remarkable for the increase in business done by the tax department. The unprecedented activity has been sized up by some who have had business there as due to a craze for tax titles. Auditor General Powers says that an especially encouraging feature of the rapid disposal of lands that have become the state's through the non-payment of taxes by original owners lies in the fact that many thousands of acres are being bought for colonization purposes and will thus become improved and not only add to the general prosperity of the state, but, in time, materially increase its taxable valuation.

WHO PUTS UP FOR IT?

SYSTEMATIC MANUFACTURE OF CUBAN SYMPATHY SENTIMENT.

Editors Are Asking from What Source Come the Elaborate Backing of the Cuban Scheme, Which Is Working Overtime in Behalf of Foreign Sugar and Tobacco Growers.

We have received from the editor of a Sag-Saloon daily newspaper in Michigan the following pathetic inquiry:

Editor The American Economist:—Can you tell us who that source of misinformation is that "shows our duty" toward Cuba? Somebody has up for it, and it costs a lot of money. Who is it?

It would be useless to deny that a tumultuous sentiment has been worked up in behalf of tariff concessions to the sugar and tobacco from Cuba. The term "worked up" is used advisedly. There is plenty of evidence of method and design in the sympathetic demands that has been in progress for several weeks past. The evidence as to the origin and presentation of this sympathetic sentiment is not so plain. It may be inferred, since it cannot be positively revealed, that Havemeyer is at it. It, however, that possibly agencies have been employed for the purpose first, of constituting the people that they owe something to Cuba, and second, that the payment of the concession would fall exclusively into the hands of Havemeyer and other sugar-trust magnates, the agencies of this sentiment would be very proper. It is not improbable that in all those pieces for Cuban relief, in those plans for assuaging our "just obligations" and the performing our duty duty, we were doing so one has suggested that the political manoeuvre of the sugar-trust involved some kind of a trade, the stipulation that would cede the tobacco trust would cede the sugar trust. Editors as a rule object to being used as tools, but it not so by them to cede, believe it.

Same Old Story.

Certain newspapers that believe to free trade are fond of the Babcock movement. There is every reason why they should be. The movement proves to be a fraud, a snare and a delusion, and this would be guaranteed to gratify any other course. At the same time there are newspapers professing free trade principles and ostensibly in favor of protecting American industries, who are supporting Mr. Babcock's measure. They have no more definite idea of what it is than they have given to the general public. Though the columns of the press but they have gathered the impression in general, that it is some blessed boon to the people, and that all the good men and other their associates in the cause favor it. Of the same old story. When the country was prosperity was ascribed to the McKinley tariff, and when the depression came it was blamed on the Wilson bill. The McKinleyites said it was bad, the Democrats said it was good, and the people suffered. It is not so in this case. It is a mere sound and fury, signifying nothing. The Babcock measure is not a protection measure, it is not a free trade measure, it is not a reciprocity measure, it is not a tariff measure, it is not a revenue measure, it is not a measure of any kind, it is a mere sham, a fraud, a delusion, and a snare. Those who have been deceived by it, those who have been given to the general public through the columns of the press, but they have gathered the impression in general, that it

MARINE NOTES.

The Steamer Hackley began making Bait Jordan trips Monday morning.

The St. Ignace steamer Mary was launched yesterday at Washburn's yard.

Capt. Joe L. Sheldon, who sailed the schooner Maize in 1861 is dead in Toledo.

The U. S. local inspectors are here today to inspect the steamer Beaver and tug Grace.

Capt. Frank Thager, representing the Inland Lloyds Marine underwriters, was here Saturday and examined the steamers Beaver and Mary.

The U. S. lighthouse tender Dahlia arrived at the supply station Wednesday morning, loaded buoys and proceeded to the straits.

The schooner J. Duval, Capt Frame, loaded with lumber at the Charlevoix Lumber Co's docks for Harbor Beach this week. The Duval will trade regularly here this season.

Navigation is now wide open. The steamer Welcome has made a second trip to Two Rivers and cleared again Monday. The schooner Dalton arrived Saturday, and Monday the steamship Illinois arrived from Chicago. The steamer Walter Oyler arrived from East Jordan. Steamers are now fast trip of the season, and up lake navigation is now fully open.

FIRE AT BOYNE CITY.

Four People Are Burned to Death Before Eyes of Citizens.

At 11 o'clock Sunday night the residence of Mrs. James W. Thompson at Boyne was destroyed by fire. The house opened with great rapidity, aided by a stiff gale, and before the inmates could be rescued all chance of escape was cut off. Four people were burned to death. They were—Mrs. James W. Thompson, aged 35; Mrs. Emeline Littlefield, aged 35; Leona Littlefield, aged 12, Frank Littlefield, aged 7.

Mrs. Littlefield and her two children arrived from Sprague, Wash., last Friday for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Thompson. She had been delayed a number of days by snow blockades, and was due there last Tuesday. Mrs. Littlefield was awakened by the smoke in her room, and appeared for an instant on the porch. Then, thinking of her mother and children she rushed back into the burning building, and was seen no more alive.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hayes, who occupied quarters in the building, had a narrow escape. They lost everything they possessed, except the night clothes in which they escaped. Mr. Thompson, father of Mrs. Littlefield also succeeded in making his escape.

The bodies of the victims were found Monday morning, charred almost beyond recognition. Mr. Littlefield's body was identified by the rings on her fingers. The arms and legs of all the church were burned entirely off.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the Methodist church and the remains of the four persons were buried in one grave.

The lumber had been seen in outlining the flames to the Thompson home, as a fierce wind and snow storm was raging at the time. The loss will be in the neighborhood of $2,000.

SCHOOL COMM'S COLUMN.

A. W. CRAIG, CONN.

Here is what some of our friends across the water are doing along the line of contagious disease in schools. Tuberculosis is not regarded as a contagious a disease as diphtheria, smallpox or scarlet fever. Nevertheless intimate and constant association with victim thereof is not without danger to healthy persons.

Inasmuch as children sometimes develop the malady, a rather puzzling question is raised concerning the wisdom of allowing children with the disease to attend school. In London the other day, a magistrate summoned a woman of a poor quarter to explain why they violated the law in not keeping their child in school and the defence was, that the child was a consumptive. The teachers had not objected, and it was only the conscientious scruples of the parents which led to the withdrawal. The magistrate decided that the excuse was not good one, yet he seemed to realize that the child was not in fit condition to mix with other and he was not disposed to punish the parents.

The subject is being agitated by the press of England and one paper says. "Having regard to the very decided opinion of medical profession as to the infectious character of consumption it is suggested that the time is ripe for some legislative provision to deal with this subject in the interest of the public health."

In our state provision is made that that a person who has consumption not teach in the schools, neither can a pupil with the disease attend school.

Th. Kalamazoo Leader says a young lady of that village who was delighted to drain the water from the potatoes boiled for dinner, noticed one tuber that didn't look just right, and on closer inspection discovered that it was not a potato at all, but a nice pinkish mouse, cooked to a turn. In spite of the high price of potatoes, however, that particular luxury was omitted from the menu for that meal.

Central Lake Torch: The Canning Factory Company has been duly organized and will be known as the Central Lake Canning Co. A board of directors were chosen consisting of the following: H. J. Hobart, Frank Williams, John Smallegan, Geo. L. Thurston, R. A. Stevens, E. S. Ellis and E. S. Ellis Jr., who in turn elected the following officers: President H. A. Hobart, Vice President James Williams, Secretary Geo. L. Thurston and Treasurer E. A. Stevens. The company will be incorporated as soon as the necessary legal formalities can be gone through with. Mr. E. B. Gill of Philadelphia has been secured for the position of "process man" and is expected here with his family in a few days. Mr. Gill will have charge of the process of preparing, cooking and packing the product of the factory.

The Detroit Journal of Saturday contained the following item: "Without any trace of prospects, H. H. Mechenry, of Grand Rapids, and Daniel W. Landman, of Marquette, dropped into the Russell house Saturday afternoon and awarded to the American Shipbuilding Co., represented by General Manager Wallace, of Cleveland, a contract for the building of two steel barges to cost approximately $1,000,000. "Nearly all the shipbuilding companies in the country were represented by bids, but the American carried off the plum without any discussion. The business was transacted "right off the reel," so to speak, the parties concerned in the affairs are to be 600 feet long and the new boats will be more powerful on the whole chain of lakes. They are to be built either in Detroit or Cleveland, that matter is to be settled in the future by the company. The deals are to pay between Manistique and Northport, connecting the Manistique, Marquette & Northern railroad and the North Shore line across the upper portion of Lake Michigan. These lines recently came into possession of a syndicate represented by Messrs. Mellonay and Kaufman. Contracts were also let to the Russell Wheel & Foundry Co., of Detroit, for a new outfit of cars. The extent of this contract was not made known, but it is said to be a heavy one.

State of Michigan The Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix.

At a session of said Court held at the Probate office in the City of Charlevoix in said County on the 10th day of November, A. D. 1901.

Present, Hon. Frank Fairchild, Judge of Probate.

In the matter of the estate of Lizzie D. Bennett, deceased. On reading and filing the petition of Hiram S. Clark praying that administration of said estate be granted to Hiram S. Clark or to some other suitable person. It is ordered that the 6th day of January next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate are hereby notified to appear at a session of said Court, then to be held at the Probate office in the City of Charlevoix, in said County, and show cause why a license to sell the real estate of said deceased should not be granted to the petitioner; and it is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said county, for six successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

Resource Hotel Closed.

Here since Mrs. Hunter shot James Sypmont in the Resource Hotel, Washington, the house has been lying cold, until now it is entirely empty, with "To Rent" signs all over its front. Not some of goods are said to great about the place and hardly a Washington family would go there to live rent free. The building was erected by George Washington and others in an investment shortly after the city was laid out.

Contract and Nursery Grafting.

The art of grafting may be quickly learned, but uniform success is difficult to obtain, even with experience of long standing. Chestnut grafting is considered one of the most difficult operations and the best method is never completely successful. This knowledge is perhaps quite as uncertain—Stockman's Monthly for February.

A Years from the Grave.

Bismarck never dreamed it possible that Germany and Germany would ever stand in arms against each other. Germany and Prussia consolidated for conquest, he could never dream of such impossible as out in pursuit of self-interest or national purpose and in defiance of all diplomacy. It almost seems as though Bismarck had prematured this thought, for it was the subject that he was thinking of when he died.—Bismarck Tribune.

IN the following sermon, prepared for THE LEDGER before the illness of our great pastor of the tabernacle, he discusses the opening chapters of Revelation S. L. There was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour. The busiest place in the universe became the quietest place in the universe. The ceaseless music from which all heaven was filled, the music of the Hallelujahs, the Holy, Holy, Holy, ceased. It was as if the Lord God had said to the angels, "Hush your harps! Hush your harps! Hush your harps!" Not a whisper, not a sigh, not a breath, not a pulsation, not a motion, not a thought, not a feeling, not a sensation, not a sensation, not a sensation. Why? The Best Sugar Factory.

Sugar factory matters a progressing just as they ought to, verifying every feature of the SENTINEL's statement three weeks ago.

An engineer of the construction company is expected into this winter. Next to lay out the grounds and set the stakes for buildings. A representative of the railroad company is also expected here soon to arrange for and locate side tracks.

As beautiful material for the sugar beet is here, and stored in the old water works building. It is expected that the work of distributing will begin next week. This work of itself will make things lively for a time, as there are already 300 seed contracts with farmers, many of them in Antrim and Emmet counties.

Contracts for acreage are still being made, and two men are out doing this work, with good results. Now that the enterprise has reached the condition of certainty, there is no trouble whatever in securing all the acreage needed.

Again we remind the farmers and merchants that this enterprise depends for its existence upon their encouragement, that into them the promotion and help along the car of progress, and that a family friend and adviser, for many years his sermons have appeared weekly in these columns, and have been a source of consolation and good cheer to many a Christian heart.

Dr. Talmage's Sunday sermons were published in more than 2,000 secular newspapers, having an aggregate circulation of 20,000,000 copies. It is fair to estimate that each paper is read by at least five persons, and this would give the doctor a weekly audience of 100,000,000 people. In every country on the United States where a newspaper is printed his sermons are read in their entirety.

His free audiences only a few hundred, but the pulpit only serves as a rendezvous and encouragement to weary and heavy laden souls.

Can Mines Be Emancipated?

It is given out, semi-officially, that the President will soon retire Lieut. Gen. Miles.

The honorable record of Gen. Miles in the civil and Indian wars cannot be disputed but his quarrelsome and turbulent disposition has run out since he reached his present station as commanding general.

His conduct toward his superiors—the president and secretary of war, has under three administrations been little less than insubordinate, and in several cases during and since the Spanish war, of a character that richly deserved court martial.

McKinley was patient and forbearing. Roosevelt has stood it to a degree that ladies his reputation for impetuosity, and Miles is yet in active service—active in stirring up discord and trouble.

The question now is, will retire, most supreme Miles? Of course, he is amenable to and subject to military discipline, and can be cashiered as easily as now. But will not Miles attract Sagan to point as a victim of the cruelty of the administration?

Let the frosty, disgruntled, disappointed old schoolboy sulker serve his time. It will be short 18 months, and then the law retires him.

If his retirement could only be accompanied with—there are many people in the country who will believe.

That Treaty Fraud.

The possibility, and, we may say, the ultimate probability, of an electric road from Traverse City to Petoskey, by way of the bay shores, or peach ends so, will awaken much interest in this home, and in the proposed time. Samples that were settlements before any of these Northern Michigan towns were on the way.

After leaving ancient Acme and Elk Rapids, the road will touch at points that during the past thirty years have twice almost seen the locomotive coming through the forests, only to be disappointed.

Thirty five years ago, the G. R. & I. R. R. Co. owned half the land along this shore, embracing a strip about ten miles wide. The settlers were sure then that the road would be built along the shore, and, in fact, they were encouraged in their hopes by the railroad people. But it came not.

When the C. & W. M. was assured, a route was surveyed along the shore, and again the hope of the people arose. They were told that the survey was for the railroad, but they later learned that it was but a bit of corporation strategy to secure more easily the right of way further east.

And then, a few years ago, the Ann Arbor railroad people indulged in some big talk about a shore road to to Mackinaw but it dashed to the pan.

Now comes a bunch of talk about an electric road that shall follow the shore following the points so long spoken of touching at old "Bowstown," now known as Torch Lake; then Eastport, the fine settlement which have long since gone hence. Antrim, which thirty-five years ago had a dock and was the big landing for the fine orchard region, then Normod, the only town in the bunch that has retained its trade importance, except, perhaps, Torch Lake.

These people have waited long and patiently, as have many others, anxious for a rail outlet. They have seen anything more certain than that it would come sure, and have the sting of the times so mistakably indicate hope's fruition at no very distant day.

But the promoters are foil of those whose hopes were buried with them years ago.

SHUT OUT OF THE STATE.

Protective Legion Denied a License in the State.

Assurance commissioner Berry has refused to renew the Michigan license of the National Protective Legion, of Waverly, N. Y., which has been doing business in Michigan as a fraternal beneficiary society since 1894. The commissioner holds that the business transacted by the legion is not purely fraternal under the fraternal beneficiary law of this State, which specifically provides that no insurance or organization operating otherwise than not be carried on for profit, and limits the business which these associations may transact to the payment of death benefits and benefits in case of accident, sickness, disability or old age of its members.

The legion goes outside of these provisions and pays its president numerous benefits of $250 at the end of five years. For instance, last year it paid 1,262 benefit members whose certificates matured, $162,000 more than three members paid into the society's treasury during the entire period of their membership. This $162,000 was profit to the promoters and was not paid either for death, accident, sickness or disability benefits which alone are contemplated by the law. In other words, these 1,262 members were paid $162,000 which was contributed by other members, who received nothing whatever. At the close of last year this society had 6,700 members in Michigan.

SCHOOL COURSE COLUMN.

A. M. CLUTE, COR'S.

Governor Bliss has announced April 20th as "Arbor Day," and says in his proclamation: "The liberal planting of trees and shrubbery is recommended in the older and more settled portions of the State with an especial view to building effects. The lessons of the day are particularly valuable to the young, and in this connection it is important that they should be taught the necessity of the protection of bird life which stimulates so happily to the general enjoyment.

The period has been reached in the history of Michigan when the manufacture of lumber has ceased to be the dominant industry, leaving behind far-reaching problems, as having to do more or less intimately with the conservation of the state.

While we of to-day can begin the solution of these problems, the successful conclusion must be left to those who come after us, and to this end the children should be educated in their Arbor Day exercises with reference to the beneficial influences of forests upon agriculture and horticulture, as well as given practical lessons with regard to trees and tree planting.

As a special feature of the day, it is requested that each school plant a tree as a memorial to the third martyr President of the United States, William McKinley, the friend of the children."

The Little Chronicle says:—"Every country has its peculiar institution, through which the general public can be most effectively impressed. In Germany it is the royal family and the army, in the people among the tree planting plains and the forests. In England this institution is the landed estate of the country gentleman—the private park with its ancestral trees. In the United States it is the public school.

Don't you all know the typical American school house and grounds?

In a city it is a rectangular pile of brick and stone, back with the alley walk. In a village the building is probably as unattractive, and it occupies a block of ground or that is cross-crossed with gravel or board walks. The play grounds are kicked full of holes, the lawn strips are untrampt, and a discouraged tree or two may have been crowded into corners with the younger children to escape the rough usage of the big boys.

The country school house, alas, is too often built on a spot too sterile for the growth of a crop, and is given over to weeds, weed-piles and ash barrels."

Teach the pupils to plant trees in the school yard, where they can be watered, cherished, loved and studied. Each tree would have its history for the grand children. Boys grown tall could come back home to marvel at the height of the school house elms, at the limbs on the Hurs and syringas, and at the ivy that had grown from a slip planted on Arbor Day up to the chimney tops and gables.

Further: Arbor day in our country is thirty years old this spring, but the reason for observing it is at least 2,000 years older than that. It existed more than three centuries B. C., when Alexander the great, with his own hands planted hundreds of trees in nearly every province of Persia in Persia; and when we reflect that the American people consume every thirty days the products of more than 20,000 acres of forests and that it is a serious body question the question of setting aside one day in a year for tree planting and tree pruning.

Monopoly Investigation Court Must Decide Constitutional Question.

The question which will take the United States Supreme court into the matter of the Standard Oil company, which is held to be a trust, and which is a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, was raised in the senate on Wednesday in the form of a resolution by Mr. Hoar, calling on the president for information as to the action of the department of justice in the matter of the prosecution of the Standard Oil company. The resolution was adopted without a division.

Mr. Hoar said that the action of the department of justice in the matter of the prosecution of the Standard Oil company was a matter of great importance to the people of the country. The resolution was not offered in the form of a criticism of the action of the department of justice, but was offered in the form of a request for information. Further, it was not a matter of which a court should take cognizance. The question was a political one, and

MARINE NEWS

The tug Arthur is here fishing for Sonnemann.

The steamer Searchlight, of Harbor Springs, was in port Wednesday.

The Sheboygan fishing tug Fearless is here again, doing business at the old stand.

The steamer City of Charlevoix arrived here Friday evening last from Chicago on her first trip.

Capt. McGuigan formerly of the steamer Charlevoix, is this season tending the log steam barge Storm.

Chas. G. Turner, special deputy collector of customs, was here from Grand Haven Wednesday and admeasured the rebuilt steamer Joseph Gordon.

The schooner Luling, bound down, stranded in St. Clair river last week. She was released without injury, also is now loading coal in Toledo for O. E. Wilson.

It is not generally known that the schooner Ebenezer, which lies stranded in Round Lake, was formerly the schooner Watt Sherman, which was well known here, but such is the fact. The Watt Sherman was brought here from the Lower lakes in 1881 by Capt. J. J. Bennett. In 1882 Capt. Bennett sold the vessel to Alden Chamberlain, who afterward disposed of her. In 1883 her name was changed. Capt. Bennett was down from East Jordan yesterday and recognized his old vessel, and wants to fit her out and sail her. She is owned by John O'Neill, who bid her in last fall for $200 at marshal sale.

Old Settlers' Meeting.

The executive committee of which the editor of this paper is a member, of the Grand Traverse Old Settlers' Association, will meet at Elk Rapids on Tuesday next to arrange for the next annual meeting of the Association, to be held June 4th. The editor will be unable to attend the committee meeting. But the secretary writes that Charlevoix can get the June meeting if an effort is made. The Association has never met in Charlevoix, and we presume our people will give the old settlers the welcome they richly deserve if they decide to come.

BEAVER ISLAND NEWS

Colds and coughs are quite fashionable just now.

Mrs. Stafford and child will be here this week to remain for the summer.

Mrs. Sol. Mollette, of the Head lighthouse, has been spending a week at the Gibson House.

Mr. W. F. Gill leaves the Island today for a flying trip to Grand Rapids, returning on the Friday boat.

The tug Ryan, owned by Mr. Gill, is busy this week dredging around the mill dock. The mill will start up about the first of the week.

Rev. Fr. Zugelder left on the Beaver Monday for Grand Rapids where he will spend the week. There will be no services at the Holy Cross church on Sunday.

The Beaver is doing a heavy freight business both ways now. Coming this way she is laden with supplies of all kinds, and returning she carries from five to ten tons of fish which are shipped directly to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Mapes and little son returned to the Island last week. They will occupy the McGuire house at the rear of the store temporarily. Mr. Mapes will take his old place as head filler in Mr. Gill's mill this summer.

The new hotel is looking more like business every day. The windows are all in, the elegant wide veranda nearly completed, and the plasterers take charge this week. Capt. Bonner is to be congratulated on the efficiency of his contractors, Messrs. Tilly and Passage, who are pushing the work to such successful completion.

We are pleased to note the manner in which our people are "celeking up" around the harbor. New fences and sidewalks and fresh paint are seen on every hand. We hope to see this spirit carried a little further and the rubbish lying around the harbor all cleaned up before our summer visitors arrive.

East Jordan Enterprise: The party who left for California about three weeks ago have returned. If anyone inclined to go out there to better their condition just call and interview them.

Potatoes are so scarce at Hudson and there are so few planting the coming season, that several of the farmers will be obliged to pay at least a dollar a bushel for their seed, and many of these will have to be shipped in from the northern part of the state.

Representative Mann has reported from the house commerce committee a bill appropriating $12,000 for the construction of a telegraph or telephone line between Glen Haven Mich., and South Manitou in Lake Michigan, and for the establishment of storm warning stations at these points.

The most rats seen at Kalkaska for years were killed lately by John Gleason. He bagged four of the vermin, two old ones and a pair of their descendants. Strange as it may seem, these little pests have been practically unknown in that section during the thirty years which have elapsed since the village was founded.

Among the latest acquisitions to the village of East Jordan is a seed sorting warehouse, to be erected this year by one of the large seed houses. Seed potatoes by the farmers on contract in large quantities around East Jordan, owing to favorable climate and soil, and most all kinds of grain and vegetables yield unusual results.

A dispatch to the Grand Rapids Herald says that at Petoskey, charges have been filed with Governor Bliss against M. F. Gunson, prosecuting attorney of Emmet county, alleging that he has been extorting money from prostitutes, gamblers and criminals for protection against prosecution. The sworn charges, which are very specific, include theft, embezzlement, [illegible]

The Elk Rapids Iron company has added a sick and accident insurance department to its business, each employe who becomes a member paying in a stipulated amount that gives him insurance at about half the price charged by the regular insurance companies. The affairs of the new department will be under the control of a board of managers, consisting of the head of each department, the manager of the company being chairman of the board.

Central Lake Torch: From a letter in todays paper it will be seen that the local G. A. R. Post has taken the initiatory steps towards revising the encampment business which has been allowed to slumber for the past two seasons. This district, comprising seven counties and the various posts were unanimously in the habit of gathering together every summer for a general reunion meeting at various places in the district, sometimes at Traverse City and also at Cadillac, Petoskey, Charlevoix, and Kalkaska. For two years there has been no encampment and the old veterans are longing again for the good old times. The local post has received communications from some of the other comrades and it is evident than an encampment this year would draw a big crowd. It has been suggested that Central Lake take hold of the matter, and if the citizens deem it advisable, to invite the old soldiers to meet at this place.

[The following is from an Antrim county paper. When the gentlemen were in Charlevoix, last week, we were requested by Mr Milliken not to give the matter publicity at present, but its publication now releases us from further silence.] A party of Traverse City gentlemen, including Hon. J. W. Milliken, and accompanied by Wilbur Campbell of Northport, made a trip up the bay shore recently from Traverse City to Charlevoix to look up the prospects of a route for electric road. We understand that they suggested that in case the proper financial aid could be secured to build the road that Torch Lake township would be asked to contribute about the amount of one year's taxes on its real estate. This is considered a very reasonable proposition and it that is all that is required of townships through which the road would pass there will doubtless be no trouble on that score. An electric road from Traverse City to Petoskey, along the shore, would be an important factor in the development and progress of this section of the state.

Traverse City Record: The supreme court has handed down a decision in the Campbell-Garthe case, and the case will be tried before the circuit court for Leelanau county. It will be remembered that after the election for judge of probate, the board of county canvassers met and decided that Stocker or Garthe was elected. This was on the 13th of November. The following day Campbell filed petition for a recount, but did not serve it upon Garthe until six days before the recount occurred, on November 22. At this recount, Campbell received a majority of the votes counted. Campbell continued to hold the office and Garthe instituted quo warranto proceedings in the circuit court, to gain possession of the office. An order was issued by the circuit court, and Garthe took the office and has since held it. The case was appealed, however, and has been sent back to the circuit court for retrial, the supreme court holding that the matter of Campbell's right to a recount should have been left to a jury. The case will come up at June term of circuit court for Leelanau. Fitchie & Crutser are attorneys for Campbell and Thomas Shurtwalle for Garthe.

Ward Boat in the Water

Clark Hare, general manager of the Detroit & Charlevoix R. R., was in town this week looking up the matter of going after some of the Detroit and Canton summer travel.

The company proposes to establish an office here, and put a boat on between Charlevoix and South Arm, the terminus of its road.

Mr. Hare offered a charter for two years to the steamer Mary, and owner Gross has it under advisement.

An Unusual Wedding.

A very enjoyable event took place at the residence of Mr. James O'Brien of Inwood on Wednesday, their daughter Sylvia being united in marriage to James G. Brown of Marlette, Mich. About fifty guests were assembled to witness the ceremony which took place at 12 o'clock.

Immediately after the ceremony an elegant dinner was served. The bride was prettily gowned in pale gray silk batiste and carried a beautiful bouquet of white roses.

Mr. Brown is a young man of great ability as a teacher having taught a number of years in the public schools of the upper peninsula.

The wedding gifts were numerous and elegant. Rev. T. R. Hughes performed the ceremony.

Hemstreet's Wild Ride.

The citizens of Owosso were treated to a new sensation yesterday in the way of a novel and daring street exhibition when Prof. Hemstreet made what is called a blindfold drive. A number of citizens drove over a certain route and hid a pocketbook in the showcase of Stephan's cigar store. They returned to the hotel where the professor was blindfolded and led to the carriage, where he took the lines and drove over the route selected and had no trouble in finding the purse.

It was surprising with what ease the feat was accomplished. His exhibitions at the opera house each evening are worthy of liberal patronage. It may be said that Hemstreet is without doubt one of the greatest performers in this work.—Owosso Argus.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

On Wednesday evening, April 23, the choir, with the assistance of the Pastor will give a fine entertainment at the church, consisting of over 50 Scotchman transparencies, illustrating the life, character, country and poems of Robert Burns, the Scottish Bard. The choir will render a number of "Bobby's" best "songs," and some of his poems will be recited, the setting and spirit of which will appear on the canvas. For example, the "Field of Bannockburn" and "Sterling Castle" are views that will be thrown on canvas while "Scots wha hae wi' Wallace bled" will be sung as a solo. These words of freedom pealing out on the striking bugle tune to which they are sung, should appeal to any American soul.

"Highland Mary," "A Man's a Man for a' That," "The Cotters Saturday Night," "Tam O' Shanter," "The Soldier's return," "Auld Lang Syne" and others, will be sung or recited, in part or whole, while from two-six views will appear before the eye. The sweet song "Annie Laurie" will be sung, while views of Maxwelltown House, Annie Laurie and her husband are being exhibited. Many of these transparencies Mr. Hyslop secured at great expense, three years ago, while visiting in Scotland in Burns' country. Everybody should be present to enjoy this entertainment.

Fair Treatment, By All Means.

Sugar Manufacturers want fair treatment for Cuba! Sugar does everybody else. The question is, what is fair treatment for Cuba? First let us find out what it may easily happen that a reduction of duties on sugar and tobacco would not put an extra dollar in the pockets of Cuban growers of sugar and tobacco, but that the money thus taken from the treasury of the United States would all find its way to trust treasuries. Also it is proper to ask what is fair treatment for the growers of sugar and tobacco in the United States, and whether it is wise that they should be mulcted for the benefit of trusts. Let us have fair treatment for all concerned.

Contrasts.

During the Free-Trade periods of Martin Van Buren, James Buchanan and Grover Cleveland, all industrial enterprises were paralyzed and millions of idle wage earners were obliged to get their supplies from soup houses to avoid starvation.

During tariff periods all labor has been profitably employed and the soup house is an institution gone but not forgotten.

New York city is to have a crematorium theatre, patterned after one in Boston, which pays good dividends.

Sidney Twins Much Alike.

Daniel and William Hutchings, twin brothers of Scipio, Ind., are so much alike that only their wives and children know them apart. A few years ago Daniel sought admission into the Masonic order, but the members, for some reason, insisted that William should join also, and the twins were put through together. In their courtship days—they are now 52 years old—they used to spark each other's sweethearts and the girls did not know the difference.—Exchange.

Hard for The Dude.

It seemed as if the cost of men's neckwear had reached a climax this year when at some of the more modish haberdashery an ordinary four-in-hand scarf cost $5. It was not easy to perceive the particular value of this item of the attire, but it took some degree of apologetic explanation on the part of the salesman to make it clear just why so much should be demanded when one-third of the price would be nearer the average cost.—New York Sun.

—We wonder if there are any sugar factory skeptics now?

—R. N. Faulkner is with Wilbur at the N. M. T. Co's dock for the summer.

—"Ten Nights in a Bar Room" at Brown Opera House Saturday of this week.

—What do you think about Charlevoix sugar in your coffee next winter?

The sailing tug Wm. Maxwell took a excursion for Cleveland last Monday.

The local inspectors of steam vessels were here Monday and inspected the tug J. V. Taylor.

Mrs. Geo. Weaver accompanied Capt. Weaver on the steamer Welcome to Milwaukee Saturday.

—The river and Harbor bill passed the Senate Tuesday. Charlevoix can't [illegible] for $5,000 each.

—Now, for heaven's sake, don't croak any longer. Get into the procession and participate in the sweet music!

—A man named Thomas of Lima, Ohio, went to Beaver Island to-day to look over lands with a view of locating a colony of farmers there.

—A large number of Charlevoix K. P.'s went to Traverse City Wednesday to attend the big D. O. K. K. deings. The D. O. K. K. is to Pythianism what the Shrine is to Masonry.

—A committee of the Galesburg Fruit people who recently bought the Wolcott farm, near Harbor, are here this week and bought the material for buildings to be erected at once on the grounds.

—Leo Graves, Michigan Central ticket clerk at Ann Arbor is here this week helping his parents. His father, Jerome Graves, is quite ill and his sister, Miss Grace is also confined to the house by illness.

—The fifth murder to occur in Detroit within a [illegible] of Charlevoix people. Pat Hawley, who was killed in his brothel, was here last fall and bought the Mary McLeod. A third brother of the new dead Hawley was here this spring after the tug.

—The old Lochbrunner residence at the south end of Bridge street owned by John Wagner, is being removed to Mr. Pagano's lot west of the catholic church. Within a year Mr. Pagano will erect a brick block in its place on Bridge street.

—Eight Bro. Elks from Petoskey conferred a class of eight on the Charlevoix elkdom Wednesday evening. The class is as follows: Messrs. J. M. Sears, Geo. W. Crouter, W. E. Hampton, F. G. Rimes, R. N. Lamoure, Miss Marie Mayer, Henry Partridge, and Charles Carney.

—There have always been people, and there are such people now, both in Charlevoix and outside of it who croak the old time most sweet "Charlevoix will never be anything but a resort town." This morning there was a big black eye given that old chestnut, when the sugar factory plant was shoked out. Charlevoix will continue to be the best resort in Michigan, and it will be something else—a manufacturing town, and a farmers' town; a town where business will be done twelve months in the year instead of three. "And don't you forget!"

—Hon. F. Ward son of the late David Ward has filed a trust mortgage covering all his real and personal property and also his interest in his father's estate, became known this week and caused a sensation among parties interested in the fortunes of the Ward family. The total liabilities are [illegible]. The mortgages cover his mills at Frederick, Mich. Henry C. Ward is about 31 years old and a man of good habits and reputation. He was understood to be worth several hundred thousand dollars at the time of his father's death, and yet during the short space of two years he has apparently lost through his own fortune and part of his prospective interest in David Ward's estate. This is attributed solely to unwise injudicious business ventures.

—Read L. S. See's new ad. in this issue, regarding matter at the new store.

—Secure seats for "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," at Opera house Saturday night.

A. F. Harding, Prosecuting attorney of Lelanau county, was in town this week.

—Miss Winifred Bartholomew leaves to-day for Ann Arbor to visit friends.

—James McCann, of St. James, returned from Chicago and went home on the Beaver Monday.

—Pearson's teams are rapidly eating up the Chaumpka gravel bank for highway purposes.

—Capt. J. M. Thompson returned from Colorado via Chicago on the steamer Illinois Sunday, in very poor health.

—On the steamer Beaver from Beaver Island Monday night, supervisor W. J. Gallagher, and Owen McCauley.

—John Donlevy of Chicago, and a pioneer of Beaver Island, arrived yesterday, and will go to the Island for a few weeks visit.

—Wm. H. Shields, keeper of the lighthouse supply station, went to Milwaukee Tuesday to be fitted with a new artificial limb.

—New advertisements this week—Ward & Ward, W. J. Pearson, Geo. Priest, J. W. Harris and J. L. Crane. They will interest you; read them.

—The steamer Hackley's shaft broke to-day soon after she left the railroad dock for East Jordan. She was towed here by a tug, and a new shaft ordered from Chicago.

—Married April 18th in this village, by Rev. Dr. Hyslop, Mr. Wm. F. Roberts, of Central Lake, and Ella M. Crampton, of Charlevoix. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will reside in Central Lake.

—Dr. Hammond, who has been clipping horses throughout Northern Michigan this spring, was kicked in the knee by a protesting equine at Central Lake last week, and is at home on crutches.

—Mr. G. R. Malone will speak at the Baptist church Sunday morning. In the evening will exhibit over a hundred stereopticon views illustrating his address on the subject of "Temperance and Good Citizenship." The evening service will be a union one, and be held in the M. E. church.

—One by one the landmarks are disappearing. Monday the long plank line on the bluff near the mouth of the river was cut down to make room for the new Harris residence. This line was one of a group that stood on the bluff in Mormon times, that gave this point the name of "Pine River." Thus the ruthless hand of man is slowly but surely destroying the landmarks.

—The Charlevoix Sugar Co. is an incorporated body. Articles of incorporation were filed with the Secretary of State last September. We make this statement to choke off certain other statements that are being made on the street. The sugar factory will be built this summer, and will be making sugar next winter. When this time arrives, just go up and look at the plant, and then decide if it is a "fake." There were those in the time of Christ who said "No good can come out of Nazareth."

—The blindfolded drive of Prof. Hemstreet, Tuesday, was a most remarkable demonstration of mental telepathy. The committee, Doctors Armstrong, Auld and Wicks started out from the Opera house with a team and carriage, leaving Prof. Hemstreet in charge of another committee. Dr. Armstrong did the driving, and the rig went around several squares, bringing up at Cook's drug store, where the committee secreted a small knife on an upper shelf. Returning to the opera house, Hemstreet was carefully blindfolded, conducted to the carriage, the committe being seated with him. Hemstreet took the reins and started off with a brisk trot. He turned the corner at Main street, again at state and, in fact, followed the route taken previously by the committee, all the time at lively pace. He seemed to mentally see every approaching team, and handled his horses with as great skill as if he could see. At Cook's store he drew up, alighted, and entered the store, went to the shelf, and after ten minutes search, brought out the knife. It was an amazing exhibition, and proved Hemstreet to be a marvel.

After May first, Mrs. M. Smith will sew in families, $1.25 per day. Address Charlevoix box 300.

THE NEW SOUTH.

Interesting Letter From Hon. F. P. Whitman.

Toccoa, Georgia, April 5th, 1902.

EDITOR SENTINEL:

We welcome the SENTINEL each week and I can assure you its coming is quite a treat, especially its local news items, which so forcibly remind us of our friends, neighbors and home.

In a late issue we read with more interest the statement that the contract for the building of the beet sugar factory was drawn up and signed and that it was to be ready for business the coming fall and we felt like going to the highest point on Crooked Mountain and taking off our hat and giving three hearty cheers and a Tiger for Charlevoix the Beautiful and its sugar factory. The only regret we have is that owing to poor health we were not permitted to assist in the development of the undertaking as we had wished and expected to. All honor to the men who have worked so faithfully to secure the factory which I feel sure will be of immense value to the people of Charlevoix and surrounding country.

In writing over the matter we thought we could make a little beautiful Charlevoix with its fine hotels, beautiful cottages and happy homes, and intimately associated with them Lake Michigan with its grand expanse of water, its big yachts and dotted with so many fine sites for summer homes and charming retreats from the cares of the hot summer sun, and then the beautiful inland lakes with their limpid waters and enchanting shores so attractive to the boat man and hunter. As I muse the thought is how varied is human taste. In the north our lakes with their waves and beautiful terraces are the attractions that bring tourists hundreds and even thousands of miles to see and enjoy them, while in the South and West the great attraction is their lofty mountains with their rocky cliffs, gorges and beautiful valleys.

As I muse the impulse comes over me to invite your readers to go with me in a ramble among the mountains near Trenton, Ga., and to imaginatively enjoy some of its magnificent scenery and attractions. We will choose one of our most lovely days for our stroll. There is not a cloud to be seen and we will not get too energetic nor too hot in our ramble. We will take our lunch and we will need no guide, we can find our way to the summit. A little effort and assistance we are beholden by our faithful guide we commence our journey. If there are any in the party who think they will not be able to climb we will give up the trip as it is so very dark and our camera seems to give such a feeble light. For some ten rods you will have to stoop as you walk and not more you land at a point where it comes in contact with the roof above. Now we can stand erect, and as we pause our attention is so soon seized by a passage to the right and following it some distance and come where the way seems to divide, the guide says take the one to the left, which we do and come to a large passage or room which we are sure is the Egyptian Temple, here the water has dated from the roof and formed pillars of stone some of them as large as the trunks of quite sized trees, and from the roof are hanging stalactites which are formed by the lime water trickling down from the roof above and constitute large stones. After viewing the beauty and grandeur of the temple we pass on through another low passage in which the stalactites hang in beautiful clusters we come to the grotto where we stop and admire the fantastic collections of stalactites suspended from the roof and the retreat of the grotto resembling some lady's bower. Passing on we come to the Hall and Altar as called from its resemblance to a great hall in which is an imitation of the stalactites extending from the floor to the roof. Further on we come to a large room which for its size and appearance is called the Amphitheatre. As we go further into the cavern temperature rises and as it is getting quite warm and the guide tells us we have come somewhere three quarters of a mile and the balance of the three miles that have been explored are easier to walk over and more interesting. We will return to the entrance, stopping on our way at different points to enjoy spectacular effects to take place in the mountains. We stop from time to time to rest and take in the views of the valley below. When we get within two or three hundred feet of the top we come to the foot of the great ridge of rock which rises to the top almost and runs nearly a mile from north to south. Before the ridge the rocks are piled in great heaps which very much resemble ruins with our pigeons. As we pass along casting our eyes up the side of the ledge our guide says, "come this way" and we in an expert climber in his soon lets us far below, slowly making our way over the mass of rocks that lay in path. We stop to rest, and lifting our eyes to the seemingly solid ledge of rock there is a crevice just above us and our guide who has mysteriously disappeared as though he had been caught up by some invisible power. As we look we wonder whether he has been caught up to the third heaven or by some power of darkness been drawn down to the regions below. We hear a shout, and lifting our eyes to the same spot we see our guide who we thought was lost in the depths of a school boy we wonder what strange impulse has seized him, he points to a great rock that projects out from the cliffs, and moves ready to topple over and go crashing down the mountain side, and we draw near we see a cliff behind it that reaches to the top and forms a very good way to the summit. A little effort and assistance we are beside our friend at the top, and no wonder he is excited. What a wonderful sight meets our view, opposite us in the center of the valley midway between the mountains lies the village of Trenton hundreds of feet below, across to the east is Lookout Mountain extending north and south as far as the eye can reach. We look up the valley and for miles and miles we see the farms and farm houses stretched out before us and away to the Cumberlands. For Judaiah shutting our our further view. To the north our eyes take in the valley with all its beauties, and in the distance some twenty miles away Raccoon Mountain shuts out our further view. Turning our backs on the lovely scene and facing to the west we are stretched out before us on the mountain simply a beautiful expanse of country really covered with native forests ready and waiting for was developed effort to transform it into farms and homes for thousands of happy and prosperous people.

As we view the beautiful panorama spread out before us we get so excited as the Professor, and I fear if our friends in Charlevoix were here to enjoy the sight with us they to would when the inspiration.

We must not stop to moralize as we are tired and tiu, what an appetite the mountain air has given us. The sun is nearing the horizon and we turn our faces homward. Passing along the summit we soon get to the top of the Gap, and after skaking our thirst at the ice spring that runs into a little basin at the foot of the rock we commence our descent into the valley. At a turn in the road the Professor points out the way that General Longstreet took to his descent from the valley as he crossed over the mountain with his sorry thousand men on his way in 1863 to help to the rescue of Chattanooga. As the old mountain road is so rocky and steep it point of to tell it is one almost impossible that such an army with its artillery and wagon trains could have made the descent, and we are more than ever before impressed with the courage and skill of our officers in the great test of the Rebellion. As our ways follow the course of Hooker and his men long ere on the Point known as Trenton which takes the place of the one he destroyed, and we are told that it was the only building so indented to his march through the valley. We do not wonder that the southern people have so much respect to his memory that they have named one of their villages in the valley after him.

Telling our friends good night, at some future time be my letter intent to take a great walk up as we visit the water falls and gorges of good old Lookout, I am, H. B. WHITMAN.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Rev. J. Archbald, for 40 years in the employ of the Elk Rapids Iron Co., and for twenty years superintendent of their hardware department, is dead of heart disease after a sickness of less than a week. He was one of the oldest Masons in the State.

In a fire last week at Wallin, four miles north of Thompsonville that destroyed the grocery store of W. E. King, four people, his wife, two of his daughters and a niece, were burned to death before the eyes of the villagers who knew that they were being burned but were powerless to aid them.

Central Lake Torch: Judge Stimson made an order Monday adjourning this term until next June. Judge Stimson is a resident of Charlevoix, belonging in Northern Michigan. Antrim at Traverse City. The hearing was held Monday afternoon and the next day she was taken to Traverse City by her father, Mr. Dexter, of Charlevoix. The judge informed us that he had more insanity cases in Banks than in any other township in the state.

Jas. Howard with men and teams for the East Jordan Lumber Co. went to Norwood last week and took down and removed here the boiler, etc. of the L. V. Sun mill which has been purchased for the new broilerk factory Mr. Howard had hard roads but brought the big loads through safely. The new machines for this factory will be very heavy and of the latest patterns. East Jordan Enterprise.

Petoskey Democrat: Manager Cole of Cordwain, of the Inch Tanning Co.'s local branch, went to Chicago on Monday to arrange for a fishing tug to take the place of the "William Maxwell," which will be sent to Charlevoix next week. Lake Fish Co. hoping to much more profitable than that of Lake Michigan is the cause of the change. A Booth tug from Michigan City and one from Manistee have also been sent to Cleveland.

Central Lake Torch: W. S. Richardson is in correspondence with the U. S. Fish Commission in an effort to induce the Commission to stock Intermediate chain of lakes with whitefish. While Mr. Richardson's with this species of fish it is thought best to plant some fry occasionally in order to keep up the supply. The waters are especially adapted for them and they grow to inure proportions, many have been taken that weighed from 20 to 60 pound.

Traverse City Eagle: C. E. Murray and Sr. Christ move to Sunlapet today and while in Traverse county will consider the advisability of running a railway line along Carp Lake crossing East Traverse to Omena, in the event that a line can be found this way that can be operated, the property owners at Hingham, Provemont and along the line will be very liberal in donating money and right of way. The M. & N. E. have abandoned the idea of extending their lines to Good Harbor and are considering the advisability of going to Northport and the way of ours Port.

Chicago Special: The first water shipment of live cattle out of chicago in recent years was made yesterday, when the steamer John Spry cleared for Boyne City, Mich., with 350 head of cattle in cerdol for beef. The consignment was made by King & Co. to William H. White, who will fatten the animals for use as food at his lumber camps next winter. The animals were bought in open market at the stock yards. No stalls will be build on the steamer for the unique cargo. A deck rick and sting harness was used to hoist the cattle, which will make their trip across the lake in the boat's hold.

The Bellaire Independent of last week contained the following relative to the proposed Alpena & Western R. R. "C. W. Bull, who makes frequent trips to Alpena, says there is some trouble among the promoters of the Alpena & Western railroad, there has been a split in the ranks. One faction wishes to run the road through Mancelona and across the corner of Kalkaska county into Traverse City, while the other wishes to follow the plan first published in these columns and bring the road to his place, and then cross Torch river to Elk Rapids and thence down the bay shore to the place of the "William Maxwell," which will be sent to Charlevoix next week. Lake Fish Co. hoping to much more profitable that of Lake Michigan is the cause of the change. A Booth tug from Michigan City and one from Manistee have also been sent to Cleveland.

The M. & N. E. have abandoned the idea of extending their lines to Good Harbor and are considering the advisability of going to Northport and the way of ours Port.

Chicago Special: The first water shipment of live cattle out of chicago in recent years was made yesterday, when the steamer John Spry cleared for Boyne City, Mich., with 350 head of cattle in cerdol for beef. The consignment was made by King & Co. to William H. White, who will fatten the animals for use as food at his lumber camps next winter. The animals were bought in open market at the stock yards. No stalls will be build on the steamer for the unique cargo. A derrick and sting harness was used to hoist the cattle, which will make their trip across the lake in the boat's hold.

The Bellaire Independent of last week contained the following relative to the proposed Alpena & Western R. R. "C. W. Bull, who makes frequent trips to Alpena, says there is some trouble among the promoters of the Alpena & Western railroad, there has been a split in the ranks. One faction wishes to run the road through Mancelona and across the corner of Kalkaska county into Traverse City, while the other wishes to follow the plan first published in these columns and bring the road to his place, and then cross Torch river to Elk Rapids and thence down the bay shore to the place of the "William Maxwell," which will be sent to Charlevoix next week. Lake Fish Co. hoping to much more profitable that of Lake Michigan is the cause of the change. A Booth tug from Michigan City and one from Manistee have also been sent to Cleveland.

Central Lake Torch: W. S. Richardson is in correspondence with the U. S. Fish Commission in an effort to induce the Commission to stock Intermediate chain of lakes with whitefish. While Mr. Richardson's with this species of fish it is thought best to plant some fry occasionally in order to keep up the supply. The waters are especially adapted for them and they grow to inure proportions, many have been taken that weighed from 20 to 60 pound.

FINANCE IN TWENTIETH CENTURY

Instead Illustrative of the Opposite Prevailing in Days Gone By.

It seems hard to believe even in these days of gigantic fortunes that a banking house was offered the placing of $2,000,000 worth of cash and securities on the ground that they did not deal with such small amounts. Yet such seems to have been the case in Wall street recently.

A Western man who had suddenly grown rich came to New York and thought he would place $1,000,000 in cash and $1,000,000 in good securities in the hands of some standard banking firm for investment. Accordingly, he sought the advice of a former friend who went with him to the head of an important Wall street firm, who had often given him valuable bits of information.

He went to the head of the institution and said:

"I have been in an many times for information. Now I am going to do you a little turn." A friend of mine has just come to town from the West. He has a million dollars in cash and two millions in securities which he wishes to turn over to you to keep and invest for him."

"Well," replied the banker, "we appreciate your confidence in us very much, but I am forced to say that we do business now only with large corporations."

Population of America.

Engineering estimates that the population of the United States and its dependencies now exceeds 84,000,000 inhabitants. The Philippines contain more than 7,000,000 inhabitants, Porto Rico 953,000, Hawaii 154,000, and Alaska 63,592. China stands first in population, the British Empire second, Russia third, and the United States fourth.

"No Smoking."

Smoking is a criminal offense in Abyssinia. The law forbidding it dates back from 1640, and it originally applied only to priests, the penalty being strong, that fate having an little sense of reverence that they used to smoke in the churches till the practice was forbidden.

DR. TALMAGE IS DEAD.

FAMOUS DIVINE PASSES AWAY IN WASHINGTON.

Inflammation of the Brain the Cause—The End Comes After a Long Lasting Two Days—The Brief History of a Noted Public Career.

Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage passed away Saturday night at 9 o'clock, at his home in Washington, D. C. Death was due to inflammation of the brain, from which he had been suffering for two years, the most recent and severest attack prostrating him two days before his death. Mr. Talmage was born in Bound Brook, Somerset county, New Jersey, January 7, 1832. He was educated in the University of New York City, and studied for the ministry in the Dutch Reformed church. He was ordained in 1856 and his first charge was at Belleville, New Jersey. In 1859 he became pastor of the church at Syracuse, N. Y., where he remained until 1862, when he went to the Second Reformed church of Philadelphia. In 1869 he became pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Brooklyn, and remained with that congregation until 1889, when he went to the Tabernacle church, which was erected for him by the congregation he had served so long and faithfully. In 1894 the Tabernacle church burned and Mr. Talmage then became pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of Brooklyn, which position he held until he came to Washington to take charge of the Lincoln Memorial church, which was established by the congregation of which he was pastor while President Lincoln was living and which church was attended by the President and his family. Mr. Talmage was the first minister to preach in the Hall of Representatives in the Capitol building, and he was also the first minister to preach in the Senate chamber. He was chaplain of congress during the 57th congress, and was also chaplain of the Seventh regiment, National Guard, of New York, and for one session of the Pennsylvania legislature he was its chaplain.

REV. T. DE WITT TALMAGE.

Mr. Talmage's fame has become as widespread and he has preached to as many hearers that the Brooklyn tabernacle had not been large enough to contain it, was more widely read and quoted than any other clergyman of his time. He was a great orator, and his sermons were printed in the secular papers of the country every week, and were read by millions of people. He was also a prolific writer, and his books have had a large sale. He was a great lecturer, and his lectures were delivered in every city of the United States, and he also delivered them in Canada, Great Britain and Ireland, Holland, Belgium, Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Turkey, Syria, Egypt, Palestine, Greece, Russia, Poland, Hungary, Bohemia, Sweden, Denmark, Iceland, Norway, Spain, Portugal, Mexico, Cuba, Jamaica, Australia, New Zealand, Tasmania, Cape Colony, Natal, Ceylon, Bombay, Calcutta, Madras, Burmah, Siam, Java, Sumatra, Singapore, Hong Kong, Canton, Shanghai, Pekin, Yokohama, Nagasaki, Kioto, Jeddo, Alexandria, Cairo, Jerusalem, Damascus, Beyrout, Smyrna, Constantinople, Athens, Rome, Paris, Madrid, Lisbon, Copenhagen, Stockholm, Christiania, Moscow, St. Petersburg, Warsaw, Prague, Vienna, Budapest, Rotterdam, Amsterdam, Brussels, Antwerp, Berlin, Hamburg, Leipsic, Dresden, Frankfort, Munich, Geneva, Lausanne, Basle, Zurich, Berne, Milan, Venice, Florence, Naples, Genoa, Turin, Palermo, Messina, Catania, Malta, Corfu, Candia, Alexandria, Port Said, Jaffa, Beirut, Tripoli, Damascus, Baalbec, Tyre, Sidon, Ephesus, Smyrna, Constantinople, Athens, Corinth, Patras, Zante, Cairo, Thebes, Luxor, Assouan, Philae, Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Nazareth, Jericho, Jaffa, Gaza, Ashkelon, Ashdod, Ashkelon

TO BREAK GROUND.

The Work of Sugar Factory Construction Practically Begun.

Superintendent and Engineer Here.

Before this issue of the SENTINEL reaches its readers the stakes will be set which will mark the ground plan of the Charlevoix Sugar Co's. plant, and before another issue is printed ground will be broken, and the preliminary work of construction begun.

A. Thomas, civil engineer for the contractors, and Benjamin P. Hardig, superintendent of construction, arrived here Wednesday evening, and this (Thursday) morning they, accompanied by the others of the company, proceeded to the site with the plans and specifications, and the work of construction was begun by a corps of survey of the grounds, and the leveling of the sites for the several buildings—because this work may be considered a part of the construction work.

On Wednesday sugar. Agnew and civil engineer Bishop, of the Pere Marquette Ry., were here and located side tracks and switches, and that work will proceed at once.

Engineer Thomas this morning exhibited to us the complete plans and details of the plant, with process, and machinery. Mr. Thomas was enthusiastic in his expressions of the location of the location, which he pronounced in every particular. He was particularly pleased with the contiguity of the plant to water and rail, and "went with much enthusiasm on the value of "beet-a-cres," as an adjunct in the manufacture of sugar. He emphatically expressed the opinion that the location and site was all that could be desired.

Superintendent Hardig has come here to remain until the plant is completed, and will proceed at once to secure stone for the foundations.

The Masonic Picnic.

The Grand Traverse Masonic picnic and convention for Charlevoix, July 16th may be put down as a certainty.

On Tuesday N. A. Frank, a passenger of Kalkaska lodge, was here and attended the regular communication of Charlevoix lodge, and action was taken that may be considered definite.

A committee was appointed consisting of the following members of Charlevoix lodge: E. H. Green, H. L. Hodge, W. A. Smith, J. W. Harris, F. G. Hixon.

This committee will at once proceed to the work of perfecting arrangements and enlisting the co-operation of other lodges.

It is expecting that ten or more lodges will participate in the gathering, and that it will assemble in Masonic hall, more than a thousand Masons.

The picnic and public exercises will probably be held in the park, and the opera house secured for the business sessions.

It is hoped to make the event the biggest thing of its kind that ever occurred in this region.

—At a conference at the G. A. R. and W. R. C. held last Saturday, it was decided to invite the school of organizations and the public generally to co-operate with them in a proper observance of Decoration Day, May 30th. The program provides for the usual procession to the cemetery, where the ritual of the dead, the selection performed will be made, and wreaths and flowers will be decorated with flowers. Addresses and songs will follow. The cemetery exercises will occur in the forenoon, and the afternoon will be devoted to the public exercises, which will commence at the doors of our dead heroes. It is hoped that all will unite to make the day one of special interest and solemnity.

—There are numerous popular plays or merit touring the country, but none which equal the old play "Ten Nights in a Bar Room". It contains more real heart interest and moral teaching than all the pulpit discourses combined. Henry Ward Beecher, the famous Brooklyn divine, after witnessing the Palmer production said: "It is better than any sermon ever delivered from the pulpit". His words have been endorsed by many thousands of people who have witnessed this admirable play. This season the Palmer production is larger and more complete than ever before. The scenic effects are grander. The cast is a metropolitan one including Mr. Lew Sebastian, Mr. W. N. Bagley, Miss Jessie Taylor, Mr. Harry Warren, Miss Julia Bangs, Miss Ruth Harden, Miss Peg Phillips and little Verne Bagley, the greatest of child actor whose writing of Marie Mac in the Kaskaska's delighted all who heard the last time it visited this city. The engagement at Lewis Opera House, Friday and Saturday, May 3 and 4. Monday will be matinee.

—The A. Booth Co. which is capitalized at 15,000,000 and which has absorbed all the smaller fish companies on the great lakes is up against an injunction of Judge Grosscup, the petition for an injunction was made by a listing company of Cleveland, Ohio and Allegheny, Pa. and it was only stated down the prices paid the poor fisherman, but forced the prices to consumers up from 50 to 60 per cent.

A tanker swung out far far from Frankfort brought in some butter to town recently, and after trying every grocery store in town was compelled to take it back home unsold. It seems this farmer sends to Montgomery Ward for everything he buys and the grocers have decided to permit him to sell Montgomery Ward his butter. And that reminds us of when local dairy quality wrote to Montgomery Ward and Sears, Roebuck & Co. for a contribution. Instead of the contribution unsolicited, but a second elicited a reply from Montgomery Ward. He said he gave a great deal in charity, but contributed to giving to no house save. Why not allow him to make his money off his people?

Taxpayers whose taxes may be in his by as the farmers' great and good friend. Under his administration the tax rate has grown to vast proportions, while Germany and later in this country, for the manufacture of sugar. Now Michigan has its beet-growers in Michigan, and sugar something to their advantage from this direction. The law for the protection is to convert it into alcohol and to use the alcohol in place of gasoline and supplies to automobile, launch and other motors. The private alcohol is said to possess many advantages over the other liquid fuels, and it can be manufactured at a cost that puts it within reach of almost everybody. If Michigan is Germany's competition for protection against the sugar beet, we hopes the day may come when every potato patch will have its still.

CHAPTER XV.—(Continued.)—Through completely exhausted and scarcely able to stir an inch he knew, Mabel and Jennie crept close overpowered by fear to us.

"I told you," said Marshall, "that I would save you if it lay power. Do you now think that I spare to keep my word?"

"We do, we do," said the white girls earnestly.

"Then you must continue to have faith."

"We have."

"And so believe in my judgment?"

"We shall."

"Then my orders is to stay and keep the animals that have carried us safely to safety. Every strength can begin now under the circumstances I think I can see that you are all in good condition and food, we may do the same. We may have to exert all our strength and their speed."

As Marshall spoke the animals turned from her friend, and, as Mr. Armand, Mabel and Jennie had learned from experience, they knew from the moment.

"There is no point within many miles where we can cross the Missouri River. I know, in that, I assure you that."

"Then what are we to do?" asked Mr. Armand, impatiently.

"Now let me explain. We have come to a place where I know the Indians are in the river bed. We have found a ford and we must cross it. Now, I know the Indians are thinking that we will be caught, and so are the white men who are in the fort. We must be in a desperate effort will also be expected. The unexpected never happens."

"Why not go into the fort and defend ourselves?"

"Because we are not in the fort, and we are not

BEET SUGAR FACTS.

ITS IMPORTANCE ILLUSTRATED IN THE STATE OF MICHIGAN.

Gives Profitable Returns to Farmers and Benefits the Consumer by Establishing a Competition Beyond the Power of the Sugar Trust to Supplies

The "Journal" in this issue makes a presentation of the importance of the beet sugar industry to the farmers of the state. What the factories that take this product of the farm have done will arouse those who now, for the first time, read of the extent of their operations. The sugar cane on the southern plantations has added materially to the prosperity of the districts in which they are produced, and has contained on its way to stimulate every industry in which the farmer appears as a factor.

It will be noticed that there is cheaper for each beet sugar factory some number of acreage. As a matter of fact, not all of them have made money in the sense in which it is made in many non-established interests. But if all of them had it would still and operate powerfully to the same mind on a reason for making this industry in majority by reduction of the tariff on imported raw sugar. The prices of raw sugar are regulated by the votes of the country, but that the protected industries shall barely make both ends meet. The industry of sugar making in the United States is protected that it may be profitable—so that it may pay up to the American standard for labor and be a factor in keeping the price of a given article to the community.

The beet sugar industry does both those things. It gives satisfactory returns to the farmer or else he will not raise the beets, the wage hand thus employing work less and not with the factory. It has lowered the price of sugar to the consumer by the competition of the trust, and the evidence is so near as any grocery store, the price of the refined article being now 1 cent per pound to the figure it touched under free trade in foreign sugar.

The beet sugar industry has thus justified its claim for protection—by benefit to the consumer, by good prices to the grower, and by adding to the general prosperity of the country. Its plea for lowering the tariff is founded on

An illogical suffering Cuba

In all whether the "natural" defense that it is against competition that Cuba is suffering. There were brought before the ways and means committee of the House a number of Cuban sugar planters. We have yet to read the testimony of one who did not acknowledge that the island was prosperous, that labor was better employed than ever before, that any enlargement of the sugar industry by increasing the area and number of the plantations would mean that labor would be benefited to work—cheap labor, not American labor in fairness be we should have some of those some Cuban planters complained suffering in the far, for if the tariff on sugar of the island could not be sold at a higher rate than offered now.

Great loss. But in whose hands, then, is the price. In the hands of the Sugar Trust. If the tariff is cut in, or some other per cent, there is no certainty that the sugar trust will do other than take the place of the Cuban planter.

The price of sugar is fixed at the London market, any reduction in the tariff is velvet for me. If you do not with the Cuban price we after there are thousands of men of express sugar to the market in the world, and they are strong enough, capital is slowly entering on an industry of profit to the consumers, which to factories are to be located, and the source of a cheaper product is assured to thousands. It was six cent under a pledge—a written pledge, not one, to the air that had said to have made made to Congress pledge to no protest beet sugar that so much of the sugar trust. Is the price of sugar cheaper? Is it worth to try a tariff on raw sugar.

All that the industry asks is that that pledge be kept. If there is some where a place in the value of the Cuban of the Antilles, so that he kept, can look at the expense of the taxpayers as a whole—not of one industry—Detroit Journal.

Cabinet Cricket Scheme.

A school teacher, provided with very had unlucky enough to fall to find three pupils of Mr. Hoyt, as the disciples were constantly watchful. Finally the skipper grew desperate and decided on a bold move. He happened to catch a small and unused barn in the neighborhood. Then he carefully fitted up the pew open and let every safety himself before the crowd came back.

Tariff of Prominent Statesmen.

Dr. P. M. Riley recalls that when the president's mother sat down for the first time in the Lincoln dinner, what seemed to impress her most was the personal quality of Lincoln, and she commented on its absence, and then added:

"Well, Uncle, it isn't know what they mean when they speak of the Lincoln dinner."

The president laughed. "I admit, I say, that there seems to be an extravagant array of cream on the table, but you know, mother, we can afford to give it to the people."

Has Time for Sale.

The Marquis Tseng-Kiang is in this country on a business trip. It is said he is willing to transfer his title for a consideration. Just what this consideration would be, or what would be the price of a title of nobility, we will not know, although it is rumored that the Marquis is willing to sell the right, since somewhat the privilege of selling.

UNJUSTLY BURDENED

DOMESTIC ASPECT OF THE CUBAN RELIEF PROPOSITION.

These Agricultural and Two Manufacturing Industries Asked to Bear the Expense of Adding to the Market Value of Cheap Sugar and Tobacco.

The question is asked: Can the nation afford to impose an additional burden from a distinctive and dependent state? We should say not, on general principles. Nobody prophesies such a thing. It is however, in order to ask, Can the nation afford to impose or perpetuate an intimate upon its own producers of sugar and tobacco? The is in fact, seriously and strenuously proposed. While it is not exactly clear that the United States is morally bound, or even should feel sentimentally impelled to rush to the relief of a foreign country and alleviate conditions (real or imaginary) which it had no hand in bringing about, it is entirely clear that the United States ought not to select three branches of its agricultural industry and two branches of its manufacturing industry to bear the entire burden of Cuban relief, even to the extent of being themselves thereby benefited, into a more desperate case than ever which it is alleged in behalf of the Cubans.

The three branches of agricultural industry which it is proposed to pinch are those engaged in the growing of sugar cane and sugar beets, and those devoted to tobacco culture. Sugar cane is an important element of production in our southern states and the growth of sugar beets is a farming feature already of vast consequence to and capable of positively enormous expansion in the great Intermediate belt of the north and west. The growing of tobacco for cigar purposes is distributed throughout the following states:

	Acres.
Ohio	5,000
Wisconsin	22,000
Pennsylvania	25,000
New York	7,200
Connecticut	11,400
Massachusetts	4,400
New Hampshire	125
Vermont	200
Florida, Georgia and Texas	2,600
Total	111,625

The aggregate value of these farms and the buildings thereon is from $100,000 to $50,000,000. Deprived of the protection under which their industry has been fostered, the owners of these farm properties would find the productive value and the market value of their holdings suddenly decreased by many millions of dollars.

The sugar manufacturing industry, which in 1901 employed more than 10,000 people and made and marketed 2,776,934,269 cigars, would be virtually wiped out of existence if the duty on Cuban cigars were reduced 50 per cent.

The beet sugar refining industry, with many millions of dollars already invested in refining beets produced in agricultural sections, and many millions more certain to be invested if protection be maintained, will be hampered, crippled and perhaps destroyed by the proposition that the duty on raw sugar from Cuba be decreased.

It is to be remembered that each and all of these industries were promised protection in the Republican platform of 1900. It is to be remembered that each and all of these industries were promised protection in the Republican platform of 1896. It is to be remembered that each and all of these industries were promised protection in the Republican platform of 1892. FIRE LOSS IS $150,000

FREIGHT SHEDS DESTROYED IN BUFFALO, N. Y.

Hides, Hardware, Pipe, Axes and Tools Stolen and Several Cars Also Go Up in Smoke—Omaha Warehouse Was Also Visited by Fire.

The freight sheds on Canal street, below the New York Central Railroad Company's Elmwood street station, in Buffalo, were destroyed by fire early Thursday morning, according to the Buffalo Commercial, and the New York Central Railroad Company's loss will run into a hundred and fifty thousand dollars, according to rough estimates. The sheds were filled with freight, and several cars of this is stolen goods. The sheds were the property of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railroad Company, and were used by the Adams Express Company, the New York Central Railroad Company, the New York Central Express Company, and the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railroad Company. The sheds were 1,000 feet in length and about 100 feet in width. The fire was discovered by the watchman at 2 o'clock in the morning, and when the fire department arrived the sheds were in flames from end to end. The fire department was hampered by the scarcity of water, and had to run a long distance to get a supply. The sheds were built of wood, and burned like tinder. The fire department was unable to save the sheds, which burned to the ground. The sheds were filled with a miscellaneous assortment of freight, including hides, hardware, pipe, axes and tools, and several cars of this stolen goods were also burned. The loss will be heavy, but it will be impossible to estimate it until the company has had an opportunity to make a careful inventory of the contents of the sheds. The company has offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest and conviction of the incendiary who fired the sheds. The company also offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the thieves who stole the goods from the sheds. The company also offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the man who stole a pair of shoes

WORK WELL STARTED.

Excavations for the Foundation of the Sugar Factory in Progress.

Quietly, without any hurrah or brass band, superintendent Hartnig began operations Monday morning that will not cease until the wheels of the beet sugar factory begin to turn late next autumn.

The plat was surveyed and the preliminary stakes set last week. Tools were made to determine the stability of the bottom, and it was decided that pile-driving was unnecessary.

Monday morning with three teams and a gang of men the work of excavating began, and will occupy the most of this week. Mr. Hartnig expects to be laying stone in the foundation by next Monday morning.

Superintendent Hartnig is an expert in sugar factory construction, having built one in Michigan. In a recent interview he was enthusiastic in his talk about the Charlevoix factory. He says the location beats them all, and that every surrounding association is ideal.

—A Bellington dispatch says: The People's Transit Co. will put the steamer Lawrence on the route between this city and Chicago May 15. The boat will stop at White Lake, Montague, Manistee and Frankfort. Until June 21 two round trips will be made every week, and after that date a tri-weekly service will be given. The steamer Lawrence, which will refloat the route, has been rebuilt at a cost of $25,000. She was lengthened 37 feet and fitted with new engines and boilers. She will have sleeping accommodations for 100 passengers, a capacity for 200 tons of freight, and will have a speed of 12 miles an hour. The Chicago office will be with the Graham & Morton company.

The Supervisors and the Small Pox Bills

The backbone of the recent special session of the board of supervisors was the small-pox question so far as it is related to bills. The session, which began Tuesday, lasted until Saturday morning, and two thirds of this time was taken up by the committee on claims in passing on bills from the several townships and villages.

In dealing with these claims the following rule was laid down: The county shall not pay for fumigating, vaccinating, or for furniture for pest houses. These claims fall back on the townships and villages where the expense was incurred. And all townships and villages where the expense was incurred. And all townships coming to the board of supervisors must first be audited by the several boards of health of the townships and villages. In other words, no personal bills were considered by the board.

The following amounts were allowed by the board:

Village of Boyne City	$1,00 00
" Charlevoix	500 00
East Jordan	238 75
Township of Evangeline	115 75
" Hudson	30 00
" Norwood	30 00
" Wilson	42 00
Total	$2,000 00

There were many other local expenses that falls upon townships and villages, enumerated above, to indicate that the small pox last winter and spring cost the people of Charlevoix county over $2,500.

BREWSTER'S BLUFFS

Is He Guilty of Discrimination to Gratify Grudge.

From the Omaha News.

"If the gates of politics is responsible for a good many strange things," said a prominent Griswold street man, who was chatting with a number of friends in the Russell house lobby, "this is a ranger thing than ever happened, than the elevation of a citizen of the name of Brewster to be chief deputy game warden. Brewster's name should be changed slightly if it were spelled 'Brewstee' it would be more appropriate."

The mention of Brewster's name came about in the course of a conversation in which fish and game fishing were uppermost. The article on fishing in The Sunday News-Tribune was mentioned by one of the party, all of whom are ardent sportsmen, and, like all "cranks" on trolling, all had their favorite streams. The gentleman who spoke of changing Deputy Brewster's name to "Blooster," had read in an evening paper an alleged interview with Brewster, in which the latter had gone out of his way to "boost" some of the trout streams of the state, at the expense of others equally as well known and liked, and it so happened that the game warden had omitted mention of this sportsman's favorite stream.

"I don't mind his saying the Ausable is the best trout stream in the state," he continued, "for every fisherman has his favorite stream, and he stands up for it, as he should. But when he says that the Pere Marquette and its tributary, Baldwin creek, have been stocked regardless the last two seasons, he is, in my judgment, playing a boy's game of revenge, for I happen to know that he has been on all sections of the Pere Marquette and is 'boosting' the trade which, evidently, 'gave up' to him when he wants to travel. Of course, he gets mileage from the state, when he is on official business. He's one of the Hiles gang, you know.

"Certainly the Pere Marquette river and its branches have lost their reputation for good trouting—for Mr. Brewster. For my part, I have been fishing the Pere Marquette and its branches for years, and while there are some seasons when the catch runs small the same if true of all the streams in the state, not excepting the Au Sable, Mr. Brewster's pet. I keep a line on the doings of the fish throughout the year, and the reports I get from my boys up in the Pere Marquette country are that the present season will be the best in years. You just keep your ear to the trout line this year, and you'll find it wouldn't be Mr. Brewster's pets that will carry off the blue ribbon for sizable fish, or even catching either.

"Oh, I don't know. I suppose any other politician would do as well as Brewster. What road was it that Brewster failed to mention? Well, he said something about the Michigan Central being in it, and the G. R. & I. There's only one other road that splits the heart of the trouting country that I know of, and that's the Pere Marquette, which parallels the G. R. & I. north from Grand Rapids. If the fishing is so good on the G. R. & I. it must be because Brewster baits his hook with annual passes and goes 'plunkin' with the other 'roguis.'"

SCHOOL COMM'R COLUMN.

—V. CASE, COMM'R.

The Reading Circle set for the year 1903 will consist of James' Practical Agriculture, Tompson's School Management, Gordy's American Leaders and Heroes.

James' Practical Agriculture has been used very extensively by the teachers of Wisconsin, Missouri and Nebraska, is better preparing themselves for the work in the common schools of our respective states. The adoption of this book by the Reading Circle board is an evidence of the appreciation of the board, of the demand for closer sympathy between teachers and the pupils entrusted to their care.

Gordy's American Leaders and Heroes will furnish the young mind some conception of what our history is, and at the same time stimulate an abiding interest in history and biographical reading.

Tompson's School Management should be read by all young teachers especially. The spirit of the book is clearly traceable to contact with U. S. Jones first president of the Indiana State Normal School. But it and plans note that I have brought with Mr. N. Gorsline act as my sole buyer for this district. BEAVER ISLAND NEWS.

The tug "Nellie" is pound net fishing this season.

Mr. Hill was called to Charlevoix Monday on business.

The Pleine township school closed Friday last for a short vacation.

Mrs. Phil Malloy, from the "Head," has been spending a few days in the Harbor, visiting friends.

The gill net still begins the season's cut this week Monday, but everything has moved along so far without a hitch.

The church and buildings in connection are soon to receive a new coat of paint, the tower bell, and some minor repairs made.

Bishop Henry Joseph Richter, of this the Grand Rapids diocese, will be here early in July to administer the Sacrament of Confirmation to a class of about sixty.

Light-keeper McCauley of Squaw Island now has his family with him at the Light-house. Ann Nelson's family will be here from Northport next week.

Capt. John McGuire is getting the material on the ground for the erection of a residence on the west corner near the site of the old Mormon Temple.

W. J. Gallagher returned from the spring meeting of the board of supervisors on the mail boat. W. D. Gallagher of Peaine township also came back on the same boat.

The tug Margaret McCann went to Charlevoix Monday night for lumber, returning next day. The Mormon is doing well with her fishing this season, the lifts averaging a ton a day.

The Island Reading Circle is planning on giving an entertainment next week, proceeds to go toward getting love tokens for our two new leavers—the hotel and steamer.

Mr. Jas. Dougherty of Traverse City has bought a section of land at the head of the Island for the purpose of starting a stock farm. He is much pleased with the Island and intends to make it his summer home at least.

Rev. Fr. Zegelder returned from his Traverse City, Grand Rapids, Saginaw Valley and Port Huron tour on Friday, after spending ten days visiting friends around the state. The Father is well pleased to again return to "the Beavers, the pride of the Inland Seas."

St. Jerome is in need of a barber—a good barber—one who can shave a man three days under the skin and the victim go to sleep, during the operation and re-wake from it without a restorative. Joking aside we need a barber and the first good one who comes can do a nice business for at least four months.

Prof. Bergland of Ann Arbor has been instrumental in getting a bill under way Bill No. 1908, which has been introduced by Senator McMillan, providing for the erection and maintenance of a Biological Station somewhere along the Great Lakes, said Station to be under the control and management of the U. S. Fish Commission. No more suitable location for such station could be found than Beaver Island and we hope our local fishermen will present the matter to our Congressman in a way that will lead them to feel the force of the above statement.

Traverse City has a murder sensation. Mrs. John A. Hargravo died Monday under violent circumstances. Her husband, who is under arrest, claimed the result of the ugly wounds while in a fit, but the physicians state such injuries would be impossible for one to inflict on themselves. Yesterday a cross-cut saw bottle, covered with blood and fitting some of the wounds on the woman's head, was found hidden in the woodshed. It is thought by many that Hargravo is not perfectly sane.

East Jordan Enterprise: The surveyors have been at work for some weeks locating routes for spur tracks for the L. J. & S. Ry. The longest of these is some six miles in length and extends clear over into the intermediate valley, near the Dingman Mill site. Lates they have been at work setting grade stakes for straightening the curves and reducing grade on the main line. The gravel train will start this week and will be kept at work until the main line is in good shape.

"Holiday" Boros sang of the mountain daisy. He called it "wee modest flower" and "bonnie gem," but what daisy of hill or dale could ever compare in fragrance, beauty and charm with the sweet smelling cyo and trailing arbutus now holding and blossoming in Northern Michigan. In this South land's former poet's favorite, is of humble, lowly birth, but all the better for that. No other spring flower is more highly prized, but we regret to say many was place the modest and fragrant flower are reckless in gathering the same and pull it up by roots, thus destroying future productions. Take a pail of stream along when you go to pick it and clip the buds and blossoms, leaving the roots to grow and blossom another year to make sunshine and happiness.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor

The service last Sunday morning was well attended and the pastor spoke of "A Great Dialogue," Ephesians III, 20-21. The sold by Mr. Finch was much enjoyed.

The illustrated history Bonus Concert was given Wednesday evening to a large audience and everybody seemed well pleased. The views were good and showed up clearly on the canvas. They were selected as bearing upon the life, character and works of Scotland's Lyric Poet and also to throw light upon Scottish character of a century ago, and incidentally on that of to-day. The songs were also well and carefully selected for the same reason, but because of the difficulty in getting Scotch music procurable for four parts, Mrs. Hyslop had to furnish some of them as well as write the accompaniments to many, and this month of the scores being manuscript, a very great deal of credit is due both organist and choir in the matter of rendering it. All those who took part gladly rendered their share and are pleased to have been able to give an evening's entertainment to so many appreciative listeners.

On Friday night of this week the Christian Endeavor will give a delightful social evening. Refreshments, short program and lots of pure fun will be had in the blindfold clipping.

One Advantage to Old Age.

Prof. Jowett, the grand master of Balliol college, commenting on the crystal tools of growing old, wrote to a friend: "The latter part of life, old age near to me, from a certain point of view to be the best. They are less disturbed by care and the world; we begin to understand that things really matter did matter as much as we supposed, and we are able to see them pretty in their true proportion instead of being overwhelmed by them. We are more resigned to the will of God, and are afraid to depart we overgrow, too to stay. We cannot see into another life, but we believe with an ineffable hope that there is something still reserved for us."

—John A. Allen, father of Mrs. P. H. Campbell, returned to his home in Lansing Monday.

—The youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Foley, is very sick with congestion of the lungs.

—Mrs. H. C. Cooper and her son Clarence have been spending a week with friends at Central Lake.

—Just a fond of a century ago this week some the first copy of the SENTINEL was printed by the present publisher.

—E. T. Lincoln and wife arrived here from the south Monday, and will have pretty things in shape for visitors.

—The Ladies Aid society of Congregational Church, will hold a cake sale Saturday May 17th. See notice later.

—The J. S. Harris real estate agency on Saturday sold the Harris Park residence on South Bridge street to J. C. Adams.

—Wm. H. Mills and wife of Bayne City, spent Sunday in town. Mrs. White spoke of the improvement going on in the Mills' church in Bay City.

—The highway commissioner commenced the public gravel work Monday morning and possibly some of the road company will join in the work inside next week, which will greatly facilitate the work of getting material on the ground.

—The farmers of western Antrim county have organized an independent telephone company, and intend to have the lines built this year. The work of wires connecting the farmers with each other and with their nearest town, Bellaire, will be a feature. The line from Central Lake to Atwood is built to within two miles of the Antrim place, and 35 farmers are subscribed. There are 75 farmers in the district. The line will be continued from Atwood through Milton to Ellsworth.

—The boys seem to be going out in the fishing every day.

—T. Pennell & Co. have a new and very realistic ad. in this issue.

—The schooner Maine is bringing coal from Cleveland to Beaver Island for Mathias.

—Lots are this week. The United States Lumber and Realty Co. and Smallman & Smith.

Mrs. Leon Blanchard returned home last week from Batavia, N. Y., where she spent the winter.

The ladies Guild, of the Episcopal church will hold their cake sale in Waterman's music store Saturday afternoon.

—Excursion tonight (Friday) to East Jordan, on the occasion of the "Indian Bitter" concert. Fare round trip, 40 cents, including concert.

—L. S. See and Frank Kenyon have bought the business on the O. W. Morris cheese cutter, and will manufacture. They are arranging to turn out 10 to 15 tons.

—Mrs. N. A. Sheets has bought the N. H. Sexton residence, on Bryon avenue Mr. and Mrs. Sheets, who have resided here from Norwood, will occupy the house soon.

—On Tuesday the tug P. J. Gelzer brought in a large load of wood from one Bill. Something over eight tons were brought in by the combined fleet of tugs on that day.

—Roll of honor for pupils in District No 2, Norwood township, who have not been absent nor tardy during the month ending May 2nd: Hazel O' Brien, Milton O' Brien, May Wells, Marion Wells, Gertrude Tenney, Lester Van Duzen.

—By careful measurement it was ascertained last week that Stover Creek flows into Pine Lake at the rate of 12,000,000 gallons every twenty four hours. This account was now through the cleaning sheds of the sugar factory, and the measurement demonstrates the fact that the supply is amply sufficient for that use.

—The small schooner Wm. Cook, Jr., loaded with salt for Beaver Island, went ashore in the fog two miles south of Fisherman's Island Wednesday morning. A tug was sent from this city to her and the tug Wheeler took the life saving crew with their surf boat and went out. After throwing over sixty barrels of salt the boat was released and brought here, looking sorry. She was unloaded and repacked.

—The postal authorities at Washington, recognized the inability of postmasters to make mistakes in getting letters in the wrong boxes, have fixed a penalty of $250 on persons taking mail out of the office other than their own and not returning it. The idea is to have people look at their own mail before taking it out of the office and if they should open mail other than their own they should return it at once. It also includes newspapers. The excuse that it is to postmaster's fault "cuts no ice." If you have been getting other people's mail you had better take warning or you will get yourself into trouble.

—The very premature settlers who have up north got down here Saturday, and were lucky enough to hear appointed Charlie Jedlowicz, policeman on south Bridge street, somewhere beyond. The air was chock full of snipe's for a brief minute. There were big dents in the cement walk in front of the barber saloon, and a telegram from the town got out of gear. The chick in the Hartman house stopped, and a cloud of gravel stunning in the street was exclaimed. Both bagpeds went to jail, also paid $5.15 each Monday morning. Charlie is well, and trying for more bagpeds.

—While the man by which portland cement can be made is far increasing, and its use becoming more common each succeeding year, still the demand does not quite keep up to the supply, it appears from a report furnished by Charles D. Walcott, director of the United States geological survey. Last year Michigan had 10 factories in operation and six more process of construction. The estimated yearly production of all the opposition Michigan companies is a precise sixty 8,000,000 barrels. The total consumption of portland cement in the United States in 1902 was between 19,000,000 and 19,000,000 barrels' while there were 2,500,000 barrels manufactured that same year. As there is similar activity in other states it would seem that Michigan is reporting to supply a demand that does not yet exist.

His concerts and musical morals this season of autumn were of a kind which the conservative revolutionists in view of the Jacobin exhibition presented in the city of love and frolic. Jets of electric light from the orange rays of some mighty enthusiasm rather shot into the sky within a housing roof, and a power that seemed Dionysiac, when transmutable, was, as whatever and flashing like the Lucian gems modified the latent expansive and long term fumigants, with a fresh or sweet savory, hurled the sparkling ray which into the air from which the vail here is showers of liquid jewels.

Sometimes forty gems in gems flashed back from the mood, torrid heat. Sprays of the fire water found from the jets and flowed down to the falling lakes. It was, when transformed, that the vail here showering connect to to that raises the spirits to the spirits.

"What place is this?" asked Miguel.

"The Jardin des Plantes," replied Silouette.

"Did you come here of the Yellow grass?" asked Armand.

TO BE CONSIDERED.

BEET SUGAR PRODUCTION AN IMPORTANT FACTOR.

Output Increased 340 Per Cent Last Year and $30,000,000 of New Capital is Ready for Investment in Beet Sugar Refining Plants.

Just in time to arouse the attention of those who are remaining in ignorance of the important domestic agricultural and manufacturing industry comes an interesting statement by C. F. Saylor, an assistant agent in the Department of Agriculture in charge of beet sugar investigations. Those among the new voters who go to make up the national report Mr. Saylor has added to the following figures regarding the industry during the past year:

The total production of beet sugar in the United States in the season 1901-2 has aggregated 185,000 tons, an increase of 340 per cent from the 42,000 tons produced during the season 1900-1.

There were thirty-one factories in operation in this season, as against the figure mentioned above, which stands in 1897.

There are nine factories in course of construction for operation in 1902, as follows: Bellevue, Carrollton, Mount Pleasant and Unionville, Mich., Sterling, Ill., Grand Island and Fort Collins, Colo., and Norfolk, Neb., ranging in capacity of daily output from 500 tons to 1,000 tons. Again from the New York Journal of Commerce:

Labor difficulties have been experienced, with a total cancellation of 15 weeks, and would require accounts of a similar character to be published in the United States Beet Sugar Report. The total attendance from factories seasonally ranges in the amount of 12,000 persons, besides many small crafts mechanics.

The number and aggregate capital of these respective plants, by States, follow:

	No of factories	Capital
Arizona	2	$1,000,000
California	3	1,500,000
Colorado	7	1,500,000
Idaho	1	500,000
Illinois	1	1,000,000
Iowa	2	1,000,000
Michigan	13	1,500,000
Minnesota	1	500,000
Nebraska	1	500,000
New Jersey	1	1,000,000
New York	1	1,000,000
North Dakota	2	1,000,000
Ohio	1	1,000,000
Oregon	1	500,000
Pennsylvania	1	500,000
South Dakota	2	1,000,000
Utah	3	3,000,000
Wisconsin	2	1,000,000
Wyoming	2	1,500,000
	32	$19,500,000

Given the most, not least among Protected Industries, and the good effects among the producers of the Union, somewhat popular must admit the Sugar Beet of these effects. Again, an agricultural manufacturing industry, we are told, "Protection" has made from 42,000 to 185,000 tons of sugar, and when for the current year so particular a factor in the Special Trade, it is made well I suppose, at an outlay of $19,500,000 capital, with a single year producing capacity of $11,000,000 a year to a population of some magnitude. It reveals Natural Factors worth remaining with. Among other Kinds. There are 32 representatives in Congress to be elected this year from these States, and I believe these States will choose "Protectionists" therein. Certainly there is enough in the statement as disclosed by the statistics of the Department of Agriculture to make some people stop and think whether it is wise to break down a Protective tariff, whether it is wise or no, for one, or consequence whether it is not a fact that "Protection" has kept up the head with a Free-Trade Extreme. The figures presented by Mr. Saylor, in his official view, is that it is of very serious consequence to many people in many Kinds.

The Chief Heartsaver.

It has been most unfortunate, and not unfortunately denied, that the American sugar industry, notwithstanding large cash advances during the disordered period of the Cuban revolution, planters, and that these advances considerable what is practically a mortgage on the sugar crop of Cuba, and the entire profit of the proposed refineries in the matter on Cuban raw sugars, would accrue to the benefit of the great trust combination of which Henry O. Havemeyer is the head. If this situation, which has been recently made, is true, the action of the American Sugar Refining Company is creditable alike to its honest dealing and honest sense, but it affords a curious commentary on the congressional speeches "Protection" has made, if it has been so much of a heartsaver to Trusts.

Some Cure of Shortness.

The first mention of shortness in Congress is, it seems, made some years ago, on falling asleep before the clerk, saying nothing.

THE "INSURGENTS."

Congressmen Who Adhere to the McKinley School of Republicanism.

Congressman Tayler of Ohio, the representative of the district which contributed and developed William McKinley, is conspicuous among the seventy-odd who are ranged together in the phalanx of Congress Republicanism against the remains of his revered mentor and his quondam friends. "Insurgents" they are called, these diehard defenders of the shrunken idea of protection, because they resist the overtures of those who under the guise of sentiment of sympathy for the party would fain bring back into the wall "insurgents." Curious term to apply to men who demand that the platform of the Republican party be lived up to, who believe that the adoption of resolutions that stand or fall as a whole, and not be contracted piecemeal, who believe that you cannot withdraw protection from a selected group of domestic industries and yet retain it for the general body of American industry and labor. To be recognized as the leader of such a body of "insurgents" is an honor and a distinction. Mr. Tayler is well equipped for the land. To begin with the laws from Protection headquarters, he is descended from McKinley ancestors. In his veins there flows the blood of the McKinleys and he as dutiful nephew and heir, he inherits the principles and the political ideas of his uncle. Nothing is more clear than he is the late President in countenance and spirit. No man has a better right to speak for McKinley.

In his speech of Friday minutes before the last recess of Congress, Congressman Tayler spoke for McKinley. He said that the Republican party had "solemnly promised to Cuba protection and to no duties upon Cuban products, and to no duties upon Cuban products." Mr. Tayler said that "it is probably not in accordance with the wishes of President McKinley on the 4th of June that we meet."

Against any such, or rightly which taken from a single American was adopted in 1894.

It was in reference to this declaration, on the Tariff, McKinley that the American Economist said in its issue of July 5, 1894:

"The President believes in and favors the plan of reciprocity as defined by the Reciprocity clause of the McKinley act, which, we do not consider, goes far enough. We do not consider the President's attitude on the Tariff question, as expressed in the Congressman Taylor was not so much in accordance with the wishes of President McKinley's attitude on the subject of reciprocity.

Congressman Taylor was not so liberally in his statement. Mr. McKinley was in favor of some bill—some in that connection, but the seal of confidence has been broken in his name. Labor before the House conference that is the part of the Republican party. In the part of the Republican party before the Subcommittee Commission as a witness representing the American Protective Tariff League he said: "Gentlemen, Mr. McKinley and I talk matters with Mr. McKinley and I talk matters with Mr. McKinley and I talk matters with

GETS LONG SENTENCE.

MUST SERVE NINETY-NINE YEARS FOR THE BAIN.

British Subject Swore Falsely Into His Case a Citizen of United States—Attempted Bribery of Witnesses—Town to Be Built in a Week.

Detroit, Mich., March 20.—Ninety-nine years is what is the punishment in Ionia prison for Peter Bain, a British subject, who was sentenced to the federal prison at Ionia yesterday by Judge Clark of the United States district court. The sentence was pronounced by Judge Clark after a long argument by counsel for the defense and the United States attorney, who prosecuted the case, had been completed. The prisoner was convicted of the charge of having sworn falsely when about 12 years ago he made an application for a United States passport. He said that he had a case of the name of Bain in Detroit, and that he was a citizen of the United States, and that he was born in the Philippines. Bain was tried, convicted and sentenced to Ionia for ninety-nine years, the maximum sentence for the offense, and he will be taken there on the 1st of April. The indictment against Bain was for perjury, in that he did swear that he was a citizen of the United States, and that he was born in the Philippines. Bain was tried in the district court of Wayne county, and was convicted by a jury. The prisoner was defended by Attorney Frederick Lyon, who made a long argument for the defense, and was opposed by Assistant United States Attorney Frank Dwyer, who prosecuted the case for the government. Bain was not the only person involved in the case. Two others were indicted with him, one for the crime of subornation of perjury and the other for the crime of bribery. The man who was charged with the crime of subornation of perjury was Frank Bain, a brother of the prisoner, who was a resident of Detroit at the time the crime was said to have been committed. The man who was charged with the crime of bribery was Frank Bain's father-in-law, who was also a resident of Detroit at the time the crime was said to have been committed. The charge against the father-in-law was that he had offered a certain sum of money to a witness named Frank Bain, the brother of the prisoner, if he would go to Canada and testify that the prisoner was born in the Philippines. The charge against the brother was that he had sworn that the prisoner was born in the Philippines, and that he had received a certain sum of money for his services. The trial of the three men was begun in the district court of Wayne county, and was continued for several days, when it was found that the prisoner was not a resident of the district, and that the offense had been committed in the Philippines. The case was then dismissed in the district court of Wayne county, and the three men were indicted in the district court of the United States for the eastern district of Michigan. THE MASONIC PICNIC

Eighteen Lodges are Expected to Participate.

The proposed Masonic convention and picnic at Charlevoix July 19th is a foregone conclusion, and Kalkaska Lodge No 382 has sent out the following statement and invitation to lodges:

"We have made arrangements with the Charlevoix Lodge for an excursion of from 12 to 15 Grand Traverse region to Charlevoix on Wednesday, July 19th, 1902, and for a Masonic picnic and general good time at that place. Yourselves and families are cordially invited to join with us. Arrangements will be made to visit an excursion to accommodate all.

"It is further contemplated to form an association of the Masonic lodges of this region at this time for the purpose of having an annual excursion to some point. The lodges in the aggregate will be invited, and perhaps those high in Masonry throughout the state. It will be a good and big time, if all who hold aloof.

"We hope that your lodge will unanimously endorse this step and join with us in it. Let us show the world that we know how to enjoy ourselves. And in this connection ascertain what you may desire may be secured by addressing I. C. Pratt, secretary Kalkaska Lodge, No. 382."

Arrangements are being made and lodges are expected to participate, with their several locations and the membership of each:

SCHOOL NOTES.

The Typography class have just completed their work for this year.

The Senior German Class have just completed Schiller's interesting play Wilhelm Tell.

An open Forum will be held at the New High School building Friday evening May 9th. Admission 15 cents.

A Teacher Association will be held at Boyne City, Saturday, May 10, 1902. Constitution and by-laws will be submitted to the members at this meeting for their adoption.

The Barny Entertainment given by Rev. Dr. Hyslop last Wednesday evening was heartily enjoyed by all pupils present both as social entertainment and for the knowledge it imparted concerning the life and works of the great Scottish poet. We wish, as a school, publicly to thank Mr. Hyslop for his kindness towards the High School.

The first regular Base Ball game of the season was played at Petoskey last Friday. Only seven innings were made and the Charlevoix team did not go to bat in the last innings. However the game stands 17 to 3 in our favor. Good work all around considering the weather. A return game is expected to be played in about two weeks. Every one wants to see Boyne.

COUNTY SUPD.

The Old Manitou County Claims Again Come to the Front.

It cannot be said that Manitou county is but a sweet, lingering memory, for the speck of that ancient island holdover still stakes a claim, and the ghosts of Burgess and of Stephenson, in chariots on the south of those who look up the turtles at the behest of an immaterial legislature.

The Beaver, Fox, and Manitou group constituted the organized territory that was named in honor of the famous chief. It lived beyond its means, and when the ultimate blow and the loss followed them off, the family found itself short on money and long on debts.

About ten years ago, while Manitou county was yet on the map, about $2,500 of these county orders came out. The possession of Curtis & Wylie, of Traverse City, who received them presented to the board of supervisors of this county, after the disorganization of Manitou, and on many times thereafter, at the date, with accumulated interest, the original county bill $2,000.

And now Curtis & Wylie have sued Charlevoix county to recover the amount thereof, the papers having been served on Judge Smith. The county judge has also filed the auditing board to meet here on the first of April, and it is expected that the board will decide whether they should do it then or not.

Under the statute these claims were long ago outlawed, but the legislature dug up these parcel counties, vivified them with right furbish, and issued them up to Charlevoix county. Under the act legalizing them, a board of audit was created, consisting of John Dodge and W. H. Gallagher, of old Manitou, the clerk and treasurer of Leelanau and the clerk and treasurer of Grand Traverse—this is the board that will assemble the 15th and act on the claims.

In course the payment of these claims by Charlevoix county does not mean their payment by the county at large. If Curtis & Wylie who their bill, the amount will be assessed by the two counties on the original territory of Manitou county.

It cannot be raised a clear case for either contestant. Eminent legal authority claims the bills cannot be collected, while other equally able attorneys say they can, and there you have it.

Potatoes is selling the question of a new opera house.

Central Lake Tocsin: The Canning factory people are taking about 200,000 tomato plants grown in the Charlevoix Green houses which will be all ready for transplanting as soon as all danger of frost is past.

Last week Judge Shepard appointed Clay H. Hall prosecuting attorney of Emmet county to succeed M. E. Quinlan, who resigned on account of charges made in connection with the county seat light in the board of supervisors. Hall formerly held the office to which he has been appointed.

Grand Rapids Herald: W. M. Durand, vice president of the proposed Alpena, Gaylord & Western Railway, is in the city again looking up matters in connection with the line from Gaylord to this City. Mr. Durand states that his report of Traverse City and surroundings was very gratifying to the directors of the company. He states that there will be a meeting of the directors on the 7th of this month and work of surveying from that City to this point will be started at once.

Grand Traverse Herald: A serious danger is said to threaten the apple buds, many of them being covered with conditions tiny green bugs, which if allowed to live will sage all the fruit from them. Professor Taranlas has sent samples to the Agricultural college experiment station, asking the best method of killing the insects, and will get an answer in a few days, which will be published as soon as received. Prompt action seeming is due to keep the pests from spreading it is feared the apple crop in this region will be conspicuous by its absence.

Judging from the following which appeared in last week's Northport Leader, Captain Emery and his crew had a view of many coasts. Several hours was spent last Friday by the steamer Blackmore in dragging the bottom of the lake just beyond the Point with a view to locating the large anchor lost off the Illinois last fall. They hooked on to the pillar of salt lake which Lot was transformed, pulled up one of Pharaoh's chariot wheels, turning over the arm, surprised that made Dickey famous and pulled the hatch off a mermaid's front door—but the anchor is still at the bottom of the lake.

The wind jamming concerning the proposed Alpena & Western R. R. stirs goes merrily on, and if that road is ever built and follows all most desirable routes, this corner of Michigan will look like a gridiron. Bellaire is one of it. Mancelona doesn't consider itself immune by any means. Elk Rapids is willin, and there are spells when Kalkaska thinks she has been injured. Not farmers can let their cattle loose on running at large, for the present, at least. Without serious fear that the rolling stock will make them look like canned goods from the beef roast. Nebraska Farmer.

Bellaire Independent: Trade Manager E. J. Crossman of the East Jordan & Southern railroad returned Monday from a trip to Chicago, and reports success in procuring a fourth locomotive for that road. The new engine is a combined passenger and freight engine, equipped with air brakes both for the engine and the train, and is in every way a modern and up-to-date locomotive. It will be here the latter part of the week. The E. & J. have had considerable trouble in procuring another engine, and have been for a month larger than was needed than but a few months ago in order to get such a one as they needed. It is stated that a locomotive that a few months since could have been bought for $6,000 now costs $10,000. The new locomotive will at once be placed on the passenger run between this place and East Jordan, as Mr. Crossman informs us. A new passenger coach has also been purchased for this road, and is expected some time next week. It is a regulation pattern coach, elegantly fitted up, upholstered, etc., and will make trips between this place and East Jordan much more agreeable to patrons of the road. The present coach on this road will be offered for a combination baggage and smoker, with two compartments instead of three as at present.

LOST—A sum of money, sometime between 5 a.m. and noon Wednesday. Finder will be rewarded. Inquire at Sentinel office. A suitable reward will be paid.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. Jutson Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

Last Sunday morning bi-monthly communion was observed, when seven new members were received and two were baptised.

In the evening the pastor spoke on the temperance subject—on its national and world wide aspects. It is a large subject, and the greatest problem before the American people to-day without question, and they need to wake up and put on their strength, or make up their minds to take the terrible consequences.

The Christian Endeavor social last Friday evening was a large and joyous affair and netted the society about nine dollars.

By request the choir goes over to East Jordan Friday this week to give the Illustrated Bobby Burns Concert which was so well received here last week. The Beaver will leave the Wilcox dock about six o'clock, and say all the friends who wish to accompany the choir are cordially invited to do so. Fares, 25 cents for round trip, or 40 cents for round trip and concert.

Jerome Graves died at his home on the south terrace Sunday night, after a long and painful illness, of cancer of the stomach. Deceased was 74 years of age. Mr. Graves had the complaint, and suffering him, since have about three years ago from Albion, where they had lived many years. Deceased was a quiet, kindly and courteous old gentleman, respected by all who knew him and was the recipient of the tenderest affection of his family. Besides the widow, he leaves three sons and two daughters—Charles, of Charlevoix; Louis J., of Ann Arbor; Harry, of Lansing; Mrs. I. A. Eaton, of Albion, and Miss Louie, of Charlevoix. The funeral was from the residence Wednesday.

Albert N. Howlett died at his farm home south of the village Sunday morning, aged 64 years. Deceased came here from southern Michigan in 1882, settling on a farm in Marion. In the fall of 1883 the wife who accompanied him here died. The seven children of this union still survive. In May 1886 he was married to Mrs. Jane Gray, relict of the late William Gray, who survives him. The funeral occurred Tuesday at the Barnard M. E. church, Rev. Hughes, of Charlevoix, and Aylesworth, of Norwood, officiating.

John McCafferty died at his home on the south terrace early Wednesday morning, of pneumonia, aged about 70 years. Deceased was a brother of Peter McCafferty, and was an upright man and good citizen. He leaves a wife in poor health, and three small children.

Boswell Mudge departed this life Wednesday afternoon, at his home in this village, aged 76 years, of pneumonia. Deceased was a pioneer of Charlevoix, having located in the township of Marion in 1867, where he followed farming for some years, removing to Charlevoix several years ago. His wife survives him. CHAPTER XVII.—(Continued.)

"But now what does Red say?"

"Red? Why, he says he wants to be up in Texas, if we can."

"Have you been down to see him?"

"Yes, I've been down to see him. He has a cousin, or some kin, in Texas, and he wants to go there. If we can, he says, he will go with us. He thinks he can get a job there, and he wants to be near his cousin."

"Well, I guess we can do that. I know some people there, and I'm sure I can get you a good place. I'm sure I can. Why, I'm sure I can. I'm sure I can."

"Then tell it without stopping, for we can't linger for good news."

"Well, I've some pressers."

"Who are they?"

"The white cloth. Gen. Grayson, the leader of the insurgents, is one."

"And the other?" Grace whispered.

"The other is those who are people call the Mountain Rebels."

And then he remarked:

"Did you know that Jacob can read and write, that Jacob Hatfield is going to join his mother?"

"And you said—I tell me this!"

"Why, I said I was sure that Red Chief would be glad to have Jacob Hatfield come to join his mother."

CHAPTER XX.

[illegible] Hatfield, and he records the [illegible] Hatfield, and the world, the [illegible] Hatfield, and the world, the [illegible] Hatfield, and the world,

Cuba and Beet Sugar.

We are going to make our own sugar in this country, don't you doubt it, and make it from the beet, the root for which production has become almost everywhere. Last year the output in the United States was 185,000 tons, an increase of 158,000 tons over 1899. Forty-two factories were in operation last year, twelve were in course of construction. Factories have been established in nineteen states. This is one of the most promising young industries in the country, and one of the most important, and it is no sin to guard its development here, as we did that of iron, steel, tin plate and stores of small industries that are grown the year of the nation and by the Tariff, has never ceased production in the most promising way. Cuba is on a large scale the country has in sight, and there is force in the plea that if Cuba wants free admission to the markets of the United States, let her come in and be part of the United States and take her place with us. The shame, the stigma, the almost unacountable mistake Cuba made was in not asking immediate admission. And there will be devotion and consolidation without end, one around or another, till it does occur.—Chicago Times.

Asset or Deficit.

The Boston Journal avoids Congressman Thayer for offering a resolution looking toward an investigation of the alleged Trust trust in the proposed schedule of tariff reductions on Cuban relief. It says that the conditions "seem a piece of transparent demagoguery, discriminative to look at to the Democrats of New England, of which he is the leading representative." Over against trusts, centered around an economic questions, stands shown a disposition to let its coal run away with its chemistry. Why not investigate first and legislate afterward? Some day the relation of the sugar ring to the Cuban question appears to bring to be made known. It is more than suspected now. Sentiment relationships between the sugar trust and Cuban tariffs have not been so unbiased of in the past as to justify anybody in a peek-peeking for it at this time. It is better to avert a scandal than to deplore it.

The Head of the Sugar Trust.

General Grosvenor has hit the nail on the head. Every indication points to the Sugar Trust as having organized the Cuban reciprocity movement. It means money in the pockets of the trust and no money in trust certificates—and from its operation which caused Havemeyer sons under lifting the entire agitation. The trust answers need a little too conspicuously for first. It has now dropped out of sight as far as possible and is allowing the New York newspaper, Federal officials and Cubans to do the lobbying for it. It has been a long time since we have seen a trust thus attempting to control legislation, but the Sugar Trust has done this so long that it seems relating to sugar that it feels certain that it is entitled to follow the lines. This is bad enough in itself, without backing our Federal officials in advising in the interest.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Wanted an Easier Manner.

A Brooklyn woman complained to have her husband arrested for non-support, the special charge being that he had offered to buy her a $4.25 hat for her and that she had not had a new one since the previous Easter. On hearing that her husband's income was $8 per week, the prosecutor advised him to make another effort to satisfy the wife. He said he had been sick in other windows were enough for a poor woman at $4.25.

Hard on New England Cuts.

The Paris Journal measures the success of the French capital that their pet cats are not in danger of the fortune, as Massachusetts promises to supply that demand. It is said that "that Yankee state," says the Journal, "is so well adapted to raise a big number of a annual lot of 50 cents on every cat, whose skin, when tanned and so put on the shelves of and turned over to the furrier, must be sufficient to pay the payment of a footer of it."

If the Fast Negro Mentalis.

Bill Hughes, the first colorized real negroes in minstrels in Europe, died a short time ago in Amsterdam. While recently visiting in Syracuse, N. Y., some thirty-five years ago, he received the idea of taking a dose of paper of cathartic abroad. He did so and Hughes's dose was a great success. Hughes became wealthy but was worth only or nothing at the time of his death.

King Edward's Reputed.

Mr. Chamberlain was one of the guests at the supper given to the Cavendish-Bentinck to the king. After dinner, over a cigar, his company asked the concession servant if he thought he brings "Well, sir, sir," was the reply, "the fact is I have been in attendance on the queen for months to find time to learn." "Say, the game of chess, or cribbage, or dominoes, and that I prevent any one checking the king."

Vending Down Two Anywhere.

The Buffalo park department has a bin that was made to contain the former condition that part of Delaware Park where Lincoln Parkway is. Possibly a number of years hence chase trees are found in the bin worked by the exposition will have on view. Superintendent Rogers wants a special appropriation of $50, for the work of restoration.

Cost of a Gentleman.

Bishop Washington's cost of a gentleman is an treatment of his in-brick, and of a gentleman is the Edward Everett Hale by the test. He was a gentleman and a gentleman. Hale's gentleman was a gentleman. The street beautiful burdened with the gentleman's gentleman's hand shown half the that travelled with the gentleman of the street by the gentleman's gentleman's hand. Hale's

Gen. Frank D. Baldwin, with the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-seventh companies of the Twenty-seventh infantry, attacked and captured the Moro fort of Bayan, Island of Mindanao, P. I., after a sanguinary battle in which the Americans officer and seven enlisted men were killed and four officers and thirty-seven men wounded. The Moros numbered 1,000 men, of the old Moro fort in the province of Lanao, eighty-four in number, surrounded and commanded by Datto Ali, the prophet is raised in a Moro Bolo.

Battle Is Hand to Hand.

The battle was a hand-to-hand one. The fort was defended by fifty 300 men, with four mountain guns, had about 1,000 men, with a fighting force, armed with rifles and bolos, and were described in the skin long and fight beyond. The Moros fired 120 rounds at a range of 1,000 yards, and the Americans fired 1,000 rounds, the bombardment, and 1,000 rounds the infantry fire to take the fort by storm.

Americans were compelled to work their way forward through entanglements of bamboo and rattan, and the Moro troublers after hand-to-hand encounters, they fought to retreat, and after a bleeding their assailants they secured the fort and the Moros were left in possession.

When the Moros had lost their leaders they scattered and retreated to the fort, and the Americans rushed the fort, and the fight was over.

RUSH TO A FREE LAND

MANY IMMIGRANTS LAND IN NEW YORK.

Number of Foreigners Seeking Homes in The Country Is Greater Than Ever Before—Market Gardeners Will Outnumber Farmers in Canadian.

The rush of immigrants to new lands which is sweeping the world seems to be most decided in the great city of New York. Never before in the history of immigration has the number of people been so great as now. Never before have so many come from the various European countries at one time to the New Canadian Northwest. Never before have so many come from Russia and Poland. Never before have so many come from the Austrian provinces of Galicia and Austrian Poland. Never before have so many come from Hungary. Never before have so many come from Italy. Never before have so many come from Sweden, Norway and Denmark. It is generally conceded that the immigration from Europe this year will be greater than that of any other year since the great immigration movement set in. Never before in the history of the country has so much money been in circulation among the people as at the present time. It is generally conceded that there is more money in circulation than there has been for a period of from five to seven years. Never before have so many people been employed at good wages in all lines of industry as at the present time. Never before have so many factories been in operation. Never before have so many mills been in operation. Never before have so many mines been in operation. Never before have so many people been in receipt of good wages. Never before have so many people been able to save money. Never before have so many people been able to buy land and stock farms. MR. DANE HERE

The President of the Construction Co. Looks Over the Sugar Factory Work.

President R. R. Dane, of the National Construction Co., which is building the Charlevoix Beet Sugar factory, arrived here yesterday, and after a meeting with the board of directors, made an inspection of the grounds and the work already done. This morning Mr. Dane called at the SENTINEL office and gave our scribe an outline of the purposes of the company in the prosecution of the work.

The work of grading was stopped this week for the reason that in the excavations a deep stratum of fine clean building sand was found, which will be left on the ground. A large amount of this material will be necessary in erecting the concrete foundations of the buildings and machinery.

The Hulbert stone quarry, near the south west point, has been leased, and a force of men are engaged in dynamiting it out. A-bout fifty tons per day are being hauled to the factory grounds, and work on the foundations have been commenced.

Mr. Dane is enthusiastic in his praise of the location and surroundings. He is also very much taken with Charlevoix, and proposes to erect a summer residence here.

He informs us that a force of engineers are making blue prints of the machinery, and boiler details and details, which will be ready when the work on them is begun.

The railroad engineers were here Friday and Saturday and laid out the side tracks. Work on the side tracks will be commenced at once.

You should buy one of those Reed rockers at $2.70 Saturday May 17, from S. M. See & Sons.

THE MANITOU CLAIMS.

The Auditors Duty Only to Compute Principal and Interest.

The board of auditors of the historic Manitou county claims were in session Tuesday engaged in computing interest on the principal on the aggregate of claims.

The order of the court was peremptory that the claims should be paid. The only defense set-up by defendants is that the claims are outlawed, but Judge Mayne acts in accordance with a U. S. supreme court decision that the legislature is within its legal power when it legalizes the claims that are hiding behind the statute of limitations.

As stated in these columns last week, the amount—which is about $2,000, including interest—must be spread upon the assessment rolls of the territory of old Manitou county next year.

About two thirds of this amount will come from Beaver Island, the balance from Manitou Island, and, it is said, without saying, that it will be a proportionate liability to both.

Attorney Bunting, who has been fighting the case for the islanders, proposes to appeal the case to the supreme court.

A Matter of Business.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. J. S. Stearns, of Lullington, in this issue.

The statements made by Mr. Stearns in his advertisement are mostly like himself as shown at the top of the advertisement—bald, very bald.

As a spectimens of specious pleading the words of Mr. Stearns are a crescendo. They are, in fact, the wails of a demagog.

Mr. Stearns is a graduate of the school of Hagerman, and a political scion of the house of Hanna.

BIG SUGAR PLANT

BEING NOW ERECTED AT CHARLEVOIX.

MUCH CAPITAL INVESTED

Charlevoix the Beautiful an Ideal Location for Mammoth Factory. Farmers Are Enthusiastic Over Prospects.

From the Detroit Sugar Beet Journal.

The National Construction company of Detroit, with Benjamin F. Harvey as superintendent of construction, is building a modern 600 ton plant for the Charlevoix Sugar Company, Charlevoix, Mich. The location of the immense buildings is on Pine Lake, with railroad siding in from the Pere Marquette line.

The buildings are a sugar house, warehouses, laboratory, offices, machine shop, lime kiln, boilerhouse, scale houses, pumping station and four immense beet storage sheds 600 feet long. Mill creek will be dammed to a height of 10 feet and will furnish 1,000,000 gallons of pure water every 24 hours for sugar-making purposes and flume the beets directly from the sheds into the beet washer. Steam will be generated in eight 250 horse power water tube boilers, and two 400 horse power Corliss engines will furnish the power for the machinery necessary in making the granulated sugar from the sweet sugar beet. Fourteen defusion cells, 4 evaporators, 2 vacuum pans, 12 crystallizers, 2 batteries of centrifugals, 20 steam pumps, an electric light plant and all the necessary apparatus for making sugar is being installed.

What will make this plant a very valuable one to the farmers in this latitude and eliminate the house cat and will run for at least six months every year, as the beets once frozen will stay frozen until April 1. All danger of beets spoiling from thawing, which is frequent in other sections of the state, is here avoided.

This 600 tons in 24 hours' plant will be the equal of a 1,200 ton plant located in Saginaw valley or southern portions of Michigan, as to these localities a campaign cannot be ever three months' duration on account of actual loss from beets freezing and thawing before being worked up into sugar. Beets frozen are easy to slice and to diffuse, where thawed beets cannot be handled at all and are a source of great loss. In this locality the per cent of sugar is very high, an average age of 18 per cent of sugar being the common average, with a high per cent of purity.

Lime is in the immediate vicinity, of which 30 tons are burned every 24 hours, for the carbonic acid gas and for carbonation, which is used in precipitating the impurities in the juices.

A modern Chinese system of sugar extraction from molasses will be installed and this house will be heard from this coming campaign as a house having the highest per centage of sugar extraction in the United States.

The farmers here are very enthusiastic over the prospect of raising beets, which will be very profitable because of the high percentage of sugar in their beets. They will receive about $6.50 per ton for their beets, delivered. The location of the plant, being up on Pine lake and only one mile from the City of Charlevoix, will make the transportation of beets so easy to the sugar factory very reasonable. A large dock and scoop for carving cars are being built and farmers living near the different towns on Pine and adjoining lakes can deliver their beets into the cars on the scoop, and tugs will tow them directly to the sugar factory dock, and from there the cars will be switched into the sheds for unloading.

"Charlevoix the beautiful" will soon be "Charlevoix the sweet," and the thousands of tourists from all parts of the Union will have an added point of interest to look at and admire when they visit that region this and succeeding summers. The business men of Charlevoix are a unit in endorsing this immense valuable industry in their country and city.

Thousands of acres of land suitable for beet sugar raising can be purchased at a reasonable price per acre. This land is called heath and maplands now lying idle, awaiting the hands of the industrious man and woman to transform it into a source of wealth. Ten acres devoted to sugar beet raising in this region, with proper care and labor, will return a profit of $1 a rod, $500 per year.

There are countless acres of grazing land here rivaling the famous Kentucky blue grass region, suitable for feeding of the refuse from pulp, will be a feature of stock raising in this section. Cattle and sheep are now being shipped here from Chicago to be fattened upon this wonderful blue grass, upon which they can feed for eight months in the year.

Good and highly productive land, industrious men and women, a market for their crops and a home market for their products, what more can [illegible] worldly possible.

"What do you think we ought to do, gentlemen?" Dunmore managed to ask.

"The best thing we can do is to get out and turn in a report."

"What is he, Dick?"

"He is a guide."

"Why don't he and his gang go where they belong and let us alone?"

"Yes, that is the question, Dick. Why don't they? Why don't they go where they belong and let us alone?"

"Why, we don't know, Dick. We don't know why they don't do it. Why don't they do it?"

"Why, I suppose, Dick, they don't do it because they don't do it. Why don't they do it, Dick?"

Traverse City Record: The sloop yacht H. S. Pingree, Jr., formerly owned by Frank Gardner, and recently bought by Bert Linsley, of Chicago, cleared this port Friday for Chicago.

The bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church have just held their annual conference meeting at Chattanooga, Tenn. The time for the Michigan annual conference which will be held in Traverse City, was set for September 17th. The bishop to preside at this meeting will be Bishop James N. Fitzgerald, whose episcopal residence is at St. Louis, Mo.

Tuesday morning last week at 4 o'clock the building occupied by the Boyne Falls Arena newspaper and job office was discovered to be on fire, and in a short time was burned to the ground. A $1,000 stock of goods owned by L. A. Moon is a total loss. The loss on the printing plant is $1,500, partly insured. It was with difficulty that the adjoining drug store of Editor Enton was saved.

Alden Superman, of Torch Lake, and Miss Anna Lee Dye, of East Jordan, were united in marriage Wednesday noon at the home of the groom's parents in Torch Lake by the Rev. S. P. Hewitt. Mr. Superman was born and raised in Antrim county, but during the past year has been associated with his brother Richard at East Jordan in the management of a department store. Miss Dye has been employed by the East Jordan Lumber Co. as stenographer for a long time.

Game Warden Brewster left Grand Rapids Thursday for the northern trout streams. He states that deputies are covering every stream of importance in the state and that the law relating to trout fishing will be rigidly enforced this season. The deputy is an enthusiastic fisherman himself and says this will be the greatest trout year in the history of Michigan. More than 7,000,000 trout were planted in the different streams of the state last year and 10,000,000 more will be planted this year.

The smallpox has queer effects on its victims in Cheboygan county, causing all sorts of strange desires on their part. One bill which recently came before the supervisors for supplies furnished a victim of the disease contained such items as tobacco, $12 worth; horse blankets, sweet pails, hay and feed, a water pail, an oilcan, rubber boots, mittens, and a number of other such goods, the immediate use of which by a smallpox patient the supervisors have not yet been able to figure out.

A southern Michigan Sunday school rally will be held at Petoskey June 18. It is expected that every school within a radius of 50 miles will be represented. The schools will all meet in Petoskey, where the parade will form under the direction of marshal of the day, R. T. Boyden, and proceed to Bay View, where the auditorium and grounds have been kindly donated for the occasion by the association. It is expected that Judge Frank Sheppard of Cheboygan, will be one of the speakers. A basket dinner will be one of the day's pleasures.

Central Lake Torch: A portion of the crew at the Rasey shingle mill went out in a strike last Monday morning, and the mill has been idle part of the time since, waiting an adjustment of the differences. As told to the Torch, the mill was running eleven hours a day and cutting fifty thousand. The men only wanted to work ten hours, regardless of the amount cut. The mill is now running part of the time and we believe that the matter has reached an amicable settlement, but as a portion of the crew laid left, the mill is only run a part of each day.

ESCAPE FROM A JAIL.

FIVE PRISONERS BREAK AWAY AT MANSFIELD, OHIO

Sheriff's Little Daughter Finds Off Irons, Opens and Binds Phones to Vessels, Chicago Man, Dangerously Wounds Blacksmith With Other News.

Five prisoners escaped from the Richland county jail in Mansfield, O., at 11 o'clock Friday morning. Sheriff Kochenderfer was at his home in the jail building at the time and was not aware of the escape until his little daughter came to him and told him the news. She had found the irons with which the men had been shackled to the bars of the jail door. The irons had been sawed in two. When the sheriff went to the jail he found the prisoners had gone. The men escaped by the door leading into the sheriff's residence. Mrs. Kochenderfer was in the kitchen of the jail building when the men passed through it. They had taken a knife and a hatchet from the kitchen. The men took the sheriff's horse and buggy and drove away. The sheriff's wife recognized one of the men who had been in the kitchen as Charles Wilson, who was serving a term for burglary. The other prisoners are Frank Wilson, Frank Lewis, Ed Lewis and Ed Lewis. The Lewis brothers are from Cleveland. Wilson is from Akron. The men had been in the jail a few days only. The sheriff's little daughter found the irons in the jail yard. The men had sawed through the bolts that held the irons to the door. The men had bound and gagged the jailer and his family and had taken the keys from them before they left the jail. The men had also taken the sheriff's revolver. The men had tied the jailer's family in the cellar of the jail building. The men had taken a large quantity of provisions from the jail. Republican Congressional Convention.

A Republican Convention for the nomination of a candidate for Congress in the Twelfth District, comprising the counties of Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Alpena, Alcona, Ogemaw, Iosco and Arenac, will be held at Alpena, Mich., on Wednesday, the 18th day of June, 1902, at the hour of 10 o'clock, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Congress to succeed the Hon. Jos. W. Fordney.

The basis of representation in said Convention will be one delegate for every 1,000 Republican votes and one additional delegate for every fraction thereof in excess of 500 votes, cast for Governor in 1900, as follows:

Antrim 1, Charlevoix 1, Emmet 1, Cheboygan 1, Presque Isle 1, Alpena 1, Alcona 1, Ogemaw 1, Iosco 1, Arenac 1. Total 11.

Dated May 5th, 1902.

GEORGE A. MARX, Chairman Congressional Committee.
J. W. WEBB, Secretary.

THE MANITOU CASING.

A Correct Explanation of the Whole Matter.

(To the Editor of the Charlevoix Sentinel.)

Believing that much has been said in the newspapers which is inaccurate and misleading concerning the matter of the Manitou county casing, and that a correction of wrong impressions is due to deserving men, also in relation to the residents of the Islands, and others concerned, we think it proper to give to the public a statement of what we understand to be the true condition of affairs. Had it not been for the jealousy of the work to enforce the collection of the orders, this statement would have been made sooner; but as attorneys for the relators in these cases, we did not think it proper to do so until the decision of the court had been given.

In 1900 the legislature passed an act disorganizing Manitou county. By the terms of that act the Reuben Islands were attached to Charlevoix county, and the Fox and Manitou Islands were attached to Leelanau county. Provision was made by said act for the ascertainment of the value indebtedness of said disorganized county, and for the auditing and settlement of its financial affairs. The Board of Auditors named in said act, were to ascertain and audit the claims, after which, the board of supervisors of Charlevoix county was to appropriate the same between those portions of Manitou county attached respectively to Charlevoix and Leelanau counties. For some reason such board of Auditors failed to ascertain and audit the claims and they have never been apportioned or paid, nor has any attempt been made in that direction, until the present one. It should be understood that the disorganizing act was not passed at the request of the residents of Manitou county. On the contrary, very few knew anything about it until the bill was passed. The bulk of these orders were owned by residents of Beaver Island, and they had no knowledge of the provisions of the act with regard to the manner provided for their payment. The citizens of the board to do its duty, left the owners without any apparent legal remedy for their collection. Manitou county was disorganized and there was no representative upon whom process might be served as commencement of suit. After appealing in vain to the Board of Supervisors of Charlevoix and Leelanau counties for settlement the holders of the orders applied to the legislature for relief and in 1901 joint resolution No. 4 was passed and approved by the Governor. This resolution was intended to carry into effect, substantially, the provisions of the act of 1900. This joint resolution can be found on page 382 of the Public Acts of 1901, and it is not necessary here to rehearse its provisions. A careful reading of it will disclose that it was intended to pay these orders out of the delinquent taxes of Manitou county. An inspection of the tax records reveals the fact that there was sufficient and more than sufficient to pay all the claims. The state's share in the matter is nutshell, and is the contention of the holders of the orders, and the wish of the attorneys of the relators, who by rights, have the largest amount of the indebtedness to pay. Could anything be more fair, honorable and just?

We wish now to reply to a few statements put into circulation with regard to the matter.

It has been said they were not lawfully issued etc. Replying to this we would say that it was the duty of the Board of Auditors created by the joint resolution, to investigate every other presented claim and determine its validity. The orders were presented by the holders for this very purpose, and investigation of them required. No attempt to criticisms on the validity of any order but disallowed them, solely on the ground that they were outlawed and the granting of the act revoking them unconstitutional. The matter was then carried to the Circuit Court of the County of Charlevoix, and after full hearing and careful consideration of the matter, Judge Hayne rendered a decision adjudging the act unconstitutional, and void. Not one word derogatory to the regularity or validity of any of these orders was contained in the pleadings in the suits. On the contrary the petitions for mandamus alleged positively, that such were and every one of said orders was issued and issued and issued by authority of the proper officers in the manner provided by the statutes. And the heart of the respondents admitted the truth of these allegations.

Again the story has been circulated that these orders were in the hands of speculators, who were trying to collect unjust claims by unfair means for their private gain. This is not true. The great bulk of the orders are owned by residents of Beaver Island, the largest individual owner being James McGuire. Wm. J. Lonsigner, supervisor of St. James, John C. Gallagher, Hugh H. Boyle and many others on Beaver Island hold one or more of these orders for which they have paid an equivalent in cash, or goods, or labor. John Powers, of Lacombe, also holds some, given him for his salary as Prosecuting Attorney of Manitou county, there is not one, so far as the writer of this knows held by speculators. As to the hardship imposed by the collection of these orders. Where does it come in and upon whom does it fall? The legal amount allowed and apportioned by the Board of Auditors is $1700. The delinquent County taxes for the year 1899, and the years prior thereto, greatly exceed this amount, and yet what we understand to be the true condition of affairs. Had it not been for the jealousy of the work to enforce the collection of the orders, this statement would have been made sooner; but as attorneys for the relators in these cases, we did not think it proper to do so until the decision of the court had been given.

SIGNAL TOWER.

Charlevoix Will Have One This Fall as Rise for Next Year's Signals.

The Agricultural Department, under the direction of which the storm warnings are displayed, has decided to erect an iron signal tower here, and the work will be done this fall.

Towers are being erected at all lake ports, and in accordance with the plans adopted they are placed on Government life saving establishments where stations are located, and the keeper of the station serves as displayman without additional compensation.

In all probability the Charlevoix tower will be erected on the bluff back of the station, as one corner of the Government ground reaches that point.

A Very Weak Cause.

Evidence is multiplying that the Stearns gubernatorial boom is steadily and surely collapsing. Indeed, it looks now as if Gov. Hiles would be renominated on the first ballot.

In the history of Michigan there has never been a more stupid political act committed than when Mr. Stearns to this day, and who I pray God never may be, the recipient of such a professional nomination.

Up to the date of his announcement, Mr. Stearns was a very positive quantity in Michigan politics. Aside from his Hingle prosecution, he had been personally and politically respectable. There was little doubt that he was considered by most republicans as the logical successor of Gov. Hiles in 1904.

But Mr. Stearns has by attempting to unseat a well established and wise precedent without just cause forever blasted his budding prospects. Mr. Stearns will never be governor. His sad friends have been the cause of his undoing.

There is no valid reason why Governor Hiles should not serve a second term. He has not been a great governor; there have been no great governors in Michigan since Austin Blair. But his administration has been clean, conservative and respectable.

Mr. Stearns's peculiar, and, we may say, dishonorable personal attack upon Gov. Hiles is only having the effect of increasing the governor's strength, and we very seriously question whether or not the Ludington man will be a candidate when the day of the convention arrives.

GIRL IS GIVEN POISON

DRUG ADMINISTERED THAT DRIES UP HER TISSUES

Great Effort Made to Avoid Her Being Sight and to Finally Compass Her Death—Karen Kotis Lives and Watches Homer.

Patras to Tarsus, New Orleans and Seattle are connected by a secret order. Karen Kotis, a girl of 17 years, who was born in Chicago, is now in San Francisco some months ago, Mrs. Kotis, a widow, left her home in good health and spirits, to visit her sister and was then from a conversation she had overheard in a lodging house Judge Tarlinos conferring with a Turk in the same apartment. On the night which took her to Tarsus she was to be married to Mr. Homer, interested in the case, and his aids, who, according to the girl, are right when she professed to believe that Tarlinos and Tarlinos in the Judge Tarlinos and other officials are now around the city and have been for days, and been the victim of crimes to compass her death. The girl has been sent to her home in Tarsus at Chicago, in consequence, the girl mysteriously has disappeared from her home, and her mother, who is a cripple, has been sent away from 12 to 100 miles.

—In this issue is published an ordinance that meant a sewer on Bridge street, and that, in its turn, only means a preliminary to paving Bridge street. The SENTINEL is an old settler but it is not an old fogy. It believes in progress, but it believes in progress only up to the limit of our ability. We believe that the paving of Bridge street within the last three years is premature and unnecessary. The Chicago, City, of a population of 1,000,000 has not yet paved its business street. Is it wise, for property owners, to incur the expense of the paving? It is not, for the reason that the property of other towns does not pay the expense of their local improvements. Perhaps it would not have been so creditable if it had been a game with a school aggregation, but the fact that the Charlevoix boys defeated the big city team of Petoskey, the Irredmants, affords cause for congratulation. At the same time it shows Traverse City something of what we are to run against. There is nothing in the official records to indicate the strength of the Petoskey team but it is said that they are a strong assortment of players. The Charlevoix players walloped them to the tune of 9 to 5, which is cause for congratulation by the Traverse City High school team, because they want the real thing when they meet Charlevoix.

Had Bridge Break.

Last Friday night the steam swing bridge in this village went out of commission, and from that time until Wednesday night took a rest.

It was discovered that the "nose," or center bearing upon which the bridge rested and swung, had been broken for some time, and a sudden jar in closing it under the king pin, caused the bridge being about two inches too far north, preventing it from shutting. After an examination, the board wired the American Bridge Co. at Pittsburg. Mr. Shaw, superintendent of construction, who was in Michigan, was ordered here arriving Tuesday, with a force of men he set to work to mend the break, and it was put in running order. A new one will be made and put in later.

Meanwhile the board promptly met the question of transfer by employing the Swain naptha boat at $8 per day to transfer people across the river, and she has been busy steadily running from early morning until Midnight.

The drawage, including cost of ferry, will probably run around $500.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

Council rooms, May 22, 1902.

At the adjourned meeting of the Council held on the above date there were present:—President Nicholls and Trustees Wilbur, McMillan, Coulter and Ross.

The following applications for cement sidewalk were approved: Dist. No. 1, 156 feet; E. H. Green, 70 feet; A. Buttars, 30 feet; H. N. Barth, 50 feet.

A strip of a dangerous ground was repaired and road and, on motion the President and Clerk were authorized to execute the same.

The following resolution was adopted by vote as follows: (see resolution) Ayes Wilbur, McMillan, Coulter and Ross. Nays none.

On motion the Superintendent of Electric Lights was instructed to purchase 15 tightening arresters at once.

On motion the bill of H. Pierce for sprinkling in June was allowed at fifty dollars.

On motion the Council appropriated two hundred dollars to pay for spelling the balance of the season.

Council adjourned for one week.

W. H. McCARTHY, Clerk.

Funston was Correct.

President Roosevelt reprimanded General Funston for saying that Senator Hoar was "troubled with an over heated conscience." However his reprimand may have regarded it from the standpoint of military discipline, most civilians will endorse the General's opinion, especially since the Senator's recent speech on the Philippine question.

In the abnormal heat of conscience, Senator Hoar departs from the pathway of consistency, and argues from false premises. Our attitude in Cuba is held up by the Senator as the model of what we should do in the Philippines; in Cuba the Nation has covered itself with glory, in the Philippines we have disgraced ourselves.

In both places the United States was at war with Spain, not with the natives. If, in Cuba, when Spain had been driven out, the Cubans had treacherously conspired against us and finally taken up arms against us, Cuba would today have been strictly American territory.

From the day Dewey took possession of Manilla the natives of the Philippine Islands began to conspire against United States authority. Their subsequent outbreak was unprovoked and treacherous. The American Government was bound by every known law of international recognition to maintain its authority and subdue insurrectionists. No other course was possible with due regard for our own military honor and the ultimate welfare of the Philippine people.

Injustice and cruelty in those islands have been the exception, not the rule. In the main, the war has been conducted on our part with humanity and humanity.

Senator Hoar, we hope, will live long enough to see American authority supreme in the Philippine Islands, with such a degree of home rule as conditions will permit. But when the Senator's great grandchildren are busy hoeing the Philippine Islands will be governed by American authority, and future generations of Filipinos will call us blessed.

Old Soldier's Experience.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

The Pastor attended the meetings of the Ministerial Association of Congregational churches held at St. Johns last week. They were very valuable and the program was excellent from first to last.

There will be no services in the Congregational church next Sabbath, the pastor being at Cheboygan helping to dedicate the new Congregational church. Sunday School and Christian Endeavor sessions will be held as usual.

Olivet College offers through the pastor, scholarships of $30 a year each for two years to any of the young people of our High School. Ask for information.

Fought For His Life

"My father and sister both died of Consumption," writes J. T. Whitesell, of Wyandotte, Mich., "and I was raved from the same frightful fate only by Dr. Kings New Discovery. An attack of Pneumonia left obstinate cough very severe lung trouble, which an excellent doctor could not help but a few months, we wonderfully improved and now as well as ever and I gained much weight." Infallible for Coughs, Colds and all Throat and Lung trouble. Trial bottles free. Guaranteed bottles 50c and 100 at F. G. Hines & Co.

SCHOOL COMM'R COLUMN.

The subject of Geography must be looked after more closely. The idea of any 5th grade pupil not being able to draft outline of the school yard, or school house, or the county or the state and even and outline of the U. S. according to a definite scale is preposterous.

The subject of drawing should be taught with pneumatic at all times in the lower grades, and followed up in the study of Geography. The first steps in teaching oral Geography should be along these lines. Drafting the school room from actual measurement. The school yard; the school district, the child's home, the farm; the neighboring farms. Drill, drill and drill. The pupil must be taught this month of geography before taking the next book. The old memorizing feature is an impossibility with the use of the newer text books.

Whoever will use the topical method according with the method in the new books admirably adapted to her purpose.

We have noted in the eight grade examinations this spring that a fuller knowledge of our own country is necessary. See to it teacher's, that your boy and girl pupils are drilled thoroughly upon the geography of their own country at least.

Shoulders At His Feet

I recall now with horror," says Maj. Gen. Gilbert Burnett Mann, of Levanna, O., "my three years of suffering from Kidney trouble. I was hardley ever free from dull aches or acute pains in my back. To stoop or lift, even slight made me groan. Nothing tried, were not, about ready to give up, when I began to use Electric Bitters, but six bottles completely cured me and am free like a lion man." They're unrivaled to regulate Stomach, Kidneys and Bowels. Perfect satisfaction guaranteed by F. G. Hines & Co. Only 50 cents.

Wool Wanted.

I am now open to buy all grades of wool at very best cash prices, and good sale that I have arranged with Mr. H. Gornell to act as my sole buyer for the district. And we can point out that it is to the interest of all wool growers, to tie up their wool carefully with wool twine.

Friends and Enemies in Arms.

For the first time in twenty years the Republican party represents factions in Congress have been raised upon a tariff on the question. Shall the Dingley tariff be sustained? In order to secure an affirmative answer to this question the Republicans have been compelled to rally upon the assertion of their political adversaries. With the aid of free-trade Democrats, only the Republicans have succeeded in attacking and undermining the principle and policy of protection in American labor and industry. Is not this a strange position? Is it not a strange position that should be assumed by the friends and by assumption accomplished by the aid of its enemies? It is done under the plea that we owe monopolies to protect trusts, combines, combines, combines, requires such payment.

Best Way of Help.

The Republicans in the House who favor tariff revision have not believed in protection, have, it appears, been down their alternative. They stand by the principle of the Tawney amendment, which, if it had been adopted in the sugar tariff, but will help the actual planters by granting them a bounty, which, at the same time, cuts off the benefit of the duty from the sugar trust, and gives whatever is to be granted direct to the producer of the sugar. It is undoubted that this is the best way to help, and it should carry if there is to be any concession at all. The sugar trust, however, is in better industrial and financial condition to stand what was given to it by Dingley—Salt Lake City Tribune.

CHAPTER XXII

Hugh Wilmot, who had spent the summer among the hills, that he might be near his sweetheart, was at his office at the beginning, and shortly afterwards he came that abandoned the office where they had been holding the fort a week, and entered in the direct of the house.

Had they seen in that they could have anything under the sun but a good wage and income. They could not afford to wander that honeymoon, and so they had to make up their minds to work around some little nest for themselves, and, if possible, to be allowed some day or other enough to purchase Mabel and Jessie that they hoped everything else.

Instead of following in the train taken by Hugh and a few other renegades who had gathered by a hundred strange Trails they made a quite contrary. It was not long before they found that was wherever an opportunity offered, they would be no longer alone. Hugh was not at all jealous.

"I see them," he said.

"Where," said Grace Wilmot, shot up her eyes.

The young Hugh, pointed to a group of girls who were coming down the street, with the two men gazing a little way behind them, and the two girls were the cynosure of all eyes.

"Why, Grace," said Mrs. Wilmot, "I know that's Mabel and Jessie Hudson, and I know the other girl, too, but I don't know who the men are."

"Why, mother, dear, Hugh and Ned Lester, coming his shipping house in the Rockies, and Hugh's partner, Mr. Allan, the pioneer of the Rockies."

"Why, Hugh," said Mrs. Wilmot, "I thought you said Ned Lester was a Rocky Mountain Ranger, and Hugh was a Rocky Mountain Ranger, and Hugh was a Rocky Mountain Ranger, and Hugh Republican Congressional Convention.

A Republican Convention for the election of Congressional Delegate of Michigan, to be held in the City of Saginaw, on Wednesday, June 18th, 1902, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of nominating a Republican candidate for Congress from said District, will be held at the place and time above specified, when and where the Republican electors of said District will be entitled to be represented by one delegate for every thousand votes and a majority of the delegates elected to the Congressional Convention for a single Congressional District.

farmers are learning how to combat adverse unfavorable conditions. The farmer is learning not to urge with gases, how to render a drought least, in relation to his crops, how and when to plant. The germinating period of the seeds, and plant's life is the time of greatest danger. Excessive rainfall or irrigation is detrimental, and a dry condition of the soil, resulting from insufficient irrigation or rainfall is harmful. The baking of the soil, either by rainfall or irrigation, is fraught with serious consequences when the young plants strive to push through the surface. Methods for overcoming this condition are better understood than heretofore. The best sugar thrives on so many different kinds of soil that the farmer must know the methods to apply to the different areas. As the sugar-beet growing area extends, experience and information are acquired.

Throughout New York, Ohio, Michigan and Minnesota, during the past year heavy freezing weather occurred before the campaign was half over. Many of the beets grown for factories in these states were frozen, solid. I wrote to the factories to get the results of their experience with frozen beets, and found that in no instance did this freezing produce any particularly bad effect. The temperature fell to 20 below zero before the 20th of November, and was as low as that several times before the campaign closed.

BALL PLAYERS SORE.

Decline Half Received Was Charlevoix Boys Manage Half Matters.

Traverse City Eagle: A recent article appeared in one of the Charlevoix papers under the head, "Traverse City Backs water," to which one slanter of the matter was that the High school baseball team of this City fare not come late with the Charlevoix team.

The article was written by the manager of the High school baseball team of Charlevoix

It was intended to have the game May 21 and that date was asked for by the locals, but commencement day for Charlevoix comes on that date and they suggested another date. Finally Saturday was settled on as a date which both teams had open. Then a dickering began for terms.

The terms made as follows, "All kinds of inducements were offered them for a game, but the Traverse City boys backed the sand and roughage and would not back up their challenge." The sum of $12 was offered the team to come there and play and as the fare alone for ten men is over $20 it shows the kind of inducements offered. The management here tried to get $15 but could not and finally consented to go at those terms if other games could be secured along the route.

The Charlevoix boys telephoned that a game could be played on their grounds on Day, were to be played on the Friday. Then the locals offered to give them $15 to come here and play and consented to send them a certified check for the amount before they left their home town. They then not their surprised would not come thinking they would lose too much.

The locals think that if anyone backs out it must be the Charlevoix boys.

LOCAL NEWS.

—Are your sugar beets up?

—There is not an idle man in Charlevoix today—or there need not be.

—From the drawers yesterday, Drs. Zoegebler and Dr. Wilkinson.

—E. M. Chester, of Chicago, has been visiting at Ironton this week.

—Bert Hazel, of Albion, Mich., is visiting his uncle, Capt. O. E. Wilson.

—Dr. Morse, of Elk Rapids, was here Sunday, visiting his brother C. H. Morse.

—F. S. Brown, who has been very ill for some time, is on the road to speedy recovery.

Report arrivals today—Mrs. L. A. Smith, of Chicago; and Mrs. J. W. Teasdale, of St. Louis.

—The steamers of the northern Michigan Transportation Co. are now running on summer schedule time.

—Married at Petoskey, Sunday, June 1st, Capt. Wm. Lemon and Mrs. Elizabeth Stacy, both of Charlevoix.

—I put East Jordan they are wrestling with a longshoremen's strike, and shipping from that point is seriously retarded.

—Hon. Wm. Mason, of Hyde Park, was in town Tuesday, attending a meeting of the republican county committee.

—Yesterday Capt. O. E. Wilson bought the Tullock lots and dock on the north side of the harbor, and the two lots adjoining, owned by John F. Mason.

—We will have a number of last week's best sugar factory issue of the SENTINEL, not a copy and mail to your friend abroad. It will do the town good.

—The SENTINEL job office is in receipt of a large and the choice of all classes of stationery and job paper, and it is going fine. Come in and look at it.

—Postmaster Clement arrives of Rev. T. E. Hughes, at the M. E. Church, last Sunday, to speakers of by all who heard it as an interesting and instructive address.

—Mr. French, representing the Kalkaska Masons was here Monday evening and met with our "Pendo" committee Mr. French says Kalkaska will be a big occasion headed by their famous band.

—W. Keyes has not decided on if or what is contained and work is being rushed on it. It will be one of the finest residences in town, and certainly occupies one of the most sightly locations.

—Now is the week that one at with soaking, lawnmow, dry goods and clothing, clerks the latter. Every Wednesday, Wendel Ward appointment implements, S. M. See & Sons, furniture, Benj. Brown, harness and horse goods.

—Beginning May 25th, the Northern Michigan Transportation Co. will leave four boats out of Chicago, stopping heading on Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday. Arrive at Charlevoix on Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday.

—The bridge is swinging for steam again, and is provided stronger than ever in the parts that caused the recent suspension of business. The center pin and drum were changed and embedded in concrete so that another break in the same place is out of the question.

—Flagpole was convicted of assault and battery at the recent term of the circuit court, was sentenced to the Ionia County Jail for a period of 90 days. Flagpole hails from Boyne City. There will be an adjourned term of court Saturday of this week, when a mass of the cases which went over will again be taken to the regular term, June 23.

—A matter that demands the attention of highway commissioners and overseers of highways, and in fact everybody else, at this time of the year, is the prompt and thorough, the attention of weeds. They should be cooked out before they go to seed. If there is anything that impoverishes farmers it is the weed, and they are hundreds of dollars every year in the shape of lost crops in some cases, and in other cases the expense of cleaning the land of weeds.

—Florist Blair is very busy now in putting in flower beds and lawns and potted decorations about town.

—Mrs. Wm. Hollins Sr., went to Hayes Monday to spend a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Chew.

—"Spider" Bennett-Miller, who spent the winter with his daughter in Flint, is here for the summer months.

—Rev. H. Cooper went to East Jordan Tuesday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Irene Moseley for a few weeks.

—W. O. Davis and daughters, Mrs. L. C. Sarsbaum, of Bloomington, Ill., are at their cottage for the summer.

—Mrs. Jessie McInerny, of New York City, is here this week visiting her mother, Mrs. Kate Smith, of the south terrace.

—Col. F. C. Wickham, having finished up his work at the new life saving station, came here on the 3th from Manistee Monday, to "go fishing."

—Mr. Carter, the piano tuner was not able to finish all his work here this trip, consequently he will return here some after July 4th. Leave orders as usual.

—The notorious Ferguisons, of East Jordan, have at last been landed, and sent to Detroit house of correction for ninety days yesterday, in charge of deputy sheriff Emery.

—Notwithstanding the recent protracted rains which seriously delayed work on the foundations of the sugar factory Superintendent Hartwig is enthusiastic in his work, and says the plant will be ready for the beet crop.

—Mrs. T. A. Robinson, of Atlanta, Ga., arrived here yesterday, and are the guests of Mrs. Robinson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Bartholomew. Miss Winifred Bartholomew, who has been in southern Michigan for some weeks, returned with the party.

—There is talk of a meeting up in the west end of Marion to discuss the change of road at the Vaughn hill. The movement is prompted by the necessity of an easier highway from that locality for the hauling of sugar beets. The project should enlist the co-operation of every farmer in that section.

—Roll of Honor of Dastrict No. 2, Norwood Township. "Names of pupils neither absent nor tardy for month ending May 29th: Blanche VanDusen; May Wills, Gertrude Tenney, Lester VanDusen, Marion Wells, Forrest Weed; Earl Cummings, Jessie Spayd, Willie Spayd, Hazel Gilbert, Milton O'Brien.

—The republican county committee met at the county clerk's office Tuesday, and fixed the date of the county convention as June 21th. As delegates to the Congressional convention the following were named: F. A. Meech, E. N. Cross, R. E. Newville, W. A. Wickham, W. H. Hanson, D. C. Pinkney.

—Hitty the crooker out in the woods is a beautiful hole in the ground, where the beautiful lake basin and the sandpeeker peaks and the straddle-the-stumbles around. He is no good to the city as fuel, too practical, energy and dust, but he spoils the whole sound and part of the coast, and the state that shines over her head. Then have some of it in the place of the dead, and bury him deep, in the ground, he's no use to us here, get him out of the way, and make room for the man that is sound.

—Hon. Wm. Hanks, of Norwood, has resigned his deputy game wardenship, and accepted an appointment under the tax commission. Mr. Hanks' duty will be to work throughout the northern half of the state in equalizing valuations and assessments. By reason of his wide and varied experience and, consequently, his ripe judgment in matters of real estate valuation, Mr. Hanks will be a valuable man in his new assignment. He was yesterday into the east to look over the Ward lands.

—These were seen, and are still, those who regard the Manistee life saving station as a summer resort "outfit" Up to date, the record, Capt. Fountain has had his crew out eight times when there was a gentle breeze or fine, and one case last fall—the Stella Johnson case—there is no doubt but lives were saved by the prompt action of Captain Fountain. Had he rested from attention to been delayed for high winds, those on board would have been lost. There would have been hard work for two crews. It is not only the possibilities, but the possibilities that enter into the invaluable ability of the service to have life. The record should justify the maintenance of this station.

—F. S. Brown, agent of LeGrand Separator has sold 14 Lockman this spring. Call on F. S. Clark Sunday for information.

The duty of the Republican State Convention

A very serious question will confront the next Republican State Convention. The convention is called to nominate candidates for governor and other offices. But it is also charged by the party, which it represents to be given its action that harmony shall be restored, and the usual republican majority assured for election day.

The entrance of Mr. Shearer into the field, has created a situation that is very regrettable. Bad feeling has been engendered, and is growing so less virulent as the days pass.

We believe that, in far as the official record of Gov. Ross is concerned, there is no good reason, why he should not receive a renomination. His manly and dignified attitude since the candidacy of Mr. Shearer also commends him to the party and the people.

But, Whatever may be the precedent- however much any one man may have earned preferment, the good of the party and the importance of success in November is paramount in importance. This is the question that demands the careful, dispassionate consideration of the convention.

Michigan has a citizen of distinguished ability; one who has held the highest office in the gift of the people of the state; a man who is connected with no clique, or wedded to no coterie of politicians. A man who, wherever he may be placed, will reflect honor on the state. A man of high attainments, unflinching courage and blameless character.

Such a man is Hon. John Patton, of Grand Rapids, the peer of any man in Michigan. Mr. Patton would unite every faction and make victory certain. He would inspire the party with an enthusiasm that no other man could. Once governor, he would be the people's governor, and no man or set of men could run him. There would be no Wealthy or Allowed or alleged Baradas behind the throne.

We believe that Gov. Ross can be reinstated, if nominated- but we believe that the Mount Pelee of Michigan politics threatens an eruption. Tho air is envelaged with the vapor of political irritation. There is a knife in many a bootleg ready to be drawn the next morning after the convention if the bottle is fought along present lines of campaign strategy.

We believe that if the name of General Patton is taken into the convention in the interest of party harmony, the convention will be wise enough to nominate him.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They know she had been unable to move her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Dizziness and Dizzy Spells will find it a precious blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. E. E. Hines & Co. SCHOOL COMMUNE COLUMN.

A CHAT OVER.

There were 54 applicants for 35 graduatelicenses, and 18 diplomas granted. We think that the diplomas shall mean something, and cannot grant a diploma unless the pupil displays a general knowledge of the subjects comprising the rural course.

In many instances spelling was bad. One pupil missed 45 of the 50 words in the test. There were ordinary words, that the pupils should be familiar with. In many papers the penmanship was fine. Take the country as a whole, and the pupils did nicely. The larger number failed in the spelling test. The ordinary business forms in Arithmetic seemed to have been neglected by the pupils.

The following named pupils received diplomas: Daisy H. Chase, Bay Shore; Hoy Webster, Clarion; Minnie Webster, Clarion; Mae Hansen, Clarion; Ethel Cains, Advance; Sula Crites, Advance; Ella Meggitson, Charlevoix; Carrie Smith, Charlevoix; Fred Trimble, Charlevoix; Sina Clark, Charlevoix; Merlie Valentine, Norwood; Jessie E. Vanderee, Norwood; Archie Pringle, South Arm; Edna Danforth, South Arm; Nellie Malbaugh, East Jordan; Eva Mackey; Clio McKee, Advance.

Good Roads in 1910, the Burden of His Song.

Norwood Mich. June 3rd 1902.

Mr Dear Sentinel:

Norwood the possible, and Norwood the probable is still on the map. Rand McNally & Co., the map makers of the world, do not get it on all the maps but I will speak to Mr. McNally the next time I see him and try to induce him to put Norwood on all maps made in the future. Probably he will urge it done as a town of our importance surely ought to be put in in brazy type. Possibly we will have a large resort here just north of our town as 160 acres of land are held on an option waiting development. Probably we will have the resort. We also have strong talk of a canning factory here, where the finest fruits that grow on earth will be put up in the most attractive style. Probably we will have the canning factory too. Possibly and Probably with big P's we will make a splurge in the near future, as every body is talking our town for all it is worth, and what we must and shall do. Nearly everybody seems ready to put his and her shoulder to the wheel and help the good work along. Our location excels any place along the lake for a resort, and what I have said already about the fruit is true also, but the question now heretofore asked and is also being asked now. How do you get there? Let me tell you

Take the road leading to the southwest from Charlevoix and when you strike the Norwood township line you will find good roads; and it is only 112 miles from the Charlevoix court house. Speaking of good roads, well we all know Fred Jackson, he is another of the possibilities as well as probabilities. He is a good talker and has been known to talk his opponent to a quiet. He has also got good talk a lot of good horse sense too. This last spring Fred was nominated for Road Commissioner, and so popular was he, that he won in with a whoop! whoop! hurrah!

He immediately began to build roads. He talked them, he dreamed of them. Twenty four hours each day Fred was busy building good roads, and now the time for this year is practically ended and the work shows for itself. He has done good work and lots of it, and it may be safely asserted that no man in his first year as road commissioner ever did more or better work with the same amount of money. He knows how to get more work done and how to work to advantage, and he more tact than the average man. He gets work done gentle.

For instance, he will go to a farmer or two who own farms near some bad hill or a bridge and say to them, "I haven't as much money to spend on the roads as I ought to have in order to put them in good condition, but if you will give me a couple of days work with your team, I'll fix this bad place." In this way he has done some fine work and his especially helped those living on the side roads. Anything he is a man without fear or favor. He knows what the law is, he knows his duty and is not afraid to do it. The Greatest Good to the Greatest Number is his motto.

Possibly and probably we have the best roads all over the township of any in the county, and after they get settled and worn smooth not your buggy, your uncles and cousins to drive over our roads and see the best farming country the sun shines on, and where we grow the best crops and fruits of all kinds and you'll see where Hon. H. P. Jensen is. I will say spring the resort and the canning factory on you this time, but more soon.

Yours truly,
GEO. H. VANPELT.

The Boer War Ended.

Articles of peace were signed by British and Boer last Saturday, and it may be safely said that the war in South Africa is at an end.

While the burghers retain a semblance of home rule, under British suzerainty, and a general amnesty to prisoners of war is specified in the agreement, the Boers are vanquished.

Henceforth the Transvaal republic and Orange Free State, so called, are British territory, as India and Australia and Canada are British territory.

This outcome was inevitable.

Teachers' Examination.

The next regular teachers' examination for Charlevoix county, for second and third grade certifies will be held at East Jordan on June, 19-20 1902. Examinations will commence at 8.30 a. m. sharp standard time. Paper furnished to applicants.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Boyne City will celebrate the 4th of July in befitting style.

And now Cheboygan has the beet sugar factory bee in its bonnet.

Petoskey Independent: Cortney Collon passed away yesterday forenoon, May 29, 1902, at about 11 o'clock, of consumption. This is the last of J. W. Collon's family, the wife and six children—five boys and one daughter—all having succumbed to the dread disease.

Central Lake Torch: Rev. J. H. Deets has a very flattering offer from the Central Lyceum Bureau to deliver a course of lectures for them the coming year. They have been in correspondence with him for some time and have made him such a proposition that he has almost concluded to accept.

The nineteenth annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society will be held at Lake City, Mich., June 10 to 12 next. Mrs. W. H. White, of Boyne City, is President, Mrs. Frank Eldred, Traverse City, is recording secretary. A good attendance is looked for.

The Boyne Falls Ariel has been purchased by the Arena Publishing Co. and will be continued as an every other week paper, with Norman Pierce as editor. For the present the mechanical end of the business will be looked after by The Citizen. H. H. Eaton, the former publisher, will remove shortly to Cadillac, where he will conduct a first class drug store.

The Manistee & Northeastern railroad and the Traverse City, Lesbanon & Manistique railroads are scouting in a city and logs over a bill of lading of way belonging to farmers, and which is badly wanted by the new road in order to connect it to get out of the city. Just at present it is a moooted question as to which has the best of it, but it looks fair to be a very pretty spat just the same.

Petoskey Record. Petoskey people are interested in the recent sale of the Detroit & Mackinac railroad to the Walash system. From statements made in Freeland, J. D. Hawks it appears that the road which is now built nearly to Indian River, will have two northern terminals, one at Cheboygan on the straits, and one at Petoskey. The Cheboygan branch will join that from Petoskey at Tower.

The committee on revision of the premium list for the County Agricultural society held a meeting here last week Thursday and made a number of changes for the better. Among other the center of Grange in competing exhibits will be enlarged from Parks to take in other grains and vegetables and the premiums largely increased. These and other improvements will tend to better our Fair exhibits.

The Bay View Assembly and Summer University this season offers a finer program for its patrons than it has ever before set out. Among the noted people who will give addresses are Maj. Gen. Fitzhugh Lee who will be Decoration Day, 1st and Miles Ellen M. Stone the lady Missionary who was held so long for ransom by the Bulgarian brigands, and many others who will fill in a month chuck full of intellectual meat.

A big drop in prices for potatoes has been recorded in the Post market during the past few days. The price ranging today from 30 to 35 cents a bushel. The cause of the drop is the late mild potatoes being received in Chicago and other markets. On Monday 32 cars of new stock were received and yesterday the receipts were eight cars. There is little, if any, likelihood of higher prices being secured this spring for old potatoes.

Traverse City is now in a very fair way to get a thorough and lasting, as the omnibus public building bill has been agreed to in conference, and it carries, among other items, $6,000 for a site for such a building in Traverse City. This is contemporaneous that can be easily followed up in the next Congress an appropriation be had for the building. There is now little doubt that we shall rejoice in the possession of a public building in the near future.

According to a report of the secretary of state the average day's wage received by the workingmen in northern Michigan is $1.20, and the average monthly wage is $20.07. The average day's wage in the central counties is $1.30 and the monthly wage is $19.92. In the southern counties the average day's wage is $1.21 and the monthly wage is $20.35. In the state as a whole the average day's wage is $1.22 and the monthly wage is $20.36, without board.

According to reports in the papers the Gould system has secured the control of the Detroit & Mackinac road and that it will be connected with the Walash system. Controlled by the Gould management, and by connection with the Ann Arbor railroad it would give them a feeder that would enable them to control a considerable section of timber tributary to the ports of Northern Michigan. One report is that the road will be extended to Cheboygan this season, with a possibility of this city being made its terminus and a ferry line established to transfer cars from this port to some point on the upper peninsula.

Manistee Herald: W. A. Whitman, manager of the South Arm Lumber Company's interests at South Arm, ... town a few hours on Monday, the guest of Dr. Beaman. Mr. Whitman was seen by a representative of this paper and asked if any large mill belonged to this company, and which was destroyed by fire last week, would be rebuilt. He stated that the company was now negotiating with parties for the purchase of quite a large tract of timber, and that the question of rebuilding the mill depended altogether on whether this deal went through or not.

The Northport Leader perpetrates the following open in sister town: Frankfort, Silver as Traverse City has week a local revivalist wanted to lead the religious sentiment of his audience, and took the effective method of asking all those who did not want to go to hell to stand up. All in the audience arose except one forlorn man. "My friend, said the revivalist, with mingled sorrow and astonishment, 'Do you mean to say that you are willing to go to hell?' 'I am,' said the man, with a quiver. 'Well I'll tell you parson. You see I am located at present in Frankfort and any change would be agreeable.'"

The canning factory being built at Central Lake is now well under way and when completed will be one of the best equipped in the country. The buildings will stand in three sides of a hollow square covering a large lot between the highway and the U. S. tracks and will consist of the main factory building, one story in two stories high, a one story wing 28 x60, receiving shed 20x40, engine and boiler room 32x60 and warehouse 32 x 100 feet two stories high. The buildings having a frontage of 164 feet in the street and 132 on the railroad. All the buildings will stand on solid concrete foundations, and all to be covered with steel siding and made practically fire proof.

RACE WITH CYCLONE.

SANTA FE TRAIN MAKES QUICK RUN TO ESCAPE.

Conductor Locke Can Guess and Wireless to Keep Passengers From Throwing Themselves Out—Had Some Things Whose Operations Were Extensive.

In a race between a cyclone and a train the passenger from the latter cause will show little fear about getting excited unless either. A world-beating sensation for Arkansas City was the cyclone which came from the northwest shaited on the night of May 31, and then began comparisons. Conductor Shall says that he remembers nothing all Sam and wireless to keep passengers from throwing themselves out of the cars. Conductor Shall says that he remembers nothing of the time. The head was somewhere. He stood on the rear platform and could feel a little wind and hear a little noise for a few seconds. Engineer Watts pulled his train at the station as soon as he came up out of the cellar with Conductor Thomas, delivery of a telephone message received Wednesday afternoon, which was to the effect that a cyclone was coming and had been seen at Ponca City, and that it was headed for Arkansas City. The cyclone came from Ponca City in 15 minutes. The train was in Ponca City when the news came, and was moved in plenty of time to get out of the way of the cyclone. The train was on the main track when the cyclone came. Conductor Shall says that he remembers nothing of the going in the cellar. The train was moved in plenty of time to get out of the way of the cyclone. Moreover, the cyclone was not seen in Ponca City

He received a hearty welcome from his many warm friends in the city. He left for home on the steamer Lincoln Monday night.

—The crop of strawberries at Benton Harbor and vicinity this year is reported to be enormous. The shipments to Chicago will start in earnest this week, and will last about three weeks. Last year the Graham & Morton Transportation company took 700,000 cases of strawberries to Chicago and this year it is preparing to handle 1,000,000 cases with the expect that it will be increased to 2,000,000. This is in addition to the shipments by other lines. The weather has been backward for the ripening of the berries in northern Michigan, but has been very favorable for their growth, and growers are that the crop here will not fail, be very large one but that the berries will be larger than usual. We hear that the village shall cooperate with them in this work, and say that the stretch of ground fronting the water works on the lake shall be leveled in the work to the beach if the village will put in a water pipe and furnish the water for that purpose. All of which the council should promptly provide for. Capt. Fountain has already done much in improving the dreary stretch of sand down at the mouth, and has exhibited artistic taste. We hope the council will back him up in the proposed improvement of the work. When the plans are carried out, the entire stretch of ground from the bluff to the beach will be a beautiful park.

Superintendent Conlter has been making a tour of his pen territory and presents the pen fields looking exceptionally fine. We see no reason why, barring the possibility of a protracted drought, the corn should not be a bumper, inasmuch as indications that the sugar beets are up, and looking well. At Beaver Island the pea fields are looking exceptionally good. Last year, with almost a general failure of the crop on the main land, the Beaver island crop was very satisfactory. The reports there were so satisfactory to Conlter, he informed us, that the acreage has been enormously increased about 400 acres having been sown this spring, and the prospects for continued increase of acreage there are certain. While there are a few exceptional patches of sugar beets sown this spring, the probabilities are that pea acreage will be carried up to the advantage over the rock in the way of transportation.

CHAPTER XXV.

No pen could describe the scene of confusion that followed in the Mines camp when it was discovered that the chests were missing. Men, women and children ran hither and thither, asking meaning the reason of their respective leaders. The dogs went scampering and howling in packs, as if they, too, were well aware of the situation.

Twelve noon it did then the place where the chests were stored. This is where I was highly honorable for that would have gone toward the Mine in a short time. Of course, I knew the chests were not there, but I was not at liberty to tell the Mine officials that.

In the meantime the flying couriers had reached the Mine and reported to Chief Hoxie, at Hammond's saloon. One of the best Indian trackers in the camp was at their heels. Now they had reached the place where the chests were, and the sheriff had instructed the valley, and were now on the trail of the robbers. But while the sheriff with an effort was trying to quell the excitement, a party was sent out to the place where the chests were stored. Of course, they found the place empty.

Well, Chief, I'm done, I guess, said Hammond, as he came back to the saloon. Well, I'm done, too, said Hoxie, as he turned to the bar.

Well, what do you think of it? asked Hammond.

Why, I think it was some command of no small size, said Hoxie, as he leaned over the counter.

Well, what do you think of it? asked Hammond, addressing the barkeeper.

Why, I think it was a big job, said the barkeeper, as he set up the drinks.

Well, I guess it was, said Hammond, with a smoking tone.

Well, I guess it was, said Hoxie, as they drank.

Well, I guess it was, said Hammond, as he set down his glass.

Well, I guess it was, said the barkeeper, as he wiped the bar.

Well, I guess it was, said Hoxie, as he turned to go.

Republican County Convention.

State of Michigan, }
County of Charlevoix } ss

Notice is hereby given that there will be a County Convention of the Republican Party of the County of Charlevoix, in Temperance Hall in the village of Charlevoix, on Tuesday the 10th day of June 1902 at Ten o'clock in the forenoon. Said convention is called for the purpose of electing delegates to represent said County in the Twenty-Ninth Representative District, County Treasurer, Circuit Court Commissioner, and Two Township Inspectors of Election, and for transacting such other business as may properly come before the convention. Also for electing delegates to the State Legislature, and such other business as may come before said convention.

The Township Committees will also meet in their respective townships on the same day and place, for the purpose of nominating candidates for township offices, and making delegates for the County Convention.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for every 25 votes or major fraction thereof, cast for Governor at the last preceding general election, viz:

Townships	Delegates
Bay	1
Charlevoix	1
Chester Valley	1
Eveline	1
Evangeline	1
Hayes	1
Marion	1
Melrose	1
Norwood	1
Peaine	1
Wilson	1
Boyne City	2
Boyne Falls	1
Total	15

The City of Charlevoix will be represented in the County Convention by a number of delegates to be hereafter fixed by the City Committee.

WILLARD A. SMITH,
Secretary of Com.
J. B. KENNEDY,
Secretary of Convention.

Republican Caucus.

Notice is hereby given that there will be a Republican caucus for the township of Charlevoix, in the village of Charlevoix, on Saturday evening, June 7th, 1902, at the hour of seven o'clock, for the purpose of electing seven delegates to the county convention.

Dated Charlevoix, June 2, 1902.

By order of Committee.

Republican Caucus.

Notice is hereby given that there will be a caucus of the Republican electors of the township of Marion, held in the town hall of said township, on Saturday, June 7th, 1902, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held in Charlevoix on June 10th, 1902, to transact such other business as may properly come before said caucus.

Dated, Marion June 2, 1902.

By order of Republican Township Committee.

Paddock for Representative.

It looks decidedly as if Robert W. Paddock would be the Charlevoix county representative in the next legislature.

We cannot learn that there is a man in this county who wants to try conclusions with him, and we have heard many favorable comments on his candidature.

We think if either party could find a man in the county better equipped in every essential that Mr. Paddock. He is a clean headed, clean hearted gentleman, and a republican of the stalwart type.

"Bob" will be [illegible] and elected, and he may as well commit the diagram in the red book and pack out his seat.

Another Senatorial Candidate.

The SENTINEL recently stated that Grant Hosmer was opposed to nomination Palmer for a renomination.

The Traverse City Record of a recent date announces the candidacy of Orlando C. Moffatt, of that city, and it looks as if Mr. Palmer would have hard sledding to succeed himself.

Antrim county has elected a delegation that is sure to be for Moffatt; and, with Grand Traverse, Mr. Moffatt has a pretty good start. There is no certainty that Charlevoix county will be for Palmer, although we have no knowledge of the inclinations of our delegation.

Mr. Moffatt, besides being a good level-headed and well equipped man, is the son of the late Judge Moffatt, who represented this senatorial district two terms, and died while member of congress from the 10th district.

The SENTINEL knows Mr. Moffatt personally, and, while we have no special reason for opposing Mr. Palmer, we are quite sure the SENTINEL will have to do some heavy work if he defeats the young man from Grand Traverse.

Senator Hoar's Mistake.

Senator Hoar is a learned and conscientious man. He undoubtedly tries to believe what he says, but in his last speech on the Philippine question, as in others he had made, he lays all the emphasis on the fact that we have taken over the sovereignty of the Philippine islands without asking the consent of their peoples. And here is his infatuation. They had no sovereignty. For three centuries the sovereignty was held by Spain. We did not conquer the people of the islands for the world had recognized them as possession of Spain. We took them as we did in the case of California, New Mexico and the other territory we acquired as the result of the Mexican war. We took this territory with the strong hand, and we paid Mexico a solatium out of a full purse. When New Mexico tried to break away from our rule we suppressed her effort for freedom, and we gave martial law for full rigor. Yet we do not suppose that Senator Hoar would propose that we give back California and the other territory to Mexico, or that he would seriously question the validity of our rule.

Patrick Exonerated.

Congressman A. B. Darrah of St. Louis, was renominated for congress by the republican convention of the 1st congressional district at Mt. Pleasant the 4th. The nomination was made by acclamation and the strongest good feeling prevailed. Hon. A. Patrick of Traverse City presided over the convention to overwhelm.

Too Busy to Notice Mr. Hanna.

A Lansing dispatch says that Hon. Saturday morning received a ruling from the comptroller of the treasury department at Washington, which will materially enrich the treasury of the state of Michigan. It will be recalled that Gov. Bliss and Maj. Ralph Stone, of Detroit, went to the state, have recently made several trips to Washington in the interest of Michigan's claim for interest on bonds issued by the state in aid of the government during the civil war. This claim was filed under the provisions of the signal deficiency act passed by congress in February last, which provided for the reopening of the settlements made by the second comptroller of the treasury in May, 1885, disallowing Michigan's claim for interest paid prior to Aug. 20, 1866, and discount suffered on account of war loan bonds issued by the state for the purpose of raising funds for arming, equipping, etc., of troops to suppress the war of the rebellion. The state authorities acted promptly and vigorously in preparing proofs and presenting Michigan's claim under this reopening. In addition to Gov. Bliss and Maj. Stone trips to Washington were made to State Accounting Humphrey and Assistant Attorney-General Wykes. In the opinion received, the comptroller goes into the matter thoroughly, making elaborate computations and conclusions by certifying that there is due from the United States to the state of Michigan a balance of $256,707.76.

Murder Without.

In the supreme court room at Lansing, Tuesday, General William L. Stone confessed to his criminal participation in the notorious military supplies deal of two years ago through which the state of Michigan was defrauded of ten thousand dollars. While in his confession implicated General Arthur P. Marsh of Allegan, was pleased guilty, and Colonel Ellis B. Sutton, who was acquitted by an Ingham county circuit court jury. While Lamed serves one day in the penitentiary he is pardoned by Gov. Pingree. Marsh was convicted and was awaiting sentence by the court when Gov. Pingree interposed and made his pardon [illegible] confession will probably result in several arrests and prosecutions.

Game and Fish Interests.

Traverse City Record: The Record is loyal to the game protective interests of the state but has always maintained that the game warden's department does not accomplish nearly as much as it should in game and fish protection. This is not the fault of the game warden himself, but due to the inefficiency of the appropriation. The best means to insure a more adequate protection of the game in the state is to afford sufficient compensation to county game wardens to encourage them to devote their time to the work, instead of the fee system, which is subject to the whims or misunderstandings of boards of supervisors who too often cut the biggest part from the bills of the deputy wardens. A salary sufficient to enable a man to devote his entire vocation, if he has one, would solve the problem very quickly. It would cost the state a little more money each year but the total would be so small as to cut little figure in the tax roll and serve a good end.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she has been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but: "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Pain-ing and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. E. G. Rhea & Co. NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

The Cameron Lumber Co. are talking of moving their Torch Lake saw mill to North Carolina in a year or two as the stock here is nearly cut out.

The work of extending the Bell telephone lines to Alden and Rapid City will begin as soon as the material can arrive, and is to be completed by July 4th.

Alphonso J. Scotland, whose name is familiar to every old resident of Emmet county, died at his home in Harbor Springs on Friday, May 30th, of pneumonia, after a week's illness, aged 61 years. Mr. Scotland came to Harbor Springs in 1859 and has since that time been prominently identified with the interests of that village and the county.

Manistee appears to be going back instead of gaining in wealth. According to the assessment roll for the city, while valuation of real estate has increased during the past year $206,570, the personal property has decreased during the same time $1,121,829 making a total net falling off in the value of the property of the city of $1,328,399. This is certainly not a very good showing for the growth and development of Salt City.

Traverse City has the added distinction of being the only place in the state to produce corn starch. Few have given a thought to the possibility and importance of this industry, but the quality of the product and the excellent manufacturing facilities will soon demonstrate the value of the business from the standpoint of outsiders. Already the Michigan Starch Co. have had applications for starch which would warrant a factory much larger than the one now in operation.

Mr. Barton of Boyne Falls, says the Avens, caught a 10 inch trout that had inside of it a 5 inch trout and one three inches long. Now the question is if a 10 inch trout practices such cannibalism among the carp, how many trout over six inches long are required to satisfy the great hunger of California trout in the streams ranging in weight from three to eight pounds, and would it not be well to preserve the restrictions as to the number or taking these big fish. These large fish must do nearly as much toward diminishing the stock of takable fish as a goodly number of fishermen.

In a recent editorial the Grand Rapids Herald refers to the rapid and substantial development of Northern Michigan, devotes considerable space to the increase in commerce due to the establishment of car ferries. The ferries of Ann Arbor and Port Marquette are mentioned particularly and the importance of car ferries generally in developing tributary territory. What has been accomplished for other parts of the state will be repeated in this section. The establishment of the car ferry system of the Traverse City, Ludington & Manitoque from Northport will serve to draw immense quantities of freight both north and south over the new line. The direct consequence will be the attention given to fruit culture, because of a direct method of transportation and rapid transit to the great markets. Ludington and Grand Traverse counties will be great gainers in this regard. Manufacturers will also be stimulated owing to the improved transportation facilities in shipping to markets that cannot be reached direct now. Capital will necessarily follow in the wake of these enterprises and many direct and indirect benefits will be the results.

A special from Central Lake, dated June 23, says: and Rev. [illegible] pastor of the M. E. Church at that place, has inaugurated a novel service for the benefit of those who are unable to attend regularly in the morning. A horse and carriage will leave the parsonage at Central Lake every morning at 10 o'clock and take all who desire to attend church to the village of Bellaire, where the morning service is held. After the morning service the carriage will return to Central Lake, stopping at the residences of those who desire to ride home. The carriage will be in readiness for those who desire to return to Bellaire for the afternoon service. This is a great convenience to those who live at Central Lake and have no means of conveyance, and the pastor of the Bellaire church is doing a great work in giving the people of Central Lake the benefit of his preaching every Sunday morning.

Fine Time of Pioneers at Elk Rapids Wednesday—Officers Elected for Ensuing Year.

A large crowd attended the annual picnic of the old settlers' association at Elk Rapids on the 4th. The Columbia brought a large number from Northport, Suttons Bay and Omena, and the train brought another large crowd, while no end of pleasure seekers came by wagon. The meeting was a very pleasant one, and at noon came the big basket picnic dinner. The Northport band was present, and furnished excellent music during the day.

Among the excellent features on the program were a stirring address by Hon. A. J. Eldred, a speech by Senator A. E. Palmer of Kalkaska, and the annual report of secretary Estes. Rev. S. Steele, 90 years of age, and one of the oldest residents of Northport was present and gave a cordial invitation to the association to hold their next meeting at that place, and it was unanimously voted to accept the time of the meeting being changed from the first to the second Wednesday in June.

Officers were elected as follows:

President—George Crafer, Omena.

Vice Presidents—Antrim, H. B. Lewis; Benzie, a. B. Reynolds; Charlevoix, W. A. Smith; Grand Traverse, E. L. Sprague; Kalkaska, Hon. A. E. Palmer; Leelanau, Wm. Cone.

Secretary—C. H. Estes, Bates.

Treasurer—Lowell Scott, Elk Lake.

Historian—W. S. Anderson, Traverse City.

Over 500 were in attendance, and the meeting was one of the best in the history of the association.

IS IT OUT OF DATE?

CLAIM THAT PROTECTION HAS BECOME OBSOLETE.

Has the Question of Ancient Mariner and Albatross Become Applicable to the Protection Issue and Industry?

In the issue of March 27 the Peoples Journal says:

The American Protective Tariff League asks us to join in proclaiming another day sacrificed to the Pagan god of commerce with the gamblers in speculative securities or sectarian discussions. We respectfully decline. We believe with all our heart in protection. We believe that we should just as fully be protecting the American home, which built up a well ordered country to keep foreign imports out, can serve its day and become obsolete. The protection of the infant industry that was established and found beneficial and will be as much concerned with bringing into the country articles of luxury or necessity as keeping the export of things which it helped to produce. We have industries which compete with our producers from the American Protective Tariff League has in time past done some very good service, but it wants to get out of its old and like a lot of other old fogies, some of them which assume to speak for it are showing such a disposition to imitate the Pharisaic policy of organized capital that they are greatly reducing its reputation and influence.

Welcome fair criticism and honest controversy, concerning our alleged "sections" or sharply point out the above expression. It is typical of the view entertained by a very considerable number of honest men who are in favor of legislation protective, newspapers which, like our Pennsylvania neighbor, formerly believed unquestionably in the principle and policy of protection but now are of the opinion that it has served its day and become obsolete. The American Protective Tariff League not infrequently takes this view, with the difference that it goes further and claims that it never believed that there should be an wall around our country to keep foreign imports out. Free Traders never did and do not now want to keep foreign imports out. They want them to come in without restriction of any kind. On the other Protectionists and Free Traders have divided ever since the organization of our government.

Is the time ripe for the obliteration? Shall we now step down the wall and let in the foreign imports? Is that what the Pennsylvania "Equal" means when it avows its acceptance of the new doctrine of "reciprocity" and its rejection of "the old-fashioned protection which built up a wall?" Does it or does not mean that what this, does it mean? "Reciprocity" is now advocated by many newspapers of the political persuasion, either contemporary or larger importance, or even politics articles and an equivalent discussion of "Commercial reciprocity." Is America to be flooded with foreign goods? Is Arkansas which we do not overvalue products which will sell better for the same kind of employment and wages in this country, would be of relatively little value to foreign producers? That kind of competition we already have. With the things we need, we are amply supplied, and they are made all on the free list. A little less than half of the total value of our imports are non-dutiable. We are liberal buyers of the things we need, and free to no article on those things. Reciprocity makes no mention of articles on that kind. They are wholly excluded from the scheme. What it aims at and means seems to be that we shall treat some one else as he is a lot of things which we do not need. If we do, they will treat us, and "reciprocate." That is the situation in a nutshell, and we are indebted to the Pennsylvania "Equal" for a view of the home in a stage so practical and practical. It has nothing to do with the preservation of the question, that the old-fashioned protection served its day, and is "obsolete." The Republican party is now engaged in wrestling with the question of protection with the industrial protection and wages and balance. Shall it be the solution? Not such, we hope as would register the demand that protection for each and every domestic industry is old-fashioned, "obsolete" and has served its day.

Wanted, Profit for the Farmer.

Henry T. Oxnard is largely interested in the manufacture of beet sugar, and has also become a strong supporter of the free importation of Cuban sugar. The Cuban sugar is free of duty, however, it is unnecessary to argue that it would be to the interest of the farmers to have that with free trade in sugar, resulting, as in 1891, in a market price of 4 cents per pound, instead of 5 cents per pound for 96 per ton on Boston, Sioux Falls Argus-Leader. It is unnecessary to argue that it would be to the interest of the farmers to have that with free trade in sugar, resulting, as in 1891, in a market price of 4 cents per pound, instead of 5 cents per pound for 96 per ton on Boston, Sioux Falls Argus-Leader. It is unnecessary to argue that it would be to the interest of the farmers to have that with free trade in sugar, resulting, as in 1891, in a market price of 4 cents per pound, instead of 5 cents per pound for 96 per ton on Boston, Sioux Falls Argus-Leader. Mr. Oxnard is endeavoring to explain this old delusion among and then is not more than good work of it. Whenever in the the course of recent congressional sessions he is on the best way, in the language of Mr. Cleveland, is to "tell the truth," and the truth is that Mr. Oxnard wrote that circular for the purpose of selling his beet sugar factories. This explains the matter quite sufficiently. But Mr. Oxnard does not claim that the profit under free trade is sufficient to encourage the farmers to raise beet growers, but only that the farmer may absorb it all. What the country demands is some proof to the farmers which free trade notion will not give.—San Francisco Chronicle.

SECRETARY ROOT ISSUES ORDER CUTTING DOWN SIZE

Total Strength Is Reduced to 100,000 — Men Retired Make up Its Command — Major Generals Shaffer and Chaffee Under Merger Order Confirmed.

By direction of the President Secretary Root has issued a general order reducing the strength of the regular army authorized by the act of the 56th Congress, approved March 2, 1901, to a total of 100,000 men. The reduction is effected by retiring the requisite number of officers and men in excess of the new limit. This will be accomplished in the general order by the retirement of 1,000 officers and 30,000 enlisted men. The reduction will be made in the following manner: Beginning with the first day of July next, and continuing from month to month thereafter, the retirements will be made in the order in which the officers and men will be found to be in excess of the new limit, the officers being retired by the operation of the law, and the enlisted men being discharged by the order of the President.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

—Mr. Poitert, manager of the Chicago Club, is here getting ready to open the house.

—Geo. John H. New, of Indianapolis, arrived at his beautiful north side summer home today.

—Guy Green, who is in the mechanical engineering class, Michigan University is home for the summer.

—Several members of the Charlevoix South Club went to Petoskey last night with Swalls naphtha yacht.

—The Charlevoix Modern Woodmen of Alnerica, went to Petoskey by steamer Hunter Tuesday night, on a visit to their sisters there.

—Mrs. L. E. Mudge, county president of the W. C. T. U. went as a delegate to the state Convention held at Kalamazoo June 10th to 13th.

—Capt. Cavanaugh was here today with the government tug Geranium, on his way to Detroit, that boat having been transferred to the other district.

—Are you a Mason? If so, get ready to come to Charlevoix and have a good time July 19th. If your wife is an Eastern Star bring her; if she is not, bring her anyway.

—It is a most significant and gratifying fact that the shipments to this place of agricultural machinery this spring exceeds that of any previous year. Dealers and farmers are buying freely among all dealers, and smaller improvements go in the channel. It means agricultural progress, and that means general prosperity. It means farmers of crops bearing acreage, and increased ability of farmers to equip themselves with the best of modern tools.

—The big car ferry St. Ignace turned turtle, while loading cars at St. Ignace early Tuesday, and sank to the bottom of the ship in 24 feet of water. The entire crew escaped without injury. The disaster was caused by loading one side of the ferry with heavy laden cars of iron ore, with nothing on the other side to counterbalance the weight. The sinking of the St. Ignace leaves the railroads between the two Michigan peninsulas without means of transferring their trains across the straits of Mackinaw. The car ferry Ann Arbor is due here from the Ann Arbor, but if here the steamer could not get into the harbor, owing to the St. Ignace in such a fix. The steamer Algomah was at her slip in the route, except for her antiquated, low the Algomah cannot carry much freight and also is not in any. With the passage across the straits so uncertain, Mackinaw is cut off from direct rail connection with the Lower Peninsula and the car ferry is the sole means of service, the upper peninsula is just now wholly cut off from the east in railroad transportation.

BEAVER ISLAND NEWS:

The Schooner Black Hawk is loading lumber at Gill's dock.

The tug Fearless, of Manistee, spent Tuesday night at this port.

Mr. E. S. Brooks, representing the Star Net & Twine Co., a Connecticut firm, is spending a couple of days doing business with our local fishermen.

Geo. Burns and Mr. John Carney spent two busy days last Friday and Saturday setting up mowers and horse rakes which they have sold to our farmers.

The W. W. Boyle house is being renovated and repaired for a new family who will move into it about July 1st. A coat of paint and a nice front porch will improve the exterior considerably.

Crops on the Island are looking splendid. Prospects were never better for the large rye crop just in for D. M. Perry & Co. this spring as well as the oat, wheat and hay crop. The weather has been a little wet and cool for rain though the weather generally promised in the near future will make it boom.

Mrs. Sara Bailey, of Mackinac Island, with her two sons Guy and Robert and daughters Claire and Sara are spending the week with Mrs. Bailey's brother, Mr. John Gillmore, visitors the Misses Anna and Ida. All who have met this delightful family wish they could come more often and stay longer. They have for their in the hearts of the people of modern tools.

"NOT WHO, BUT WHAT."

The Comprehensive Motto of the Class of '02.

Charlevoix High School Events Best the Record.

In an atmosphere pregnant with learning and fragrant with the perfume of flowers, the Class of '02, of the Charlevoix High School figurative, by donned cap and gown at the beautiful new high school room last Thursday evening, and its members are now facing the world that they hope to conquer.

It was the largest class that ever graduated from the school. If there had been one more in its roster, there would have been a round two dozen. The girls numbered twelve and the boys eleven. We may say, also, without disparagement of any of its predecessors, it was the best class. It was the best because methods have been improved, the curriculum enlarged and environments expanded.

It may be said also, in passing, that the school year that these events bring to a close has been an eminently successful one in all branches of the school work. The board and patrons, we think, are satisfied with the record, and certainly we are all proud of the class of '02. The roster is as follows:

Celia E. Wilber — James R. Wilkinson
Ethel E. Sheldon — Ella M. Winchester
Helen F. Parker — Richard Hunter
Jessie L. Hayes — Ralph Hayes
Jessie L. Gaskill — Ernest Hosmer
Bessie L. Bennett — Guy C. Hosmer
Ada E. Bennett — Fred C. Hosmer
Ethel M. Mason — Samuel R. Hosmer
Lena B. Gaskill — Ralph E. Miller
Ethel M. Hosmer — Fred E. Miller
Lillian C. Hosmer

Following is the program.

Music — Mrs. Frank Hosmer
Invocation — Rev. James Hoyle
Salutatory — Celia E. Wilber
Music — Miss Ethel Sheldon
Valedictory — Helen F. Parker
Music — Mr. Ralph Hosmer
Farewell — Ethel M. Mason
Music — Mrs. Frank Hosmer
Presentation of Diplomas — Hon. E. H. Green

Mrs. Frank Hosmer, who rendered the music, is a graduate of the Detroit Conservatory of Music, and her rendition of the music was a delightful feature of the occasion.

Hon. E. H. Green, President of the Board of Education, presented the diplomas in a very pleasant manner, and in his address to the graduates he said:

Hon. E. H. Green, Toastmaster.

Major Green stated the occasion of his rise from the fifth rank to the toastmaster's chair by the fact that he was the oldest member of the board of education, and that he was the only one who had a diploma from the Charlevoix High School. He said that the school was a good one, and that the graduates had good reason to be proud of it. He said that the school was a good one, and that the graduates had good reason to be proud of it. He said that the school was a good one, and that the graduates had good reason to be proud of it

"Yes," said Gordie Wheelman, "I guess I'd be a fool if I didn't."

"Well, then," said Mr. Wheelman, "I guess you'd better."

"Why, Mr. Wheelman," said Gordie, "I don't know what to do or say or think. I don't know what I'm doing or what I'm saying. I don't know anything except that I love you and you are the greatest, finest, noblest, most wonderful man in the world."

"Tut, tut," said Mr. Wheelman, "I'm only a man, like any other man, and I'm not any better than the average man, and I'm not any worse than the average man, and I'm not any different from the average man, except that I have had a little more experience than most men, because I have lived a little longer than most men, and I've had a little more time than most men to think about what I've seen and what I've heard and what I've read, and I've had a little more time than most men to think about what I've done and what I've left undone, and what I've thought and what I've left unthought, and what I've been and what I've not been, and what I've gotten and what I've not gotten, and what I've lost and what I've not lost, and what I've won and what I've not won, and what I've lost that I've won and what I've won that I've lost, and what I've gotten that I've not gotten and what I've not gotten that I've gotten, and what I've lost that I've not lost and what I've not lost that I've lost, and what I've won that I've not won and what I've not won that I've won Conditions Ripe for a Stampede.

The gubernatorial conditions at this writing are about as follows: But a little more than half of the counties have held their conventions and Hilles is far ahead of Stearns in supposedly or inferentially instructed delegates. Indeed Mr. Stearns is clearly defeated up to date, and it is safe to assume that, as between the two, in counties yet to hear from, chances are even, with a leaning toward Hilles.

But there are murmurings from various quarters of the State that threaten to develop into a revolt against both Hilles and Stearns. Every county has elected delegates and instructed them for Patton. Kent county is yet to hear from and a considerable sentiment exists there for the ex-Senator. In other counties instructed delegates will go where as likely to join the Patton movement as any other.

The "supposedly or inferentially" instructed delegates already elected, are as likely to declare their independence and break the unit rule, as it was broken in the Chicago convention when Garfield was nominated, as they are to follow any barbed wire that anything else laid out for them in the primaries.

"Instructions" are fast losing their force and effect in politics. No county convention can foresee possible conditions, or foretell complications, and the time often presents itself when absolute individual independence is the only course for the delegate who is politically and personally honest.

We sadly mistake the signs of the times if a crisis of that nature is not shaping itself for the State convention. Mr. Patton is not at this time an avowed candidate; neither was Dewey at the Chicago convention. The revolt created there that saved the party from possible defeat, we believe it will occur in the Michigan republican state convention. With Patton victory is certain; with either Hilles or Stearns it is not.

Much the same political conditions exist now that existed when Jerome was defeated after his re-nomination. Republicans were confident that Jerome could be re-elected, but there are many shrewd republicans who express a doubt of success with Hilles.

We reaffirm our belief that there is no good or valid reason why Gov. Hilles should not succeed himself. There was none in the case of Jerome, but he was defeated. Much so as regard voting Gov. Hilles retired, we cannot ignore the conditions of unrest that usually attach to an "off year" and the manifest sentiment that exists and must follow in the wake of the Hilles-Stearns fight.

In our opinion there is but one course to pursue in order to make victory certain, and that is to break away from both leading candidates and nominate John Patton, or some other deserving non-faction republican who can command the united support of the party.

Judge Durand says he will not accept the Democratic nomination for governor. Next!

The Elk Rapids Progress has come out for John Patton for Governor. That is right, boys, keep the ball rolling.

When you get to Lansing, Bob, just go over to the other end of the capitol and get acquainted with Senator Moffatt. Nice fellow.

Mr. Roosevelt is going after congress about Cuban reciprocity very much as he goes after a grizzly or an unruly steer. One thing is certain, the President thinks he is as right as he was when he went up San Juan hill.

Senator Elkins has introduced a resolution providing for the annexation of Cuba as a new state upon conditions that the constitution of such state be submitted to congress for its approval and later that Congress in 1904. It provides that it cede to the United States everything but its revenue, due, duties, etc., and retain all unappropriated lands. Elkins' resolution may be only a "starter," but the annexation of Cuba within a very few years is inevitable.

SCHOOL CORNER COLUMN.

A. W. CRYE, CORR'S.

Now is the time during vacation, to look after the school premises.

See that the school yard is cleaned up. Look after the school. Freshen up the walls with white wash or Kalsomine, paint the wood work. Supply new curtains for all of the windows, if the curtains are worn out. See that each window can be easily lowered from the top. Freshen up the desks with a coat of varnish. Clean the floors thoroughly. Look at the out out buildings, and see to it that the dirt and obscenity is removed from them.

Make your school premises inviting and pleasant for the teacher and pupil. Don't forget 15 cars for your school.

RAILROAD RACING.

Quick Time Made Between Grand Rapids and Petoskey—Fare Marquette Won.

A race took place yesterday that was very interesting to railroad men and others interested in quick time on railroads or on northern hearts. The race was from Grand Rapids to Petoskey between 4 G. R. & I. train and a Pere Marquette train over their respective lines.

The distance between the two places is 230 miles over the P. M. road and 159 miles over the G. R. & I. road or 96 miles less. Both trains were specials, the P. M.'s special being drawn by engine 43. The Pere Marquette train left Grand Rapids yesterday morning at 7:15 or ten minutes ahead of the G. R. & I. train reached Petoskey at 12:45, making the distance in five hours and twenty minutes including all stops. The train had one Pullman sleeper and a baggage car.

The G. R. & I. train reached Petoskey fifteen minutes later which gave the P. M. five minutes to spare and at the same time it ran 39 miles farther. Neither road had there best engines on and before the summer is over the G. R. & I. people expect to show them how slow they are after all.

There were four reporters for this city on the special and to save time the railroad company had a hack in waiting at the Pere Marquette round house and transferred them from there instead of running down to the depot. Needless to say there was no loitering on the way by either than the hack and blocks ahead were kept clear before there was any chance of the special being along.

This is a result of competition that occurs every summer between the two roads to give their passengers the best service to the resort towns. These specials are run whenever there is a load, to save them waiting, by so doing they arrive in Petoskey in the forenoon instead of in the night and it gives them a chance to have their cottage put in shape.—Traverse City Daily Eagle.

Seven Years to Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. L. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They know she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility; but, "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervous Prostration, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Painting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. F. G. Hines & Co., Only 50c.

REO. H. VAN PELT.

He Announces that Norwood Has Been Placed on the Map, and Says a Few Things About Weeds.

Norwood, Mich., Jun. 26th.

My Dear Sentinel—

As promised in your issue of the 5th inst., I wrote Mr. McNaily, of Hand, McNaily & Co., and have received an answer assuring me that in the future all our ships Norwood would have a place. Consequently we naturally expect Norwood will be one of the great towns of Northern Michigan. As yet we have had no appropriation for break water or docks, but as you know this largely depends upon government and the influence we can bring to bear. We hope for all these things in due time. Should we get an appropriation we will advise the Northern Michigan Transportation Co. Goodrich and others, and who knows but possibly we may succeed in getting some of the European lines to make Norwood one of their regular stopping places. Queerer things than this have happened. It is well within the recollection of the oldest citizen of Chicago when just such a state of affairs existed there as exists here now.

If we can't have the ocean and lake steamers, there is one thing we now have and that is good roads, and they are to be still better. We are now building a new bridge over "mint mile brook." It's of the latest pattern known to bridge building and will be able to withstand any cloud burst or freshet.

I often wonder if we people are half thankful enough for all our mercies, for cloud-bursts, freshets, tornadoes and all other switches, commonplace nice affairs to frighten by other parts of the world are all unknown here. In most respects this is a glorious spot of the woods, and the person who leaves here thinking they can do better in some other place will be disappointed, and will be mighty glad to get back. We notice in looking over the list of those who have moved away during the past twenty years that many have returned and are now satisfied to stay, and we are expecting others to return. Go where you will workers can be found a better climate or land ever ready to yield to thorough practical farmers better results in the way of diversified crops. And now comes the sugar beet industry; this means much to our county and will bring additional prosperity all along the line. It means a certain amount of acreage that has to be so carefully tilled and cultivated in order to get a good crop, too that no weeds can go to seed; weeds allowed to go to seed will beat you, and there is a long hard fight to be waged against the weeds and roots already in the ground and right now if you have not already begun, today is the time to begin. They are our greatest enemy. It is sure they impoverish and render the land worthless. We have the very best land that the sun shines on, and now let us all try and do everybody and exterminate the already large fields of Canada thistles, musk weed, wild carrot, etc., for unless we do, we may as well give our farms over to them first as last.

Yours truly,

GEORGE H. VAN PELT.

PROOF OF THE MOCKERY OF LIFE

John D. Rockefeller, Hanging Him Half Back Is Not in Reality Rich.

Public opinion has a way of striking a sensitive fine key of proportionate value in the money taking chord, the hatred aroused by a gift of certain public trusts a little of certain John D. Rockefeller commands the services of thousands of men and women, but the millionaire upon millions and the power to command anything on earth which money may buy. Yet he must live on food, and being able to obtain a money meal and all his millions cannot make over one meal given where one meal only can be taken, no one man should be could afford to pay a million dollars for his dinner. And could little Mary with the diamond clasped Bible, the man offered to pay fifty dollars for rare old wines and he should drink a glass of beer? With the power to make the broadest human in the world richer than any human being ever was, he can go to bed at 8 o'clock, worry a thousand millions he cannot afford to eat a second pie! Life is full of irony.—New York Press.

UGLY MAN CAPTURES AN HEIRESS!

Fastidious Which Proves Costly to Her Accounting for Taste.

Romance (?) is a surprisingly beautiful young Dutch heiress of antique lineage who eloped at Vienna the other day, much have malicious tongues. The girl, who is only 17, was married away from her home by her mother, who found out that she was carrying on a flirtation with a man much beneath her in rank. The two women went to a hotel in Vienna, but the other morning the girl got up at 5 o'clock, slipped down stairs, locked the porter, who was dozing in the hall, and jumped into a cab. In which her admirer was waiting. Then they drove off and could not be traced. It is now said that the bridegroom, who is over 40, tried to be about and ugly, a pimple, has a crooked nose and red hair, and diseases wretchedly. Moreover he was thrown from a horse and fell on his face, which is covered with repulsive scars. He has 5 seven rich.

Small Is Careful.

No tariff is perfect, even for the time at which it is framed. Every tariff act, like modification of any other tariffs, is a compromise among diverse interests. It satisfies no one extreme and it grows, in some, less and less satisfactory as time, where conditions. But there is always a change time when any revision at all of a tariff is attempted, the whole system is taken up for discussion. In every instance when tariff changes have been enacted the changes have affected more articles than the change in consideration at the output. One of the results of tariff revision has been that, such is the change in nearly all parts of industries more less would uncertainly regarding the outlook and as a consequence enterprise is required for the time.

The Republican party has a special interest in be careful about tariff tinkering at the present time. An election to campaign will take place some time in the future, and consequential elections which come at the middle of a presidential term are apt to harass the party in power in the presidency. The Republicans of course went through the congressional canvass of 1894 in the face of President Cleveland's veto, successfully but their lead in the House of Representatives was considerably shortened. On the other hand, the Democrats in 1894, in the middle of President Cleveland's second term, and the Republicans in two half-years in the service of President Harrison, met a disastrous defeat, which was a prompt of the overturns. In each case, of these parties at the polls in the presidential canvass two years later.—Cleveland Leader.

Two Curious Deals.

Two peasants quarreled at a game of cards in Budapest a few days ago, and one promptly challenged the other to a duel was accepted, and, when the combatants met on the field, their eyes were bandaged pistols were put in their hands and they were ordered to fire.

As a result, one was killed and the other was arrested, together with the witnesses and seconds—a proceeding which surprised them very much, as they claimed that men in society fought duels constantly and were never arrested.

On the same day, and near the same place, two servant girls fought a duel with knives, their masters being in determine which of them should become the wife of a bandsmen soldier. The fight was conducted according to methods rules and it did not end until the two girls were so severely wounded that they could fight no longer.

Anecdote of Titus.

An amusing anecdote is related of the late Hungarian statesman, Tisza, who when one day dining at the Hofburg with the emperor placed a large pear into his plate at dessert. The emperor remarked to his minister that cold fruit after a hot dinner was very injurious to the digestion. Tisza replied, "The monarch of a Hungarian population, your majesty, is obliged to be a strong man."

No Nets Used in Japan.

Pope Studies Medicine.

Consternation is reported in the Vatican the other day when Dr. Lapponi, Pope Leo's private physician was seen going towards His Holiness's apartments with a large microscope in one hand and a case containing medical vials and surgical instruments in the other. The consternation ceased the Pope had suddenly become seemingly but seen this trouble, and he.

Pope Leo has long taken much interest in the progress of medical science and to explain to his physician the nature of their affect, human beings.

The germs of typhus, tuberculosis, diphtheria, cholera and other malady were carefully examined, thoroughly by the Pope who asked many questions, especially as to the manner in which they had first gained any into human bodies and, as to the methods which have been devised for destroying them.

A Slave to a Jewel.

There is a story told of a French peasant who was sentenced to be guillotined for a great crime. Thank you, my lord duke, said the man of the axe, when he was about to be killed with very the possession of an emerald, a jewel, which he had stolen from the duke. Why, your grace, he, as he pointed to the jewel, "if you have it loved one to do the same.

Cuban Sugar Trust.

The sugar trust would save the duty on Cuban sugar, and the consumers would remain in the powers of the monopolists, but the duty on Cuban sugar is abolished.

When a corporation like the sugar trust turns patriotic look out for other trouble. A French writer once said: "Patriotism is the last refuge of scoundrels."

To return to the patriotism the sugar trust is investigating heavily in sugar from Cuba and saying Congress to amend the duty on Cuban sugar, which would mean a big loss to the trust.—Dallas Times-Herald.

DEATH IN "BLIND PIG."

KEEPER IS FATALLY BEATEN BY ROBBERS.

Property of Dead Man Found on Person of Suspects Arrested at Bowen, N. D. Shooting Affray at Iowa House—with Fatal Results.

Fritz Polka, keeper of a "blind pig" at Bowen, N. D., was robbed and beaten to death on Friday morning. Chief Marshal Albert Bowen, Henry Dallas and James O'Brien were placed under arrest. Dallas came from Hanger, Iowa, three months ago and started a "blind pig." The night of the murder there was a crowd in the place. In the morning several persons visited the place and found Polka and Davis in bad fight. Davis was in a drunken stupor and Polka was almost dead. Dallas and O'Brien belonging to Polka said a pair of shoes had been stolen from the premises. As the inquest is prolonged death had been caused by blows on the head and shoulders.

HUNTER KILLS TWO MEN.

Unidentified High-waymen Are Shot by Victim of Robbery.

It is reported from Talladge Iowa, that two persons who had attempted to hold up a farmer were shot and killed by the victim of the robbery. Jim Bennett, a farmer residing where he alleges he was robbed, was driving home with a load of hogs, when two men stepped from the brush and the other through the fence and ordered the farmer to "hand over the money." Bennett drew a revolver and shot the man in the fence, killing him instantly. The man in the brush ran and fell dead in the bushes near.

SLAIN IN AN AMBUSH.

The Vaquis Surprise and Slaughter Thirty-Seven Yaquis at Sonora.

The opening among the Yaqui Indians in Mexico is reported to present a detachment of seventy-three men from the Yaqui in the Mazatlan mountains east of Hermosillo, was ambushed and thirty of the number killed. Only one escaped unhurt. The Mexicans ran out of ammunition and charged on a hand-to-hand battle with the Yaquis. Fifty of the Indians were reported killed, but their great number prevented the Mexicans from pursuing the survivors, who retreated to Hermosillo. Fifteen of the men were wounded. Gen. Torres has entrenched and sent out scouts over all the government. Refugees arriving at Hermosillo report that considerable the Yaqui have taken the Mexican ranches on the Sahuna Rebiaud Yaqui ranches and have driven the people into hiding. Gen. Luis Torres in command of the Mexican troops has been reenforced by his brother, Lieutenant Torres, with 200 mounted men. It is estimated that there are 1500 Yaquis, well armed, concentrated in the foothills of the Mazatlan mountains. The Mexican forces are short of ammunition and supplies.

CAR STRIKE LEADS TO RIOTS.

Several Men Are Killed in Trouble at Providence, R. I.

The street railway strike in Providence R. I. resulted in a riot Monday in which several were killed and many wounded. Cars were stoned and pelted at the officers and passengers were beaten by strike sympathizers. Cars were down, cutting trolley ropes and defying the police, who were powerless to stop the affray. The officers finally used their clubs to ward off a mob which had gathered in such numbers that the police were helpless. The police were compelled to call out the entire force of police vigilantes in Pawtucket, where the trouble was severer yesterday. The police finally succeeded in dispersing the mob. Hundreds were injured in the fight. Two men were killed and many others received injuries.

He was a quiet, kindly old gentleman, who passed the declining years of his life in retirement.

—"A Breezy Time" will be at the Lewis Opera House Saturday evening this week. As a direct refutation of the statement that farce comedies are dead, here comes the newest, "A Breezy Time." It is an out-and-out farce comedy, put together simply and nobly for the purpose of making as many laugh as possible, and altogether out of the question the the fine and fall of the American Drama. The piece has many more pretty women than civilians, more comic situations than counterpoints, and more catchy music than ingeniously worked up situations, but to use the Americanism vernacular, "it goes." It not only goes, but it goes with a rush.

—An exchange says that the Kalkaska board of trade had a special meeting lately to consider matters pertaining to the proposed Alpena, Gaylord & Western railroad, which is to be constructed between Alpena and Frankfort. It boats all what detious and divers ways that famous Alpena railroad will traverse the state to get to Lake Michigan. Charlevoix was booked once as the terminus; then Traverse City had a go at it. Now Frankfort has a clinch. At last accounts Kalamazoo was to be taken in on the way, and there was some talk about going by way of Utica, N. Y., although that is disputed by Laporte, Ind., which is entertaining hopes of extending Mr. Cowles' Van Dyke a more on foot to make Norwood the terminus, with a car ferry to Suttons Bay.

—Certain farmers have expressed the fear that the expense of thinning and weeding their sugar beets would be too great to permit of a compensatory profit on the crop. Mr. Arthur Beattie, of Marion, then whom there is no better farmer in the county, has gone through his beet fields for the above purposes, and reports that for weeding and thinning the beets the cost was four dollars per acre, and for cultivating once by hand the cost was 50 cents per acre. This settles the matter of cost along the lines mentioned and it cannot be said that the cost is out of proportion to the value of the crop. We think no doubt that even these figures can be reduced after experience has suggested other methods. Mr. Beattie is a fairly intelligent man, who reasons. In the matter of expense of cultivation, and he will be thoroughly under stands his business.

—Capt. Sam Ross, submarine diver, has over at Green Bay for a week working on the sunken steamer Alpena. The vessel was raised.

—In setting aside the conviction of James H. Gillingham, and ordering a new trial, the Supreme court holds that the legislature, in fixing the size of the mesh of fish nets, intended to fix the size as manufactured, and not as used. Gillingham was convicted of using an undersized mesh. His defense was that the mesh of the net as manufactured, was of the required size, but that it had shrunk. "The question," says the court, "is a close one, and it might properly be said that the design of the legislature was that persons desiring to avail themselves of the privilege of fishing with a smaller net than that to be used in the waters of the state, must see to it that their net when used, should not measure more than two and one-fourth inches. But the act is a penal one, and under established rules should not be given a technical construction If this construction militates against the interests of the state, an amendment can easily be made."

—Manager Lewis should be congratulated upon securing so good an attraction as "A Breezy Time." If he always looks as good an attraction as this the amusement loving people of Charlevoix will have no cause to complain. Wherever this company has appeared, this season, the press and public have been unanimous in pronouncing their performances the best ever seen. "A Breezy Time" is in three acts, the plot of which is so light that it is hardly worth mentioning, although every act has been happily interpolated with everything that is new and up to date, including music, songs, dances and clever specialties, all of which are introduced in an easy and perfectly legitimate manner. The cast of "A Breezy Time" Company consists of the pick of some of the foremost artists now appearing on the Farce Comedy stage, who have the ability to depict in a fine and artistic manner the funny drawn characters in this, the funniest of all comedies.

WESSELIUS.

There is an alleged lawyer down at Grand Rapids, named Sylvant Wesselius.

He is the generalissimo of the Stearns forces, and is succeeding admirably in helping Bliss win. He was railroad commissioner in the first Pingree administration, and part of the second, but was such a lamptime idiot that even Pingree could not stand it and unloaded him.

This is the man who gives out the statement that if Bliss is nominated Governor Stearns and his friends will bolt the ticket.

If Mr. Wesselius speaks by authority, it is the kind of talk that will renominate and elect Col. Bliss. Therefore Col. Bliss should fervently pray that the physical health of Sylvant Wesselius continue, good, whatever else may happen.

Mr. Wesselius professes some good sense—Blair, Chandler, Cass and many others. It has developed rare moral courage, too, which among whom Mr. Sylvant Wesselius, of Grand Rapids.

Saves Two From Death.

Arthur little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. S. Hoyt, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. Kings New Discovery. Our sister, who had Consumption in advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throats and lungs diseases yield to Dr King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by F. G. Hixon & co. Trial bottles free.

Announcements.

Drs. F. J. and Elizabeth Harlan announce to their many friends and patients that they will arrive in Charlevoix July 1st, for the practice of Osteopathy. They have secured the Miller residence on Clinton street, one half block west of Bridge street, where they will be pleased to meet all they told as well as new friends.

It is stated that Poppe Falls has secured the location of a stave and heading factory.

Patrick McCann of, Eaton Rapids, was found dead, lying face downward on the railroad track between Sheps and Falls Corner. McCann had been working in Cobb & Mitchell's camp No. 26 and was known to have contributed money on his person. The remains were nearly run over by passenger train No. 6. Prosecuting attorney Nichols, after an investigation, decided that he came to his death by the cars and too much booze.

East Jordan Enterprise: The Jura loaded with bark here the first of the week and this will probably be the last bark shipped from this port by water this season. The shipments will be made hereafter by rail on account of the difficulty here with the handling of the bark in the Kaughers, Jones's shifts. This season, in the points of each shipments have go 600 lbs rail out here for when than would be the cost of the bark had gone by Torch.

WORK PROGRESSING.

Largest Augmented Force in Fish Shanty Factory Construction at Once.

Although but a small force has been engaged the past week or two on the shanty factory foundations, those having the matter in charge have by no means been idle.

In fact, some of the most important work has been done during that time in arranging details and providing machinery and material. During that time it has been decided that the buildings shall be constructed of the Boyne pattern, common sawed boards of brick, as originally provided for in the specifications. The material to be used in the wall construction has been tested and to by far the cheapest and at the same time the most stable and enduring of any material, except, perhaps, granite. On Saturday a stone crusher, leased from Boyne City, was brought down and landed on the site. This week ten teams will be hauling blue stone from the quarry to be crushed for the concrete.

When the work is under way, a layer of 14 inches all around the building under construction, will be completed each day. A patent concrete mixing machine is now being negotiated for, and will be on the ground with the crusher as soon as needed.

By this time next week sixty men will be engaged in the work of construction, and that force will be increased from time to time as the exigencies of the work demand.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

East Jordan will have a four days fair this year, and the dates agreed upon are Sep. 23rd to 26th. They have again taken the dates of our street fair. Central Lake can stand it if they can. Our free street fair, with liberal premiums paid cash on the ave is a winner with the farmers every time.—Torch.

Petoskey Reord: Manager Nordrum says that all of the Booth fishing tugs have been taken from lake Michigan and are now in lake Huron and superior. The fish being handled by the Booth Packing Company at this point are caught by local fishermen here, at Harbor Springs, Charlevoix, Beaver Islands and neighboring fishing ports. They have not been taken out because of the decrease in the number of fish as Mr. Nordrum says the large fish in lake Michigan are gradually increasing rather diminishing.

The recital of the Gertie Campbell suit to double who is entitled to hold the office of Judge of Probate of Leelanau county, was completed at the last term of the Leelanau circuit court the jury bringing in a verdict in favor of Campbell. Stiner C. Gerthe, who lost in the case, has announced that he will appeal the case to the supreme court. It will be remembered that the board of county canvassers, after the county canvass of 1896, declared Stiner C. Gerthe elected by a majority of 28. J. E. Campbell, the then incumbent, demanded a recount, and on this he was declared elected by majority of 23. Gerthe claimed that the recount was invalid, and proceeded by quo warranto proceedings to oust Campbell from the office. The case was tried before Judge Cuttenden at Lansing, who instructed the jury to render a verdict in favor of Gerthe. Campbell appealed the case and the supreme court ordered a retrial. This has just been completed, before Judge Hunter, who submitted the case to the jury on the facts. The jury decided in favor of Campbell, which will reinstate him in the office for the balance of the term, and entitle him to the salary for entire time that Gerthe has been acting as judge of probate.

East Jordan Herald: Thursday evening just as it was getting dark the people who were on the street were startled to hear a pistol shot and it was found that Thos. McCalmon, a young man about 20 years of age, had shot himself in front of Wm. Gilbert's residence on William st. He was carried at once to electric light power house across the street and Drs. Wame and Dickens were hastily summoned and after working some time succeeded in locating and removing the bullet. For several years McCalmon has been keeping company with Miss Jennie Faught, a step-daughter of Mr. Gilbert, but recently the lady has seemed to have grown cold and the spurned his attentions. Some time ago she went to work at Traverse City and came home for a visit on Friday last. McCalmon renewed his suit and being refused, told her that he would come to see her again Thursday evening and if she still persisted in her refusal, he would kill her. Fearing him she shortened her visit somewhat and returned to Traverse City Thursday noon. Early in the evening McCalmon tried to borrow a gun from several young men, finally succeeded in securing one from Arthur Howard who had no idea what use he was going to make of it. Going to the Gilbert house, he asked for Jennie, and on being told she was gone away, he stepped out into the street and, drawing the pistol to an jet breast, pulled the trigger. The ball was deflected by a rib and passed around to his back without touching any vital part and it is very probable that he will live to regret his foolish act.

CHAPTER I.

Hugh Carrington's cabaret, long had been famous in the west on Bent street in Beechton. The lunching, wagers had been debated, and money won and lost on the question of a warm night of intense dullness, and the cabaret was crowded with men who had come to forget the cares of the day in the fascinating company of the girls who danced and sang and served the lunches. The cabaret was a place of good cheer, and the proprietor was a man of good cheer, ready to stand a friend in need, and to make a friend of a stranger who was in need of cheer. Hence the popularity of the place, and the success of the host as shrewd business man.

The cabaret was a place of good cheer, but it was also a place of good order. Hugh Carrington was a man who had seen much of the world, and had learned the value of a good name. He had seen the results of the other kind of place, and had learned that it was not the place for him. He had seen men who had come to his place of business with the light of new ones home on the hill—Carrington reflect.

His income of you to remind me? Why name you always bring me back to my business? I suppose you are busy any—some excuse etc. That's why they call it the night life. Business is neglected all day the night, a call, have to be attended to. Business? Business? Business?

Charlevoix Sentinel.
WILLARD A. SMITH, Editor.

Sermon of Rev. T. H. Meakes Last Sunday Morning.

Charlevoix Lodge No. 282, F. & A. M. in accordance with an ancient custom, observed the Sunday preceding the Festival of St. John the Baptist, (June 24th) by attending divine service in a body. A number of members of Charlevoix Chapter O. E. S. also attended.

The musical program by the mixed Ladies and Male Quartets was capitally rendered in all its numbers

The pastor preached from Matthew XI 2.

"Among them that are born of women, there hath not risen a greater than John the Baptist."

We give a synopsis of the preacher's scholarly and eloquent address.

"There is praise indeed! When a man receives the emphatical endorsement of the highest wisdom of the universe, he at once reaches the pinnacle of human greatness.

"The Herald of the World's Redeemer, was born six months before the birth of the Savior. When the world shivered in the darkness of its coldest and blackest night. Religion was as dead as the grave, and was everywhere the mask of hypocrisy, licentiousness or avarice. Crime was counted honorable, as honor was a curiosity and a rare woman a fool. The darkest night is just before the dawn, and the voice from the wilderness heralded the transition from gloom to glory, from the prison-house of sin to the liberty of Christ, from the bondage of idolatry to the manly freedom of righteousness. He was a burning and shining light, the morning star which foretold the dawn of a better day.

"By reason of the sublime ruggedness of his majestic character, he towers above his fellowkind. The same Thesis that rears its kingly crest above the neighboring hills.

"Strong elements of character lie in the rough. Some of the most valuable minerals are found in the rough state. The strongest minerals are found in the rough state. The strongest minerals are found in the rough state.

"Upon his face was the light of eternity, upon his brow the kiss of Heaven. With heart aflame and tongue afire, he kindled a mighty spiritual conflagration which consumed the hypocrisies and shams of his generation.

"Without food was an ever-present reality. To him, the mighty sea that gently slumbered in the quiet moonlight murmured the music of the infinite. Lashed to white fury by the whips of the storm king, it roared forth his praise. Composed by the tempest, it fawned at his feet in submissive fealty.

He realized the Divine presence, not only in the shock of the earthquake, but in the quiet pulsations of his own heart. In him, he lived and moved and had his being. He breathed the atmosphere of prayer. He knew that in the fragrant beauty of the flowers, made doubly sweet by summer showers, there dwelt the spirit of the Most High. God supports the slender chord that trembles in the breeze, and the giant tree that has defied the tempests of centuries. By his supreme power the same hand that whitens in the lily, blanches in the rose, and purples in the grape.

John's life was as pure as the air he breathed. He was not wrecked by luxury nor poisoned by stimulant, nor dulled by narcotic. Surely in his access and strain of his heroic life, he needed his magnificent physical development. With his clear brain, his strong body, and his pure soul, in truth were the elements

"So mixed in him, that nature might stand up and say to all the world "This was a man!" Behold his indifference to calumny! Serene and calm, he pursues the even tenor of his way. "They say!" What do they say? Let them say! What do they say? Let them say! Then the blow, finally the applause! That is the brief history of every reformer in every department of human endeavor. They will curse you today and crown you tomorrow. In science, politics and religion, the prophet is first ridiculed, then opposed, and finally they build him a monument.

The fair temple of his body was inhabited by the Divine Spirit. A house not of home, because it was erste foundations, secure walls, and splendid furniture. Not until it is graced by the coming of a good woman, to chime with the laughter of happy children, does it become a home. A pure, intelligent, beautiful and well bred woman is the most attractive object of vision and contemplation in this world. As mother, sister, or friend, a woman is the angel of grace and goodness, and makes a home of the house which is sanctified and glorified by her presence. So the heart is "exactitude unto inhabited by God. What know ye not that your bodies are temples of the Holy Ghost?

"Behold his sublime courage! Regardless of consequences he boldly he boldly spoke and the Royal visitor of Herod's palace was to hit face to face with the fearless prophet of God. Herod's conscience was seared with a red hot iron. He knew the consequences of his act. He knew the consequences of his act. He knew the consequences of his act.

SECOND FIELD DAY.

Traverse City and Charlevoix Met Thursday—Charlevoix Comes Back Loser.

Charlevoix High School boys went to Traverse City Thursday to meet the boys of that town on the field, but returned vanquished, but with the record of an honest effort.

We take the following from the Traverse City Record. The features of the ball game were the batting and base running of the locals, Colby's pitching, a fine catch by McMahan, another by Milliken, also Mac had taken a tumble, a catch of a liner and a double play made by Boyer after he had been knocked off his feet by a Charlevoix base runner, the shifting of Wynkoop in the center field and the excellent work of Campbell, the Charlevoix catcher, behind the bat. The latter also made a fine three base drive that exerted the admiration of South of Charlevoix put up a fine game at first, as did Mooy of the home team.

Following is the score by innings:

Traverse City 0 0 3 2 5 1 0 2 3—17

The field day events were not nearly so one sided, nor so satisfactory, either, for Charlevoix went away with some of the keys feeling that they had not really received a fair deal. There were two events upon which the judges could not agree, and unfortunately, there was no referee agreed upon in advance, so that officially the two events remain undecided. With the two events counted out, Traverse City has a good safe margin. One of them could never be conceded to Charlevoix since their own men on at least two other events, did the same thing for which they wished to throw out Carter's running hop-step-and-jump. And in another event, the shot put, their own man claimed that he threw the shot, and did not put it.

The first event was the 100 yard dash. It was a very pretty race, Fougin out from start to finish. Milliken was by four good yards, in 10½ seconds, which, considering the conditions of the course, is very fast. Burnett of Charlevoix took second, and Boyer of this cup a close third.

In the running hop-step-and-jump, the order in which the contestants jumped was Burnett, Carter, Campbell and Colby. On his second jump Carter made 40 feet 2 inches and was informed that he did not need to jump again till his jump was raised. Campbell jumped and raised the mark to 40 feet and 2 inches when Carter jumped and made 40 feet and 3 inches. Tod Thirby the judge from Traverse City, insisted that the jump be counted, especially as Carter was not called to jump in the regular turn. The Charlevoix judges, after measuring the jump and announcing it as 40 feet and 10 inches and after once trying to make it 40 feet 9 inches, insisted that the jump be not counted. As there was no referee there could be no decision and the event can have no official count.

There was another disagreement on the shot put, the real event. Lapeer, the first man up, put the ball 34 feet. Lefever did 29 feet 6 inches and Lederle fell below. Campbell made a fair put of 32 feet 2 inches.

Then Kyselka put the sphere 33 feet 10½ inches and Lefever made a clear throw of 35 feet 8 inches. The throw was protested by Thirby and by the crowd. Lederle failed to raise the mark, at 33 Campbell. Again Kyselka put, this time doing 35 feet. Lefever then, and acknowledged that it was a throw, 35 feet, 3 inches. Lederle and Campbell failed to raise the mark, and the judges again failed to agree. The Charlevoix man insisted on giving Lefever the score, though he admitted that it was a throw.

Thirby for the city insisted that Kyselka should give first place, as he had clearly made the farthest put. As the judges could not agree on the event, there can be no official score. Boyer took the 50 yard dash handily, in 25 seconds, with Burnett second and Fleman third, though it looked to the crowd as though Burnett should have had that place.

The other events came off in regular order, Milliken making but two jumps in the running broad jump, each of which was better than Charlevoix's best. Charlevoix had the hammer throw all her own way, as none of the local athletes had ever seen a 12 pound hammer before.

The official summary of the field day events, omitting the running hop-step-and-jump and shot put, on which there was no agreement of the judges and could be no official count, is as follows:

100 YARD DASH.

First—Milliken, Traverse City.
Second—Burnett, Charlevoix.
Third—Boyer, Traverse City.
Time, 10½ sec.

50 YARD DASH.

First—Boyer, Traverse City.
Second—Burnett, Charlevoix.
Third—Fineman, Charlevoix.
Time 5 3-5.

RUNNING BROAD JUMP.

First—Lederle, Traverse City, 8 ft. 9 inches.
Second—Boyer, Traverse City, 8 ft. 1 inch.
Third—Burnett, Charlevoix, 7 ft. 11½.

POLE VAULT.

First—T. Smith, Charlevoix, 8 ft. 6 inches.
Second—Milliken, Traverse City 8 ft.
Third—Lederle of Traverse City and Burnett of Charlevoix, tie 7 ft. 6 inches.

HIGH JUMP.

First—Burnett, Charlevoix, 4 ft. 3 inches.
Second—T. Smith, Charlevoix, 4 ft. 9 inches.
Third—Colby and Boyer tied at 4 ft. 6 inches.

RUNNING BROAD JUMP.

First—Milliken, Traverse City, 18 ft. 10 inches.
Second—Carter, Traverse City, 17 ft. 7 inches.
Third—Campbell, Charlevoix, 17 ft. 1 inch.

HAMMER THROW.

Campbell of Charlevoix, 58 ft. 7 inches.
Second—Lefever, Charlevoix, one hand, 79 ft. 11 inches
Third—Kyselka, Traverse City, 56 ft. 8 inches.

TOTAL SCORE.

The final official score is: Traverse City, 33 points; Charlevoix, 31 points.

NOTES ON THE DAY.

Lefever had an arm broke two weeks ago, or he would have shown some hammer throwing that would have been finer than silk. He made 79 feet 11 inches with one hand.

The Charlevoix boys were a gentlemanly set of fellows that anyone would be glad to know, with possibly one or two exceptions.

There was some complaint because the arrangements for the meet were not absolutely perfect. This is due to the fact that the High school boys have never had a meet of this kind before. They will know more about it next time.

Charlevoix wants the local track team and base ball to come to the High school meet, which will include Petoskey and Charlevoix, at the latter town next year.

James F. Milliken of this city made the highest individual score, 15. Burnett of Charlevoix was second with 12, and Boyer of this city third, with 10.

DEATH IN A WASHOUT

FIVE MEN KILLED IN A VERMONT WRECK.

Abutment Causes Enlargement of a Ditch. Engine Leaves Track, and Freight Cars Run Into It—Found Dead on Side walls in Kansas City.

Five railroad men lost their lives near a freight train on the Central Vermont Railroad one night in a washout at Middlebury, the children to the Rev. Stephen Wright, their father being a minister. The Wright three were on their way to parsonages in Brattleboro, Vt., and several bridges were washed away. Those killed in the wreck are the engineer, the fireman and three brakemen. The train consisted of a light engine and twelve cars. Passing through Middlebury, it was running at a high rate of speed when it struck a ditch washed out by a flood. The engine left the rails first, the tender followed, and the freight cars piled on top of it, some of them being twisted aside, the others being thrown over the top of the wreck. The cabin of the engine was crushed and the engineer was killed on the spot. The railroad bridge at Bolton was undermined and a section of it was left in the house adjoining it, some distance from the track. The bridge is about 100 feet long, and many thousand feet of logs were carried away.

FOUND DYING ON SIDEWALK.

Man with a Fractured Skull Passes Away Without Consciousness.

Richard Stewart, a clerk, who was employed in the office of the Kansas City Railroad, came home from a saloon in Kansas City, Kan., early one morning last week, and was found on the sidewalk in front of his home in a dying condition. He died without regaining consciousness. He had a fractured skull, and it is thought he had been robbed. The police believe he was struck on the head with a sandbag and then robbed.

JURY LAWS ARE MIXED.

Many Inconsistencies Thrown Out Before Trial Jurors.

Some time ago Judge Kohlsaat of the United States court in Chicago, rendered a decision which, if it should be followed by other courts, would mean a great saving of time and money. He held that a juror who had expressed an opinion on the question involved in the case should not be excused from the jury on challenge by the plaintiff or defendant, but should be left to be challenged peremptorily by the other party to the suit.

FORTER SHOT BY CHICAGAN.

Hotel Incident Leads to Colorado Sporting Man's Death—Fourteen Years Ago.

Charles A. Forter, his wife and children, Hope, Ethel and Charles, and William Hope, a friend, came into the Windsor hotel in Denver, Colo., from the ranch of Forter, the latter of the Hallinan Hotel at Ouray, Colo., to spend a few days. Forter met Adam Miller, with a female of his acquaintance, in the office of the Windsor hotel. Some time in June, but Mrs. Forter did not know of it until the following morning, Miller with a female of his acquaintance came to the hotel and asked for Forter. Some time in June, but Mrs. Forter did not know of it until the following morning, Miller was ordered by a friend to leave the city, and he left for Denver, where he was employed as a bartender. Forter and his family left for home, but Mrs. Forter was called back to Denver by a telegram from Miller, who said he was dying. Forter was shot and killed by a friend of Miller's, who claimed that Forter had ruined his sister, and that Forter had been his enemy for years.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

—Married, Wednesday evening, at the home of the bride's parents in this village, by Rev. Mr. Moore, uncle of the bride, Dr. Allan Wilkinson, of St. James, to Miss Ada Blodgett. Only the relatives of the contracting parties and a few friends were present at the ceremony. Dr. and Mrs. Wilkinson went to the Soo the same evening for a short honeymoon, and will be at home after July 15th at St. James, where the doctor has a fine practice and is brought very much of by the parole. The SENTINEL extends its heartiest congratulations. If any young man deserves to prosper in this world's affairs, that young man is Dr. Allan Wilkinson.

—The Knights Templar of Traverse City were here on the excursion Harbor Beach, Saturday, on their pilgrimage to the Soo, and the weather favored—Charlevoix, for it blew the biggest gale of the season, and scurvy was down to about 50, or lower. The Band was compelled to remain here until five o'clock Sunday morning, when she proceeded north, with a good sized sea still running. The Knights and ladies made the best of it, and spent the afternoon visiting among their Charlevoix friends. In the evening the K. P. hall was secured for them, and they spent two hours at dancing. They had a fine band with them, which included an excellent orchestra, which furnished the music. The commandery was under command of Sir Knight S. W. Smith and his staff, and went in citizens' dress. Many leading Traverse City business men were in the party, including Herbert Montague, manager of Montague & Co's Mercantile Co., E. T. Hannah, cashier First State Bank, prosecuting attorney Frank Wm. Beltner, Mr. Ott, and O. J. McFall, prospective candidate for state senatorship. F. Brown and wife, of this place, went with the party.

THE COUNTY CONVENTION.

Republicans of Charlevoix County Hold a Harmonious Convention.

The Republican County Convention Tuesday was one of the best that has been held since the county had an existence. Every township in the county was represented by full delegations, and the proceedings throughout, with the exception of a little flurry over the Norwood contesting delegations, was harmonious, and, in its action, practically unanimous.

The following ticket was nominated by acclamation:

Representative—Robert W. Paddock.

Sheriff—W. J. Pearson.

Clerk—D. F. Breech.

Register—F. A. Benjamin.

Treasurer—H. C. Gregory.

Circuit Court Com.—A. L. Finch.

Prosecuting Attorney—A. B. Nicholas.

This is work well done. As the SENTINEL has before stated, Robert W. Paddock will, as representative at Lansing, honor the party and the county.

The renomination of the present county officers was a foregone conclusion even before the convention was called. It is a fact that cannot be disputed, that the county has never had a corps of officers who have more or faithfully fill every public requirement, than those now in office.

Ex-Senator Wm. Mears, of Boyne Valley, was plaudited to name the senatorial delegation, which means that Mr. Mears wants the "nags" again. The delegation consists of E. A. Thompson, Wm. Harrington, F. A. Benjamin, L. S. See, W. J. Pearson and Geo. Crane.

Although the delegates to the State Convention were uninstructed, it is well understood that the delegation is for Hiss. The delegation is as follows: A. L. Coulter, Lyle Shanahan, W. L. French, J. M. Harris, E. M. Clink and A. J. Strond.

GLISS RE-NOMINATED.

The Governor Wins Out at Detroit by Big Majority.

At the State Convention in Detroit Friday, Governor Rliss was re-nominated on the first ballot, receiving 311 votes to Stearns's 242.

Maitland, of the upper peninsula was nominated for Lieut. Governor. All others of present State officers renominated.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

The pastor left Monday morning to attend the Trustee meeting of Beloit College, and to deliver the graduating address on Thursday morning. He expects to return Friday morning.

The first Sunday in July will be observed as the church, as National Holiday. The choir is preparing some special music for the occasion which will include Jackson's "Te Deum" and Rudyard Kiplings "National Hymn" which has been so popular in some of the cities.

The attendance last Sunday were good. At the afternoon Union Temperance Meeting Rev. Mr. Hughes gave a good address. We are glad to see so many of the visiting friends at the services. They will be heartily welcomed.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Hazlehead, of Armistit, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. Kings New Discovery. Our mother, who had Consumption in an advanced stage, also used this wonderful medicine and to-day she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Guaranteed at F. G. Dixon & Co's Drug store. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by F. G. ORDINANCE.

An ordinance to regulate the electric wires and the use of electricity and hereby for the protection of life and property in the village of Charlevoix.

The Common Council of the Village of Charlevoix ordains:

Section 1. The provisions of electric light and water works shall hereafter and authorized by the laws of the state of Michigan, relating to the construction of poles and wires for telegraph, telephone, electric light and other purposes in the city and villages of this state, so far as the same may be applicable, and the provisions of the Revised and Compiled Ordinances of the Village of Charlevoix, so far as the same may be applicable, shall be and are hereby adopted and made a part of this ordinance.

Section 2. No person or corporation shall hereafter erect any poles or wires for the purpose of transmitting electric light, heat or power, or for the purpose of telephone or telegraph, in the village of Charlevoix, without first obtaining the consent of the Common Council, by ordinance, and the consent of the owners of the property on which such poles are to be placed, and the consent of the owners of the property over which such wires are to be strung, and the consent of the Village Board of Public Works, and the consent of the Village Board of Public Works shall be given in writing, and shall specify the number of poles and wires, and the location of the poles and wires, and the manner in which the poles are to be placed, and the manner in which the wires are to be strung, and the height at which the wires are to be strung, and the number of cross arms upon the poles, and the number of wires to be used upon the cross arms, and the number of wires to be strung upon the poles, and the number of poles to be used, and the manner in which the poles are to be guyed, and the manner in which the poles are to be set, and the manner in which the wires are to be spliced, and the manner in which the wires are to be insulated, and the manner in which the wires are to be fastened to the poles, and the manner in which the wires are to be fastened to the cross arms, and the manner in which the wires are to be fastened to the insulators, and the manner in which the wires are to be fastened to the house or other building, and the manner in which the wires are to be fastened to the house or other building, and the manner in which the wires are to be fastened to the house or other building

The village consists of two streets, one of which is a long, straggling, sandy road, which, if it follows the bend of the river, would be called the Potomac. The other, shorter, runs at right angles to the river, and is called Court House street. It was Mr. Hobbs, who lived on Court House street, who was talking to Mr. Hughes, who lived on the Potomac.

"Well, I reckon I'll be getting along home," said Mr. Hobbs, who was a little man, with a little, sandy beard, and a little, sandy voice.

What Ails Matter With Charlevoix County?

We do not ask this question in seriousness, but in the "Hiawatha vein." As a matter of fact, there is nothing the matter with Charlevoix county.

We apply these observations to the political health-fulness of Charlevoix county; because there is not a county in Michigan that can show up a better record of republican growth since its organization.

Of course, this is due, primarily, to the punishment of sound republican doctrine, the verification of republican prophesy, and the beneficence of republican laws affecting industrial interests.

But, secondarily, and locally, it is due largely to the battles we have fought and the victories we have won, to the fact that the republicans of Charlevoix county have never deceived the people; that its members for public office have always been clean and capable men, and that no public scandal has ever attached to the name of any one of them.

In short, the republicans of Charlevoix county can point with pride to their third-of-a-century record; from the date of its first convention to the official count in 1900, when the head of its county ticket received 1,100 majority over his democrat opponent.

Of course, we do not know what the democrats of Charlevoix county will do this year. Only the patient and persistent will be the chairmen of the county committee can reveal to us the purpose of the faithful, and he is reticent.

But we presume they will hold a convention in order to "preserve their organization," and get in shape for "future triumphs." They no longer have an official organ, and some of their best men are deserting the party wreck.

The Re-Nomination of Governor Bliss.

While the renomination of Gov. Bliss was no surprise, the large vote which he received was unexpected by the public at large. During the two weeks preceding the convention it had come to be understood, that while, without doubt, Bliss led in instructed delegates, the contest in the convention would be dangerously close for future party harmony.

That is the view the SENTINEL has taken of the situation. While it has strenuously held that although there was no good reason why Bliss should not be re-nominated, conditions were so chaotic that a due regard for success in November promoted the selection of a new candidate—one that could unite the opposing factions.

But that first ballot at Detroit cleared the atmosphere and illuminated the whole political horizon. Aaron T. Bliss is the choice of the republicans of Michigan in more than three to one, and he will be elected in November.

Now that pre-convention excitement is over, we may dispassionately review the situation. It was not entirely "party precedent" that won out for Gov. Bliss at Detroit, although that argument had its traditional weight. When the record of Gov. Bliss' administration is reviewed, we can see no nothing that is discreditable. He has been a clean and respectable governor, and has an administration the affairs of the executive office with plain, every-day, good common sense.

He has not delivered any college commencement addresses, nor has he been clothed in the cap and gown of Harvard, Yale or Columbia. As a matter of fact, he is not intellectually up to that standard. But he has made no mistakes that a Greek scholar would not have made, and we cannot see why the gift of oratory would have served him any better purpose than an equipment for republican purposes.

We have had many governors who could not make a speech, yet they were not "ignorramuses," as certain people have lately been pleased to designate Gov. Bliss.

Gov. Bliss was elected two years ago by a majority of 100,000. He will not get that this year—rather could any other man. It is not a presidential year. But he will be elected by a safe, if not by a large majority. The convention vote demonstrates the fact that the opposition to him had been chiefly factious and bluff, that the attacks upon Bliss from within his own party were unstrategic and unjust, and that they were inspired by discreditable motives.

The people do not like those methods, and they will see to it in November that its disapproval shall be plain and unmistakable.

Hon. Didn't Wear A Mask.

Pen has usually been accordingly kitchen of a mistaken and pungent tilt the Chicago Blackbird. Recently the Blackbird referred to Will Maupin, Republican candidate for congressman, as follows:

"Will Maupin, the Republican candidate for congressman, is a man who has been in the public eye for years, and he is well known to all Republican Force Bulls, Hacks, Hirelings, Carpetbaggers and Tools, living up one, including some of the Cotton, Brooks, Sullivan, Lilian, Cannon, Grosvenor, Tom Reed, Mason & Co. Gang."

The Case of Mr. Stearns.

The defeat of Mr. Stearns at Detroit last week may be considered as a dying struggle of Progressism; for in a large measure that gentleman claimed to stand for what he was pleased to term Mr. Pingree's unfinished work.

To a large extent Mr. Stevens inherited, not only the legacy of the turbulent politics of Progressism, but he seems to be the hair to Pingree's personal following.

It is foolish to claim that these elements have been fully eliminated from Michigan politics. They still exist in effervescent force only. But it will never dominate the republican party again, as Mr. Stearns has doubtless discovered.

The late candidate made a gorgeous mistake. He should make the best of it by loyally supporting Gov. Bliss. As a candidate for governor of Michigan, he now stands pre-ordained. He has outlawed himself by a most unwise act, and left behind him a record of many unpleasant things to vex the enemy.

He was badly advised by his friends, and hoodled by Sylvest Wesselius.

Death of Justice Long.

Supreme court Justice Chas. D. Long died at his home in Detroit last Friday.

Judge Long is quite well known in this county where he has two brothers, Mrs. Peter Kane, of Hayes, is a sister.

Judge Long was a learned jurist and a noble-minded gentleman. The State has lost one of its most distinguished sons.

It Puzzles The World.

No Discovery in medicine has ever created one quarter of the excitement that has been caused by Dr. Kinga's New Discovery for Consumption. Its wonderful cures have been on hopeless victims of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhage, Pleurisy and Bronchitis, thousands of whom it has restored to perfect health. For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Hay Fever, Hoarseness and Whooping Cough it is the quickest cure ever in the world. It is sold by F. G. Bliss & Co. who guarantee satisfaction or refund money. Large bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free.

SCHOOL COMM'R COLUMN.

A. N. OSBORNE.

Geography is the study of the earth as the home of man.

In teaching geography the teacher should emphasize the fact, that man is the central thought. In the newer text-books, the pictures and the maps present the earth as the home of man. The central thought among man, then teach the pupil man's relations to his universal environment. Observe the peculiarities of man and nature about the pupil's home and gradually lead up to a conception of the world as a whole.

The study of geography tends to develop the reasoning faculty. The preparatory work in this study commences with the second grade, and is confined chiefly to local work. In the third grade the subject should pass to a consciousness of the relations presented in such a manner as to stimulate both observation and imagination.

The latter half of fourth year the text-book is introduced and the purpose of the study is to enlarge the children's idea of the earth as a whole.

The fifth grade continues the use of first book and care should be taken not to let its use divert the attention from the central thought of geography study—the earth as a habitation for man.

In the sixth grade commercial geography gives breadth and vitality to the pupil's knowledge. The interchange of natural and manufactured products.

Show the practical and commercial value of science, thus fortifying against the fallacy that a broad education is simply ornamental.

The subject should be finished in the seventh grade and the map of Michigan carefully reviewed.

Teach the proper spelling of geographical words. The United States and Canada Geographic Boards rule out the apostrophe from names of places within the two countries. Hence, in Charlevoix county our governmental changes the name of Hotton's Bay to that of Horton Bay.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

The county seat of Emmet county will be removed from Harbor Springs to Petoskey the tenth of this month.

A. M. Hordrick has just purchased a large stock of figwaves and upon their arrival will open up his new store at Ironton.

Chief Nodgin of Petoskey was made chairman of the committee on by-laws at the Western Michigan I. O. F. meeting at Grand Rapids this week.

East Jordan Enterprise: Contractor Joe Zoltack has taken the job moving the Detroit & Charlevoix railroad station its present location to a new site on the dock near their new lumber transfer docks.

The Michigan Probate Judges' Association will hold its annual meeting in Petoskey in August. The gathering will take place in the court room of the new city hall. In all probability the meeting will be attended by almost eighty probate judges.

The "Royal Frontenac" Hotel, the handsomest summer hotel in the north, will open its first season July 20, under the management of J. H. Hayes, the man who made Mackinaw Island famous, and C. A. Hoest formerly Supt. the Union League club, Chicago.

The Elk Rapids Iron company has nearly completed a factory 60x235 feet. The walls of the building are cement concrete, when finished the building will be used for the manufacture of maple flooring, mattress frames and hardwood novelties. The Elk Rapids Cement company is putting extensive repairs on it plant and will begin making cement about Aug. 1th.

Petoskey Democrat: Hal Van Orden, who is to go to the naval academy at Annapolis in September, has a good position as shipping clerk in the freight office at Rockdale. Some months ago Hal. took the civil service examination at Escanaba. In some way his ability became known to the railroad officials at that place and he was offered the position at a good salary if he would remain until he goes to Annapolis.

Contrary to the general opinion, the heavy rains of the present month have not injured the growing crops to any great extent. In fact in most districts the rains are reported to have been beneficial. Branch county seems to have been the worst sufferer. News correspondents in leading counties of the peninsula report nearly all crops in the least of conditions, and in Northern Michigan the hay, wheat and oat crops never looked better than at the present time. Current apprehension among the farmers here seems to be the fear that the grass having grown so rapidly is unusually tender and a few days hot sun without rain would thoroughly cook it.

Traverse City Record: Frank H. Smith and W. G. Hull of this city and Wm. Ingersoll of Delta, Ohio, have purchased a tract of land in Mackinaw county consisting of 7,300 acres of fine hardwood timber and a large amount of cedar. The consideration was $73,000 spot cash and the tract is that has been known as the Martel Furnace Co. lands. The purchase was made from the heirs of Isaac Cappon of Holland. The property is situated about four miles north of St. Martins bay. The property was not bought for speculation, but the new owners will operate upon it and cut off the timber. This is one of the most valuable tracts in that locality and will bring big returns.

Traverse City Record: D. W. Kaufman, who was in Traverse City in the interests of the Traverse City Lowlands & Mississippi railroad, has spent considerable time lately in Cleveland, securing the construction of the new car ferry for the use of the T. H., L. & M. between Northport and Manistique. The work on this monster boat is progressing satisfactorily, and she will be ready for service next summer. This vessel, which will be by long odds the finest on the lakes, will cost half a million dollars, $200,000 more than was paid for any of the ferries running on any of the great lakes. The boat will be not only the largest car ferry on the lakes, with the greatest carrying capacity, but will be the fastest ferry, of the kind on the lakes.

Manistee Heralds: The survey gang of the new Alpena, Gaylord & Western railroad reached Manistee last Saturday afternoon. The distance from Gaylord is just 20 miles and an exceptionally favorable route to this place was found. This side of Gaylord the track for nearly 10 miles will be as straight as an arrow; no grades of any consequence were encountered and the degree of curvature is very slight. The survey passes about a mile and a half east of Alba and then south by Wetzell lake. It crosses the old Narber place, east of this village, and just back of C. J. Hoppins' barn curves to the west, passing just south of the platted section of this village. Aside from one three degree curve here in town nothing sharper than one degree curves was found between here and Gaylord, and a 2½ per cent grade—the steepest encountered on the route—is all that will have to be overcome. A resting spell of a few days will be taken here and then the work of continuing the survey to Kalkaska and Traverse City will be undertaken.

Traverse City Record: The contractors who are to build the Traverse City, Leelanau & Mississippi railroad are in Traverse City completing their arrangements and will at once begin operations near Bingham. To those who were skeptical as to the intentions of the railway promoters the present conditions will be considered evidence that the line is to be built. There is now no doubt that the railroad to Northport is an assured fact and no longer a matter of speculation. The contractors will have their offices in the city and all their operations will be directed from here. The fact that this line will cost in the neighborhood of $300,000 suggests the importance of the project to this city. Tens of thousands of dollars will be expended for labor and material, and the presence of the workmen on the line will put a large amount of money into circulation in this City and Leelanau county. This will be the immediate benefit of the enterprise, but later on the benefits of railway facilities between here and Northport will be felt in a material way. And later on when the car ferry shall be established from Northport to Manitoulin, further benefits will be derived. Altogether this project will mean much in the way of commercial development to this City and Leelanau county.

Osteopathy.

Drs J. F. and Elizabeth Harlan graduates of The American School of Osteopathy, are now located at the Gov. Bliss residence, 115 Clinton St. for the practice of Osteopathy. The Drs. Harlan need no introduction to the people of Charlevoix, as this is their second season here. Any suffering treatment should call at their earliest convenience, as the doctors will only handle a limited number of patients. Consultation and examination free. Telephone 204.

A Poor Substitute.

Family starved to death because he could not digest his food. Early use of Dr King's New Life Pills would have saved him. Guy, Washington, writes: "Suffered with dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, kidneys affected, lost appetite. Pills gave immediate relief." Only 25c. money back if not satisfied. Sold by F. G. Bliss & Co. druggists.

INVITING RETRIBUTION.

Business Democrats Cannot Afford to Vote with the Tariff Reformers.

The great national issue of the Congress throughout is the indictment of the house which is stand by the insurgent Republicans and refuse to make any change in the tariff it looks to, never as if they are willing to support a bill for amendment only that they may attack the tariff at various points. This is a dangerous policy, especially for the democrats from the South. If the representatives of the cotton states insist upon attacking the tariff at various points, how can they expect to defend the iron and steel schedule by which Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia are so heavily delinquent? How can they refuse to attack duties on the move the tariff on cotton cloth or be for an unnecessary protection for a country where the raw material is grown and where we are experts in machinery? To pause for a moment at our front and knocking cotton industry must convince every Southern congressman that he is inviting perilous retribution when he attacks schedules in which this section is either uninterested or is greatly interested.

In the cotton industry the number of workers employed has increased 34.4 per cent while wages have increased 31.8 per cent. This is explained by the attachment of the industry to the South and the comparatively low rates of wages prevailing here. Details are as follows:

COTTON GOODS INCLUDING COTTON SHALLY-WARES	1890.	1900.
Number of establishments	92	92
Capital invested	$45,000,000	$60,000,000
Wage earners	84,000	112,000
Average number of wage earners	84,000	112,000
Total wages	$18,000,000	$23,800,000
Average annual earnings	$214	$212
Cost of materials	$28,000,000	$37,000,000
Value of product	$46,000,000	$61,000,000
Value added by manufacture	$18,000,000	$24,000,000

If the census had been taken three years ahead of 1900, the returns would undoubtedly have been still better, as trade conditions have improved materially during the last fifteen months.

Now, if southern Democrats attack cotton schedules in which they are not specially interested they need not be surprised to find the Republicans retaliate in kind. The mills of the North, which turn out a finer grade of goods, can stand a large cut in the cotton goods schedule, while it would be simply ruinous to the South. To reduce the cotton schedule is to displace from the home market, in favor of British and German mills, much of the products of our Southern mills. It is therefore a bad policy for the South with Democrats to stand by the Louisiana sugar growers and the cotton factories that are now retaliating in every direction. If an alliance is formed between the Democrats and the "insurgents" let it be an honest alliance!—New Orleans "Item."

WERE HARDLY EDUCATED ENOUGH

Short Commercial Schools Now Run Up to Six Years.

He was a smart commercial traveler. Taking a small town in the district in the summer, where water was scarce, the commercial hotel, and flies ruled were lively. At the hotel he took some cooling drinks and asked for a bed. The landlord said he could have half a dozen beds because no one in the place wanted somebody. The flies would allow no sleep. The traveler smiled, paid for his rum and retired. In the morning he went downstairs, leaving fresh as paint and whistling merrily. The landlord was a good man, who carried him his brisk spirits. The landlord inquired:

"Did you sleep?" he asked.

"Like a top," was the reply. "Your flies don't know enough for me. I just closed the windows against mosquitoes, and it was as cool as a cucumber. I have slept like a log and feel like a new man."

The landlord stared at the traveler. "I guess you are a jay," said he. "I put a bar and walled until the flies in the room had retired on it. Don't know when they try another bar. No, sum fool may be barely educated enough to bear it."

SENATOR FRYE CAUGHT A DUCK

But the Distinguished Statesman Was Skylarking at the Time.

There was a session of the Congressional Kindergarten in the east room.

"Did you ever hear?" asked Senator Hanscom, of the Upper Senator Frye caught the duckt it was like what. His specialty is tie-fishing, and casting fold a sitting frame. Well, one day in the fall we went fishing up above, Kennebunk under the lee of a projecting point of land.

"Jim watch, you cast a minnow and the scenario as lie and the bait whizzing far out into the river. Hardly had the minnow struck the water until the line paid out and the reel began to sing.

"Is a fine specimen!" cried the boatman. "Let him run, senator, let him run."

Well, there was some excitement. The reel sang, the line swung the sweetest music in the world to a fisherman. At length the line was all run out and much to the senator's surprise the rod bent and straight up in the air, instead of toward the water.

"The old business nearly fell in a fit in the bottom of the boat with laughter, for there up in the sky, scared a little, was the senator's minnow. Well, sir," said the senator, in disgust, and let go hold on the rod—the line. I'll fish in the rain-barrel off Kennebunk with Tom, Dick, Jim Cannon and Hans Hoadgeson for the rest of this trip!

MARINE NEWS.

The Fishing tug John Lane Jr. has come here from Kewaunee to do business.

The Charlevoix Lumber Co. have sold the schooner Nand to Capt. Hoes, of Harbor Beach. Capt. Christ-Edwardson, the present master, will continue to sail the vessel.

A New York special says: An unusual arrival in the port of New York to-day was that of a lake-built schooner, the Liberia constructed at Manitowoc, Wis., in 1884, and hailing from Milwaukee. The vessel sailed from Manistique, Mich., April 28. She brought to this port a cargo of lumber from Three Rivers, Quebec, and was twenty-four days on the voyage from that port. The Liberia is in command of Capt. Wilson. She will go from this port to New Orleans.

At least six lives—and possibly seven—were lost by sinking of the steamberge George Dunlap of Chicago off Kelleys Island Lake Erie Saturday. The barge, which carried a crew of ten and cleared from Cleveland Saturday morning with coal for Alpena, struck a heavy sea and went down with all on board at 5 o'clock. Captain and Owner John W. Little of Port Huron; two women and a sailor arrived at Kelley's Island in a yawl at noon, and said six of the crew were lost. The Dunbar was well known here.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

The pastor preached last Sunday morning on "The Purpose of Creation," which he stated, on the basis of Scripture as "Every Creature for its own and all for God," and illustrated this proposition by reference to the progressiveness of nature, civilization, morality and religion. The evening subject was "Jacob's Vow," which was a good vow for Jacob and all because it placed life under God's care, pledged life to the worship of God, and devoted person and property to the service of God.

Next Sunday will be observed as "Independence Day," with appropriate services. Decorations, sermons and music all patriotic. Morning sermon will be entitled "Lest We Forget," evening address "Stepping stone of American Life." Special music will consist of Jackson's setting of the Te Deum and Dudley Buck's Patriotic Hymn, "God of Our Fathers, Known of Old," music by H. H. Pattison.

A very cordial invitation is given to all to take part in these National Birthday services.

Library Matters.

At the meeting of the Board of School Inspectors for Charlevoix, the resignation of Grace J. Graves was presented and accepted. The Board then proceeded to ballot for a librarian to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation, the following names were presented, viz: Bessie A. Smith, Josephine Uglowski, Addie Holly, Amy Harsha, and Hertha M. Clark, and an informal ballot was taken. Number of votes cast was three all of which were given for Bessie Smith. The matter of choosing a new librarian was a very difficult one, in that all applicants were well worthy of the position, none having qualifications greater than another. The result was arrived at on the first ballot. Bessie A. Smith had been the assistant librarian for the past three or four months, and had late taken entire charge of the library, conducting it to the satisfaction of the Board of School Inspectors. She had, also, under the supervision of the Board, repaired a great number of books very satisfactorily, and had classified the library and made the new catalogue of all the books. The result of the election was due in a great measure to the successful work she had done while assistant librarian, which the Board thought merited her election.

The library now contains about 1700 volumes, of reference books, histories, travels, biographies and memories, also poetry and fiction, as well as miscellaneous books not classified under any particular head. These books can be drawn by any persons being a permanent resident of Charlevoix, and by all visitors upon the visitor's depositing with the librarian the sum $1.00, for the book drawn, and when the same is returned, the money is refunded to them less a very small fee for the use of the book.

The Board of School Inspectors trust that the library will be patronized very freely, as the books are in good condition and there are many valuable works, including a number of the later books of fiction.

REPEAL THE TARIFF!

YELLOW EDITORS AND FREE TRADERS IN HARMONY.

They Would Juggle the Tariff to Help Foreign Producers and Then Juggle it Again as a Means of Lowering Values of Domestic Products.

How to Lower the Meat Trust and compel a reduction of the price of meat! Yellow editors, Democratic, Free-Trade, Mugwumps and occasional Republican papers in unison "Repeal the tariff on live stock and meats!" Easiest thing in the world. When anything goes wrong, when prices advance by reason of exceptional conditions, such as scarcity and increased cost of production, throw the tariff out to competitive foreign products to break down prices. Possibly this will not break down prices to the present bottom. Possibly the meat trust is prepared to buy up all that comes in on the hoof or in cold storage from Mexico, Canada, Argentina or Australia, and still keep up prices. Texas have been known to do that kind of thing. No matter. Repeal the tariff anyhow. Don't bother about other remedies already at hand, such as the enforcement of the law, now openly violated, which forbids railroads and express companies to give to the big shippers who make up the meat trust, such as the enforcement of anti-law against trust extortions. These remedies would, to be sure, go straight to the root of the matter. But they involve some labor and trouble. Therefore, ignore them and lambast the tariff. What could be simpler?

To repeal the tariff on live stock and meats might possibly have some trouble in breaking down prices, but the chances are it would not. The tariff had nothing to do with last year's shortage of a billion bushels in our corn crop, and its repeal would not make good that shortage. But—even supposing that meat prices were to give way a little—and it would be but a little—by reason of taking off the tariff duties on live animals and dressed meats—the tariff is not the real cause. Shall we then restore the Dingley tariff rates on live animals and dressed meats? Shall we tinker the tariff every time prices go up or down? No, no; that will not do at all. The Free-Trade, Mugwump and occasional Republican school of theorists would cover grand for a restoration of the Dingley rates.

But what about the American farmer? When prices of meat on the hoof and on the butchers' block have once more regained an average level, what will he say as he sees coming over the border vast herds of cheaper cattle from Mexico and Canada, while shiploads of foreign meats come in duty free from Australia and Argentina? In 1896 spring lambs sold in Omaha at $3.50 per head. That was after two years of tariff tinkering on the meat and tariff tinkering on free-trade lines, of low tariff and no tariff on live animals and meat. To-day the same lambs sell for $7.25 per head. Values of edible live stock have changed in nearly the same proportion all along the line. That is after nearly five years of Republican tariff protection. With a renewal of the tariff that kills agriculture and does not help manufacturing, mining, etc., strike the American farmer favorably? Will it strike the general body of American producers and wage earners as the thing, the right thing to do? Probably not. Yellow thinkers who have for years tariff smashing as the remedy for high prices of meat would do well to try another think or two.

Foreign Wool for the Week.

Dispatches from Seattle state that a woolen mill is to be built in that city, with capital largely from Australia and New Zealand. It is said that the wool growers of these countries are anxious to have a market in the northern part of the United States for the product of the mill, while the raw material can be subsidized from ships into the mill building or its warehouse. It is probable that if this project is carried forward that a portion of the raw material must come from this country for the purpose of getting the proper mixtures, but the bulk of the material used will be from the two countries named. These goods will come in competition with those of the Chicago factories and will have an additional advantage which will the greatest be a repetition of the past!

Hit the Sugar Trust.

The stock of the sugar trust dropped several points as a result of the passage of the beet sugar men's Cuban relief bill, which carried with it a removal of the differential on refined sugar. Not long ago the sugar trust was furnishing most of the supplies for the Cuban relief. Its literary organ was flooding the country with eloquent representations as to our humanity to Cuba. Congress was moving hand. It wanted a concession of 50 per cent to the Cuban product, and even moved free trade. The trust, it is said, owns most of the raw sugar in Cuba to-day, and it was doing something for Cuba," according to the trust programme, that something would have been immensely advantageous to the trust. But the Cuban Relief, With the differential removed the trust is hit in a very tender spot and its wrath will be heard throughout the land. The trust's interest in the suffering Cubans, it is sure to say, will suddenly subside. Its efforts now will be directed toward preserving its differential at whatever hazard, and the Cubans can go hence for all the trust cares.—Green Bay (Wis.) Herald.

Free Sugar and Free Meat.

If New England wants free hides and Wool free shoes and free cotton goods, a little exchange of reciprocity might be accomplished just as easily. Cleveland New England asked for free wool and got it. But don't forget that at the same time there is large place where free trade in sugar means free meat, and a certain Democrat in New England knows precisely like 30 cents.

Louisiana's Welfare.

Of the Louisiana sugar crop shipped south by rail to other States for Today is 1904.—Exchange.

If the people of the Crisis State awake to their own best financial and political interests, that Southern commonwealth will cast its electoral vote for the Republican nominee in 1904 and no doubt will do it, if the people in the frostbiting light and warmth of the sun.

REJECT COMPROMISE.

PRESERVE INTACT THE PRINCIPLES OF REPUBLICANISM.

Having Declared Itself "Emphatically Opposed to Any Change in the American System of Protection," the Party Cannot Afford to Swerve from That Position.

The pending bill on Cuban reciprocity is the most compromised measure, having no one thing, because its friends in its effect, absent it becomes a law, it is not safe to compromise. We have never had a compromise tariff law that has not been most injurious to our industries. We never compromise upward, it is always downward.

In 1816 we repealed the tariff of 1789 and its amendments of 1812, and in a spirit of compromise and conciliation passed a law that was thought, as we protection, but, alas, how disastrous it proved to be. We let down the bars just far enough for England to dump her surplus at prices which ruined our own manufacturers. It was in 1816 that Brougham said in the House of Commons:

"It is well worth while to incur a loss upon the first importation in order by the sacrifice to stifle in the cradle those infant manufacturers in the United States which the war has forced into existence."

And England proceeded in her fatuous fashion and had a clear field for the repeal.

Again, in 1832, for compromise and conciliation, we substituted for a splendid protective law, low duties that were to be reduced year by year as the years went on. We compromised our infant industry and protection to save the Union. We saved it for a space, but the blow came at last. Ruin came quick and fast, and the Union we had saved was tottering.

The tariffs of 1846 and 1857 were free trade "on principle," and the tariffs of 1841 and 1861 were protective in purpose.

But, in 1857, we resorted to compromise again. Both houses of Congress and the President were Republican, but there was a clamor for revision. So we had the compromise and we lowered the duties especially on wool. Again we compromised with the free traders of the South and their northern allies and again we lost millions by the transaction.

And now again we are in the same position as in 1816, 1832 and 1857. We have a friendly tariff law in successful operation. We have prosperity, and we have a president and both houses of Congress professedly protectionist. And yet we have a bill pending to lower duties and which strikes at our agricultural progress and prosperity, as well as a growing industry giving employment to thousands, and bound to become one of our great industries if left alone.

What does it mean? Why this desire to compromise again? A man or woman who compromises his or her reputation is treated with contempt and opprobrium. It should be and will be the same with a political party. The Republican party once declared in its national platform:

"We are uncompromisingly in favor of the American system of protection."

And yet today we are debating a compromise. History forbids it. Experience forbids it. Intelligence forbids it. Common sense forbids it. Honor forbids it "that it is such a little compromise and we barter away Payne and Grosvenor and Dalzell and Babcock and Russell and Lacey. So says the Free Traders at the beginning of her downward career. But there it always a slip, and soon the descent becomes easy and rapid, till shame and dishonor and ruin come.

No man can afford to compromise his reputation. No party can afford to compromise her fair name. No party can afford to compromise its honor. Every Republican in Congress should be uncompromisingly in favor of the American system of protection." If any swerve from that principle he is dishonorable traitor to his constituents and toward his country. He was elected to protect all the industries and all the labor of his country. If he has changed his mind he should resign his seat and let another take his place. There should be no compromise, no tinkering, no surrender, there should be no willing compromise. We are making history these days as we were in 1816, 1832, 1857 and 1861. Let us prevent a repetition of the past!

ARE WE TOO RICH?

THE FOLLY OF TAKING LIBERTIES WITH PROSPERITY.

Meddling with the Tariff Seems to Be a Pastime with Some People, But It Has Always Resulted in Alternating Attacks of Plenty and Panics.

It could be an excellent thing if the good sense of a country noted the world over for its practical turn of mind could be concentrated for a time upon the question of "taking liberties with prosperity." There should be more of the sort of discussion that is to be noted in the current columns of such newspapers as the San Francisco Chronicle, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and the Columbus (O.) Journal, setting forth the bane folly of establishing alternate periods of prosperity and stringency by means of tariff changes. Commenting upon the tendency of our people to "get tired of their riches" and to revert to lean periods through the operation of "revising" the tariff, the Columbus Journal says:

"We leave it to the common sense of the American people if this alternation between plethora and famine is not ridiculous. If there is a law of nature which makes it imperative that prosperous tariff years should be followed by lean free-trade years, as in old Egypt, the seven fat years of regular inundation and rich crops were followed by seven years of drought and famine, then the country should know it. Meanwhile it is reasonable to think that if the voters of the nation would take a little thought for the morrow there would be no occasion for these alternating attacks of plenty and famine.

"If, now, that the country has filled its with wealth again above the poverty and beggary and hand-to-mouth borrowing of the last Democratic administration, there should come the same old alternation to a so-called tariff for revenue only, then there will be the usual failure of business, tendency to panic, withdrawal of capital and all those other symptoms of a disease that recides a violent remedy. If it is not wise to pay too much attention to the various interests of the country which ask for high tariffs, it is certainly not wise to pay too much attention to some of the New York importers and the newspapers which these importers control.

"The usual New York clamor has already begun. It invariably is the part of the metropolitan press and the great political parties of the country. Now is the time to stop that once for all. The nation is too big to be starved for four years and then overfed for eight, are without end. Let us have a little more common-sense and a little less epigram and fine writing and real eloquence in this matter of the tariff."

We would remind the Journal that the clamor for tariff tinkering is by no means confined to New York newspapers that are under the influence of importers. It is hard to look the situation squarely in the face and to acknowledge that the passion for "taking liberties with prosperity" inflames the brains of many men and many newspapers located far in the interior. The country is full of theorists who cannot control their desire to tinkle the tariff. They are to be found in Congress and out of it, and they are not all Democrats and free traders either. Far from it. But it is from that level heads and "hence sense" should come to the front and sit down hard on the policy of alternation between fat periods and lean periods. The country has, to be sure, a very very rich store the last fat period was lavished with blessings and prosperity, but has it grown so rich that it is tired of prosperity? If it has, we shall see the tariff tinkers in the saddle once more, and that very soon; if it has not, we shall keep our hands off the tariff for some time to come and take no liberties with prosperity.

Agricultural Victims.

When protectionists swayed the national mind the tariff was levied for the benefit of manufacturers. The farmer was either told that he didn't need it or that he would reap benefits by the building up of a home market. Now that the tariffs are to be taken off, certain branches of the agricultural industry are selected to bear the brunt of the operation. Beet raisers, fruit growers and wine producers are among the victims selected to aid the manufacturing industries in further building up the home market in the good old way.—Los Angeles Express.

The Earth and More.

Possibilities of commutation with the Planet Mars form a topic which provokes a spectacular interest in the play of popular imagination. In France, particularly, the people eagerly scan every detail which is offered on this head. As one lady left a large sum of money in trust, in Paris, to be awarded as a prize to the first astronomer who should succeed in establishing what is French call interplanetary communication.

HANGS FROM BALLOON

ASSISTANT AERONAUT MAKES INVOLUNTARY ASCENSION.

Sent from Cuxhaven Flight and He Is Carried High in Air. Head Downward—He Succeeds in Safely Alighting Near Hamburg.

Lieut. Vogel, 20 years old, had no experience ballooning and knew little about the sport. He was first chosen as the assistant aeronaut to accompany Lieut. Colonel Gaston Moraux, the French aeronaut, who was to try to cross the ocean. After making arrangements for the flight he decided against Moraux and chose Lieut. Colonel Hans Gross, who was to be the aeronaut in charge of Prince Adalbert Heinrich Victor Augustus Ernst Friedrich Christian Carl Gustav Adolf Gustav Adolf Gustav Adolf Wilhelm Heinrich Sigismund Friedrich Leopold Ernst Luitpold Siegfried August Sigismund Prince of Prussia, the German Emperor's brother, who was to be the passenger. The balloon, named the Prussia, was inflated at Cuxhaven and a special crew selected to man it. Vogel, taking the place of the aeronaut, was to be the assistant aeronaut. The balloon was to be released at the same moment from Cuxhaven and Berlin, the Prussia being the larger balloon of the two. Vogel was to be the last man to leave the balloon, and was provided with a long rope to be let down to the ground in case the balloon should be released before he had left it. He was provided with a parachute, but had never used it. He

And now we may expect the democrat mud machine to begin operations.

This far this summer there has been no croaking whatever as to the bad effects of drought.

It is officially announced that King Edward has passed the danger point, and that his complete recovery is assured.

If King Edward recovers, which is now happily probable, our British cousins will "see genuine proof for our Christian authority to have the lid on."

The net result of Admiral Dewy's testimony before the Senate committee on the Philippines is to bury little Americanism deeper underground than ever.

It isn't so much the political "expediency" that democratic leaders are trusting to for an issue. They are hoping for more strikes and a failure of the corn crop.

It may be authoritatively stated that the president will not call an extra session of congress for the consideration of the Cuban reciprocity. He will prepare a message for the meeting of congress, but will not press it to the senate until congress meets again.

Experiments with fuel oil on lake steamers show the exhaust is which the coal situation has stirred economers in the direction of economy. Oil is destined to be extensively used for the production of power, and the consequent lightening of the demand for coal will have an effect upon the price of coal.

What amounted to almost a cloudburst over an area reaching from Grand Rapids to White Cloud on the north, 90 miles to Smyrna on the east, and as far south as Kalamazoo has cied up railroads and washed out trestles on the 24 except the Pere Marquette to Detroit, all others having ceased operations for the time being. All wires both north and south of this city were down. The damage to the fruit crop in this region is now incalculable, but must be very great.

President Roosevelt has made the Panama canal not a law by attaching his signature, and now congressmen will proceed looking to the acquirement of the necessary rights, for the completion of the Panama canal, and for its final maintenance by the United States. The Nicaragua project still not come to the front again unless the administration strikes a snap in its negotiations for the Panama canal, in which event there will be an immediate adoption of the Nicaragua route, for which provision is made in the canal bill.

The fifty seventh Congress has done nothing to throw a wet blanket on business, and the months during which its sessions have been drawing on have witnessed a gratifying continuance of the industrial and commercial prosperity that since first with the restoration of the Republican policies, have blessed the people of the United States. The party can with perfect confidence go before the country on the record of the late session of Congress and ask for continuance in power.

Cures the World.

No Discovery in medicine has ever created one quarter of the excitement that has been caused by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Its severest test have been on hopeless victims of Consumption, Pneumonia, Hemorrhage, Pleurisy and Bronchitis, thousands of whom it has restored to perfect health. For Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Hay Fever, Hoarseness and Whooping Cough it is the Quickest cure in the world. It is sold by F. G. Hines & Co. who guarantee satisfaction or refund money. "Under Two Flags."

Hose Mapp and company, under auspices of the Baptist Church, will present the military play "Under Two Flags," dramatized from Ouida's popular novel, and a most interesting story, at the Barnes's Wagon Wareroom opera house on Saturday evening, July 12th, under the auspices of the Baptist Church.

—Next Wednesday will occur in this village, the first annual "outing" of the Free and Accepted Masons of the Grand Traverse region. It is intended that a meeting of Masters and Fellowcrafts will occur at the Masonic hall during the day of the outing, and a place of meeting adopted. Of the outcome itself it may safely be predicted that it will be a great event. It will tend to a better and closer acquaintance and plenty of fraternal fellowship and fun. We are authorized to state that if a Kalkaska season is to be had that day he will not be present in town that day he will not be

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

The twenty seventh annual Congressional meeting at Big View begins Tuesday evening.

Petoskey Record: The building of the brewery at Mud Lake has been greatly delayed by want of brick which were contracted for at Boyne City but they are now receiving a car load a day and the building is being pushed to completion, as is also the brewer's dwelling house.

The officials of the Lake Superior Power company of the "soo" have invited President Roosevelt to be present at the opening of the big power canal when completed. If the president accepts he will touch the button which will set in motion the pounding machinery attached to the entrance gates.

At Harbor Springs the old Emmet house, a wooden structure, has been replaced by a new brick hotel. The Grand Rapids & Indiana is making extensive improvements in its property here. Its grounds are being prepared for a park, and course of the road has been so changed as to allow an easy extension of the road to Cross Village.

Petoskey Record: Mayor Rose received last week a communication from Captain Kellar, U. S. engineer, with a chart giving depths of water in the harbor and asking suggestions as to the removal of the north wing pier of the present work and new construction. The mayor wisely proposes to seek suggestions from experienced practical navigators before formulating a reply.

Petoskey Democrat: John Duryea, who for many years has been identified with the interests of the Indians in this region, left on Tuesday for the Mt. Pleasant Indian school with a party of fifty-four Indian children. These young people are selected on account of peculiar fitness as shown by a competitive examination, or because of some disablement which prevents them earning a livelihood by ordinary labor. They are given a course in manual training covering a period of three years.

In the Marine column of the Evening News is a bit of information of probable future interest to Petoskey and Harbor Springs. Frank E. Kerby is at work on plans for two steamships which shall measure, to be sure, feet long and 30 feet wide, for the Detroit and Cleveland run of the D. & C. line. These will be the largest side wheel ships in the world and give berth accommodations to a thousand passengers. When they go into commission the D. & C. people contemplate using the fast City of Cleveland as an express boat on the Mackinaw run, stopping only at Alpena, Black lone, St. Ignace and Petoskey, making two round trips a week between Detroit and Petoskey.

At Williamsburg on Pere Marquette road Thursday night, a passenger train was wrecked, one man killed and two hurt. As Elk Rapids train was running as an excursion special with two cars crowded with passengers, it had just reached Williamsburg and sidetracked and the passengers were unloading when a river from the north crashed into it. Engineer Roy Pickett attempted to reverse and jumped, a minute too late, striking his head against a switch standard and was killed instantly. His fireman, an Elk Rapids man, jumped and was injured slightly. The excursion train engine had been cut off from the train and Pickett reversed it just before he jumped. The engine ran will four miles in advance, the whistle blowing all the way. Escaping steam from broken pipes nearly brought it to a stop. Fireman Dwyer of the flyer, whose home is in Muskegon, jumped, receiving severe but not fatal injuries about the head and face. The engine of the flyer was not badly wrecked, though another engine was sent to finish the job. Pickett was a married man. His wife is in Grand Rapids. He had only been on this run about a week. The body was taken to Traverse City.

Central Lake Torch: A couple of years ago Geo. F. Brown had a beautiful naptha launch for use at Charlevoix, but after a few trials he gave up trying to learn to master the intricacies of the engine and stiner parts of the motive power. It was more of a job than tending a baby or explaining a bad joke to a woman, so when Guy made him a proposition to bring the boat down here it was eagerly accepted and Geo. F. gave up the title of commodore forever. The craft was brought down Thursday and launched in the waters of the beautiful Intermediate, and is as a fine addition to the fleet at this port. A business man's picnic is talked of for the near future and several locations have been suggested. One is to take the train to Charlevoix and the boat from there to Beaver Island. It is thought that arrangements can be made to make the round trip easily in a day and spend several hours on the island. Such a trip to Beaver Island would be a big thing for the island and improvement all along the line would follow. Business men, farmers and their families, Charlevoix people are being enlarged, new cars made and many new houses and barns built, besides many other improvements. This section sees fair to soon feel some of the older portions of the township.——Bills were printed this week announcing the county reunion of Soldiers which is to be held at Atwood the 10th, 14th and 15th of August. Atwood people are noted for their hospitality, and the country in that way is full of yellow-legged chickens, so there is no reason why there should not be a good attendance.

A new lumber company in which Grand Rapids capital is interested extensively will be organized there as soon as timber buyers who have gone north to look over the land make their reports. The stock has all been subscribed. The tract of land to be purchased is located in the vicinity of Boyne City. It contains 20,000 acres of hardwood timber and will be turned into lumber as a unit to be erected near Boyne City. The capital of the new company will be $250,000, all of which has been subscribed. This will probably be increased to $500,000 and more of the hardwood timber land in the vicinity purchased. Wm. H. White & Co. of Boyne City are large stockholders, having subscribed for $12,500. H. H. Lewis of Elk Rapids subscribed for $10,000. These two are the heaviest individual subscribers, the others including L. H. Wilsey, Amos S. Musselman, John Murray, Edward Fitzgerald, Henry Idema, James D. Wylie, E. Crotten Fox I. C. Miller, Claude Hamilton, Lot J. Tucker, Geo. M. Burr of Manistee, W. G. Herpolsheimer, G. G. A. Voigt, Geo. F. Hardy and a number of other Grand Rapids capitalists. The timber is comprised in the Ward tract, formerly owned by the Pontiac lumbermen, now deceased, but now in the possession of Manistee parties.

SCHOOL COMER COLUMN.

During the school year closing June 30 there were 122 applicants for certificates and 21 applicants for special certificates.

Certificates were granted as follows: one indorsed first grade; twenty-nine second grade, thirty two third grade; nineteen special.

No. receiving certificates who had no experience in teaching eight.

No. who had State Normal instruction five.

No. who had attended institute during the year thirty-five.

No. of teachers holding certificates from State Board of Education one.

No. of Michigan State Normal certificates seven.

No. of Central Normal certificates thirteen.

No. College and University certificates one.

No. holding certificates issued by county board of examiners ninety-three.

Whole number of legally qualified teachers in the county one hundred-seventeen.

No. of teachers necessary to supply the schools in the county 107.

All of the 117 not being available to teach, it gives the commissioner the heart-ache to supply the deficiencies. We desire to keep the qualifications of our teachers up to the standard, consequently but eight inexperienced teachers were successful candidates for certificates, during the year.

There are 68 districts in the county. No. supplying free text books 17. No. without patriotism enough to display the flag four.

No. of school houses properly heated and ventilated-10.

No of visits made by the commissioner during the year 99.

All of the districts comply with the law in regard to teaching physology and hygiene in reference to the effects of alcohol and the spread of communicable diseases.

Our school boards are willing to pay good wages for intelligent work in the school room, the schools of the county desire school teachers instead of school keepers. A school teacher will find employment at a good wage, school keepers will have to change their vocation.

R. R. Wilkinson, agent for Dr. O. A. Sonneldorf's Consumption Specific, asthma and bronchitis cure, will be at the jewelry store of A. E. Regular price of the medicine $1 per large bottle, but will be given each day from 10 to 12 a. m. to have evening, and sold direct with the medicine.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

The Independence Day Services held last Sunday were very appreciatively spoken of by many. The decorations were real patriotic. The music was good and Kipling's splendid National Hymn, "God of our Fathers, known of old" to music by H. R. Palmer was sung at both services the sermon in the morning was on the words, "Lest we forget" and had reference to the dangers against which Moses warned the Israelites when they should become prosperous in the land of Canaan. The source of danger was on themselves, taking form in forgetting the Lord Innocence of principles and in pride. Parallel references were made to America, the dangers pointed out and suggestions given of how to guard against them.

In the evening the address was upon "snap shots of America life." Brief allusions being made to the inspiriting features of life that have tended to make America a prominent nation.

Among these were the unlegendary source to State food and the Practical Resourceful, Aggressive, Persistent Cosmopolitan, Intelligent, and Religious Characteristics of the people combined to make America a great nation.

The Rev. Edward Payson Dunlap, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of East Jordan and Mr. Hyslop have arranged an exchange of pulpits for Sunday. Mr. Dunlap is resting at Douglas Lake, with friends at present.

A Poor Millionaire

Lately starved in London because he could not digest his food. Early use of Dr King's New Life Pills would have saved him. They strengthen the stomach and digestion, promote assimilation, improve appetite. Price 25c. money back if not satisfied. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co. druggist.

Messrs Hanger and Cramer will open dressmaking rooms in Chapel block beginning Monday, July 7th. 41.

White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of N. A. Hogarty of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terrible pains in the region of his liver. Jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottle I was wholly cured. A trail proves its matchless merit for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co. Druggist.

Master Butter in Germany.

The national competition among German companies, which was organized last year at Leipsic, has resulted in a remarkable fiasco. A prize of $100 was offered for the best popular opera, and, among other conditions, it was stipulated that competitors must belong to some German-speaking country.

More than 500 "composers" in Germany, Austria and Switzerland wrote to inquire for the details of the competition, but only thirty-six of them actually sent in compositions. After careful examination of these thirty-six scores the adjudicators unanimously decided that not one among them was deserving of the prize, which will either be returned to the donor or devoted to some musical purpose.

Great Black Bread Shortcake.

When the busiest shop man entered the cafe with the crush from Wall street, the waiter hurried toward him eagerly.

"I wish I had bought more of that N. O. stuff," he began.

"Why, what's the matter? It went up all day, just as you said it would."

"The broker blamed unfortunately. I am sorry to say that the stock went back the moment your account was closed—just enough to wipe you out."

"Do you actually mean that I have lost all of my $100?"

"Every cent—and you can lay it to John W. Gates."

"Just at that moment the steel and wire man overhear our talk and arrives to a table where he hoisted the usual signal, says the New York Times.

The waiter heaved a sigh.

"No, Pardner, it's the British chase pepper, he ordered, darkly.

HAZINGS FROM HAYES.

Haying has commenced in earnest and the crop promises to yield well. Loren Hamlin has improved his residence with new roof and porches.

School meetings will be held at Bay Shore and at Burgess next Monday evening.

The road work in Dist no. 17. is almost finished, and the district is in fine condition.

Burgess and Cooper will start the Oyler Bay mill this week after a short rest for repairs.

Miss Oral Wheeler of Clarion has been spending a week or two with her grandparents, the Chers.

Archie B. Chew came up from Elkhart Indiana last Friday night and will remain in the bay for a few weeks.

H. S. Newson of Burgess has one of the finest young peach orchards in the county, and on the strength of it ordered three hundred trees of G. W. Huber this spring.

If the ladies who bathe in the highway at Susan Creek will change the patterns of their bathing robes or remain under the bridge until we get over the hill, we will not turn greyhaired.

A large portion of our population went to Petoskey on the "Fourth" and closed the crowd up and done the streets spoiling their good clothes, their tempers and swearing that this would be the last time they would be such blasted fools. Next year will spoil our best laundry trying to see some one climb a greased pole for some other locality.

Noland Baker met with a severe accident early Friday morning. He intended to open the "Fourth" with a cannon cracker explosion. The fuse burned and he thought went out. He attempted to fire the mass at short range when it exploded, forcing the blood through the pores of the skin in his face, tearing the ends of his fingers off, and punishing his limbs full of earth. It was a Providential escape.

We hope the gang of boys who have been in the habit of congregating behind the woodshed at Burgess school house on Sundays, smoking, wrestling, swearing, playing with the bicycles, writing obscenity upon the walls, taking buggy whips, and disturbing the Sunday school and Divine services in a general way, will refrain from such behavior hereafter. They will be treated well inside the house, but will not be allowed to commit any more depredations about the school house.

CHAPTER IV.

It was Mrs. Carrington at last who led the way to the guilded house itself. Half way to the door she turned and faced the west, almost in golden light. The sunsetting was down in the valley, and the mountains had taken on the tint of purple which they seem to assume hardly twice in the year, and Mother Nature's own lavender was in the air, and the sky was a pale green, and the mountains had taken on a soft, indescribable, almost spiritual, outline—the pioneer scenery loses, and gains, much when it takes on the formal roughness.

Hugh stood his father's station of silence, while she was the prime force in the situation, and he was glad to be alone with the human of stands from which he was cut off quite by the unbroken wilderness of the back country.

Mrs. Carrington at the door in an attitude of expectancy, and Hugh, at the back, noticed the careful fashion against which the wind was blowing her dress, and the coquetry of her hat, and the fine, high, Roman cast of her face, and the fine, high, Roman cast of her face, and the fine, high, Roman cast of her face

THE ONLY SAFE WAY

PROTECTION FOR ALL OR ELSE FOR NONE.

If the Principle Be Abrogated as Regards Domestic Sugar and Tobacco Are Not These Interests Justified in Demanding Other Reductions?

The Republican leaders in the senate are evidently endeavoring to argue with the stalwarts in favor of their opposition to the sugar trust and permit Cuba to get its "relief" without at the same time depriving the trust of the profit which it anticipated by the proposed concessions. It is even asserted that the stalwart senators have given "substantial assembling to assurances" that their opposition shall be "nominal" and that the Cuban bill as it is proposed to be amended will be permitted to pass without serious contest. This is equivalent to saying that the stalwart senators have entered into a compact say to fool their constituents into a show of opposition when in fact they have privately agreed that the aforesaid senators shall pass their bill. We assume that the rumor is an undeserved slander upon the stalwart Republican senators and that they propose to use all means permitted to the rules of the senate to prevent the consideration of the intended outrage. The stalwart Republican senators do not like the bill if they do, if they do not they will be held responsible. As for "party harmony," let those rejoice in who promoted the trouble by appointing from the dockrows which they were pledged to sustain.

Such free-trade journals as the New York Times, Boston Herald and others are exhibiting much unholy glee at what they vainly imagine to be an error of the stalwart Republicans of the senate in joining the Democrats to amend the Cuban bill by repealing the differential duty on refined sugar. We can assure our free-trade contemporaries that no "error" has been committed. The stalwarts of the house deliberately joined the 25-cents in assenting the bill that the Republican congress can pass it with not such open and brazen repudiation of one pledge upon which they were elected as shall consign them to political graves from which no resurrection is possible. They expect the bill to be taken by Republican votes. They are nevertheless aware that there is a bare possibility of the bill passing as amended. While they do not expect the consequence, they are prepared for it. If the amended bill becomes a law it will be more serious in a form which cannot be misunderstood that if any interest entitled to protection shall be sacrificed by the party of protection then, so far as the votes of those surrendered can avail, there shall be no shred of protection left to any interest. That is the position of the stalwarts of the house. In that position they are sure of the enthusiastic support of their constituents, our free-trade contemporaries may "bank on it as bankers go to a fire-truck." We assure them that they are mistaken. It makes sure the maintenance unimpaired of the sound protectionist doctrine under which we have attained our unparalleled prosperity. And it is the only safe way. The strong intrenchment will tumble the weak overboard in a rumpus if they can. Let them do it if they care. The consequence will be the election of a Democratic Congress composed of members whose honor can be depended upon.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Democratic Malice.

Democratic papers are pitching a lot of rot about an alleged Democratic triumph on the sugar differential amendment. As a matter of fact, the Democrats in the house have been voting in favor of sugar on the Cuban tariff concession bill. At first they voted with the concession Republicans but finally acted with the uncompromising party. The object of the latter is to stop all tariff tinkering at the present session. The purpose of the Democrats of course is to make trouble for Republicans when their party tells them to "fall in rank and file." The Republican differences in the House concerns no point except that of tariff concessions to Cuba, some favoring, others opposing it. The differential has been drawn in to defeat the bill in the senate. But for the bill unanimously to make a special tariff exception in favor of Cuba there would be no disagreement among the Republicans in Congress. Yes if the Dingley tariff is to be disturbed in relation to Cuba other changes will be proposed and the differential amendment is a proof of the assertion. The Democratic self-protectionist is silly.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Mr. Robertson, Democrat, Louisiana.

Mr. Robertson, Democrat of Louisiana, is rapidly earning the enmity of every free-trader, and especially the bitter hatred of Fitchbur, Tillman, the sweet-tempered southern man and their employes. Congressman Robertson would go to great lengths to secure the improvement of the harbor of Pavana in Chinese Cuba by furnishing work for all who might need employment. This, he thinks, would be far better than lowering the duties and turning out of work tens of thousands of American laborers unless they consent to a serious cut-down. Such protection sentiments from Louisiana, it stirred in the presence of Senator Tillman, would have rattled forth the dynamic cry of "treason!" "treason!"

A Good Example.

The Manufacturers club of Philadelphia has set a good example in passing a resolution deprecating the idea of "doing something for Cuba." The Republican club of the city of New York was true to its name and its principles when it refused to sanction a similar resolution either for a repeal of the bond of ownership of the island or for a policy of withholding the boot from the necks of our every loyal subject in Cuba.

WAS ORIGINALLY A GOOD IDEA

But It Has Grown Wrong in the Consideration of Conflicting Claims.

In an obviously sulkind spirit the New Orleans Item digs up some ancient history to prove that consistency is a rare jewel among the truly great. Taking its case from the sarcastic remark of Congressman Cushman that with a collection of Gen. Grant's speeches it fill back six, the Item goes back to the time when that erratic statesman from Ohio said of the Dingley tariff, then under consideration:

"There is not a rate of duty, not a provision of taxation, that has not been protested against by the sugar trust and fought to the bitter end before the ways and means committee. We propose that instead of sending $100,000,000 a year to the foreign countries of the world, most of which owe us pay taxes to the production of sugar, we will make it possible for every pound of sugar that we want to be produced in the United States of America. The Republican party therefore, offers to the agricultural men of this country this magnificent bounty. We will convert the industries of the country in all directions from factory domestication, and we will have one more south hundreds of thousands of acres of the splendid lands of all states, from the produce of sugar and cane and beet and potatoes and sorghum, to put into an already overstocked market, to the production of sugar, and give to the farmers upon the splendid lands of this country a better market with more consumption than they have now."

There was a splendid economic plan in the proposition to turn some hundreds of thousands of acres—it would become millions after a few years of sugar protection—from the production of corn and cheap staples to the most profitable product of sugar. What has become of that idea? It seems to have disappeared in the confusion of claims—claims for a small agriculture and for the honest and honorable earning out of Republican pledges on the one side, and claims for the "relief" of somebody or generating outside of our own people—Cuban planters perhaps, sugar trust, to a certainty—on the other side. It is a sad case of a good idea gone wrong.

RESULT OF THE ENTERING WEDGE

It Will Interrupt Home Production and Cripple Industry.

The Independent some days ago claimed that the worst feature of the "Cuban relief policy" was that it would act as an entering wedge to be driven still harder into the protective tariff policy as maintained by the Republican party. We do not know what the fate of the Payne-Sibley compromise measure will be in the senate, but we are assured that it will be opposed by all Senator Hanna's colleagues and stand firmly for the integrity of the tariff. The fate of the measure in the senate will be used as an entering wedge is pretty clearly manifest in the cool comments of the ultra free-trade Philadelphia Record, which loses no opportunity to thrust a knife into the vitals of protection. In a recent issue it poured out that the Union measure was a splendid tactical opportunity for the Democrats, and added:

"It would be unusually poor policy to oppose a radical measure to which the faith of the nation has been committed in order thereby to secure a merely partisan advantage. No opportunity should be lost to make a breach in the protection wall. Small and singular as is the proposed 20 per cent reduction of the 27 per cent duty on Cuban sugar, it should not be refused by the aid of Democratic votes. It is an entering wedge which may be driven home when further opportunity shall offer."

There has been no concealing proof forward, forward that glorious cause in Cuba of the character that would warrant any relief from this country as a definite part and object to some of our own people. In a letter to a member of the Republican club of New York city, a member of the house of representatives who fought the Payne-Dingley compromise states that if Republicans throughout the country thoroughly understood the situation there would be such an overwhelming sentiment against this new proposed un-American policy as would swamp all our extremes and leave it without a single Republican supporter.

Referring to the reports as to the prevailing distress on the island the congressman quoted says that "it is contended by those who are advocating this policy that there is no distress in Cuba; that the demand for labor there is greater than the supply; that wages are higher than ever before; that at least two-thirds of the sugar crop is produced by pro-resident corporations and wealthy individual planters whose domicile is either the United States or Spain. Two-thirds, therefore, of the reduction of duty would go to these corporated plants, if it did not also go to the sugar trust, and there is abundant evidence that it does."

A great deal has also been said about the so-called reciprocity position with regard to reciprocity as constituted in this Indian speech, but we can see that it can be twisted to apply to Cuba. Its advocacy of reciprocity was qualified by this phrase: "If sensible trade arrangements which will not interrupt our home production we shall extend the outlets for our increasing surplus." The "outlets of Cuba" would not only interrupt home production, but will cripple, if not paralyze, two important industries—the beet and cane sugar interests.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

The Main Factor.

The Baltimore Sun says that the American Republican party is the main barrier to prevention the great issues of our independence. In what words, then, would control a return to the personal rule of the Democratic party? One great day, sound it. We do it.—Kansas City (Mo.) Times.

PECULIAR DIVISION MADE IN SOUTH OMAHA.

Blind Horses Fall to Assist Upon Any Other Method of Dividing of Building—Contents of Wealthy Lawsuits Awards from La Porte, Ind.

The unusual sight of two men sawing big a store in two was witnessed by hundreds in South Omaha. Not the business men, but the business block was in two, every store, every office, and each will thereafter be a separate unit. If the building, or rather, owing to the Sioux Brewery, which is located in the South Omaha limits, it is a street building. It is a street building because it is a street building, and the street runs through it. The ground is very valuable, and the property owners on both sides of the street wished to have the building in question moved to the rear of their buildings, in order to make the ground more valuable. The trouble was that they had to go to court to do some moving, and the court ordered the building sawed in two.

Harbor Springs Republican. The U. S. steamer Michigan dropped anchor in the Harbor last night. She will remain here several days and expects in the near future to make this place her headquarters for the season.

Bound Pilth people are again interested themselves in the sanitarium project and a committee consisting of Wm. Mears, John Swain, F. L. Stewart and H. H. Marsh has been selected to solicit subscriptions for stock in the enterprise.

A Cheboygan small boy smoked in to a store while he thought the proprietor was not looking and "hooked" a roman candle. The storekeeper had seen him, however, and was going after him when he saw his shepherd dog run after the boy, "scend the stolen roman candle in his teeth and bring it back to the store.

Cheboygan is going into the matter of better sanitation in the proper way. A sanitary convention will be held there July 29 and 31. Mr. Geo. T. Frost is president of the convention. The discussion of practical methods relating to the prevention of sickness and deaths and the improvement of the conditions of the living will occupy the greater part of the time.

H. B. Hudson, of Manistee, is mentioned as a good candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor. Mr. Hudson is good timber and if Michigan was to have a Democrat for chief executive no better one could be found than Hiram B. Hudson Independent. Hudson is the gentleman who introduced Mr. Bryan to Charlevoix as "the greatest hero of the 19th century."

The Boyne Falls Sanitarium company invited Dr. J. Harvey Jimks, of Grand Rapids to investigate the healing properties of Boyne River for other diseases than rheumatism. He reports that all troubles caused from uric acid would be cured and rheumatism much better handled if the water was specially prepared. He says a sanitarium with the proper facilities for charging the temperature and mode of application to suit individual cases would be very profitable.

W. H. White & Co., of Boyne City, have purchased 18,000 acres of the Ward estate between Elmira and Frederic. It is heavily timbered hardwood land. A large new double band saw mill and a modern shingle mill will be erected near the village and out of the new purchase. Horse Potato, three miles from Boyne, has developed a fine quality of lime rock for kiln purposes. There are 20,000 barrels on the ground, and an apparently inexhaustible amount in the earth. The seventh day adventists have secured an option and the old hotel property at Bay Springs. It is finely situated for sanitarium purposes. Resistable houses are at a premium, in spite of the fact that 50 houses have been put up this season.

Traverse City Record: Vice President Wm. M. Durand, of the Alpena, Gaylord & Western R. R. Co., arrived in the city today, accompanied by his wife and daughter. Mr. Durand is here for for a few days in the interests of his company. It is believed that could a contract has been made for the construction of forty miles of this road, beginning at a point six miles east of Gaylord and running west to Manistee. It is expected that this contract will be recended to include the division between Manistee and Traverse City. The contractor will begin the work immediately, and it will be seen that this work is being done with a view to reach Traverse City as soon as possible, tapping the great timber districts east of here. The surveyors are now in the Rapid River valley, in Kalkaska county, coming this way. Mr. Durand is enthusiastic in the matter and reports everything favorable to a rapid construction of the road.

A Petoskey Democrat reporter has interviewed Capt. Rellis, harbor master, and the captain said: "The first thing we intend to do is to move what we call the north breakwater and attach it to the end of the south breakwater. This, according to veneulaus, will considerably increase the depth of the protected stone pier, and at the same time facilitate landing at the pier now in place harbor. Vessellists, particularly the Manitou people, have said that with the harbor as it now is the sending of a large boat is dangerous, not to say impossible, in bad weather. If we have money enough we may build a hundred feet of new breakwater, but that is not probable, as we have only $15,000 at our dispose at the present time. If the is done, boat people say the bay will be still another wanif. Had the appropriation bill not been so much delayed, the work would have been begun this summer, but as it is the contract will be let this fall. The work will be commenced early in the spring so as to be finished before the season for navigation or large vessels opens."

SCHOOL COURT COLUMN.

The Department of Public Instruction after very carefully considering the matter, comparing the teachers' certificates of Michigan with those granted in other states, has prepared a new set of blanks for all grades of certificates.

In order to assist commissioners and teachers in overcoming the idea that students or teachers should be graded according to "marks or standings." The standings in all subjects will be omitted from the certificate forms. According to law the teacher must pass an examination satisfactory to the examination board. Hereafter a teacher will be reported as "Passed" or "Not Passed."

Some of the old blank forms were not legal and with the Aug. st examination the new forms will be used. The old blank will be destroyed by the commissioners and a uniform change made throughout the state.

Of course, examing boards will mark papers as heretofore and record the standings in the examination register in the hands of the commissioner. In case a teacher fails her standings will be sent her on a card as the usual custom has been. If she passes the examination the certificate will show the fact and state that she is legally qualified to teach all markings omitted. This ruling will be satisfactory to teachers and examining boards, we are sure. The old method had a great many arbitrary reasons that should not exist.

The following Supreme Court decision will be of great benefit to school officers and we are placing marked copies of this paper in the hands of every school board. This case will be of interest to those who have purchased charts or other apparatus not specified in the law. The law plainly gives the name of articles the director can purchase. No where in the law can a school officer find authority for signing an order that draws interest without the consent of the tax payer. It is astonishing that men will a slick tongued agent to persuade them to violate the law. But this decision saves the tax payer.

"This case is an action of assumpsit, brought in justice court. The declaration was upon the common counts, and, in short, for the return of the justice, is as follows.

"The plaintiff declared orally on the common counts and avers that the defendants and others signed the school order filed in this cause was duly assigned by the Educational Association to the plaintiff, John Bailey for a valuable consideration. Under redit

State of Michigan. } ss.
County of Newaygo, Town of Croswick, Dist. 5, Oct. 21, 1897.

Assessor of Dist. 5, Township Croswick, Oct. 20, 1898, will pay to the Educational Association or bearer the sum of thirty-seven and 50-100 dollars out of any fund belonging to said district for Complete Encyclopedia of Modern School Methods, illustrated, comprising reading, grammar, writing, arithmetic, business course, history geographical maps, and automatic cross.

Issued by authority of officers of said district and payment guaranteed by

Jesse Tomlin,
Hiram Jerlin,
School Officers

Upon appeal the Circuit Court directed a verdict for the defendants.

The order was obtained by two traveling agents of the Educational Association, who, after obtaining the order immediately transferred it to the plaintiff. Defendant Tomlin was the clerk of the district, and Norton the moderator.

It was conceded upon the trial that the crop was sold as "to the school district, and that the defendants had no authority to buy the books or issue the order, but plaintiff seeks to hold the defendants both as makers and as guarantors. Nothing was said to Tomlins by the agents as to his personal liability. Norton raised some question as to his personal liability and was informed by the agents that he was not liable. Both defendants informed these agents that they had no authority to buy the books. The agents pretended to read from the law, showing them that they had authority, and flatly persuaded them to sign the order. Neither signed with any idea that he was personally liable or was guaranteeing the payment of the order.

Judge Grant wrote the opinion, concurred by the other justice.

1. The order upon its face was the obligation of the school district, and not that of the defendants who signed as officers. Plaintiff's main argument seems to be, that the defendants were guilty of gross carelessness in signing the order, and thus putting it in the power of wrong doers to commit a wrong or a fraud which must result in a loss to themselves or some innocent third person." This is not a case for the application of that rule. The order upon its face purports to be signed by the authority of the school district. Tax list outside of a meeting any, will, in a purchaser taken subject to the authority of the municipality to issue. The officers who sign such orders or bonds are not liable in any action of assumpsit, for they have not personally promised to pay the debt. If they are guilty of any fraud in connection therewith, they can only be held liable in another form of action.

2. There is nothing upon the face of the order to indicate to plaintiff that payment was guaranteed by the defendants. The defendants signed the order in the usual place at the right hand opposite the words, "school officers." At the left are the words "issued by authority of officers of said district, and payment guaranteed by."

It was conceded that the officers had no authority to issue the order, and, as against the district, it is void. They evidently did not sign the order as guarantors, or upon any idea that they were individually liable. The guaranty was placed at the left of the order, leaving a place underneath for the signature of those who might sign as guarantors. It is a fair inference that the order was printed with the fraudulent intent to conceal the signers of it is believing that they were acting only in an official capacity and at the same time enabling the agents of the Educational Association in disposing of the order, to represent that the officers were individually liable. The verdict and the judgment for the defendants were affirmed.

If this Supreme Court decision does not knock the lying agents out, who permeltrate the county lying and unloading school officers in the sale of their goods, we do not know what will. A school officer has no right to sign anything officially except voted for at a board meeting or at a school meeting. If this fact was branded into an officer at the time of his election it would save trouble. We would like a district treasurer to explain upon what authority he can sign an order for money, upon himself.

Imaginary Bowls of Vegetables and Fruits to Charlevoix.

It strikes a stranger, that there should be so little cultivation if vegetables and fruits to supply the summer market. Many of the resorters live entirely in their cottages. We do not expect to have our tables supplied as at our homes further south, but we do count on having a constant supply of fruits and vegetables as they come in this climate. This we have not, and must fall back on canned articles, or make our purchases at Petoskey. The supply may be ample for the hotels, and then explain why the fruits vegetable wagons never reach our cottages, and only occasionally a basket vendor appears. This region has notoriety for its peas, but we can rarely have them in our tables. The groceries seem limited and uncertain in their supplies.

Charlevoix is decidedly slow in this regard. More attention to gardening, should give not only more abundance and vegetables in greater variety and earlier.

BEAVER ISLAND NEWS.

Capt. John Martin of Harriet Hart is making a short visit on Lake Island.

Two gasoline fishing boats from Lamlington and Two rivers respectively are doing business from this port.

Capt. and Mrs. Timothy Boyle are happy in the acquisition of a new member of the family. It is a girl and was an early riser last Sunday morning.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Donnell on Tuesday morning July 8, a bouncing baby girl. Mike's usually pleasant face has expanded into a standing broad smile.

The Dominican sisters left the Island on Tuesday for their summer retreat. It is earnestly hoped the Mother Superior will find it feasible to send them all back again this fall.

Martin O'Malley a brother of Mrs. Jas. Dunlevy of this place and a former well known resident of the Island but now of Chicago, made the Island a short visit recently in his elegant new yacht.

The steamer Beaver gave an excursion from the Island to Petoskey on Monday, the occasion being Buffalo Bills Wild West Show. The number of our people took advantage of this opportunity for an outing. The big Ralph C. Cooper ran off Two Rivers is fishing from here making their headquarters at the C. C. Gallagher dock which they have leased for the purpose. Plenty of room here for more but they want to keep their small modest nets ashore.

The new Beaver Hotel, M. J. Bonner, proprietor is now "wide open" for summer guests. A very pleasant informal opening was given by the proprietor last Thursday evening and a sumptuous repast served to the guests present.

Mr. John Thomas who was here early in the spring looking for a location for a stock farm and large operations by shipping in a herd of horses and cattle for breeding purposes. Three men are conducting the opening.

Dr. G. A. Holiday the Traverse City dentist who did such good work here last year is back again prepared to do all kinds of crown and bridge work or anything else in the line of dentistry. He is located at Dr. Williams's office for the short time he will be here.

Capt. Bonner enters on his new venture with the best wishes of all his many friends. His success as already assured as he is an all, elegantly appointed hostelry in one of the prettiest locations on the beautiful Island. A cut of the new hotel will be forthcoming in a few days which is taken from an actual photograph since its completion.

Dr. Huth and family of Keokuk, Iowa arrived on the Wednesday trip of the Beaver and will remain for the summer. Dr. Huth who was here with his wife last summer is a leading surgeon of the west, and has the happy faculty of making fast and good friends. He will probably acquire a location for a summer cottage and make the Island his permi sent summer home.

Rt. Rev. H. J. Richter, bishop of the Grand Rapids diocese spent Saturday and Sunday of last week on the Island, conferring a large class at Holy Cross church on Sunday and another class of training at High Island on Monday returning to Charlevoix on the evening boat. The Bishop was duly escorted by Rev. Father Bugelski and Rev. Father Dunvent.

A South African Woman.

The women of the Congo Free State, as described by a missionary lately settled among them, are as a rule, short and slender, yet able to carry really heavy burdens. It is not unusual to see one of them raise a large basket of vegetables on her head, then stoop and lift a child or perhaps two years, to her hip, and walk off apparently unconcerned. By way of dress, two pieces of cloth, each half a yard square, are folded over a string and tied around her waist. This serves as a garment night and day, without washing, until it literally falls off. Smoking is a favorite recreation with these women. A pecu liar pipe is used, made of a huge gourd, and often ornamented with brass headed nails. The baby's bath, which takes place twice a day is always performed out of doors, however chilly the weather.

Nervous for Minds Diseased.

Sir James Crichton Brown spoken strongly on the value of novel reading At the meeting of the Association of Asylum Workers, held yesterday at the Medical Society's rooms Chandos street, says the London Telegraph. Were he, he said, an asylum autocrat he would make it obligatory on every asylum nurse and attendant to read two standard novels every year, and from moderate excursions into these fields of fiction they would return to the ward and workroom invigorated as from a trip to the seaside. He would like to see a list of the best hundred novels for asylum attendants, which should of course be entirely free from bilosy and indecency, in plain words novels for fewer, exclude most modern works.

World's Consumption of Tea.

A paper was issued in London recently by the board of trade showing what has been the per capita consumption of tea during the three years, 1898-1900 in the principal countries of Europe and the United States. In the United Kingdom over six pounds of tea per head of the population are consumed annually. The total consumption of tea in the United Kingdom exceeds that of all the other European countries and the United States put together.

The Language of Diplomacy.

France is susceptible about the universality of French as the language of diplomacy. Shortly after 1870-1, Bismark in the pride of conquest, wrote a dispatch to Russia in French. Prince Gortschakoff countered in Russian and the peril was averted. It is now noted by the Gaiblois that at the state banquet King Alfonso toasted the foreign envoys in Spanish. This time the Duke of Connaught emphasized the "incorrection" by replying in English.

Clergyman Defends Gambling.

The Australian Light, a Roman Catholic magazine of Australia, recently published an elaborate defense of gambling written by a Jesuit priest under instructions from Cardinal Moran, the head of the church in Australia. The article contends that gambling is itself a right, even when gain not entertainment is the direct aim of the gambler, and that it is wrong only when carried to excess.—New York Tribune.

May Not See Their Brides.

Among certain African tribes husbands are not permitted to look upon their wives. They live in huts apart, and only during the night are they allowed to visit their brides. This custom, which prevails in the neighborhood of Timbuctoo, is equalled in singularity by that in vogue at Futa, where wives never permit their husbands to see them unveiled until three years has elapsed since their marriage.

Inn for Vagabonds.

Maxim Gorky, the Russian novelist, purposes to found in Nizni-Novgorod a vagabond's inn, which will receive every vagabond who applies for shelter for a limited time, no matter whether he be worthy or not. It will be conducted on humanitarian principles and will contain a small brewery and a huge tea hall. Only professional drunkards and cardsharpers will be refused admission.

A Good Reason.

In the second-class cars of an English railroad there is a sign reading thus: "Passengers are requested not to put their feet on the cushions or seats of the carriages." Underneath this inscription a humorist added, "or they will dirty their books."

Too Much Virtue.

If the average man were as good as he thinks other men ought to be it wouldn't be long until the vacancy made him tophenty.—New York Press.

CHAPTER V.

It was Tuesday when Langdon said this, and it was only a few places down Mount Auburn that we had stopped to betong our selves with the place, and to ch. Its old-fashioned, low, overgrown gardens were fruitful in a way entirely unknown in the city, and the air was redolent of the perfume of the mignonette and the sweet-pea. He waited a moment after I had spoken, and then, with a little sigh, he said: "Well, I suppose we must go on to Lynn." Lynn was the home of Langdon's mother, and he had promised to take me there. Mrs. Langdon was a invalid, and I was to be introduced to her as his fiancée. We had been engaged for a week, and I was very happy. Langdon was a good fellow, and I was very fond of him. He was a man of strong character, and had already made a name for himself in his profession. He was a man of honor, and I was proud of him. I was very happy in my love for him. I was very happy in my home. I was very happy in my life. Life was very sweet to me that day. The sun was shining, the birds were singing, the air was fragrant with the perfume of the flowers, and I was happy. I was very happy. Life was very sweet to me.

"Well, Lynn it is, then," I said, as we mounted the steps of the veranda. "I am ready for your mother and sisters."

"Sisters!" he exclaimed, with a laugh that was almost a shout. "I forgot all about them. I don't know what they will think of you."

"Why, I hope they will like me," I said, with a little pang at the thought that they might not.

"They will be sure to," he said, with a confident laugh. "They will be sure to. I wonder what they will think of me."

"Nothing but good, I hope," I said, with a little laugh of my own.

"Well, I don't know," he said, with a doubtful shake of the head. "They may think I have taken a fool's advice in the matter."

"Nonsense!" I exclaimed, with a little stamp of my foot. "They will think you have taken the wisest and best course you could have taken."

"Well, I hope they will," he said, as he opened the door and we entered the house.

We had a very pleasant time that evening. We had a quiet dinner, and then we sat in the drawing-room and talked and sang and played. Langdon's mother was a sweet, gentle, lovable woman, and I felt that we had become fast friends before we had been in the house an hour. I was very happy that night when I went to my room to prepare for the journey to Lynn on the morrow. I was very happy when I knelt down to say my prayers that night. I was very happy when I lay down to sleep that night. I was very happy when I awoke the next morning.

It was a long drive from Mount Auburn to Lynn, but we had a pleasant one. We had a good horse and a light carriage, and we had the road to ourselves almost all the way. We had left the city behind us, and were in the country before we had been an hour on our journey. The country was very beautiful, and we had a very pleasant time in driving through it. We had a very pleasant time in the morning. We had a very pleasant time in the afternoon. We had a very pleasant time in the evening. We had a very pleasant time in the night

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Behalve Independent! Last Friday afternoon at about eight bells (4 o'clock) the whistles on the Thistle Planing Mills announced the completion of a cut of eight years. The machinery is now all being torn out for Petoskey to Petoskey. Miss Nellie Olin was queen of the big carnival at the opening of the new Grand Rapids & Indiana depot lately. Miss Olin's friends came forward with $153 during the last hour of the contest and won the day for their favorite. The total vote was was $2,941. At 5 cents a vote $102.35 was realized.

The Michigan crop report for July is out and gives the best showing on wheat for a number of years. Corn is not so good but is best in the Northern counties as is also the case with beans potatoes and sugar beets. The peach crop is better than usual in most counties save Berrien, while in Benzie county it is exceptionally promising. The outlook for Michigan farmers is specially good in Northern Michigan.

The Manistee Herald tells a pretty story how eighteen men with twelve teams went over to the home of William Wylie, an aged and infirm farmer living a couple of miles from Manistee, and planted his potatoes, cultivated his corn and plowed, seeded and dragged his buckwheat. It does one good to hear of such things. It keeps alive our faith in our fellowmen, so often made faint by the selfishness we see around us. It is hoped these eighteen kind neighbors will have abundant crops and never fail themselves of a helping hand if ever the occasion them.

Boyne Citizen: The phenomenal growth of Boyne City during the past few years bids fair to continue indefinitely. Among the industries which we may look forward to with reasonable certainty in the near future is another sawmill humbering concern, which is being promoted by W. H. White, and Henry Heron of the Kent County Savings bank, Grand Rapids. This matter has been under advisement since May 24th, twenty days were used in outlining the policy to pursue, and on July 12 was closed the deal which has resulted in the formation of the Boyne City Lumber Co. with a capital stock of $500,000, organized under the state laws, with its office located here.

Elk Rapids Progress: The Elk Rapids iron co. have decided to close out their mercantile business, and with that end in view all orders placed for future delivery have been cancelled and Monday the books of the various departments were given options on the purchase of the goods in their respective lines until September 15th. If not taken advantage of at that time the stock will be closed out and the business wound up. The closing out of the mercantile interests is occasioned by the increased growth of the various manufacturing enterprises in which the Co. is interested and the buildings used as stock and salesroom will be converted into storage rooms for the use of the various manufacturing plants.

The Michigan Farmer is looking forward to is the seventh Annual Meeting of the Northwestern Association, O. O. E. to be held in East Jordan, August 5th, 6th and 7th, in which Odd Fellows from all over Northern Michigan will participate, and for the Odd Fellows alone but the Rebekahs also as well as their families and friends. East Jordan is making preparations to entertain her visitors right royally and surpass anything heretofore attempted in this region in the way of a celebration, either fraternal or of any other sort. To defray the expenses of this undertaking $1,500 has already been raised. Two bands have been hired and negotiations are in progress with another band so that there will be no lack of music.

Traverse City Record: A large number of old friends of the late James K. Hosmer gathered at his home southwest of the city this afternoon, to pay their last tribute of love and respect to the memory of this old pioneer. The funeral arrangements were in charge of W. S. Anderson, and Rev. J. W. Miller, an old friend of the deceased, for over half a century, conducted the service. His picture of the life of him who is gone, the struggles of the old days, and his tribute to the character of the departed were touching in the extreme. The pallbearers were also those from among the pioneer friends of Mr. Hosmer. They were W. W. Morgan, Jacob Visger, James W. Lapham, William Dettmer, Antoine Grettiel and Frank Friedrich. The women who formed the floral tribute were Mesdames Morgan, Wattles, White, Gates and Hunter. The abundance of beautiful tributes of remembrance, "Rest the Day is Over," "Crossing Over" and "Nearer My God to Thee," were perhaps more appropriate and made a deep impression upon the attention of many friends. The deceased was born in Ontario county, N. Y., in October of century

Sailors Tell the Story of Captain Nelson's Behavior While His Family Is Unaware of Their Danger With Suffocating Smoke.

Chicago Record-Herald. Two happy-hearted, pretty little lose-heads, aged 6 and 10 respectively, sailed into the Chicago River yesterday morning on the schooner Charlie Marshall from Pine Lake. They were the youngest of three children of Captain Sam Nelson, whose wife and daughter Emma, aged 15, also made the trip with him from the far northern Michigan port. Little Agnes, aged 6, looked out from beneath her blue sunbonnet with wonder at the man who asked her if the big waves had made her seasick, and sturdy little Jos, aged 10, rather resented the inquiry as an old sailor properly should. Neither of the children seem aware that they owed their lives to the two tired sailors who were pumping a six inch stream of water out of the schooner while the deck load of tanbark, which ran forward from the cabin to the foremast, burned from their father's vessel was three inches under water amidships.

When it became known about off Racine, Thursday morning at 9 o'clock the Charlie Marshall, already laboring under the big load in her hold, was struck by a squall. Although she was well down in the water the seas were so heavy that none of the seams were opened and the schooner began to settle. If the mother of the children knew the condition of the vessel or the peril of her seamen, they made no sign, and the children played around the cabin happy and contented. They only knew that they had been sent below by their father, and they were too good sailors to violate discipline.

When the big waves swept over the boat the captain shortened sail to move steerage way, and ran before the gale. He did not dare back into the sea, as the weight of water thus would be thrown aboard threatened to swamp the little schooner. All day long the boat ran before the westerly gale or scudding into it as much as the Cap'n dared, as he feared he would go ashore on the Michigan side if the wind blew from the west too long. Before nightfall the wind had shifted to the south, and by midnight the sea had run down sufficiently to warrant the captain in heading of his destination.

He reached here at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and went up the river in tow of the tug Hector Dunham. The tired sailors were still at the pumps, and the boat was down in the water so low that the seas on her starboard side submerged. Her cargo of tanbark was taken off at the Marshall tarpaulin on the north branch, while Jos, with Agnes, his mother and "dog" sister, came downtown to look at the tall buildings, and wonder why anybody dared walk along the street with such great and forbidding bulks towering over them.

White Man Turned Yellow.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. An undertaker was Yellow Jaundice. He was treated by the best physicians, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottle I was wholly cured." A trial proves its marvellous merit for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by F. E. Hines & Co. Druggist.

All Advised and Handsome.

The tariff question cannot be reopened at our single point. A proposed change in the steel and iron schedule means a corresponding alteration in many other schedules. Mr. Babcock is not the only tariff theorist in congress. The others are equally sure that they can guess results correctly. Tariff talk is bad for business. Margins of profit are involved in scores of industrial interests. Tariff changes often settle the question whether a factory shall keep on or close. A tariff contest in congress follows, for the time being, inaction in business. The United States is enjoying under the present tariff the fastest and most prosperous times the country has ever known. Mr. Babcock's theory will be much safer on the shelf beside the tariff ledger than as an active key wrench to adjust the whole array of tariff rigidness. Generously aimed at large steel and iron establishments, it would hit the people. It is distinctly an illadvised and hazardous proposition.—De Ruyter (N. Y.) Gleaner.

Motors in Porto Rico.

Porto Rico has a strong disposition to divorce itself to practical match. An automobile line for the benefit of tourists is making regular trips across the island from San Juan to Ponce. A plan is under consideration to place powerful automobiles, drawing trailers, on the same road for freight purposes. Many fine roads are under construction in the island and the island will carry hitherto used to carry freight will soon disappear.

Not to Be Trusted.

The Scotch gardener of a New York estate had began notions of geography. One of his master's youngest sons was trying to explain to Tobias the extent of his country, Finally, he took his father and brought a money-colored map of the United States. Tobias bent over it a minute, then exclaimed, "Man, man, 'tis no to be trusted; 'tis laid out in the plan o' thee yon' Machtosheen!"

Reindeer Flesh for Food.

It is stated that a strenuous attempt is being made by some enterprising Norwegians to popularize reindeer flesh as an article of diet in Europe. The experiment of raising the animals in large numbers for slaughtering purposes will be fairly tried. They expect to find profitable markets in France and Belgium, and will even endeavor to induce beefeating Britons to purchase the article.

Keeps All His Letters.

Pegalin, Connecticut: Wade has made it a practice all his life to preserve his letters. In his office at Pegalin he has a great letter file containing more than 200,000 letters of a private character and another file containing about as many of a business character. He has these letters indexed in such a manner that he can turn instantly to anyone of them by name, date or subject matter.

Magnificent Rock Crystal.

One of the finest rock crystals in the world was found in 1876 and was cut into a magnificent crystal ball for the late Czar Alexander of Massachusetts. It is now in possession of the Boston Free Arts Museum. The ball measures seven and one-fourth inches, but the original crystal from which it was cut was some eighteen inches high and twelve inches thick.

Green and Black Tea.

The difference of color between green tea and black tea depends on the fact that the first is obtained from leaves dried as made at the tea plantations, while in the case of the black tea the leaves are allowed to ferment before drying. Black tea, therefore, contains much less tannin than green.

The Lowest.

Tissaverea de Bert, the French meteorologist, has secured the lowest temperature made on record—22 deg. centigrade, or 8.6 deg. Fahrenheit. The captive was registered on a thermometer in a tribal balloon sent up recently, which rose to a height of 24,600 feet.

Pleased to Be Called Handsome.

College girls are no less susceptible to compliments in regard to their personal beauty than other girls. A senior class went on an excursion on the Hudson the other day and the president of the trip had fitted every with the great-or prize and got was not a tribute to their intellectual vigor or their moral worth, but to their personal beauty. Their happiness was as up with the prize they were. I believe have been that many such good times as we had together."

HIGH PRICE OF MEAT

HOW WOULD FREE TRADE HELP THE SITUATION?

Beef Trust Assertions Contrast the Reason Why the American Cattle Grower Should Be Plundered for a Condition That is in Any Case Is Only Temporary.

The temporary high prices of food and other necessities of life have been for the consideration this month in the "Good Times" it seemed not to be of the consumers' mind and cause it is asserted that some among the producers of the country, whose interest is dependent on the tariff, enjoy the very great high prices of farmers and by which means they are more prosperous than ever before. Yet the farmers and the American people are paying from two to three times the duty of $2.75 per head received from imported cattle. If an actual increase of taxation due to the short corn crop and the drought conditions, were as responsible for the great increase and farmers for it, shall the consumers be opened wide to the Mexicans and the herders of Argentina, that their sons dictate the cattle market with the people of the United States? The opposition has no element of patriotism in its union of statesmanship and economical sound from the point of view.

The Lewiston Journal, one of the oldest Maine newspapers, founded and for a long time conducted by the late Hon. Frank Washburn, one of 1896, is true to its traditions and to him when it says:

"The free trade lumber will run up against quite a proposition when they go north in the cent campaign to find from American farmers the enormous deficiencies of the lumber trade. It becomes absurd that this country can produce beef and butter $12 in addition to the cost of production and this country incompetent to raise food to produce lumber at fair prices for home and European markets, then we might see the children of the free trade and of bubble to jump on. Now that under the Dingley tariff the American farmer is marvelously prosperous and large and lumber begin to count for something, it is an hard to our agriculturists to make the simple agreement of the beef trust an apology for putting the millstone of Wilson-Gorman-ism about the neck of our agriculture.

"Meanwhile, if free trade doesn't help any, it does seem like lumber prices ought to be higher in Leading cities in New York." —Portland (Maine) Journal.

American Valueless.

North America is credited with twenty varieties of potatoes, twenty of strawberries and twenty Americans with thirty-seven. Many of these also grow abroad.

Reasons for Strikes.

A little more than 10 per cent of all the strikes are due to the demand for higher wages, and 11 per cent for lower hours.

Fruit Used in America.

What is known as the fruit crop includes 1,000,000,000 bushels of oranges and 20,000,000 pineapples a year, besides bananas and other fruits.

THE AMATEUR TARIFF TINKER.

Should Obtain Views of Employers and Wage Earners.

Senator Gallinger says the Republican call-of attention to the fact that Representative Lodge of Massachusetts, was anxious to revise the tariff laws. Mr. Gallinger was elected to congress as a Republican, but since taking his seat he has been palming terrible pictures of what the people would do at the next congressional elections if the tariff laws were not modified. He is certainly a peculiar among his colleagues, unless, for a caucus, at which the question of consulting the necessity of tariff revision shall be considered, and if possible a program for early action shall be adopted.

If we understand Mr. Gallinger correctly the only way the Republicans can prevent the tariff being made the issue of the next campaign is by passing certain articles on the list, and reducing the rates on others. If this is not done, says the Solomon from Massachusetts, the Republicans will be forced to assume the defensive, while the party that the Democrats are will control the next house.

Mr. Hoberts should visit New York where great manufacturing centers and ask a few questions. He would find the Republicans, that the Democrats will assess with the approval, not only of their employers, but of the men who labor. He would soon discover that tinkering with the tariff would be the worst thing the Republican party could do. His assertion that labor is "tired" of the tariff, that the Republicans will be placed on the Gideonite is ridiculous in the extreme. Now that the silver issue has been buried there is only one subject left between the two great parties, and that is the tariff. For years the Republicans have been the successful boasters that they advocated protection to American industries, and that the Democrats so far forgot themselves as to elect a democratic president and the Democrats known as the Wilson bill emerged from the halls of congress as a free trade measure, which was a staggering blow that it took the nation years to recover from.

Instead of being placed on the defensive, Republicans, thanks to the present law, are the aggressors, and the Democratic leaders know it, notwithstanding their assertions that that tariff breeds trusts. England has free trade, yet in the newspapers this morning may be found articles telling how business men in that country are organizing to protect themselves against "American invasion." Will Mr. Hoberts and other tinkers will not call British combinations "trusts." They reason that there can be no trusts without a tariff. The fact is the tariff has no more to do with trusts than a mountain with the ocean, but if the Democrats can make political capital out of the cry, of course they intend to use it. The Republicans will have a case on the tariff, and good reason they should, for the full dinner pail is no dream. Labor knows that it has not lost as the history tariffs to threaten the welfare of the business and labor world by tinkering with the tariff, just long as the Republicans continue to remain in power.—York (Pa) Dispatch.

MARINE NOTES.

The tug Margaret McGann, of St. James, is at Washington for coaling.

The old steamer Nebraska, now owned by Buffalo parties, which is a Chicago hulog converted into a stone-decker for the lumber trade, will be renamed Congress. The Nebraska was one of the old W. T. boats that "wrecked" here more than thirty years ago.

The schooner Z. L. Sunderlan has made her last trip in the wood and lumber carrying trade for a time at least. The Pike and North Lakes Ice Company will utilize her in connection with the A. H. C. F. M. for the transportation of ice to this city from its storehouses near Port Washington. The vessels are well known here.

The lumber carrying steamer John Spry! loaded with a cargo of posts from Boyne City, was badly wrecked in a collision with the disabled lift bridge at Van Buren street, Chicago, one day last week. In the accident Capt. Andrew Young was forced to flee from the pilothouse to escape injury, and a number of the crew similar narrow escapes. The collision was followed by a small fire in the steamer's wrecked cabin, but the flames were extinguished before great damage was effected.

Capt. Anton Hansen died at Manistique lately, aged 67 years. The deceased was born in Norway in 1835 and came to this country with his parents when but a small boy. They settled at Ephraim, Wis., and subsequently removed to Manitowoc. During his sailing experience on Lake Michigan he commanded at different times the schooners Minnehaha, Glen Cayler, Industry, Montana and Hesper. Capt. Hansen's death resulted from a stroke of paralysis.

A dispatch from Chicago says that every vessel now operating steamers into Chicago will be called upon within a short time to recognize a union of package freight handlers. The first step toward organizing the new union was taken Saturday afternoon, when the men withdrew from the steamers to hold a meeting. The union was fully organized Sunday, under the protection of the International Longshoremen's Union, with an initial membership of 200. This will be increased to at least 500 when the crews now are manned. The men will make no demands until their ranks are well filled.

The schooner Hermes H. Badger, laden with coal for Georgian bay and towed by the steamer David W. Rust had a rough time on Lake Erie Thursday, when high seas drove her toward the bar off Point Pelee and she was helpless. The life-saving crew sent to Amherstburg for assistance and the tug Home then responded. All hands were at the pumps when aid reached them and the vessel was in bad shape, but Capt. Frank Hackett of the Home fitted her in tow and reached Amherstburg safely, where repairs sufficient to allow her to proceed to Port Huron were made. The Badger was here lately with coal for Wilmot, and is sailed by Capt. Wm. Lemon.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hagerty, of Kentucky, N.Y., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. As a result, he was Yellow Jaundice. He was troubled by the best doctors, but without lasting benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bitters, the wonderful Stomach and Liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney Troubles. Only 50c. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co. Druggist.

—We have before us a charming little book of poems entitled "Trading Arbutus," from our old and valued friend Mrs. L. M. Howan, of Petoskey. All is not poetry that rhymes, and many a "genius" has shrieked rickets by affusions that possessed only the characters of meter—and poor meter at that. But Mrs. Howan's little book is full of beautiful gems, from cover to cover; verses that have the true merit of the thoughtful work of a thoughtful author. It was the good Bryant who said, "Deem not the training of a deathless lay the pastime of a drowsy summer day." The author of "Hannapuse" had her five poems, and of course the author of "Trading Arbutus" is not one of those; but long ere few collections of poems, among those that are flying from the unfathomable fountain the heart inspires boldness thoughts than the little volume that Mrs. Howan sends us. There is not a verse in it that does not commend itself to careful reading. It is a book that you will read and having read it will think well of it.

—The present high value of cattle ought to make the farmer smile. It ought to teach him that there is money in cattle—more money than anything else the farm produces. Hundreds of cattle raisers have grown rich during the last decade upon the profits of the business, though the price has ranged as low as three dollars a hundred. Nothing grows into money as fast as a small herd that can be kept up without very much cost during the winter.

—An illustration is given of a young farmer who started in with twelve head of cattle and a half a dozen pigs. He made up his mind not to sell any of the stock for three years. His crops were fairly successful and he was able to provide for his stock during the winter. At the end of three years he sold eighty hogs for one thousand dollars and had twenty breeders left. He then had seventy-five head of cattle fifty of which he sold for $1,750. Since then he has been on the up grade and is rated a rich man.

SCHOOL COMMUNITY COLUMN.

The Charlevoix county State Teachers' Institute will be held in the village of Charlevoix, commencing Aug 18th and continue three days. Commissioner John C. Nafe, of Saginaw county will assist E. S. Keeler of Mt. Pleasant in conducting the Institute. Mr. Keeler will make a specialty of Nature Study and Mr. Nafe works in the line of language and literature. We know that the teachers have a knowledge of the "Merchant of Venice" and will present that play to the teachers in the form of readings and lessons.

We have ordered a full supply of the poem in the 10 cent edition from B. A. Wright of Lansing and desire that each teacher possess a copy. They will be furnished at the institute. The examination in reading in Aug will be upon this poem. This will be a inspiration institute and we desire our usual full attendance.

School boards and school officers have more faith in a teacher who desires to broaden out in her work and takes advantage of every means within her reach.

To not come to the institute merely for the credit you get for attendance marked upon your certificate.

The advantage to the teacher is manifold: the new ideas and methods gathered together are felt throughout the year by the pupils and patrons where she teaches.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

The Communion Service last Sunday morning was well attended. A large number of friends, representing many states and cities, joined with us in this sacred service of fellowship and love.

The V. P. S. C. E. lawn social held Tuesday evening at the parsonage was a complete success. The lawn was beautifully illuminated with electric lights and Japanese lanterns. The program of music was excellent, the ice cream and cake was eagerly called for till not a drop of cream was left, and everybody went away highly pleased and hoping for another soon.

The Sunday School annual picnic was held at the Indian camping grounds on the north side of Pine Lake. The day was fine and the attendance good. Some went in busses, some in launches, some drove over and others cycled. Mr. Valentall, who owns the grounds kindly rowed over all noon and spent a couple of hours or more taking parties out rowing until he had taken between 40 and 50. All returned safely about five o'clock highly delighted with the day's outing.

SILENCED THE LAWYER.

Legal Light Worsted in Encounter With Bratman.

Conversation became reminiscent at the Lawyers' Club the other day, the late Judge James T. Brady being the subject. A veteran practitioner who knew him well said:

"Brady's first attempt at practicing law was in very humble quarters. In the rear of a cobbler's shop in Pulteney street near William, one day a Irishman who called and inquired for the cobbler was told by Brady that he was out. Peering about the room of the newly fledged lawyer, sparsely furnished with two unpainted chairs and deal table, he inquired:

"I say, boss, what do you sell lapra?"

"Bootheals," promptly replied Brady.

"Humph! said the Irishman, "must be doing a good business, as I see you have only one left."—New York Times.

One Editor's Opinion.

The Wiregrass Blade can sum up the situation as follows: "The editor works to keep from while the doctor works to keep on the post. The editor hides now to the lotter and the doctor satisfies them to die easy. The editor pulls a sick man's leg, the editor is glad if he can collect his bill at all. Revenue only? We are living for fun and to spite the doctor."—Atlanta Constitution.

TALE OF TWO SNORERS.

Mean Trick Resorted to to Secure Some Needed Sleep.

Away out west lives a John who not only "snores out the watches of night" but in addition makes those so unfortunate as to be within earshot of his canal performance keep awake, says the New York Tribune. On this occasion his daughter made a ventilator which the lady at first doubtedly he worse. It was effectual in stopping the noise, but the stream hurt his ears and he threw it aside, and now his family thinks the only feasible scheme secret is be for the holes to blow away from home.

Recently he came east, and his sleeping car mates was next to that of a fellow traveler who as a snorer was even worse, the judge thinks. The latter could not get to sleep, for fear as he would get used to his neighbor's crescendo and would be dropping off, a change would occur, and he would be wide awake again.

In relating the tale afterward he told how he finally found about, still a happy thought came to him. He pounded on the partition between the berths until his neighbor was awake and making loudest resound more. Then the judge fell asleep before the other could renew his usual pyrotechnics, and, it is safe to say, kept the other man awake the night through.

The Eyes of the Sole.

When the sole or other variety of flatfish emerges from the egg it is of normal fish in every respect. It swims straight up and down in the water. It shows an eye on each side of its head where eyes should be and the two sides of its body are colored alike. But soon after its birth one eye has of the side on which the fish is destined to rest, begins to shift its position. It literally treks to the other side of the head and comes to occupy a position alongside its mate. This is known to be accomplished through a species of torsion or twisting of the head bones.

Sure Enough.

"Shucks, now!" ejaculated old Squire Posey, a somewhat moss-grown but eminently astute Arkansas justice of the peace, interrupting the testimony of the disappointed plaintiff in a suit for divorce. "This yere court don't like to take no stock in yo's statement that yo're wife whipped you regularly! Why—ed-ram it—you weigh along towards 200 pounds, and if yo're wife tips the beam at mo'n a hundred and I'm thin cuss don't know itself!"

"That's all right, squire!" returned the petitioner, drawlily. "Can't a wife can whip forty times its own weight in sheep?"

One Man's "Smoke"—Free in Rations.

There has just been let out by the French Director General of Customs a circular which goes for the first time the exact quantities of tobacco, cigars and cigarettes which may be introduced into France by passengers for their own use free of duty. The quantities so allowed to be introduced are thirty cigars or fifty cigarettes or one hectogramme (three and a half ounces) of tobacco. If these quantities are exceeded duty is, in future, to be levied only on the amount exceeding the quantity allowed to be introduced free.

Nothing Impossible With Morgan.

An unlettered German an theorist on transportation questions de clarie that the Morgan syndicate can not meet its engagements, it is too heavily overcapitalized. It must double the earnings of the first year! German lines in order to fill the 5 per cent interest—which the expert considers "impossible." Doubtful this as are uncertain, but for a in America we great relieved in to hear about "impossibilities" in no objection with Mr. Morgan's finance's projects.

Civil and Sense do.

It is cut one the difference in the regard civil given have for their school and school a work. When a fire started in the Yarrow street sele of one day and, so as a little girl went sobbing down the street, with are quite eyes, because a she feared her school was to be destroyed. A moment later a boy came tearing down the street on his way of working overtime, and shouting, "Hurrah, kids, the old prison's on fire."—Toledo Times.

Civil Was Little Flage.

Mr. P. D. Harrison of Manchester, N. H. is compiling a history of battles of this country, especially of those carried in which he incidentally calls "The Brothers' Quarrel." In 1861 he tells that the number of flags now in the custody of Northern states is much less than the one preserved by the Northern Confederate troops, but he is desirous of making a complete list of them all.

When to Stop.

Mayor James H. Pond, of world-wide repute as a pilot of cut the lines of the convent stage and the "Jacques, Jolly of Jollity, a Scotsman, of whom he once inquired the exact time to leave to catch the morning boat.

"Weel, I dinna' tell yo jist what time 'twill be but, if ye'll wait fifty minutes afore yo see the steamer comin' round the point, yo'll jist be in time to catch it, sir."

Journalistic Impudence.

There are times in the history of every newspaper when it is wise to trample its character it must refuse to go with the crowd, and when that time comes it is some signal for what drop off for the time being. But when a newspaper has found that it owes the eternal principles of truth and good morals, for good business for it to walk in its integrity. Such a paper will be sustained and strengthened by the readers, and advertisers will stand by it always, but they cannot help whether or not and they will continue to patronize it. It will be a sad day for that paper dry when the case is otherwise, when a newspaper loses sight of its principles and sacrifices its honor for a mess of pottage.

CHAPTER IV.

The Sunday after Miss Sherman had come to Eastover was a cloudless one, with just enough of a breeze to make it pleasant to be out on the lawn of the Court House. Nearly all the guests were scattered about the Wheatsheaf Inn, and Eastover was enjoying its quiet Sunday afternoon, when a carriage came up the avenue and stopped at the Court House door, and Mrs. Lothrop, with her two young guests, alighted from it.

"Now, you must be careful, Mr. Lothrop," said Miss Lothrop, as she and her companion stood on the veranda, "for we don't want to be disturbed for an hour or so, and you know how hard it is for you to keep your tongue still."

"Well, I'm sure I don't know what I can do if I can't talk to you," said Lothrop, with a pretty good imitation of a pout.

"Why, you can do everything else you want to," said Miss Lothrop, with a little blush, and she led the way into the house.

"Well, I'm sure I don't know what I can do that I want to more than I want to talk to you," said Lothrop, as he followed his sister and Miss Sherman into the drawing-room.

Hunting An Issue.

Chairman James Mathews (Grigg) of Georgia, according to Washington dispatches, has postponed the meeting of the democratic congressional committee, called for next Friday, until the party leaders can reach some agreement on what are the issues of the campaign. Meanwhile Mr. Griggs is to hunt the west in search of an issue.

The democratic party evidently is in a state of great destitution as regards issues. Of course, Senator Carlisle will climbers to a campaign of vituperation against the American soldiers. But all democrats of sense understand that it is impossible to make the American people believe that their own kinsmen are bloodthirsty brutes and a parcel of Malay brigands are high-minded patriots.

Mr. Griggs himself was inclined to look on the trust as the paramount issue. But Senator Dubois, who retains from his former republican affiliations some political perspicacity points out that while democrats have talked republicans have worked to regulate the trusts. Furthermore, Mr. Dubois remarks, in the vernacular of his adopted state, "Hoosevelt has jumped the claim, and there is no use in the democratic party trying to wash the tailings."

And so it goes all along the line. Of course, 16 to 1 will not do, for even Mr. Bryan has ceased to utter more than formal protests against the crime of '73. The tariff can be touched only in the most general way, for popular memory of the disaster that followed the last democratic attempt at tariff tinkering is too fresh. And so Mr. Griggs starts in his tour with this sign hanging from his buttonhole:

WANTED—AN ISSUE.

While it is not generally deemed the province of a republican newspaper to suggest issues for the democracy, yet because the republican party surely needs a sane and healthy opposition, and as a simple matter of charity, the attempt will be made.

What the democracy most needs is the confidence of the people that if intrusted with power, it will not wreck the nation. The people shall be assured that democratic success hereafter will not mean, as it did in 1892, the paralysis of industry. They wish to be assured that it will not mean, as it would have mean in 1896, national repudiation. They wish to be assured that it will not mean in 1904, the fruits of war and the hauling down of the flag.

When the democracy can show the American people that it is animated by comon sense, common honesty, and common Americanism, it will have no difficulty in finding issues upon which it can command respect. But until it gives these assurances it will continue to be a party without issues whose leaders are more lookers in the wilderness.—Inter-Ocean.

The Republican state central committee will meet in Grand Rapids on August 1 to select a date for said place for holding the state judicial nominating convention. It is necessary to nominate a candidate for justice of the supreme court to succeed the late Justice Long.

"Prosperity is the issue" is the title of the great speech of United States Senator Jacob H. Gallinger of New Hampshire, recently delivered in the Senate at Washington. The speech has been issued in document form by the American Protective Tariff League. Send postal card request for free copy. Ask for document No. 75. Address W. L. Wakeman, General Secretary, 135 West 23d street, New York.

Now comes the tidings that William Jennings Bryan is still in politics and will cast a third party ballot (Cleveland or Hill head the the regular democratic force. The democrats are in a pickle. If Cleveland or Hill succeeds in beat Bryan will look their little guns. If Bryan undertakes to stalk Cleveland and Hill will do about the political and Bryan goes. Truly the poor old democratic party is going astray. The republicans can go on sawing wood with the reasonable assurance that there will be little to fear from the Democrats, party, in 1904. At the same time republicans should not allow overconfidence to cause them to relax their efforts to maintain the position gained. The country has become prosperous under republican rule, and the party owes the people a continued determination to maintain these conditions.

Judge Geo. H. Durand has made public a formal letter issued to his personal friends throughout the state, in which he absolutely refuses to accept the democratic nomination under any circumstances. He thinks those who have urged him to make the race and sympathizes with those who are tired of machine rule, and hopes that the party will stand together. This would seem to put at rest the rumors that in spite of his private statements Judge Durand would yet consent to make the run. Some other victim will now have to be selected.

It is not generally understood—except by the so-called title sharks—that, now, and the length of time after purchase, a tax title becomes a valid lien or title against the property that may be sold for delinquent taxes. The time for redemption is one year, during which time the owner of property may redeem by paying the tax title holder 100 per cent on all the amount that was paid for the said tax title certificate. After the sale the owner has one year in which to redeem his property. If he does not redeem it in one year then the purchaser gets title from the state, which is good against any other title for whatever the deed calls for, provided always the proceedings in the case have been regular. The owner must then make the best terms he can with the tax title holder if he wishes to get back his property.

The Growth of Bay View

The Rev. Dr. W. H. Shier of Detroit, who has been re-elected president of the Bay View Congregational association, has held that office for 16 years. He was on the ground in 1875 when the site was selected. He was a charter member of the association and has always been a trustee.

In 1875 the Methodists decided to locate grounds for a permanent state campmeeting, and in the early summer of 1875 we came on the first meeting," said the Rev. Mr. Shier.

"We made a little clearing, and built the historic 'preacher' stand,' consisting of a platform for the speakers, and back of that a small room for them to sleep in. The audience sat upon planks and across logs. Laymen lived in huts made of boards and canvass. They slept on hemlock boughs. All of us were dressed shirts and shoot hats. Not until the second season did a white shirt make its debut.

"Frequently there weren't enough dishes to go around. Boards were often used instead of plates. We could stay only 10 days the first year because of the scarcity of provisions.

"Transportation between Bay View and Petoskey was in one fishmaster by landers. Some rode down on demoralized wagons and some took a rickety old construction car, which ran upon the roughly hewed railroad bed. It was drawn by two mules.

"Bees were quite thick, and there were a few bears. The Sumaks and Indian trail, known as the 'Marquette trail,' because Fr. Marquette used to travel over it, was then well marked.

"The erection of cottages was an afterthought. It was not until the winter of 1876 that the question was discussed. At that time David Carpenter (deceased), of Blissfield, a Winnego of Jackson, and myself agreed that we would build the following summer and those were the first cottages built. In 1877 the Rev. Robert Bird, of Detroit, began the erection of a hotel, which has developed into the present Bay View Hotel. It took half a day for foot men and a team to get the raw load of lumber down through the woods from Petoskey. Before the cottager were housed recorters had to shift as best they could. Those early days were days of fun. Those are days of work."

A Poor Millionaire

Lately starved in London because he could not digest his food. Early use of Dr. King's New Life Pills would have saved him. They strengthen the stomach and digestive organs, promote assimilation, improve appetite. Price, 25c. money back if not satisfied. Sold by F. G. Hines & Co. druggists.

Came to my enclosure in Melrose, one black and white pig. Owner can have same by paying for this notice and expenses. Henry Harbaugh.

CLAIMS COAL LANDS.

A CHICAGO WOMAN SAYS SHE OWNS TENNESSEE TRACT.

Entes Said to Embrace Title to 100,000 Acres—Mayor Office Interested in Boss Immigrants Checked Beyond Hughes in Depth.

A woman who says she is a resident of Chicago and who gives her name as Mrs. Francis Jones, has filed papers in the Tennessee Circuit Court at Jamestown, Fentress county, Tenn., against Mr. Edward E. Ayer, Mr. Wm. Ayer, Mr. John Ayer, Mr. Edward Ayer, Mr. Frank Ayer, Mr. Chauncey Ayer, Mr. Wm. Ayer, Jr., Mr. Frank Ayer, Jr., Mr. Edward Ayer, Jr., Mr. Chauncey Ayer, Jr., and Mr. Wm. Ayer, Jr., all of Chicago, and Mr. Wm. Ayer, of Boston, Mass., and Mr. Edward Ayer, of Newport, R. I., and Mr. Wm. Ayer, of Newport, R. I., and Mr. Wm. Ayer, of Newport, R. I., and Mr. Wm.

IT COST HIM NINETY CENTS.

He Was Sorry He Put the Conundrum to the Druggist.

State Senator Hiram Marshall of Brooklyn, labored long for an entire day recently and finally received this consultation.

What is the difference between a druggist and a farmer anyway?

One is a pharmacist, the other is a farm artist sir!

A gentleman on whom the comedian was supposed called at an up-town drug store on a recent evening and in a moment of blearyness propounded the question to the proprietor to whom he intimated a prescription be filled. After a short mental stress the apothecary "guess it up," and when told the answer laughed as he duly boxed most heartily. A few minutes later the prescription was filled and the price thereof amounted to ninety-five cents.

"Thanks," said the gentleman, one enforcement the five cents, but what is the ninety cents for?"

"Why," blandly replied the druggist, "that is the answer to your question, the difference between the pharmacist and the farm assistant."

Sweet Rice a Nuisance.

Some years ago rice was better was introduced into Tuam ada and Swamp Angel like a nuisance. Farmers were put upon the land with the idea that they would cut down the swamp and subsequently eradicate them. But the latter came out best, and each succeeding year the hairy tenants of one foot of the upper lifter killed the animals, as they did also a number of cattle.

An Appropriate Name.

Church—I see that Tiffany has called his new jewel the "Tiffany Wonder." What do you think of that name?

Gotham—Because it is such a wonder, I suppose.—Yonkers Statesman.

DREW PRIZE IN LOTTERY.

Wonderful Luck of Ensign on United States Battleship.

Lieutenant-Commander A. B. Wilkins, whose family lives in a Philadelphia suburb, has written an interesting letter home from his ship, the Iowa, which is cruising in South American waters with the South Atlantic squadron. The officer tells how luck smiled the signature was painted in the harbor of a little southern city that was much visited over by a lottery drawing soon to be pulled off. An ensign on a sister ship of the Iowa bought for five cents each chance in the lottery pool, some dime, and in company, submitted the drawing. There was considerable rigmarole for a time, and a darkskinned native passed on a board a number. The ensign took it out and looked, and in was the name as that which had won. He could not be not allowed speak to the boat to wait out into the air. His delight was indescribable. The next day one of officials of the lottery brought to him money his ship a bag containing $10,000 in gold. As he is poor and so he is married, he thinks the money will come in very handy.

Veneered Diamonds.

An enormous trade is now done in imitation gems, which are made by many clever processes. "Veneered diamonds" are among the latest things of the sort. A paste is made of real diamond dust and acid. This is rolled out into very thin sheets, all in the proper shape and compound. Every gem is given an inner coat of the regulation form.

Wealth of New York State.

DINNER IN THE WOODS.

Enthusiast Talks of Delights of Trout Property Council.

In the deep shade of the tree the baskets are laid, and now a fire is started near by, one of Van Dyke's "friendship fires" which shall also cook a few trout. Old Izaac Walton and they'll be hard to find in this boulder country, but they are sometimes were quite fabulous while gather some sufficient wood. Izaac, for his fishes go, and the wood is heaped about them. Soon the intense glow of the wood ashes indicates that the time has come. The trout, a silver of hence in earth, are passed on a stick over and down of it its ashes, and the other stone is laid upon them. Now the hot embers are raked albert and over the stones and the lunch is spread on the big rock near the spring. Oh ye epicures, who think nothing good unless served in a Delmonico or a Sherry, we pity you. Come, follow a break for half a day gut wet and tired and empty, sit down to an lowcost spring and eat brook trout cooked on the spot, and delicious bread and butter liberally spread with clover honey. Not till then have ye dined.—Outing.

Future of South Africa.

It is hoped that a new era is about to open for South Africa, that good government, schools and liberal and helpful laws that will bring in the immigration that is so much needed. The prospects are bright that South Africa, blest by climate and abundant resources, to become the home of many millions of people, will become the most prosperous part of Africa.

Earthquakes Widely Felt.

While volcanic eruptions are usually confined to area earth movements are said to be more widely felt in the shape of earthquakes.

AUSTRALIA'S FIERY MOUNTAIN.

Immense Coal Mine Has Been Burning Since 1826.

At Wingen is to be seen the only burning mountain to be found in Australia, and the only one of any volcanic origin known. The mountain is 1,200 feet above the sea level, and is easily reached from the township. It is supposed to be an immense coal seam which has in some unaccountable way become ignited, and has been burning ever since. When first discovered during the early days of settlement, the adventurous of the district expressed in their own rude language that the mountain had been forming in the days of their forefathers, that, as far back as they could remember, they had always been the big smoke. The course of the fire can be traced a considerable distance by the trees, some rows of classic occasioned by the hollow in of the ground from under which the coal has been consumed. From year to year's end flames of smoke are continually issuing from the sides of the mountains, the surface of which is in many places covered with a sulphur ous deposit. In the vicinity on the openings from which the stunted rings of smoke issue the ground is hot to the touch, the vegetation with which it was originally covered having disappeared, and sticks thrust into the ground speedily become charred, if not ignited.

An Emperor's Checkerboard.

The most valuable chessboard in existence is in the possession of the German emperor, who is a great lover of the game. The squares of the board are made of silver and gold, to represent the usual light and dark colored leather. The dressing are of silver and gold, having a diamond or a ruby in the center of each.

BY GEOMETRICAL PROGRESSION.

Farmer Made His Bill Real Reasonable, After All.

"Funny things happen down here," said Fred Reginald A. Fessenden, the inventor of the new wireless telegraph system, who has been experimenting with it at Roanoke Island for the last two weeks. "One day a man living down here on this island found that somebody had shot one of his shoats. He got the bullet out and brought it to me and asked whether I had a gun that that bullet fitted. I said I had, and he charged me $5 for the shooting of the shoat.

"My good sir," I said, "in the first place, I didn't shoot your shoat, and therefore decline to pay anything. In the second place I should like to know why on earth you want to give $5. Twenty-five dollars is enough to buy a squadron of shoats on Roanoke Island."

"Well," he said, "I figure it this way. I calculate that if that one shoat had lived it's a hot seven shoats when it grew up, each one o' them seven shoats would a had seven shoats, an—"

But the professor's auditors say the New York Times, told him he needn't go on with the calculation.

Sham Champagne.

American Apples are cored, sliced and dried, sent to France and there converted into cider. With the addition of rectifiable wild gas and yeast and a little flavoring powder, the cider becomes champagne and such is of course to England and to drummed the delusion that it is of the best brand.—London Family Doctor.

SCHOOL COURSE COLUMN.

The U. S. Government cannot find enough good workers among other times than short hand. The demand is for civil engineers, for those who can pass examinations on technical subjects, and such like.

They want people who can pass examinations. In May they called for a large number, and offered good salary, and not nearly enough applied. Here is a great field for young men. Why pay for it.

Much has been written about the the professionally trained teachers and much more will be written about him before the ideal type, shall have been obtained from any sort of school. This one fact remains, that even that the professional teacher must be reckoned with unless no one favors choice of the field.

One of the first qualifications of a good teacher is "a good mind to a sound body."

Physical infirmity retards mental development and destroys ambition. The successful teacher must not be a dyspeptic.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

The Rev. Robert I. Marsh of Fort Bragg, Iowa, occupied the pulpit last Sunday morning, and preached an excellent sermon, on the topic, "A Beggars Alms," taken from the president of the Iowa man who lay daily at the "Beautiful Gate" of the Temple. The sermon developed the thought that, like Peter and John, we give only what we have to give, that we give remembering that we can not help giving of some thing.

The sermon subjects for next Sunday will be as follows. Morning, "The Eternal Commandment" Evening "Undeveloped Manhood."

NOT A POLYGAMIST.

How Bishop Potter Filled Out an Official Form.

An army officer just returned from the Philippines tells this story on Bishop Potter:

When the bishop went out to Manila a year or two ago, on his arrival at the islands he was confronted by a formidable list of about thirty questions. The list, prepared by Uncle Sam for Chinese and native Filipinos was nevertheless submitted imperatively to all comers.

Gravely the bishop, as became his respect of forms, wrote down his name, age, occupation, place of birth. He did not even smile in his wrath "No" opposite the question "Have you any opinions?"

But the last question was too much. A look of mock pain crossed his features.

"Must I answer this?" he asked the exacting.

The question nodded.

And in the space opposite "Are you a polygamist?" the bishop gravely wrote "Not yet."

Shirts for Visitors.

Whatever might have been said against the Venetians, they were a hospitable people—little, too, in small as well as in great matters. When, for example, in 1475, an ambassador from the Khan of Tartary visited the city and it was known that the khan and his suite carried not one shirt apiece in their bags, the senate officially voted twenty dozen that they should be provided with additional suits, which were accordingly made. His majesty was overwhelmed. We can imagine how the poor fellows and chiefs would caper in this kindly little jest.

Michigan and President Jackson.

It was under Jackson's administration that Michigan was shorted in the Union and from the Jackson county derives its name, as Van Buren, Cass, Lawrence, Ingham, Eaton, Branch, Barry and Berrien counties, all from members of his cabinet.

A Big Midnight Fire.

The Caldwell & Loudon agricultural implement plant, on Antrim street, was wiped out by a quick, hot fire at one o'clock Wednesday morning.

When discovered, the flames were already coming through the roof at the rear of the warehouse and office building, and were fanned by a brisk northwest breeze. The flames quickly reached the adjoining building, used as a blacksmith and wagon shop, and that was soon a swirling, roaring mass of fire. Several small outbuildings in the rear, including a small barn filled with hay, and owned by Chas. Swallows, were taken in by the roaring element, and for a time, two houses on Main street were in danger.

For a time the Hotel Elston was enveloped in smoke and sparks, and guests were out on the street with their grips. It indeed looked bad for the Elston at one time, but the fire was practically confined to the Caldwell & Loudon plant, a small warehouse belonging to that firm, and occupied by H M Arbery's steam fitting shop, being saved.

The fire department did excellent work in confining the fire to the small area. Five streams were played—two from Bridge street, two from Antrim, and one from Mason. Supt. Guard says the pumps had a severe test, and thinks they reached the limit of their capacity, and makes use of the occasion to appeal for another pump.

But the value and high efficiency of our water plant was given a thorough test, and the fire department and equipment proved themselves equal to almost any emergency.

Mr Caldwell estimates the loss at about $4,000, which is probably covered by insurance. In all probability the plant will be rebuilt.

Christ Church.

Mrs. Guy V. Thompson has presented to Christ Church, a beautiful altar linen in memory of her husband.

The chancel chairs were presented by Mrs. Edwin F. Uhl, in memory of her husband, the father of Mrs. Thompson.

The offerings in Christ Church on Sunday, August 10, were for Domestic and Foreign Missions. On Sunday, August 17 will be devoted to assisting the ladies in paying for the pews.

The Rev. W. A. Washington of Nashville Tennessee will preach in Christ Church next Sunday Morning.

Teachers' Examination.

The regular Teachers' Examination for Charlevoix county will be held at the Mackinaw school building in Charlevoix on August 29, 30 and 31, 1902. Examinations will commence at 8:00 a. m., standard time, and embrace all grades of certificates. Students during the vacation of the State Agricultural College can take the entrance examination at same place on August 31, the Tuesday following. Address, Examination paper furnished free.

Milton S. A. Brown, of Bellevue, Mich., was most miraculously surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia, he writes, my wife was finally run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but one bottle Electric Bitters which seemed to do her good, and after using four bottles she is entirely well and can do her housework. My father, aged 75, was so much benefited by Electric Bitters that he now sleeps like a child." For Dyspepsia, Liver and Kidney troubles they are a positive cure. Only 50c. at F. G. Hines & Co.

Miss Sandom looked at Hugh in wonder. Was this young man trying to be rude? Was he trying to make her feel a little, chosen object himself and Mr. Vance? Was he trying to put her in the place of being, through the vanity of being the only woman in the party, the woman who was with two men? Was he trying to show her that the way to be kind to a woman was to be rude to her?

"Am I expected always to be a wallflower?" she thought. "Am I never to have a good time, just because I am not pretty and have no money?"

Hugh was not trying to be rude. He was only thinking of Mr. Vance's comfort. Mr. Vance was a guest, and Hugh was the host. Mr. Vance was a man who was used to the best of everything, and who was used to being waited on. Hugh was a man who was used to being waited on himself.

"Mr. Vance," he said, "I'm sorry we can't have a good dinner for you. But we can't. We haven't the money. We haven't the money to pay for it. We haven't the money to pay for the cook who could cook it. We haven't the money to pay for the waiter who could serve it. We haven't the money to pay for the house in which we could serve it. We haven't the money to pay for the land on which we could build the house in which we could serve it. We haven't the money to pay for the city in which we could own the land on which we could build the house in which we could serve it. We haven't the money to pay for the state in which we could own the city in which we could own the land on which we could build the house in which we could serve it. We haven't the money to pay for the country in which we could own the state in which we could own the city in which we could own the land on which we could build the house in which we could serve it. We haven't the money to pay for the world in which we could own the country in which we could own the state in which we could own the city in which we could own the land on which we could build the house in which we could serve it. We haven't the money to pay for the universe in which we could own the world in which we could own the country in which we could own the state in which we could own the city in which we could own the land on which we could build the house in which we could serve it. We haven't the money to pay for the—"

"Hugh, Hugh!" said Hugh's sister, gently. "You have been long enough."

"Yes, that is enough," said Mr. Vance, with a little laugh. "Quite long enough. I'm sorry I'm so hungry. I'm sorry I'm so hungry that I can't stand it. I'm sorry I'm so hungry that I can't stand it to see a man who is so hungry that he can't stand it to see a man who is so hungry that he can't stand it to see a man who is so hungry that he

Bryan and the "Issues."

It is amusing to witness the adroitness with which democrat leaders, and especially Mr. Bryan, avoid the discussion of government finance. In all of Mr. Bryan's talks in the East recently, he did not once refer to the "divine ratio" of 16 to 1.

He did not advocate the free coinage of silver, nor did he denounce the gold standard. This is of course very refreshing, but it was less than half a decade since Mr. Bryan was announcing to all the world that "the gold standard is made up of more misery for the human race than wars or pestilence or famine—more misery than human brain can conceive or human tongue tell." If that was true five years ago, why is it not true now? If this terrible evil was threatening the people then, why remain silent while it is still hanging over the nation? Like several other Democratic pronouncicies the silver issue has vanished into thin air.

Mr. Bryan, in 1896 pronounced free coinage an unalying principle, and the only remedy for existing evils; he declared that if the gold standard was adopted the country would within five years undergo one of the most disastrous financial and industrial upheavals of the century.

Six years of prosperity followed his prophesy, and Mr. Bryan has stated to, 1 absolutely. Why should he not be quiet?

The Nomination of Durand.

The democratic state convention in Detroit last week nominated Judge George H. Durand of Flint for governor. Judge Durand has declined to have his name considered in connection with the nomination but a fight in the convention forced against the democratic machine which has been dominated by Daniel J. Campau and Chairman Whiting of the democratic state central committee, together with a strong sentiment favoring Durand, caused a stampede for the Flint man. He was nominated on the fourth ballot and thereby a stinging rebuke was administered to Campau and the machine which sought to down Durand.

The editor of this paper knows Judge Durand well, and knows him to be a clean, honorable gentleman. He has always been actuated by a high sense of honor, personally and politically. And this element in his nature caused him to repudiate Bryanism in 1896 and 1900.

He has been nominated for governor as a democrat, but we have not heard to which class of democracy he belongs—gold or silver.

It will require most of the time between now and November for Judge Durand to live up to what Zach Chandler called the "ghastly character" that yawns between these two kinds of democracy, and then he will not come within 20,000 votes of being elected.

Their Secret Is Out.

All Sudbrith, Ky., was curious to learn the cause of the improvement in the health of Mrs. S. P. Whittaker, who had for a long time, endured terrible suffering from a chronic bronchial trouble. "It's all due to Dr. King's New Discovery," writes her husband. "It completely cured her and also cured our little grandchild, suffering from severe attacks of Whooping Cough. It positively cures Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Bronchitis, All Throat and Lung Troubles. Guaranteed bottles 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at F. G. Hines & Co's drug store.

NAVAL TRAINING STATION

Charlevoix is Said to Have a Strong Claim for the New One.

A Washington special says that the board recently appointed by Secretary Moody to make a tour of the great lake ports and report their opinion as to the available sites for the new naval training station soon to be established, started on that trip Saturday after noon.

The board will go direct to Chicago. They will carefully inspect all lake ports that are at all available. In Michigan the map will visit available ports on Lake Michigan, and especially Muskegon and Charlevoix. Some of eight cities in Michigan have filed applications for the location, but naval officials admit that Charlevoix has got to the strongest claim and made the best showing of any city or village in Michigan.

The following statement, prepared by Admiral Taylor, as chairman of the board, will fully explain just what will be required for a site:

"In regard to the requirements for a naval training station, I may say that it is desirable that a piece of land not less than 150 acres in extent, nor more than 500 acres, shall be available. The most desirable site would be upon an island, not far removed from the mainland, or upon a peninsula or point which could be easily isolated when necessary. There should be deep water in the near vicinity, and climatic conditions should be favorable."

The above news will be welcome to Charlevoix people, who were bold enough to bring their claims into the race against points of much greater wealth and influence.

But if Charlevoix wins it will be because it is far-and-away the best location in all respects.

It has the climatic conditions required; it has the land-locked water and the big lake; it has and number of beautiful sites for the station, and the most varied scenery to make the station attractive.

We are assured that Admiral Taylor and his committee will visit Charlevoix soon and Charlevoix will treat them well.

ANOTHER BIG RESORT.

Northport Will Have It, and It Will Be Called the Chicago Club. Will Manage It.

From the Traverse City Eagle:

Work has just recommenced on the new Northport Beach hotel which is being built by A. M. Leslie, of Chicago. The foundation was laid last fall, the woodwork will be put up this summer, the plastering done this fall, and finished during the winter.

The building will be 215 feet long, 44 feet wide, has 110 guest rooms, tinned and plastered, with double floors throughout, electric light, steam heat and telephone in every room. There will be accomodations for 250 guests. The kitchen and dining room will be in an addition. The building will be three stories high and in the center over the office five stories. When completed it will be most modern summer hotel in Michigan, a veritable "Saratoga of the West." N. Follett of the Chicago Club House at Charlevoix has landed it and will have charge of it next season. John O. Plank of Chicago is the designer. He and his wife are summering at this place.

Not satisfied with having the most modern and handsomest hotel in Michigan, Mr. Leslie has already begun work on a large park. His entire ground comprises 15 acres. Part has been platted on both sides of a road running about 300 feet back from the beach and following it. The site is almost a natural park, with beautiful openings that relieve the monotony.

The entire tract is being underbrushed and roads built through it. Rustic bridges and seats are already planned for and in some cases built. Mr. Leslie conducted an Eagle reporter over the entire tract, fully explaining his intended improvements. He already has done a massive stone wall and will introduce new trees. He will go to Canada to the different nurseries. "I am going to leave the natural trees and am also going to plant new varieties here and there." In another year he will have a large variety of hardy shrubbery and will add another ornamental shrub and shade and fruit trees. Mr. Miller of the National Forestry department was over the ground and recommended many hardy trees for this locality, a fall pond is planned for and many other attractions.

"People want a change, said Mr. Leslie, 'when they want rest, a hotel is all right to eat and sleep in but they want a change and to get away from business cares, and this is my idea of giving their wants. I want the business men, not the dead beats. I want to give them an opportunity to change—fishing, golf, beautiful walks and drives and many other fine matters of recreation."

The Mr. L. A. Club will run through his property and the drive is laid out follows the shore around the Tallow Lodge and includes the drive to Kabl Inn, resort, which will make a beautiful drive through beautiful scenery of seven miles when completed.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Kalkaska has a fine band, but it has allowed cows to run the streets until last week.

The new C. & A. depot at Petoskey was occupied by the public last Sunday for the first time. It is a handsome affair and one the town may well feel proud of.

The Pere Marquette Co. is doing a good work for themselves and for the people of the state in working to locate immigrants on the vacant lands along their lines in Northern Michigan. Let the good work go on.

W. H. Chandler of Elk Rapids, expects to soon move to Boston to reside. Mr. Chandler is well known throughout Antrim county and has many friends who wish best wishes will follow him to his new home.

East Jordan Enterprise: W. A. Loveday received a telegram this morning (Thursday) announcing the fact that his father, D. C. Loveday with his wife and daughter Louisa, landed in Boston this morning from a trip of several months through the places of interest in Europe.

And now Boyne City is interesting Cleveland men in a project to build an iron furnace at the head of Pine Lake, with good prospects of success.

The huckleberry crop is immense this year and thousands of bushels are sold to be rotting on the vines in Crawford county alone. The price is good but the pickers are far from plentiful.

The new M. E. church at Elk Rapids was dedicated Sunday, August 18. Rev. M. D. Carrel will have charge of the service and Rev. Wm. Baker, D. D., will preach the sermons both morning and evening. Special music of a fine class has been prepared by a large chorus. The building is a beautiful structure and a credit to the village.

Mr. F. Shay, of Harbor Springs, has fallen into the habit of celebrating his birthday, which falls on the 17th day of July, by giving the old soldiers and Women's Relief Corps of Harbor Springs and visitors a free ride on the railroad and a picnic up in the woods. This year the picnic was held in a maple grove on the farm of Mr. Frank Gettty and from reports in the Harbor Springs papers the attendance was large and the outing full of pleasure to the guests of Mr. Shay.

East Jordan Enterprise: There was a case of suicide in town Monday, the unfortunate being a horse belonging to the East Jordan Lumber Co. He had been melancholy for some time and on this day when on the dock near the foot of Antrim street, he lay down on the edge and rolled off into the lake dragging with him his mate. The latter was gotten loose from the suicide and swam to the foot of William St. where he was landed. This is the second case of deliberate suicide horse within the past eight years.

On last Tuesday morning occurred the regret to an accident which took place a year ago last June. At that time the four year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper while playing, swallowed a kind of bluing bag. He became sick and was so for about four weeks, becoming so poor and weak that his parents were obliged to carry him around. But he finally became better and has been troubled but little since, up till Tuesday, when in a violent coughing fit he raised the bluing bag. The doctor said it had been lying on his lungs all that time only to be choked off at the late day.—Bellaire Sentinel.

New York Tribune Farmer.

A NEW OLD PAPER

For sixty years the NEW YORK WEEKLY TRIBUNE has been a national weekly newspaper read almost entirely by farmers, and has enjoyed the confidence and support of the American people to a degree never attained by any similar publication.

The New York Tribune Farmer

is made absolutely for farmers and their families. The first number was issued November 7th, 1901.

Every department of agricultural industry is covered by special contributors who are leaders in their respective lines, and the TRIBUNE FARMER will not be in every sense a high class, up to date, live, enterprising agricultural paper, profusely illustrated with photos of live stock, model farm buildings and homes, agricultural machinery, etc.

Farmers' wives, sons and daughters will find special pages for their entertainment.

Regular price, $1.00 per year. But you can buy it with your favorite home weekly newspaper, the CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL, one year for $2.00.

Send your subscriptions and orders to the CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL, Charlevoix, Mich.

Send your name and address to the New York Tribune Farmer, New York City, and a free sample copy will be mailed to you.

RADICAL INJUNCTION ISSUED BY JUDGE KELLER.

Supply Dumps Not Allowed Near Destitute Mines—Contributions Are Distributed Many Miners Are Homeless.

An injunction that will practically end the strike of coal miners in the Indiana district was issued by Judge Keller in the United States District Court in Chicago. It is directed against the officers of the United Mine Workers of America, and prohibits distributing of "provisions, or money for the purpose of buying provisions, by the operators' agents to the miners' families, and now being carried on by the order of Mrs. Mitchell, of Virginia, from Indianapolis, Ind., and Springfield, Virginia. It prevents the delivery of provisions to the miners' families, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Fahey, Mr. Dillon, Mr. Mahon, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Nelson, Mr. Dolan, Mr. Dowling, Mr. Ratchford

MARINE NEWS

The steamer Jesse L. Hackley was towed here Monday by the tug Wheeler from Manitou Island with a broken crank shaft. She is at Washburn's satellite ship awaiting repairs.

The Manitowoc Drydock Company announces that by November 1, 1892, the tools necessary for the repairing of steel tonnage of all kinds will be installed, and within two years the plant will be in shape for building steel vessels.

The schooner Jennie Weaver carried out the last cargo—30,000 feet—of lumber from the Kirby Carpenter Lumber Company docks at Menominee, thus ending a business that has been running over sixty years, and which was once the largest of its kind in America.

Yesterday the tug Dennis Iron, of this port was sold to Geo. R. Clarke, of Detroit. The Dennis Iron was owned by the Charlevoix and Vessel Owners Tug Association, J. L. Hudridge and P. D. Campbell. Her new owner is a Detroit contractor, who will use her in towing his scows, the Capt. Baker who made the deal, starts for Detroit with her at once.

Announcement is made from Detroit that Capt. Mott Smith of the Work or Favorite has concluded finally to retire from active service. Capt. Smith brought the Favorite out as a wrecker after the old Leviathan had been destroyed by fire, and with the exception of a temporary retirement of two seasons mainly for the benefit of his health, has been in command ever since. Prior to going into the wrecking business Capt. Smith commanded large lake and river tugs which in their prosperous days were owned principally at Detroit. His success as a wrecking master is generally acknowledged, and it is doubtful whether a man better knew to entice marine workers on the lakes than he exists today. During his many years of active service Capt. Smith has acquired a rung competency and can therefore afford to take life easy hereafter. The home of the retiring veteran is at Detroit.

No developments have been made this week in the long drawn out strike of the lumbers. Independent tugs are growing strong at all the ports on the lakes and the Great Lakes Towing Company is making very slow headway in getting tugs into service. No matter what is the final outcome of the strike both sides have made losses which can never be recovered. If tugs enough can be secured to move the lumber that has been cut there will be a great deal of suffering among the families of strikers, for the season is fast drawing to a close and there will be little work for the men after the season closes. The vessels are headed by such sloggers as Messrs. McDaniels and Harry Moore. Tenor and Zoll Bassos respectively assist by Mr. Hat the musical Hans, prima donna and a strong chorus and singers and even counters.

The lady soloist will include Miss Mattie Barrington and Mrs. Rose Sonis of Chicago.

The show will be in the form of a 2 act farce comedy entitled "Down Home." The first act depicts one of those delightful independent country scenes where the darky is seen at his best in his most natural condition.

The second act portrays the upper crust of colored society with its superior assumed grace and elegance.

During the action of the play a number of clever specialties will be introduced and a vein of clean pure yet homely humor will pervade all.

The show will close with a real hot hoe down wing dance accompanied by an old fashioned banjo, tambourine cakewalk movements executed as only a Southern negro can do it.

Don't forget the Lin Carter August 15th.

SCHOOL COMMON COLUMN.

A. A. JONES, EDITOR.

The teachers will take notice that the examination will commence the next year will be found on the following sections.

Oct. 1892,—"Merchant of Venice," —Shakespeare.

Oct. 1893,—"The Deserted Village," —Goldsmith.

March 1893, "Vision of Sir Launfal,"—Lowelle

June 1893, "Lycidas" of "Samson Agonistes," Milton.

The examination in Theory and Art will be based upon the same art and science of study and Tompkins' "Teacher Manual" and the Reading Circle Course.

A new winning special notice to everybody and their friends, that the county institute will be held in Charlevoix, commencing Aug. 15.

I will end notice to said Institute that to most fill out four reports to the Insp. on school inspectors in stead of three as heretofore. One for his own office, one for the township clerk, one for the State Supt. and one for the commissioner. These reports must be signed by the director and countersigned by the Moderator. The district treasurer's name and number must be noted by the director for the convenience of the State Supt. and for the county Commissioner.

THE CORNER STONE.

Its Laying Will be Made An Event of Historical Importance.

August 21st is the day selected by the Sugar Co. for the laying of the corner stone of their Charlevoix factory, although it may be changed to the 20th later, probably not.

The Boyne people have determined to make the occasion one of the conspicuous days in the history of the Charlevoix beet sugar industry.

Indeed it will be made an event calculated not only to mark an epoch in Charlevoix history, but one that will partake of the nature of a holiday. The presence of Senator Burrows and Congressman Barrah is already assured, and the management have other distinguished personages "on the string," with good prospects of getting them.

Negotiations are in progress with the famous Kalkaska Military Band, and we are safe in saying that this magnificent musical organization will be here. Vocal music is also being secured for the occasion proper, and the program will embrace features of more than usual interest.

It is hoped to make this occasion of assembling the farmers of this section—the class most vitally interested in the success of the enterprise which this event will officially inaugurate. Therefore, let it be made largely a farmers' day,—a day for mutual benefit along the lines of interchange of views and experiences.

Meanwhile, the work goes heavily on at the grounds, the gray concrete walls are rising steadily and surely. Already a large force of men is employed, and Mr. Harting says he proposes to increase the number in seven days as fast as they can be secured.

BEAVER ISLAND NEWS.

The Hart boat brought several new roomers on her Friday morning trip.

Miss Bailey, of Chicago, spent several days on the island the past week.

Several new names have arrived in town recently to make Beaver Island a permanent home.

Miss Ida Gibson and sister-in-law, Mrs. Jas. Gibson are spending a few days visiting relatives in Mackinac Island.

Fred Nackerman, who has been working at his trade in Elk Rapids all this season, returned last Monday for a few days vacation.

Father Jagender, Dr. C. C. Roth and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nackerman are spending a couple of days fishing at the head this week.

Capt. John McCauley's new house is progressing rapidly, the contract being in the hands of the well known architect, Chas. Tully, of this place.

Our highway commissioner, John Floyd is doing excellent work drawing gravel on our main street, making a much more arrivable road bed than formerly.

James McCann is putting in a new pair of large scales for weighing of hay, grain and other commodities, on the opposite side of the street from the store.

A five ten pound boy at Chauncy Lockwood's. A strapping youngster at Peter Jensen's of the same persuasion, and a cute little girl at the light house on the point who will doubtless take the place of first assistant, at least remind page Winters when it is time to get up in the night to attend to the light.

Miss Mamie Parker, of Seattle, Washington, made the island a visit the week. Miss Parker was formerly a resident of Northern Michigan, her father having done an extensive business in lumbering etc., previous to the removal of the family to Washington.

Miss Parker is a very talented young lady and is now putting the finishing touch to her education by taking a course in medicine at our own state University in Ann Arbor.

We were quite thunderstruck one day recently when a gentleman who had just arrived on one of our tug lines stepped up to me and asked if there was any fishing about the island such dense ignorance of the glorious fishing advantages on the Beaver island not so much blessed, the example of the choice fishing will die of the many which we might. Dr. Roth and son Verl went out on Fox Lake a beautiful inland body of water about half a mile from the harbor and in less than two hours fishing drew to seventy five fine perch—a good share of them weighing from quarter to a pound—a glorious supper. Time will not permit to tell the elegant pickerel, bass and trout fishing on Lake Gardner and other smaller lakes of the island. The only way to be convinced is to come to the island, put up at one of our hotels where satisfaction is certain to and see them go out and try your luck.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

Last Sunday the attendance was large at the morning service, requiring the use of some chairs from the Chapel room. The pastor preached on the subject of "Eleventh Commandment," enlarging and illustrating the three thoughts—The Novelty, the Substance and the Analogy of the Commandment. In the evening the evening the Rev. W. H. Warren D. D., of Lansing gave a short address on Home Missions. The music at both services was much enjoyed. The Sunday School had the largest attendance of any Sunday for several months. Mr. Holmes, supt. of the Boulevard Congregational Sunday School of Detroit spoke to the school for a few minutes and they left to address a Sunday School gathering at Bay View. Mr. Holmes is a live Sunday school man.

Next Sunday morning the Rev. Clarence A. Vincent D. D. of First Congregational church, Chicago, Ill., will preach, and it is hoped that many will avail themselves of the privilege of hearing such an able man.

DRUNK AND DROWNED.

Gruesome Discovery on Shore of Bay West of Petoskey.

Petoskey Resorter Sol.

This morning between the hours of seven and eight the decomposed and bloated body of an unknown man was found in the water near the shore back of the Russell place on the Charlevoix road. Deputy Sheriff Hitchcock was at once notified and Undertaker N. J. Stone and Acting Coroner Lefler hurried to the spot. A coroner's jury viewed the body and adjourned to meet again tomorrow morning. The body was brought to Stone's morgue.

The body is that of a man about thirty-five years old, heavily built, five feet, eight inches high, light complexioned, brown moustache, even and well formed teeth, and dressed in a grayish colored suit having a green and yellow thread in the pattern.

This afternoon, Jim Hansell, an Indian who has worked in the woods for a number of years in camps in Charlevoix county, identified the body as that of Fred Ford, a woodsman well known among the lumber jacks, of Point Judson, Horse City and points of the same character. Jim lived with Ford in Charlevoix where he was employed as stableman in a livery barn owned by Wm. Pearson, of Charlevoix county. Mr. Pearson was communicated with by telephone was asked what he knew of Ford. He said that he had lost, if his employ until a week ago today when he became intoxicated and was last seen sleeping off the effects of his drunk on the deck of the tug. They supposed that he had been drowned.

The fact that for the past week the winds have been in a direction favorable to the carrying of the body from Charlevoix makes it entirely probable that the body is that of Ford. Jim Hansell the Indian who first identified the body, and Geo. Gill, of Horse City, both of whom were well acquainted with Ford, say that there is no chance of mistaken identity. Hansell gave a description of a peculiar lump which he had seen on the man, make it his business. Examination showed that the lump was there, precisely as described. Little is known of Ford's family. Miles Malone for whom he resided years in Boyne Falls, says that he was brought up in Bend City by Hugh McKee, and that he has a brother, John Ford, who owns a saloon in Detroit. Those who knew him say that when sober he was an industrious, hard-working man. The disposition of the remains will be decided upon tomorrow after the sittings of the coroner's jury. Ford was last seen here on Friday night. Full Moon, when he started for the Charlevoix Lumber Co. boarding scow, with which he had been working. He only reached the tug Taylor, and was just even lying on deck, very drunk, and probably in fell into the river while trying to climb the cleats. Ford was about forty years of age.

Make a Human Bridge.

A curious custom takes place in villages of the Lessonnice district, Bohemia, in May. After Sunday services a numbers of lads cluster round the church entrance, and as the girls come out seize them one by one, one lad grasping a girl by the shoulder and the other by the ankle, the two thrine her well up while others complete passers under the human bridge thus formed. This is done in the presence of the parents, who themselves have passed through the same ordeal.

To Save Her Child.

From frightful disfigurements Mrs. Nannie Gallager, of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes its quick cure exceeded all hopes. CATARRH, CONSUMPTION, AND ASTHMA.

THE COLDEST WINTER.

Somewhat Remarkable Experience in Duluth, Minn.

In a little wayside inn at a small station some fifty miles west of Duluth a half-dozen men from various places chanced to meet recently.

The conversation opened with remarks concerning the weather, and some one remarked that the severity of winters in the different parts of the Northwest.

One man, who came from the Twin Cities, told a sad story of frozen water pipes and other household inconveniences occasioned by the frigid weather there one February.

Another recounted a tale of suffering among the cattle and beasts on a North Dakota prairie during a blizzard.

Stories were thus told until five of the group had contributed instances upon the subject.

There was a pause in the conversation until an Irishman, who sat a little apart from the others, quietly smoking a pipe, remarked: "Well, the coldest winter I ever got in was summer in Duluth.

Brain and Mental Activity.

Much the larger part of a brain is composed of white matter—that is, of nerve fibres—which has nothing whatever to do with real brain work and which only carries messages. Again if research is to be trusted, it is only the brain cells of very the that (probably the frontal) region which have to do with the highest mental operations. Now, for instance, we talk about the size of the head and head and the weight of the brain we should clearly understand that size is an institutional matter. The three pounds' weight or so of an ordinary brain can be reduced as regards brain cells—that are the agents of our nervous governance, from generally of the brain cells concerned or great brain at least bear no larger proportion to the brain's mass than the rind of a Dutch Gouda does to the entire portion.

—Mrs. Dr. Thorburn returned from Lake Arthur Monday night accompanied by her brother, Mr. Walter Harris.

—Fred M. Throw, secretary of the State Tax Commission, was in town Tuesday and Wednesday, on official business.

—Mrs. A. D. Olin and her daughter Miss Agnes, of Grand Rapids, arrive to day as the guests of Mrs. W. A. Smith, for a few days.

—Those heavy island experiences on the steamer Beaver are becoming very popular. It is a very pleasant way of spending the day.

—The arrival of Count de Beaud, of Chicago late of Paris, is expected at Charlevoix the end of this week. Many entertainments are been arranged in his honor.

—Another old soldier returned to visit his old Charlevoix friends this week, William Kinney, who is now living at west salem, Ohio. Mr. Kinney left here ten years ago.

—On Friday evening of this week the ladies of the Episcopal church will hold a sale of handkerchiefs, fancy articles and cake at the store building recently occupied by Mr. Olin.

—Died, at the home of her sister, Mrs. S. Orlowski, in this village Monday morning, Miss Mary O'Leary, aged 21. The funeral was held at St. Mary's Catholic church Wednesday.

—Mrs. Rhodes and children, of Lake Huron, Wis., are visiting at Henry Sherman. Mr. Rhodes, who formerly was keeper of the Inness resorts, and is now doing the same position at Cedar River.

—The SENTINEL is not what it should be this week—due to a perfect avalanche of job work, and our inability to get adequate help to do it. We shall make up when we dig out from under the landslide.

—Mr. D. L. Bissell and wife, of Chicago are here for a few weeks, among old friends. Mr. Bursell is principal of the H. H. Harding public school, in Chicago. In 1880-1 he instructed was superintendent of Charlevoix schools.

—The Indian Camp meeting north of this village, which closed Sunday, was largely attended by Indians from all parts of the Grand Traverse region, many white people from the neighboring resorts also visiting the grounds during the meetings. The Indian Indian camp meeting will commence on Northport August 19th next Monday.

—The SENTINEL prints in this issue a letter from George H. Van Pelt the good cord and word pulling advocate, and we feel like it should be a lot of the words even now this can be done by cutting and burning not this is now the only time for us to do so, one and all destroy all the words we can.

—A lodge of cynic humorists, a building also considered equal to any known by architects, has been discovered on the property of A. Bellfam, on the Elm Point a little from here. The deposit is apparently inexhaustible. A quarry will be opened at once and the stone placed on the market. The state geologist, architect, analyzer and other experts, which is visiting Dakota.

—Mrs. Ida McCafferty, widow of the late John McCafferty, died at her home in this village last Thursday. Mrs. McCafferty was a sister of Mrs. Jos. Hyland Jr. The funeral occurred Sunday morning, Rev. T. H. Hughes officiating.

—Married, at Mt. Pleasant, Mich., Wednesday, August 9th, Mr. Olney Guy Morse to Miss Laura Bunn. Mr. and Mrs. Morse arrived here last Saturday, and will board at the Euton for a time. Mrs. Morse was formerly a Charlevoix school teacher, and her friends wish her —Everything looks favorable for a great big day the 21st of this month, when the corner stone of the sugar factory will be laid with appropriate exercises. Senator Burrows and Congressman Darragh will be here, and other distinguished men will participate. There will be fine music, and a general festival commensurate with the importance of the occasion.

—The entertainment given by the waiters at the Inn Casino last Wednesday night, was an event worthy the attention of the public. Long before going to press proceeds, neither little nor big. It is spoken of as a high grade of amusement, entirely enjoyable and highly commendable in many features. We are sorry we cannot particularize.

—Mr. George Sidney Phelps, of Milwaukee, dropped in on his cousin Mrs. W. A. Smith, yesterday, on his way to Lake Jordan to visit his relatives. He will return here tomorrow. Mr. Phelps is secretary of the Educational Board of the National U. R. C. A., and is one of the five young men selected by the National Board to go to Japan in the interest of T. M. C. A. work. He will leave for the land of the Chrysanthemum early fall.

—The old J. M. Thompson home, now the Chicago Resort Island, occupied by Lee Howland, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire Monday afternoon. Mrs. Howland was a little nearly in applying a match to the gasoline stove after the gas had been turned on, and when she was absent, setting the kitchen on fire. Capt. John Gener, was about the first on the spot, and he extinguished the blaze with a pail of water, getting his hands quite severely burned while doing so.

—A Mackinaw gazette says: Gov. Rich, while here a few days ago, got warmly enthusiastic over sugar beets. He said that the state is going to load the country in acres of beets grown and with operated. He is as large a sugar beet himself. Last year he grew over 200 acres on his Saginaw farm, and the net profits were $35 an acre. This season he has a larger acreage planted and next year it is his intention to increase the acreage to 200, which, at the rate of $35, would mean a net profit of $7,000.

—An exchange gets off this in a request to get in the news. It says: "If you know of an item, kindly tell us about it. Don't think we are about to know such things that we don't know and we know that you know we can't know as well as you will you kindly tell us. Now if you tell us what you know then we will tell you what we know and you know, then our readers will know what they know and what we know, and also what we know that you know we know, you know."

—Next Thursday is the day! And it will be a day to be remembered. The sugar Company, acting in conjunction with the construction company, propose to make the commencing laying of the factory an event long to be remembered. It will be an epoch marking day, for it officially inaugurates a great industry, an industry that will add a lot of money to the county of Charlevoix, but one that belongs to the farmers of the region contiguous to Charlevoix. Come to town Thursday, August 21st, meet your United States Senator, your congressman, and your neighbor over in the other county.

—The executive committee of the corner Stone celebration have engaged Professor Wittmer Band of Grand Rapids, for the fête. This is one of the leading bands of Michigan, and will prove a great attraction. At the same score attractions were added will be furnished by a quartette composed of Florence Smith, of Charlevoix, tenor; Mrs. M. K. Sunderlage, of Detroit contralto; Mr. Jacobs and and Dr. Wales, of Charlevoix, tenor and bass, respectively. Mrs. Sunderlage, who is one of the leading singers of Detroit, will sing a solo. Thus it will be seen, the attractions are many and and variety of tastes.

CHAPTER V.

Vanitas Tanewall's father had been a large slave owner and a prominent man in the State. The war had more nearly ruined him than it had many of his neighbors, for he refused to accept any share of the loss of abused property. Instead he loaned his money to the cause and died his generous. The great house where he lived was burned by Sherman's army, the year twenty-three, and the slaves, freed from their bondage, were scattered to the winds. The year twenty-three is more recent than the year twenty-three in Georgia, and the large acreage was soon divided over to the enterprise tenants who had worked for the old master, and who were anxious to own some of the fine cotton fields. Some of the tenants were more prosperous than others, and one and another had saved a little money in addition. Their prosperity excited a jealous interest among the other tenants, who had worked with as eager zeal, earned and without a cent to show for it.

Vanitas had passed her girlhood in the academy attached to the village, and had learned her father's business, she was the only person who was left who was sympathetic with his quiet philosophies in money matters, and who could appreciate the change in fortune. She observed the tenants from the point such interest had. Other prominent planters admitted, if it was the same to them, and began again. Father and daughter were there together during these years, and the hand was in his as he faced death with the same calm determination he had suffering.

At his funeral, her beauty and stately, queenly manner had attracted an audience that was very well impressed. Vanitas grew to remembered in the engagement secret of the capital. Here she met General Tanewall. He spoke to her feelingly of her father. The man spoke with emotion when he referred to the old gentleman. He was glad, he said, to be spent in the service of his State. He was in Washington to state his position, to realize Federal compensation. It was a tender point, he was sorry to have to bring it up, but he had come to him, and with Vanitas, he hoped, he would be fair. He became a boon in the girl's eyes. He was a gallant, courtly gentleman. He was already a great man, a leader in the Southern Democracy, a politician to win a young girl's heart. Vanitas was young, and her ideas were even through her life had been more than ordinarily high. Her mother died when she was a little girl, and her father was her companion. General Tanewall, after marriage, was to take her to Washington, where "she belonged," he said, and he would be proud to be her escort in society.

The general was not long in making his suit. He was a man who knew what he was about, and who was accustomed to win and the number of slaves he was a large planter, and was considered a good match. Vanitas could not be for long but Caring. He was a man who was proud of the prosperity of the railroad by the Granite Falls Cotton Mills, and he had it all in his hands. High fate now that came a sharp pain to his side, just where the bullet had scrambled from his pelvis. "I shan't a moment in heavenly." he said, "I'm sorry, so sorry that he Cora was disturbed, and he saw the pain a moment. He kept quite still, suffering again. The pain left him as soldiers do in case, and he fanned himself in the tent composedly. After a few minutes he walked to the window and looked out on the seat. His wife, in a white muslin gown, was sitting on the grass in the lawn. It seemed to him she had never looked so beautiful before, as he gazed the clear lines of her profile, the curves of the full neck, and the round arms showing through the thin sleeves. The birds sang in the trees, the sky was most pulsating in the air, and the earth gave off a warm, rich odor. The pain crept over his eyes and sought to recall the pain and its location. Into for a slight gallbladder an effect had passed. It might have been immaterial, but the suggestion did not bring much comfort to his mind. Suppose it was what he feared, what was his intuition, if inter worry, if he should be found? What had he got out of it? He was rich beyond his own conception, and he was in the high plane, but a parsimonious turn, a turn of mind from enjoying his wealth, and a nervous dread of losing it had grown on him with the increase of power.

Nothing of the cause so high, and then his mind dwelt on the disposition of his property after him. He was childless. The complaint of the Christian's name was that of his wife or of a young thought. He had encouraged Lieutenant Hugh Hall to come to the Granite Mills entertainment. Hugh was a successful young man, and the manager was anxious to do almost the general oversight of a business that was growing. He was a fine fellow, Hugh was, and he was that had expected, if he died, to see Vanitas married to him. Hugh was a stranger to the Southern Methodist Church, and he was the minister, and the minister was the minister, and the minister was the minister, and the minister

PROTECTION FACTS

RESULTS ACCOMPLISHED UNDER THE DINGLEY LAW.

Enormous Increase of the Business of the Telegraph and Telephone Companies Compared with Corresponding Period Ending Five Years Ago.

Time was when the telegraph messages may have been considered a luxury, but for many years it has been a necessity and is as much an indication of prosperity or adversity as the weather vane is an indication of the direction of the wind. The large business houses must resort to the telegraph many times a day, while the individual knows the value of saving a few hours, sometimes a few minutes, in important transactions. The following table shows the receipts of the Western Union Telegraph company for the past fourteen fiscal years:

1890	22,387,029	1897	22,838,809
1891	23,094,827	1898	23,512,763
1892	22,196,405	1899	23,954,512
1893	24,278,443	1900	24,336,239
1894	21,857,695	1901	24,394,141
1895	22,218,619	1902*	27,500,000

*Estimated.

It will be seen that up to 1893 there was a constant increase. From 1893 to 1897 there was a decrease, while from 1897 there has been not only a recovery of the business but during the free trade Wilson-Gorman tariff, but a very substantial increase. This great increase during the operation of the Dingley tariff it must be remembered has been gained in spite of an enormous advance in telephone business. Despite the constantly increasing business of the Western Union company there has been a proportionate increase in the business of the Postal Telegraph company and over railroad and private wires.

The increase in telephone business can be seen from the following figures of subscribers and employes since 1894:

Calendar year	Subscribers.	Employes.
1894	291,000	21,000
1895	[illegible]	21,364
1896	355,000	21,500
1897	370,744	24,125
Average annual increase	19,935	1,035
1898	354,220	24,850
1899	430,000	12,000
1900	432,546	26,241
1901	440,000	32,677
Average annual increase	18,932	2,335

Nearly five times the average annual increase under the protective Dingley tariff as under the free trade Wilson-Gorman tariff. It will be interesting in this connection to compare the annual number of telephone messages in different countries. They stand as follows, according to the latest statistics:

United States, 1900	12,724,279
Russia, 1898	102,421,135
Germany, 1899	140,934,240
France, 1898	141,296,883
Great Britain, 1900	167,476,448
United States, 1901	5,200,000,000

The United States does more telephoning than all the rest of the world combined at a rate of from 4 to 10 cents a message. All this has been made possible by the good prosperity brought to the country by the Dingley tariff.

Greatest of Commercial Travelers.

Hard to Be Candid.

The very men who raise the issue are the men who have found fault so atrociously in the past with those who have favored a protective tariff because the tariffers had to put out in it. It was in response to the complaint that a duty was placed upon beef cattle, the product of the American farm. Now that what they complained of for not being done has been done, those same complainers are raising a howl and saying the duty on cattle and beef is the foundation of the beef trust. It is so hard for some people to be candid when discussing a question that so materially affects the living of so many of the people of the country. The issue involved in all its bearings ought to be discussed on a higher plane than that of petty partisan politics.—Knoxville (Tenn.) Tribune.

Would Alienate the Farmers.

The first change proposed in the tariff is one that will lower protection on products of the farm—beet sugar and tobacco. Democrats are getting back to their old policy of tariff taxing, and the protection question will certainly be a leading issue of the coming campaign. Where will the Republican party be when the farmers alienated? The party leaders are beginning to go a little slow on the sugar question.—Davenport (Iowa) Republican.

Only Genuine Brand.

The kind of reciprocity which Blaine favored, which President McKinley stood for in the great Buffalo speech and which the Republican party has declared for is the only genuine brand and the only kind that true protectionists will favor.—Valley Mills (Texas) Progressist.

Prosperous.

The Democrats will have to draft men to run for offices on their state tickets this fall. There are too many for them for Democratic success.—Findlay (Ohio) Republican.

WOULD NOT SUIT FARMERS.

Injurious Effects of Unrestricted Reciprocity in Canadian Agricultural Products.

Canada purchases a large value of merchandise of us because it is to her advantage to do so. There is not a particle of merit in the transaction since Canada has never been reciprocal to the United States. The proposition has been urged under the name of reciprocity since 1870. Such an arrangement existed once and was revoked by the United States as a bad bargain in 1866 or 1867.

The duties on Canadian products were increased in the Dingley law at the earnest request of farmers. It was a period of depression, and of these cattle, horses, hay, poultry, vegetables and small fruits generally than there was a market for. Never, man who keeps the run of such matters will deny it. The stock growers declared the business was unprofitable in 1894-95, because Canadian cattle could be Americanized by payment of a nominal duty. Horses were a drug, they set forth in their statement to congress, because Canada and Mexico could bring them into the border cities by payment of a nominal duty. Hay, poultry, vegetables, market truck and like products were a drug in all the section of the country, because Canada could ship them into the border cities and the like by the payment of a nominal duty. The result was a glutted market and bad prices. Specific instances happened to the Dingley law, and in the years cited cases were given, a satisfactory value in Indiana cities. Days saw the prices of such articles are high because of the half or less than half crop of last year. Abundance may come next year, when, even with the greater demand, prices will shrink without Canada's crop. And for this giving up of a market Canada gives nothing in return. Indiana farmers pay taxes to support government, and they are large consumers of the products of the factory. Considering the case, the Journal believes they have a right to an advantage in the home market. The giving away of the home farmer's market to Canada is a present to Canadian farmers, who are, from many our larger cities, who get cheaper self and use pay cheaper taxes.

If Canada's friends in the United States are so anxious for what, by figure of speech, they call reciprocity, why do they not inquire that Canada shall produce before negotiations begin, that the duty on American merchandise shall be the same as the duty on foreign merchandise (about of 25 per cent higher? This during treaties against the United States is never mentioned by the advocates of unalloyed reciprocity, probably because they know that great Britain, which makes Canada's trade treaties, will not consent to equal duties on merchandise imported into Canada. The advantage of 25 per cent in favor of foreign goods is equivalent to a protective duty of 25 per cent for the manufacture of Free-Trade England when imported into Canada.—Indianapolis Journal.

Remember 1893.

Shall history repeat itself in the matter of Tariff revision? Is the country prepared to duplicate the folly of 1892? Congressman McCleary of Minnesota in a letter to some of his constituents answers these questions in a broad, comprehensive, clear and philosophical manner. Ten years ago the people of the United States were persuaded that prices were too high and that in order to bring about a general reduction in values the McKinley Tariff should be repealed. It was repealed, and prices fell tumbling. Four years later the problem was, How shall prices be increased? This time the Democratic solution was, A Fifty-Cent Dollar. McKinley proposed and a better way to restore the good prices that had been foolishly flung away in 1892. His plan was to open the mills instead of the mints. His plan was accepted. Prices revived under the workings of a Republican Protective Tariff. All person retired—prices of things to be sold, prices of things to be bought, prices of labor. Tremendous prosperity resulted, greater than any people in any period or nation hitherto had ever known. That prosperity has continued for nearly five years. There is no back to it, right. This again, however, it is contended that prices are too high. Again it is proposed to lower prices by Tariff revision. It was done in that way eight years ago. It can be done again in that way. Shall it be done?

He Continues to Howl.

Uncle Sam, "What's the matter with that dog?" Will nothing satisfy him but another total eclipse of the moon?

Not Precisely Generous.

There has never been a generous monopoly, but there have been some opulent ones, that served to reduce the cost of protection.—Kansas City Star.

For 12 months the free trade monopoly of 1893-6 produced things temporarily at a reduced cost by cutting wages 10 per cent and reducing the purchasing power of the masses. That can hardly be called monopolistic generously.

Sir Henry M. Stanley is now devoting himself almost exclusively to romantic life, and developing into a gentle man farmer.

CREW PRIZE IN LOTTERY.

Wonderful Luck of Foreign on United States Battleship.

Lieutenant Commander A. B. Wyatt, whose family lives in a Philadelphia suburb, has written an interesting letter home from his ship the Iowa, which is cruising in South American waters with the Boston squadron. The Iowa's crew has had lots of luck lately. Its squadron was ordered to the harbor of a little seaport city just when such excitement as a lottery drawing must be in point. Mr. Wyatt was in a motor ship of his own bought for $1 a one-tenth chance at the first pay day and then, out of curiosity, attended the drawing. There was a regular Spanish regatta for a time, and a dark-skinned native passed on a board a number. The same as that which had won. He stood and he said afterward speak the bed to wake out into the sea. His delight was unmistakable. But some day one of the officials of the lottery issued to him aboard his ship a bag of $10,000 in gold. He got $4,000 of it and as he is also married, he thinks the money will come in very handy.

Fight on the Sugar Tariff.

It is pleasing to note in the dispatches from Washington that the members of the Michigan delegation in the house are standing solidly by the best sugar interests and opposing every attempt to change the tariff. Our best sugar industry has developed under the benefit of the protective tariff and will continue to do so as long as the tariff is undisturbed. Wind changes would follow a reduction of the duty on sugar. Cuban sugar is protected but it is certain the industry of the island would be given a boost from which it might not recover.

From the beet sugar states farmers and factory men are sending petitions to congress protesting against any change in the tariff. Not a few of these petitions will have in for the future to decide. The question is fought with the greatest fury for dividends, where the beet sugar interests are of no importance, and also in states where it other states that are not contributing to the business. The Dail of petitions should not cause small kind action is taken.—Bay City Tribune.

Is This Reasonable.

Do the citizens plan that if the Republicans don't do it the Democrats will? Mr. Roberts of Massachusetts introduced a bill for a reduction of the duty of 1 cent per pound on sugar. Why not urge the repeal of the Dingley law as a whole, or, as from that the Democrats would do it, if they had the power. To do things that the party would done, but the party himself undertakes to do it and the Republicans are unwilling. Is a lower tariff on practical policies and practical statesmanship. Politics advantages have not usually been gained by the party of economy. Time and the party of economy. Time and Mr. Roberts evidently is a new convert to the school of tariff tinkering theorists who would be made dangerous if they were more numerous. As the matter stands they are just enough to attract some attention when they make foolish suggestions that are not succeeded in attracting some attention.

Where Foreign Lies.

Some people are coming to pay attention to the relatively insignificant to the United States market after our own tariff. This fact, however, is aimed only at manufactures, and the United States tariff does not discriminate. It differs from almost all other tariffs in the world in having a uniform rate of duty upon from all foreign countries, now indeed, those with which reciprocity agreements have been made. Although considering the high wages which it provides, our American tariff is very much less restrictive than that of most Continental nations.—Boston Journal.

Under Dingley duties we have the safe exchange of tariff laws under which all the world is treated exactly alike, and enjoyed upon the declared sum of reciprocity treaties which favor one nation at the expense of another, and so provoke ill will and retaliation.

One Consumer.

It is already suspected that when Mr. Immonsen states that a reduced duty on raw sugar would operate as a seizure to the consumer of Indiana, he means the trust, together with the consumer only, the American sugar-refining company. The Sugar Trust is practically the only consumer of raw sugar imported into the United States, and there is the best of reason for believing that this one consumer would get the Hoosiers, if not the entire nation, of the saving of $5,000,000. Confounding an issue by a set of sophistries that are well calculated to the fact that nobody has heard Hemenway open the mouth or the tariff reduction of the duty on refined sugar. That's different.

Wise Men.

The sugar trust has a purity bureau to working overtime organizing poverty stricken Spaniards in Cuba in the hope of getting the duty on raw sugar reduced so that the poor Cuban may well go into the products of the Cuban planter on wage earner? The spectacle ought to give a very serious outlook of the philanthropy of the sugar trust.—N. Y. Sun.

Reciprocity.

Reciprocity is a fine thing. It has two "ri's" in it that can be pronounced the longer with the effect. Just to practice it is a good thing. It has been tried. Usually speaking gets claimed to a house fresh.

Reciprocity is a fine thing. It is observed that the tariff tinker offers the American people as the Yankee Chinese Dodo's Monument.

Reciprocity Treaties.

Enough has been a free trade nation just the same. Under a Republican tariff we have reciprocity in a fine way. It has been tried. Reciprocity treaties are just numerous enough to attract some attention when they make foolish suggestions that are not succeeded in attracting some attention.

McMILLAN DEAD.

Michigan's Senior Senator Succumbs to Heart Disease At His Summer Home.

Senator James McMillan died suddenly of his summer home, at Manchester, Mass., Saturday morning, of heart failure.

In the death of Senator McMillan Michigan has lost one of its ablest men and one of its noblest characters in the senate of the United States he was one of the foremost in influence, and was recognized as wise and safe in all matters affecting the interests of his state.

It may be deemed in bad taste to speak of his successor in office, but it is a question that forces governor Bliss now, and five months later must face the legislature.

Among the names mentioned R. A. Alger leads. Gen. Alger is close to the hearts of the people of Michigan who, not only recognized his great personality, but feel that he deserves the senatorship, not as a vindication, for he needs none, but as a token of their confidence in him.

We believe that when it comes to the legislature, there will be no question but that Alger will go to the Senate.

—Don't sell the "Sidby"; it is a reserve force, and a good general in the field always provides for a reserve. Our water works fire protection issue then all, as was demonstrated in the recent fire, but Superintendent Gaskill thinks the Works were worked to their limit on that night. A high southwest wind, such as that which prevailed when the Wood lath burned, several years ago, or a broken main or pump, would have focused a disastrous fire in the business street. In such an emergency, the Sidby would have come to the front and covered a multitude. You old veterans know what that means. The steamer may be idle for two years, and then pay for itself in one cold stormy night, when a frozen hydrant, or a broken main puts out the energy of the "devouring element." Heretofore it has been often tested, and it never failed to do its duty. With our magnificent water works, our efficient fire department, and the powerful Sidby, we are strike armed against the dread destroyer. Whatever you do, gentlemen of the council, don't sell the Sidby.

—Geo. H. Hatton, chief engineer of the U. S. lighthouse tender Dahlia, has tendered his resignation to take effect September 1st. Mr. Hatton is 70 years of age, and enjoys the distinction of having been the engineer of the first lighthouse tender on the lakes—the Hare—early in the 60s. He has been chief engineer of the Dahlia since she was built 28 years ago. In the Dahlia he has been supplanted with some of the most distinguished men of the navy—Capt. Clark, of Santiago renown, Admiral Walker, who succeeded Dewey, Capt. Dayton, now of the crusier Chicago, Capt. Lostie, who commands the new Maine, and present lighthouse inspector, Commander Lovett Lounge, who who possesses a congressional gold medal, a sword from Kentucky, his native State, and what has been pestiferous to him, but one man before him, Henry Clay—honorably, considerably in the Kentucky legislature—all the more spiteous because in the time of duty. Engineer Hatton' name is in Detroit, to which he returns to end age with a consciousness of duty well performed.

Correspondence.

Charlevoix, Mich., August 21, 1902.

Mr. Editor: I am not one of those who are in the habit of grumbling or fault finding, but here is a case in which I believe I am justified in kicking and finding fault.

Last night was the night for the regular meeting of Harter Post, of the G. A. R. A few of the boys had got together, transcribed their regular business, had been dismissed and just broke ranks to start for their homes when the doors of the hall were thrown open and in rushed a lady or romping girls. To say that the boys were astonished and surprised is putting it lightly. There they were, some of them without having given their shoes an extra shine, or even adjusting their four-in-hand, or even seeing that their locks were properly adjusted over the bald spots of their manly brows. However they saw they were in for it, and the most forward of them were soon mingling with the fair visitors just as though the thing had been prearranged.

A few of the more learned of the boys set back and were heard to say: "What does this all mean; what brought them here?" But soon they smelled the aroma of coffee and then they seemed to brighten up and act a little more cheerful, but still the grumbler was heard to mutter, "If this gang going to give us some coffee I wish they would bring it on."

A particular movement was notable among some of the girls and soon several of them appeared with each an armful of plates. All were told to be seated and soon the most forward and seemingly the most favored of the boys were termed in a close circle with those of the girls who seemed to be more intent on entertaining the boys than on serving them. Here grumbler was again heard to mutter, this is gross, entertainment, to sit and build an empty plate." But here came a girl with a basket of sandwiches, another with a plate of pickles, another with a tureel of doughnuts and others distributing cups of smoking hot coffee, cream and sugar, and other good things.

Grumbler again growled that the coffee was too strong, it was suggested that he weaken it with cream, which he proceeded to do. Thought will fly on letting theirs to boys remove and reduce for anything we discovered how some of the born women have lined at our hive to have encouraged the skippery hard-tac and sour sow belly that they musoled on during the recent attack of Tampa, the southern camp, for just such a feast as they were now enjoying.

Again thought set in by question, was not this some of the bright, peaceful and pleasure giving girls that were left behind in the states? The answer was suggestive, and they then commended the noble good work of their lives by giving up their young husbands and lovers and encouraging them to go forth to do battle for the country they loved.

When the storm of the war had spent its fury and the clouds had cleared away the returning lovers and husbands were united and resulted in the faithful and true sweethearts and wives, who were now to help and encouraged them through the coming battles of life, and well have they sustained their parts. Nor was their good works to be confined to their own families. The pillow on which tested many an invalids head has been made smooth and comfortable by their ministering hands, and the approach to the grave in many a case has been shorn of its gloom by their loving presence. It can be truly said that to other association of women of equal numbers has accomplished as equal amount of tangible good to the visible as they.

To their exertion is the public of this township at least indebted for the more respectable and beautiful appearance of the cemetery, though it must be conceded that the public does not seem to fully appreciate and second their efforts. Let us hope that the lack of appreciation of the public will not discourage them nor make them weary of their well doing, lest that they may still go on adding to their couplers and their good works long after the last member of the Grand Army has passed the bars.

So my kick and complaint, instead of censure for the intrusion, has run into words of praise for the intruders, but my words of praise are altogether inadequate and unwortly the true merits of those in whose favor they are written, and can only say as they in France, "Love the the W. R. C."

George H. VanPelt on Weeds.

Mr. Dear Sentinel.

Weeds will be the subject of my theme tonight. I have just returned from a long drive and weeds haunt me. Weeds almost every where. If not on the good farmer's land today they will be soon, because his neighbor has plenty, and the seeds will scatter. The season is now well nigh over, and the weeds have pretty nearly all gone to seed. Farmers, are yourselves and then answer this question. Am I any better off today or far as weeds are concerned than I was one year ago?

I know of some, yes, a good many who cannot answer in the affirmative, but whose farms have depreciated in actual value, a great deal more than all they have made in this years work, and in some cases this has been going on for years. This is what a very thrifty Hollanders said after a days work cutting weeds on another man's place. Unless the farmers here cut and destroy the weeds on their farms they will be worthless inside 5 years and I think he is pretty nearly right. I counted over 40 little patches of Canada Thistles and Milk Weeds one day, some of them not more than six or eight feet square that would have not taken an average of 5 minutes each to cut them with a scythe, and the most of them were allowed to go to seed, and there were seeds enough on these patches to ultimately destroy 10 farms. Some farmers when they die, instead of having a farm they will grow good crops, and enable their left behind to take good care of them selves, will leave it have already for them, simply a worthless tract of land that will keep them left behind. Go fighting weeds as long as they remain on the farm, and then say well awaken to the fact their fathers instead of providing well for them, have left them a worthless inheritance. Which would any begin good young man when? A small farm thoroughly kept, on a large one all overrun with weeds?

There are many young men and boys today, who will later on "throw up the sponge and cry quits" to the old farm when "old man" has passed away, just because he left more weeds, than anything else, and they will sell, even at a sacrifice, all they have and say to

—with the farm, I can get a living easier some other way.

When a boy I well remember exchanging work with a neighbor, and when it came my turn to help him out it was to rake and bind oats, and when night came I had more Canada Thistle prickers in my hands than would, well, I don't swear about it now, for that was 30 years ago, but how well I remember the prophecy of the man I was working for at that time. "Old Bill Howard sure's hard his farm a great while, but the man who has the mortgage will, and he won't have much either." When I war back to the old place last April, I asked about this same old Bill Howard, and was told he had been dead many years. Who has his farm? I asked, and the reply was no one in particular, when Bill died, it was run down, and covered with weeds, Bill farm had all gone to rack and ruin and since then it has been sold and resold a dozen times, but no good farmers would take it at any price. So its always occupied by some poor shiftless cuss of a fellow. Now brother farmers, this is an object lesson to you, and its a true one too. Let us all ask ourselves. What kind of farms are we going to leave to our children? If it be to a poor worthless weedy one, tell the children to go away from home now while they have a chance to get something better, and later on they will thank you, and in also choices out of it, they probably will be in condition to help you in in your old age, but the better way will be to put in your farms in good shape, because there are no class of men on earth that can be so happy, and get so much comfort out of life as a good prosperous farmer, and what is more there is no better place for farming that right here in our midst. We have the best the climate, water and timber. We can grow all kinds of crops profitably, and you need not look any farther to better yourselves, for you can do it.

Yours Truly,
GEORGE H. VAN PELT.

Resolution 1.

Resolved, by the Common Council of the Village of Charlevoix, that whereas the said Village of Charlevoix has been duly incorporated and has adopted the charter provided by law to make the following public improvements, viz: Grading and gravelling the streets, a water with sufficient pressure for the extinguishment of fires, including the construction of the necessary reservoirs, pumping machinery, fire hydrants, main pipes, connections, etc., and a system of sewers in Bridge street south of Pine River from a point in the center of said street and about twenty feet from the south line of Pine River where sewer connections will be made with the sewer system of said Village.

Whereas, the plans and specifications for said public improvement, submitted to and approved by the Common Council of said Village and Board of Public Works, by resolution, have adopted by said Common Council.

Now, therefore, the said committee on Sewers and Public Works is hereby directed to prepare and cause advertisements to be published calling for the performance of said work and furnishing materials and for the performance of said work.

Resolution 2.

Resolved, by the Common Council of the Village of Charlevoix, that the cost of said improvement shall be assessed upon the property of a sufficient majority of all the taxpayers of said Village of Charlevoix, to make the following public improvements, viz: Grading and gravelling the streets, with sewers, and a system of sewers in Bridge street south of said village, including all the necessary connections, and a water system in Bridge street south of Pine River and a branch sewer in Bridge street south of Pine River from a point in the center of said street and about twenty feet from the south line of said Pine River where sewer connections will be made with the sewer system of said Village of Charlevoix.

All the lots, parts of lots, lands and premises lying and being in the said Village of Charlevoix, which will be benefited by the said improvements, and which will front or abutting on the said streets in Pine River, and the said streets in the above district of said Village of Charlevoix.

CONTEST NOTICE.

Department of the Interior,
General Land Office.

A sufficient affidavit having been filed in this office by Ernest Ashton contesting homestead entry No. 10,525, made April 11, 1900, for the lots 1 and 2 and the south half of the northeast quarter of section 3, township 34 north, range 5 west, in Lansing land district, Michigan, in which it is alleged that Joseph Chase Wing has wholly abandoned said land and changed the residence thereof for more than six months last past, and that said alleged abandonment is not due to his employment in the military or naval service of the United States, or any other cause sufficient to excuse him from the service of his entry; and that said alleged abandonment was not caused by Forest Homestead contest, in which the charge of abandonment was proved to exist; Commissioner Jennings, in the Land Office decision of June 4, 1901, held that such abandonment existed and that the said entry was subject to cancellation; and said Wing has failed to file his affidavit in the land office showing the continuance of the residence of himself and family upon said land since said decision, and has made no entry of any character upon said land since said decision, imposed or entitled to impose any burden or charge against the land that existence has not earlier upon imposed, and has made no payment of any money on account or required by law, and the statutory period within which such entry was due to be made has elapsed; and said Ernest Ashton has made application to enter said land, and has tendered the fees and commissions required by law, and has filed in this office his affidavit showing that after due diligence personal service of this notice cannot be made, he resides at Petoskey, Michigan, and that his residence has been for more than six months last past, and is now, unknown to affiant; you are hereby notified that said allegations will be taken by us as confessed, and your said entry will be canceled thereon, without further right to be heard therein, either before this office or on appeal, if you fail to file in this office within twenty days after the first publication of this notice, your answer, supported by proof, showing how said allegations have been met; you will also further take notice that hearings on said charges will be held before this office at 10 o'clock a.m. on the expiration of twenty days after service of this notice, before the register and receiver at Lansing, Michigan, at which time the parties will be given a hearing to show cause why said entry should not be canceled.

Probate Order.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, held at the Probate Office in the Village of Charlevoix, on Monday the twelfth day of August, A. D. 1902. Present, John W. Barris, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Mary Ann Bell, late of Charlevoix, deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Ephraim Bell, praying that the will of deceased be allowed, and that he be appointed executor thereof.

Thereupon it is ordered that the 25th day of August, A. D. 1902, at 10 o'clock a.m. be assigned for hearing said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be held at the Probate Office in the Village of Charlevoix, and show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted; and it is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Charlevoix, three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

The pastor had just begun his sermon, when the daughter of Mr. Dunanee noticed the fathers head fall forward. He was taken to the vestibule unconscious and died at 10 o'clock. Deceased was 65 years and five months old. He had lived here thirty years, coming from Canada. He was the father of George, Jonas and Daniel Dunanee, and Mrs. Theo. Shier and Mrs. Hattie Sullivan. The funeral was from the M. E. Church Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended.

—Every day evidence multiply that Charlevoix is the favorite summer resort to all the fair north country. And we wish to dwell on the fact that the most continuous Chicagoan does not mean a little Chicago in miniature, so some of our curious critics have have hinted. It means an infusion of ten months duration every year. Hotel and cottage enlargements, new cottages and landscape improvements, which keep our locality busy as many months in the year as a summer town, and the city, they come to us because we are distinct, keeping at work or remunerative wages.

A New Organization.

The Farmers Friendly Association of Charlevoix County is a new organization of farmers in Antrim and Charlevoix counties, formed in social intercourse.

It is their purpose to make it a permanent one and hold meetings annually at Norwood, on the last Thursday in August, where they will discuss the various farm interests.

They will hold their first annual meeting and a basket picnic, Thursday, August 28th 1902, at Norwood in the Water birch grove. Posters have been sent to all the post offices of the two counties as well as many other points, and if the editor is any judge all be on any from 500 to 1000 expectants at Norwood in that every one who goes there has a good time, and into making night to be a great success, and result in much good to those who attend, for farming and fruit growing is to be the future business in these two counties of northern Michigan, and the sun shines on no better soil for these purposes, and our people are particularly adapted to the growing of the fruit, so it is to be hoped that "The Farmers Friendly" will be a lasting success. All the editors of papers in this part of the country are urgently requested to be present and to take an active interest in promoting this new enterprise and a good time is guaranteed to all who go.

There will be all kinds of sports, such as climbing a greased pole, 5 big race, bicycle and obstacle races, sack race, tub race on the lake, base ball game and horse standing race, open to all comers, to jump $7.00 second $3.00.

Norwood is a most delightfully located little burg on a high bluff overlooking Grand Traverse Bay and Lake Michigan, and will make a place trip for our city visitors. Incidentally as there will in all probability be four excursions running there that day.

All communications should be addressed to George H. Wilkinson, and his name so familiar with all the readers of SENTINEL for the past 30 years on Good Roads and Half Weeds ought to warrant everybody in having a good time.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Traverse City is making a pull to get the naval training station on Marion Island in Grand Traverse Bay.

The canning factory at Central Lake is doing business now on a large scale, about 70 hands being employed. So far only beans have been canned, as it is too early for anything else.

Dr. J. A. White, of Saginaw, the well known dentist was drowned in the bay, about a mile from Petoskey, Monday afternoon at two o'clock. The body has not yet been recovered and probably will not be.

The suburban train on "shanty" as it is popularly known, on the Pere Marquette, ran into an old switch at Bellaire, on Friday last, wrecking three flat cars and badly damaging the locomotive. No one was injured.

There will be one G. A. R. day at the coming County Fair. The Charlevoix Co Soldiers and Sailors Association met here at the fair grounds for their annual camp fire and all G. A. R. and W. R. C. organizations understand are to be admitted free on that day.

Capt. Geo. Van Ortmo, who was some years ago appointed to naval standing at Annapolis from this place, is now home on a furlough, and with his wife is visiting his parents at Petoskey. He has made rapid advancement and is now Captain in the Marine service.

The new life saving station at Glen Haven, known as Sleeping Bear Point, will be opened August 20. William Walker, for 12 years a member of the life saving station at Grand Haven, has been appointed captain of the crew at the new station and Chas Robinson, who served in the Grand Haven station for six years, will be surfman No 1, standing next to the captain.

A dispatch from Traverse City says this year's huckleberry crop in Michigan is one of the largest known. From Stratford alone 6,000 crates have been shipped out this year. There are now about 50 Indians engaged there in picking and 150 white people. Industrious pickers can average $5 a day, and in many cases $5 a day has been earned. One family of a father, mother and little daughter, have averaged $9 a day.

Central Lake Torch: John Smargon has been out on a tour of the orchards and informs the Torch that many will be disappointed in their apple crop this year. The trees blossomed full and in fact the trees fairly good crop of apples on now, but the winter fruit bids fair to be of an inferior quality, as it appears to be scabby. The Duchess is all right and there will be a good yield of this favorite fall variety, but Mr. Smargon is afraid that the winter varieties will not be first class and consequently not salable for shipping.

Night thieves made a good haul at Petoskey Monday in broad daylight relieving the Grand Rapids and Indiana station of over $200 in cash. About 10 o'clock cashier A.D. Phelps opened his safe to get change for the ticket window and did not again visit the safe for about an hour. When he did he found that the portable money drawer containing the above sum was missing. The thieves must have opened the east window and slipped out the money while his back was turned. There is no clue. The mystery is the greater because the streets on all sides of the station were crowded with people waiting to see Mme Wallace shoot.

The Michigan Tradesman has the following to say about O. W. Hagg strom who recently bought a lot of produce of the farmers about Antrim and Charlevoix counties, and tried to pay them with bogus checks. The Tradesman also prints the rogue's picture as he sometimes sails under assumed names. "Haggstrom has enjoyed a good reputation for several years, having victimized several Grand Rapids and Chicago houses and, I regret to say, instead of by honest labor. He is a slave to the drink habit having been unable to hold down any job for any length of time from this cause."

The Mackinac department of the Daily Reporter, Petoskey, in last Saturday's issue, says: Through the carelessness of allowing a wooden water pipe to remain out of order which carries water down from the forts, allowing it to drop over the bluff, a serious disaster has occured. During the heavy storm of Thursday evening, the rotten and worn out sewage gave away, and let all the water run down against the fort wall, consequently some 50 feet of the wall was washed away. It will necessitate the expenditure of about one thousand dollars to repair it. It looks as though the park board was allowing our historic fort to go to pieces, and many citizens of the island are positive in saying that never once be taken of this interesting and historic spot."

The annual encampment of the Grand Traverse Soldiers and Sailors Association will be held at Central Lake on August 26, 27 and 28, 1902. Extensive arrangements are being made to entertain all who come, prominent speakers will present and an all-round good time expected. It is announced that bread, hardtack, pickles, coffee, sugar and vegetables will be furnished free to all comrades who desire thus to renew for a few days the old-time life of army days, also an effort will be made to provide tents for all who may be unable to bring there own. It is more than probable that many of the veterans of the late rebellion will embrace this opportunity of reliving the old days in company with their comrades, this feature of this encampment will differ quite materially from the one of long ago, namely, that the families of the "boys" are cordially invited to be present and assist in making the occasion one long to be remembered because of the pleasant outing.

BEAVER ISLAND NEWS.

The Mines Rosebud and Keator also of Rock Island are registered at the Hotel Beaver.

The Beavers took a large excursion from St. James to Manistique Sunday morning, returning Sunday morning evening.

Ye Editor Smith of Charlevoix dropped down on us Saturday evening along with Capt. and his Beaver. Mr. Smith is always a welcome caller at the Beavers.

The party of forty or fifty tourists from the Hotel Belvedere came over from Charlevoix on Friday, taking dinner at the Beaver and returning same day.

The new pair of legged scales which the McCoins have put in opposite their line new store will be a great convenience to our farmers, stock buyers, and others.

The Island Circle is more than indebted to Mr. J. M. Hall manager of the R. V. R. C. for his kindness in providing the services of Prof. Hill and his fascinating lecture.

D. J. Conant and sons recently from Kewaunee county temporarily located in tents on the terrace just south of town for the purpose of doing business in Photography. Good work is guaranteed.

Messrs Comno, Hacis and Berger of Rock Island are guests at the Gibson House this week and will probably remain for the rest of the season before returning to business in Rock Island ill.

Before Dr. C. E. Roth of Keokuk, Iowa left the Beavers, he bought a fine lot from our hustling real estate agent W. J. Gallagher, for the purpose of building a permanent summer home, arrangements for the erection of which, he perfected before leaving the Island. We are glad to welcome Dr. Roth and his excellent family to our shores for the all too-short beaver term. Next year he says he will bring with him some friends from his town whom we hope will be as congenial as himself. Dr. Roth it will be remembered is the man who made the big perch catch in Fond Du Lac a few days ago.

On Friday afternoon last while the steamer Beaver was in waiting St. James people who were able to be present at the new hotel Beaver, were delightfully entertained as well as instructed by that wonderfully interesting speaker Prof. H. W. E. Hill of Atwater, Minnesota, who lectured before the Island branch of the Thy View Reading circle, on the "Passion Play" which he personally visited in the little village of Oberammergau in 1900. Prof. Hill's style address is exceedingly striking and from the moment he began speaking till the impatient Capt. Fred's "hooting" compelled him to close, his audience was enraptured by the story of the wonderful Passion Play as given by the simple hearted country folks of the little village in Bavaria.

Sugar beets in the southern counties, 81, in the central counties 88, in the northern counties 90, and in the state 83.

The prospects for apples and peaches are very good.

For State Senator.

The recent republican senatorial convention at Traverse City made an excellent choice when it named O. C. Moffat as the nominee. Mr. Moffat is not only a man of marked ability but is one of the most popular young men in Grand Traverse County.

Orlando C. Moffatt, of Traverse City, the unanimous choice of the twenty second senatorial district of Michigan for State senator, was born in Lyons, Mich., Aug 6, 1865. He came to Traverse City with his parents, Hon. and Mrs. Seth C. Moffatt, in 1874, and his home has been there every since. He was married in 1890 to Miss Mary I. Cameron, of Traverse City.

Coming of a family of politicians, he has been interested in politics of all his life. In 1892, when but 24 years old, he was elected township and village treasurer. Two years later he was elected county register of deeds and re-elected two years ago, his term of office expiring this fall.

He has been on the board of education several years. In his election to the state senate, which is forgone conclusion, he will be carrying on the traditions of the family, his grandfather having been state representative and his father state senator and speaker in the house, afterward being sent to congress from the eleventh district of Michigan, which at that time took in five counties in the upper Peninsula and the entire upper Peninsula of Michigan—Judge Moffatt of Michigan—Judge Moffatt of Michigan—Judge Moffatt

LOVE OUTWITS DEATH

MARRIAGE BRINGS GIRL FROM BRINK OF GRAVE.

Lover Flies from Minnesota and Marries Sweetheart During Young Woman's Last Conscious Hours—He Thought Death Caused Wreck at South Omaha.

A story of love in the American city comes from Omaha, Neb., of Miss Ada J. Hamilton of Lindsborg, Minn., married in Miss Bertha Lamb's room at the Lincoln hotel with a minister in attendance. The young woman is a sufferer from a spinal affliction which confines her to her room in a recumbent position. Miss Lamb is a sister of Mrs. Hamilton. The young man is a prominent young farmer of Lindsborg, Minn. Hamilton's sudden appearance in Omaha was due to a dream he had. He thought his fiancee was in a wreck at South Omaha and he came to her side. When Hamilton arrived he found the girl in a critical condition. Two days before Miss Hamilton had been married, and when relatives learned the news they telegraphed her father, who lives in Lindsborg, Minn., and he at once gave his consent to the marriage. The bride is the daughter of a prominent family. The bridegroom is a son of Prof. A. Hamilton, president of Bethany college, Lindsborg, Minn., and is well known in that city. The young couple have many friends who will be interested in their romance.

FIRE DESTROYS FERRYBOAT.

Overturned Lamp Starts a Blaze—Passengers Escape.

A lighted lamp upset in the smoking room of the Liverpool New Brunswick, Jersey City, ferryboat Hackensack, and New York, set fire to the boat, and so rapidly did the flames spread that the vessel had to be beached to allow the passengers to jump ashore. New Brunswick, and closed to turn in the station's stage. The boat cleared at 7 o'clock and twenty men and three women were aboard when the fire started. Hop pickers bound for Hackensack, Pa., were among the passengers. Deckhand Frank Brown, who was the only man on the boat when the fire started, ran to the pilot house and rang the bell to warn the passengers. Brown had to pass through a wall of flame to reach the pilot house. The passengers formed a line and passed pails of water from the river to Brown, who threw it on the flames. Meanwhile the boat had been beached and the passengers had jumped ashore. The boat was a total loss. The loss on the boat is about $15,000, and on the cargo, which was owned by the Hackensack Transportation company, about $1,000. The boat was insured for $10,000 and the cargo was not insured. The boat was built in 1888 and was 100 feet long and 30 feet wide.

A GREAT DAY.

The Corner Stone Event a Great Round Up and a Big Success.

This issue of the SENTINEL has been held back one day in order to record, to some extent, the happenings of Thursday, August 21, the day that will only others in the era of sugar factory prosperity for Charlevoix will be celebrated across country.

The celebration of the event was as unqualified success, even the weather which, at times, threatened to break up the gathering, proved most favorable.

It is estimated that 3,000 people from some points United Charlevoix—coming from as far south as Mt. Pleasant on the south and Petoskey on the north, while the farmers of Charlevoix and Antrim counties were here in large numbers.

Senator Burrows and Congressman Darragh were here, and were the backbone of the celebration—the records of both gentlemen! Washington on the question of protection to a great Michigan industry making their visit to Charlevoix at this time most auspicious, and of personal interest.

The speaking had the happy genius to Lile, loaded by Newell's Military band of broad lungs. The most conspicuous and appropriate feature of the parade was the entire furniture of the distinguished visitors. There was 63 wagonloads of the Nation's representatives, in white trousers, gloves and hats and carrying canes. It was under the command of Capt. Benj. Hamilton, superintendent of construction, and a former officer of the Michigan National Guard. They had been drilled to a perfection that stood them for active military duty on an emergency call, and was a striking demonstration of what Uncle Sam could do on short notice in time of war. Their appearance and precision of movement entitled many words of praise.

At the factory exercises Pres. opened the program with a short speech of welcome, briefly but comprehensively reviewing the work of the Charlevoix Sugar Co. up to date, and its hopes for the future.

Rev. Dr. Hyslop followed by an invocation, and President H. E. Bissell, of the National Confectionery Co., made a short speech that the gentleman on our left called "a corker," and it was.

Congressman Darragh, whose fight in congress for Michigan beet sugar last winter has become a part of legislative history, spoke thirty minutes about the possibilities of beet culture for the farmers and gave many facts and figures in his personal knowledge of that industry in his own section of the state. Mr. Darragh's speech was well received.

Senator Burrows' speech closed that feature of the program. Of course great interest was centered in the senator's remarks, by reason of his reputation as the leading "thunderer" in the senate last winter when Cuban reciprocity threatened an infant but growing Michigan industry. The Senator's talk was largely statistical, and was very instructive, and at the same time encouraging to his large audience of Northern Michigan farmers, who may be said to be just long through the experimental stage of beet culture. The Senator was certainly cordially received, and his speech was listened to by the immense audience with more than ordinary interest.

The music of the Newell band through the program, was most creditable. Prof. Newell's band played several selections in a manner that brought prompt and generous applause. The special song two beautiful selections, and Mrs. Stendart, of Detroit, sang a solo, with piano and violin accompaniment, which was vigorously encored. Mrs. Stendart responded to a encoring solo, and gave a high note bought out again.

In the evening, at the Congregational Church, Rev. Jas. Luther Cady, of Detroit, who was unanimously called pastor two weeks to pay for grass ordered for the church. On Sunday August 31 Bishop Foley will preach.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D.,
Pastor.

The Rev. Geo. Luther Cady, of Detroit, who was unanimously called pastor two weeks ago, preached on Sunday morning and preached a fine sermon on the question "What is Religion?" In the evening the pastor gave an address on "Current Events." The congregation were large at both services, all the chairs being in use in the church and the vestibule.

Arrangements are being made for the celebration of the Vineyard of Christ Anniversary of the church, which takes next month.

Announced The Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bentonville, S. C., was once immediately surprised, Thursday, Aug. 21, the day that ordinarily others in the era of sugar factory prosperity for Charlevoix will be celebrated across country.

The celebration of the event was as unqualified success, even the weather which, at times, threatened to break up the gathering, proved most favorable.

It is estimated that 3,000 people from some points United Charlevoix—coming from as far south as Mt. Pleasant on the south and Petoskey on the north, while the farmers of Charlevoix and Antrim counties were here in large numbers.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

A Brilliant Thought.

The Philadelphia Times tells of a little girl who was permitted to attend a certain Sunday school, although the denomination was not that of her parents. Not long ago her mother felt that she was old enough to be baptized with full understanding of the significance of it—consequently, but of course insisted that the baptism be performed in the church which the mother and father attended. To this the girl demurred, she wanted to be "waded for real" as she expressed it, where her playmates and friends could see her. The mother was firm, however, and finally the woman became distinct to the extent of suggesting this compromise: "Well, mamma, let us fix it this way: I'll get wetted in your church, and then, if it doesn't take I can go and get wetted in my church."

Tee Hee.

The Democrats are in great hope of getting at tariff schedule before long. Judge Grosvenor, one of the Democratic leaders of the House, advocates a "wise and patriotic revision of the tariff." To accomplish this, he, Grosvenor, admits the necessity of a transfer of control of the government from the Republican to the Democratic party.

This sounds very like the talk heard in 1892 which resulted in four years of Cleveland's reign and a "free and frenzied revision of the tariff" which revision it is estimated cost the country some ten million dollars and caused more want and misery than a war. It was too soon after the "dark days of the Wilson tax" for the Democrats to successfully cry "tariff reform."—Newburyport (Mass) Herald.

Harmonic.

Revenge of a Chauffeur.

On the return from the Rembrandt Pass one member of an auto club found a policeman in a ditch and chased him to a roadside, where he found him hidden in the manger. He took the policeman's number and telegraphed to the chief complaining, reporting that he had found a constable under most scandalous circumstances hidden in a cowshed. Loving a silver watch in his hand. It is suspected that in the future, when automobiles are about to make a journey they should travel in groups, that the leading automobile, if stopped by the police should warn the next one, and the second should warn the third, and so on, says the Motor World, and that the fate of the driver of the leading machine should be equally divided among the whole party.

Home to Stock.

What the House has done for Cuba, again the House can be moved to do for Americans.

Off with the tariff on beef, veal, mutton and pork!—New York "American and Journal."

This one of the pulmonist of yellows brings home to roost our brood of tariff fostering chickens. Prices in Cuba of sugar and tobacco were too low. Therefore raise the tariff. It was done. Prices of meat in the United States are too high. Therefore, lower the tariff. If the thing can be done for aliens and outsiders it can surely be done for our own people. Pickaxed leadership has shown the way and yellow journalism has caught on.

Dispute the Axiom.

The time was at hat when Mr. Gilfoy could no longer make a pretense of covering the top of his head by combing a wisp of hair up over it from one side. "This is a chair," he said, looking at himself in the glass and solemnly surveying the wide expanse of land crown, "in which the part appears to be greater than the whole."

Straw Shoes for Horses.

In order to prevent the bullis a of snow in a horse's mouth a kind of straw shoe or sandal has been designed for use in the German army. Last year the last winter the new invention has been extensively tried and with very satisfactory results.

Gloves Made in Germany.

Germany makes more gloves now than France. There are 1,700 concerns in Germany, the total output of which is twice as large as the export only.

Congress and Cuba.

The winners of the victory in the house are flaunted with house to revolt against party discipline, while the fact that military sponsors of a new department in executive work is to be added to their offensive measure in the house. Cuba affair was that of the Platt amendment, dictating to the people of that country what they shall do in a public relationship affecting every American interest. Added to their explanation to the effect was its invasion by the president of New York who country would be ready for the first time in a century of a military to be inaugurated government. He has been an excellent professor of language, the Spanish and most have done quite successful in music and dancing. If he had added those accomplishments to the sum of his education "Pot Boiling" would have been the

MODESTY CARRIED TOO FAR.

His Desire for Self-Effacement Nearly Results in Disaster.

Col. Norris of Orleans, editor of the New Haven Register, presided recently at a convention of women's clubs in that city held in the Calvary baptist church. After introducing a speaker from New York, and introducing himself, the colonel's modesty broke him to so use his chair more in the rear. So at intervals he gave his chair a series of kitchen, improvised like to the audience, which gradually carried him to a more comfortable and inconspicuous position. He was about to give one final, triumphant kitch to communicate his policy of self-effacement, when an usher stole in and whispered warningly:

"I wouldn't hitch again if I were you, colonel, or you'll be in the tank!"

Pneumatic Arm.

The wonderful advance in the art of conjuring would have been quite impossible without the aid of the Gladstone pneumatic arm, declares an English newspaper. The Gladstone arm is made of very thin India rubber and when inflated resembles the human arm so wonderfully that the scientific world considers it the most beautiful imitation known. By taking it on the shoulder a conjurer is enable to keep his real arm inside his coat, holding numerous guinea pigs or rabbits and manipulating the same while the audience wonders how he does it. The inventor of this arm filed a bank in the tight sum of $10,000 by its aid. His day's work consisted in putting his his arm and then riding about London in one fare after another, continue extracting watches and money from his travel log companions.

Snow Value of Sunday Rest.

An interesting contribution to agitation data bearing on the necessity of Sunday rest from labor has been made by a Pennsylvania railroad official. He selected two groups of laborers from the working force of a certain freight house controlled by his road. He measured the working capacity of each group in terms of loads handled daily for a week. On Sunday one group rested; the other worked as usual. On the following Monday the men who had been compelled to work on Sunday showed a decrease of 15 per cent in efficiency as compared with the previous Monday, and each was after their companions in delinquency became greater. The men who had their Sunday freight, on the other hand, were as valuable to the company the second week as the first.

Underground Mountains.

The conductors of the Trigonometrical survey in India have made a singular discovery. They have reason to believe that there is in the middle of India an underground or buried mountain range, a thousand miles in length, which lies parallel with the Himalayas. The conclusion is based on the peculiarities of the local attraction of gravitation, the plumb-line being deflected northward on the north side of the supposed underground chain, and northward on the south side. The inference is that a great elevated mass of rock of excessive density underlies the surface of the earth between the two observing stations.

Belasco Complimented.

David Belasco is not fond of this story. When Belasco said the late H. C. De Mille wrote "Tim Chanty Dan," there was a speech in it that did not please Herbert Kelcey, leading man of the company. The words Kelcey objected to were quoted from one of David's phrases.

Ignorant of its origin, Kelcey said to Mr. De Mille:

"I don't like that line. It's bombastic and old fashioned."

The line is not mine, but David's," retied De Mille, referrelsc, of course, to the Psalmist.

"I though so!" cried Kelcey triumphantly "I recognize Dave Belasco's style any where."

Sanitarium for Consumptives.

In memory of his mother Leland C. Hyde of Denver Colo., will establish a sanitarium at Mont Clair, a school of its class for the treatment of tuberculosis disease. The Trudeau system is to be introduced for the first time in the west. The place call for the expenditure in the near future of $7,000,000. One hundred and sixty acres near Mont Clair have been purchased for the site.

Not the Music of Bullfrogs.

Recently a Brooklyn man visited Charlestville for the first time, and while there remained to the office of the Herald that while he had been in most of the towns of the United States and Canada he had never before heard such a loud and discordant croaking of bullfrogs. "Bullfrogs?" cried the editor, "Great Scott, That is not bull, it is! That's the Charlestville band!"

Swedish Emigration.

The total emigration of Swedes to America during the last fifty years has exceeded 800,000, while about 100,000 Swedes have gone to other countries. Of the emigrants to the United States only a few hundred have returned to their native country.

The Sacred Language.

Arabic is the language of 200,000,000 people who dwell in all quarters of the globe, and at least 2,000,000 are now under the care of the United States in the Philippine Islands.

In Legal Terms.

If I were to give you an orange, said the judge, I would simply say, I give you an orange, you answer me, accepting, I proceed to a lawyer to put in writing, he would adopt this form: "I hereby give and grant and convey to you all my interest, right, title and advantage of and in said orange, together with the rind, pulp and juice and all rights and advantages therein, with full power to bite, suck, or otherwise eat the same or any part thereof with or without the rind, juice, pulp or pips, anything nevertheless of to any other food or drink, instruments of any nature or kind whatever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding."

Resolution 1.

Resolved, by the Common Council of the Village of Charlevoix, that whereas the said Village Council did, by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members thereof, elect and declare Edward Dennis unable to make the following public improvements, viz: The establishment of a public drinking well, shelter house, gas or electric lamps, and a public sanitary toilet, and whereas said Edward Dennis, unable to make said improvements, from taxes, and, in consequence thereof, the Village Clerk of the Village Charlevoix, has made a report of said taxes and other taxes due from the middle of August, 1901, to the middle of August, 1902, and the said Edward Dennis, being in default in the payment of said taxes, and the said Edward Dennis, being in default in the payment of said taxes, and the said Edward Dennis, being in default in the payment of said taxes

CHAPTER XII.—(Continued.)

A few days later Maude found Hugh's letter waiting for her when she came home—crowded out on a chair on the porch, but very dirty, plainly carried.

"Are such? Hugh asked.

"Yes, Maude answered, "and I found it in my mailbox the day before yesterday. Haven't we been long this time, Hugh? Only enough to make you think that and it's a pretty game.

Maude seated herself on the chair—well! Hugh discovered that she looked as pretty as he thought she could, and in Jack's dress.

"Yes, I suppose we have," she said. "We haven't seen each other since we got engaged quickly at Maude's house, and we have had to be satisfied with the evidence been so uncertain and—

American Sponge Industry.

There are 21 present but four centers of sponge supply and distribution known to the commercial world, and of these the most important is Key West. In the waters tributary to this port the sponge wool, which contains not all others as a general utility sponge, attains a perfection of form and texture unknown elsewhere. Here, too, are to be found any number of sailors trained to the business from boyhood with whom to man the sponging fleet. Thus, although the American sponge industry is only about sixty years old, it already leads the world in the volume of its business, the equipment of its vessels and the intelligence with which it is conducted.

Faith.

A mother in one of the suburbs of New York, wishing to prepare the minds of her two children for a coming event of great importance, told them that if they would like to have a little brother or sister she thought if they prayed earnestly every night and morning God would send them one.

In due time the desired baby arrived, to the mutual great delight and evidently to the strengthening of their faith, for the next day the father came into his wife's room, saying:

"Look here, Lizzie, this thing has got to stop. I just went into the parlor and found both those children on their knees praying as hard as they could for ponies."

Precautions Against Kidnaping.

A New York paper tells how the little daughter of a nouveau-millionaire—Sadie, not given, is taken for a walk every pleasant morning. The child is accompanied by two adults, one walking on either side, and behind these come two more adults burly of build of determined aspect and both armed with revolvers. All this because the parents fear their darling may be kidnaped.

Eleanor's Teeth.

"The reason the General examination of applicants for the position of footman is so severe on the point of perfect teeth is because it may easily happen that one man may have to receive a number of small children from a building, some said a physician. "When the footman has told no more children in the street he must carry one of them by holding it with his teeth."

Didn't Notice Improvement.

Senator Depew was riding in the elevated on and Street car when a very deaf lady, who sat next to him, asked him some question about Washington, and then apologized for being deaf. "Why don't you go to Washington?" sympathetically suggested the senator. "Well, said the lady, "I was struck by lightning last summer, and I don't see that it did me any good."

"Heifers" and Steers.

Dorsey Adams, a Jerome man told the other day by a friend who is a physician that the doctors of New York city took very little interest in politics. "I am not so sure about that," replied the diverting attorney. "I can at least be said with truth that the attending physicians at the hospitals of the city are well heifers."

Value of Domestic Animals.

The average value of all the mules in the country last year was $40 a head—more than the average value of horses. The average value of milch cows was $7 a head more than the average value of oxen and other cattle. The average value of sheep was $2 a head less than that of oxen and $1.00 less than that of swine.

Fidelity to Sodalities.

Father Thomas McGrath of Bellevue, Ky., and Rev. George E. Hughes, Baptist preacher of Lincoln, Neb., were spokesmen at a socialist mass meeting in Philadelphia, the other evening. Each declared his unqualified endorsement of the principles of socialism and adhesion to the competitive system now in operation.

Russell Sage Not Near Death.

Although Russell Sage is seventy years old, he is 70 years old he apparently expects to live twenty-one years more. He has just issued for that time a lease of his house on Fifth avenue, New York, which he has kept for twenty years. He paid $10 for the first year, but the lease is made out with signed calls for an annual payment of $12,000.

An Exhaustive Scrapbook.

Otto W. Swanner of Columbia is called the greatest scrapbook man in Missouri. During each presidential campaign from 1884 to 1900 he made an exhaustive political scrapbook and indexed it. The books embrace the platforms and current literature of 32 national campaigns, covering a period of sixty years.

Steam from Giant Geyser.

A new giant geyser of Hotomahana, N. Z., is attracting attention. A mass of boiling water half as area in extent rises in a grand dome, from which columns of water and steam rise to 200 feet, while immense columns of steam ascend as far as 1,000 feet.

Girls as Express Messengers.

The London postoffice, see now using girls as well as boys for the express messenger service. The girls must be over eighteen years old, and they get thirteen shillings a week.

Votes in Parliament.

It is understood at Ottawa that a bill will be introduced this session giving parliamentary representation to the Yukon in the Dominion parliament.

Know What He Might Expect.

Three Philadelphia men determined to rob a house. On the night decided on they gathered in front of the building. One of them entered the house and up the stairs. He had no boots on, and when near the landing his boots made a noise in the stairs. A female voice called out from one of the rooms: "You go right down stairs and take those boots off. You think of having to clean up and dirt all over you coming up here with your boots on. You hasn't right down and take them off." The burglar did.

Andrew Carnegie on Education.

Andrew Carnegie's new book, "The Empire of Business," contains this sentence: In my own experience I can say that I have known few young men brought by bookcase who were not injured by a college education. Men have wasted their precious years trying to extract education from an ignorant past, whose chief province is to teach us not what to adopt, but what to avoid."

To Honor Southern Leader.

Until recently northern people have been divided whether to make the birthday of Gen. Lee or of Jefferson Davis a Confederate memorial day. Now there is a growing feeling in favor of giving the honor to Davis. There is a strong movement in Mississippi favoring the purchase and perpetual maintenance of the old Davis tenement at Beauvoir. June 3 was the confederate leader's birthday.

English Princesses Lace Beauty.

All the English princesses favor Vinolaya oil of the house and show and form lack of good looks, though Queen Alexandra was a remarkably attractive woman in her youth and is even now quite good looking. Princess Victoria, the only unmarried daughter of King Edward, is understood to love whole also may not wed and therefore will probably end her days in spinsterhood.

Fashion Footprints.

The very perfection of imperfection is to be found in Parisian footprints. They are dirty, ill ventilated and insufficiently assisted, and the examination of business with indifferent clerks is a trial of patience. If you wants stamps, it is better to buy them at a tobacco store, where there is also a post box for letters, etc.—New York Press.

What Our Ancestors Excaped.

Massachusetts state chemists have issued a number of popular theories concerning the digestive values of certain foods. We cannot help speculating on how long Methuselah, Noah and those other patriarchs might have lived had they but enjoyed the enlightened wisdom of our sanitary scientists.

Too Much Trouble.

A New York paper New Yorker who celebrated his fifth birthday recently gives three rules for attaining to a green old age: "Be cheerful, work hard, rest well, live temperately." At the same time some men would rather die at fourscore, or thereabouts, than go to all this trouble.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Kaiser's Decorations.

The orders of decoration born by the German Emperor are worth a little over 45,000 pounds. His most valuable decorations are the insignia of the Black Eagle, the Order of St. John, of the Garter, and of the Toison d'Or. In all he has over 200 crosses, stars, badges, and other insignia.

John Bull in a Terrible Fog.

New Use for Colonial Products.

Here is something that may prove of benefit to public speakers. It's inexpensive and pleasant to take and is certainly worth a trial. The best lubricant for the organs of the throat is pineapple juice. It is said that people living in countries where the pineapple grows in season never suffer from bronchial affections.

Bertha Kaye for Club.

The Chicago government has order, placing the contract for one lens each, Bessie Armstrong and for the other with Messrs. Vickers, Sons & Maxim. The contracts are about eighty cent $1,000,000 each, and are to be delivered within eighteen months.

Women Business Employes.

About one-third of all employes in the government departments at Washington are women, several receive over $2,000 per annum, about fifty receive $1,600 per annum, 100 receive $1,400 per annum, 50 receive $1,200, 200, $1,000, and the remainder receive from $900 to $900 per annum.

Strike for More Room.

Something new in the way of strikes has just been declared in Vienna, where the coalmining students at the Polytechnic Night school have decided not to attend any more lectures until the government authorities grant them room accommodation, which is alleged to be altogether insufficient for present requirements.

Cleaning Up Reformed Forests.

In Bombay and Madrasfor counties, California, there are sixty-five mills at work upon the famous redwood forests, which are gradually disappearing, the value of the output for the year 1900 being nearly $2,000,000.

As It Will Be Soon.

The man of business raw that keeping his youth in back soon if any one calls" asked the child clerk. "Well, you can say he have about five minutes conversation with Dooley." replied the man of business, "and you know where his office is. If I catch an express thereto I'll be back in about two hours, but if I have to take a local it will be afternoon before you see me again."

Naturally.

"Naturally," replied the chief clerk. "You see the stenographer's door of this business I believe."

Act is Entirely Accidental and She Is Exonerated by Being Made Woman as Related Circumstances Taken Proven Darker Shade of Indian Poverty.

A jovial party went to Dorsey's Bend Thursday to spend a day in the Cherokee Nation, hunting and fishing. Among the party were Miss Ora Lee Dorsey, a young lady of about 18 years of age, and a young negro named Jim Ross, who was employed at the Dorsey place. The party had a good time and killed game in abundance. Late in the afternoon, while Miss Dorsey was in the act of loading her shotgun, it was accidentally discharged, the charge entering the left breast of young Ross, who was standing about 20 feet in front of the young lady. Ross ran a few steps and fell dead. The young lady was prostrated with grief at the sad affair. The young people had been good friends and playmates from childhood, and there was no ill feeling between them. Ross was a good boy, and his death was a great shock to his mother, who is a widow and a very poor woman. The young lady is a daughter of one of the most prominent families in the Cherokee Nation, and her father is a wealthy man. The young people had been out together in the woods and the office of Justice of the Peace Ingram, in the origin of the Dorsey, a mystery, as there was no bullet hole in the body of the victim. QUITE LIKELY.

That the Alpena, Gaylord and Charlevoix Railroad Will be a Reality.

President Harry Nichols, John M. Feltz and A. Mac Eaton went to Alpena last week and at this writing, are still there.

They went to attend a meeting of the promoters of the Alpena-Charlevoix railroad project, and they went by invitation. There is said to be no longer any doubt that the road will be built with Charlevoix as its Lake Michigan terminus.

It is further stated by those who have been long in close touch with the matter in hand, that it means an exclusive car ferry system between Charlevoix and the north and west shore.

The Alpena people have long recognized Charlevoix as the best point on Lake Michigan for terminal advantages and the contracting shorts that have been floating about have simply been the effervescent overflow of what is known as railroad diplomacy.

LATER.

Since writing the above we have received a copy of the Alpena Argus with the following particulars of the organization of the "Alpena & West Michigan Railway Co." It starts out with a title, and if our people take hold of the matter as they should, the road will be built.

"One of the best attended railroad meetings ever held in Alpena was the one in W. T. Noble's office this morning. Four of the most prominent business men of Charlevoix, including the mayor of that city, a number of capitalists from Detroit, and at least fifty of representative Alpena business men were present.

In calling the meeting to order, Mr. Sheaso said in brief the object of the meeting is to organize the Alpena & West Michigan Railway Co. for the purpose of building a railroad from Alpena to Charlevoix. He added that H. K Hathaway, one of the officials of the Grand Rapids & Indiana system, who was expected here today, was unable to be present, but had telegraphed "I Am with you and will help put the railroad through."

Mr. Hunter said Mr. Metheany had agreed to act as president of the new company.

On behalf of the city mayor O'Brien said Alpena city and county would do what's right to aid the new enterprise, that the city had agreed to donate $25,000 bonus to the old company and the county $5,000 and that that or more would be donated to the new company.

Adam Sedlacik of Charlevoix, who is also president of the new beet sugar plant in that city, said Charlevoix would do its share to secure the new road, and it means the road as much as Alpena does, probably more.

Secretary Eaton of the Charlevoix Sugar Co. said he and his associates were authorized to speak for the people of Charlevoix, and he assured the people of Alpena that Charlevoix wants the road, and is ready and willing to go after it, "and we always get what we go after," he added. The road is assured. It is run from Alpena via Flanders, Hillman, Atlanta, Big Rock, Hesperia, Gaylord, Elmira, and East Jordan to Charlevoix, a distance of 120 miles, also goes through both good farming and heavily-timbered country. Charlevoix, he said, is in favor of grading 25 miles of the Alpena end and 25 miles at the Charlevoix end before now. Our Stockholders who had contributed cash to the old Alpena & Western were to receive stock in the new company in the proportion of 2 to one. In concluding, Mr. Eaton said, "we come here from Charlevoix when we can fly again like lame, but I again assure you that anything and everything that a town of our calibre should do to secure the road will be done."

A. H. Frost, the principal manufacturer and capitalist of East Jordan who has built one railroad, and four miles in his town had been burned this year, three of which will not be rebuilt, but that, in spite of her misfortune, East Jordan would do all that should reasonably be expected to secure the Alpena & West Michigan.

James H. Ives, vice-president and manager of the Charlevoix Sugar Co. was next called upon. He said it is no doubt, and when he was elected up he said, "The wind-wave has gone far enough. It is now time to stop what business we can do. If we can do some other road will take possession of the country that needs this railroad. If Alpena and Charlevoix want the road, delay is dangerous."

W. R. Sheaso, a Detroit manufacturer of railway supplies, interested in the new company, said if Alpena will do as well as Charlevoix, 10 or 20 miles of the road will be graded before frost and the entire road will be completed next year.

A. W. Comstock suggested that a good way to excite the new railroad would be for the different townships to lay out highways and turn them over to the railroad for a road-bed. This, he thought, could be done legally. One man in Alpena, said Mr. Comstock, can build the road if he wan't tied up. We built and sold our road in Ohio and are now building another. Alpena can build a railroad—if he has the money."

In answer to a question from Mr. Hunter, Mr. Sheaso said that about $125,000 cash has been contributed to the A. & W. and that it was proposed to issue about $125,000 in stock to the new company to those who had contributed the cash.

Mr. Goodhartne stated that the plan approved by Mr. Metheany, who is to be president of the new company, is to grade 25 miles at each end this fall, and to tie and iron the road bed next spring.

After a short recess Messrs. Goodhartne, Sheaso and Eaton were appointed a committee to recommend a board of directors for the Alpena & West Michigan Railway Co. They recommended the following

DIRECTORS.

H. H. Metheany, Grand Rapids.
Harry Nichols, Charlevoix.
J. M. Eaton, Charlevoix.
J. M. Feltz, Charlevoix.
A. H. Frost, East Jordan.
W. R. Anderson, Detroit.
A. Goodhartne, Alpena.
Wm. Sesko, Alpena.
Herman Besser, Alpena.
J. B. Wallace, Alpena.
Joel L. Richardson, Alpena.

On motion of W. R. Biggs, the report was adopted.

The directors then met and elected the following officers.

OFFICERS

H. H. Metheany, President.
W. R. Johnson, Treasurer.
A. G. Goodhartne, Secretary.

This afternoon Messrs. Nichols, Eaton and Feltz of Charlevoix and Frost of East Jordan, accompanied by Secretary Goodhartne and T. F. Kline of this city, started in a carriage drive over the line of the road from Alpena to Charlevoix.

Astounded The Editor

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bonnettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters whom helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, can eat anything like a grown hand, and do gentle task. Alive qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Constipation and Liver troubles it's a positive guaranteed cure. Only 50c at F. G. Hines & Co.

The Farmers' Friendly Association.

It is true. The Farmers' Friendly Association of Charlevoix and Antrim counties came into being in courge St. VanPelt's beautiful grove at Norwood today.

The day was fine on land and water. The attendance might have been greater, especially from Charlevoix, from minute two minutes wind. Northport sent a delegation and band on the steamer Cummings, and the farmers of Norwood and Banks were there in good force, the Atwood team band with the rest.

Tables groaning with their loads of edibles were under the trees, all about groups of the good people of this good neck of the woods enjoyed themselves in friendly social intercourse, while the exhibition romped over the beef carpeted and embowered expanse of young foliage.

At the grand stand the exercises occurred before dinnir. Brief addresses were made by Rev. Mr. Ayles worth, of Norwood, T. C. Holmes, of the Sugar Company, A. L. Pitch and W. A. Smith, of Charlevoix. The ladies quartet was present and sang several numbers. Over all, embracing all, and hypnotizing all, was the redoubtable Geo. H. with a megaphone as large as the sunkenrack of a steamboat.

After dinner the organization was effected, as follows President, Geo. H. VanPelt. Secretary Dr. Decker. Foreign Representative, T. C. Holmes. Each township in the two counties will have a vice president. No one who was present will for a moment doubt that the Farmers' Friendly Association will be one of the permanent organizations of this section, and that it will grow and prosper as a social factor.

Then in the field base ball held sway all day. The big game was in the afternoon when Charlevoix and Northport fought the field for supremacy. Northport got the game by grand larceny.

And the picnic was a great big success.

East Jordan Herald: Mrs. Ina Payne, of South Arm, is several dollars richer than she was a few weeks ago the chance for her husband having wrought by the death of a relative in Canada who left her a large sum of money. Mr. and Mrs. Payne are negotiating for the purchase of a farm down the lake on the west side and will make good use of their windfall."

The Charlevoix Co. Agricultural Society are offering special premiums for sugar beet sorghum. For the best ten acre field of sugar beets, $5.00. For the best one acre field of sugar beets, $3.00. Entries for these prizes must be made ten days previous to the Fair under the regular rules for making entries and the Charlevoix Sugar Co's expert will examine the different fields carefully and decide who are entitled to the prizes.

Traverse City Record. E. F Hinck of Detroit has been in this city several weeks investigating the resources for a beet sugar factory which might warrant the establishment of a beet sugar factory. The conditions are recognized as being especially favorable and several local well known business men have interested themselves in the project. It is now stated that plans have been perfected for the organization of a company and the building of an extensive plant, one of the largest in the state. Those interested, and who will doubtless become financially connected with the enterprise are H. J. Morgan, Daniel Dake, W. S. Kelley, G. E. Dingley and Dr. Hosley, in addition to outside capital. A meeting will be held next Wednesday at which it is expected definite plans for the organization of the company will be formed. It is designed to capitalize the company for $250,000, and possibly issue bonds for an additional $250,000 later on. The prospects look bright for the organization and it is said that it is a sure thing. Mr. E. Hongisto has been the prime movers in the project and his energy will probably be rewarded.

This incident in Elisha's closing ministry suggested the three thoughts: That the "Past begets the future"; that the "Sacred directs the secular", and that the "Divine controls the human."

In the evening to topic was "The best thing in the best place."

Next Sunday evening the labor unions will be in attendance at the services when all parts of the service will appropriate to the thought—"The divinness of labor."

The church expects to celebrate the 20th anniversary next month with services on the 19th, 18th, and 21st, when an enthusiastic time is being planned for.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

The Inspiration Institute of three days duration, held in Charlevoix last week was an interesting session. The teachers enjoyed the lectures from from start to finish and will go to work with many new ideas.

The Hints to teachers, and the methods in Nature Study worked by F. S. Ireler from St. Pleasant Normal College, a practical teacher of nature in the college, will be the means of starting the work in Charlevoix county to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The work in the Reading Circle set—James' Practical Agriculture will be of untold benefit to the teacher in this work.

Next year we will have a Thirteen day institute, we will have more of the academic work, which will enable our young teachers and those preparing for second grade work.

Alger for Senator.

About forty republican newspapers of the State have declared in favor of Gen. R. A. Alger for U. S. Senator to succeed the late James McMillan and there seems to be a rapidly increasing sentiment for him among the people.

Gen. Alger has for many years been dear to the hearts of the people of Michigan. He has always been clean, honest, manly and sucess. Not only in Michigan but all over the union there are thousands who regard the retirement from Gen. Alger from McKinley's cabinet as the result of yellow journal clamor, and the unscrupulous conspiracy of the Miles clique.

Gen. Alger deserves the indorsement of his state. His record in and war is spotless, and he has the plain every day business common sense requisite to the position.

No one in Michigan doubts his ability to reflect credit on his state personally, and Michigan could send to the Senate no man more deserving.

For Tax Payers to Consider.

Before tax payers let "off year" indifference get hold of their political minds, or should investigate conditions in Michigan as effecting their bank accounts.

It is officially announced by the president of the state tax commission that the work so far this year has increased the assessable valuations of the state by $8,000,000. There is in sight perhaps $40,000,000 worth more. The real 1902 will therefore probably see $100,000,000 of property, new to taxation, brought forward for assessment. Every dollar thus added means that the rate of taxation will be lower, and the burden of paying the expenses of the state lightened for the individual whose property is already on the rolls. The state tax commission has abundantly justified its creation as a state necessity. The state tax for 1902 is less by $900,000 than the tax for 1901, and the lowest since 1896. Paste this in your hat or your granary door, farmers.

The tax commission in 1899 added $32,000,000 worth of hitherto concealed property to the tax rolls. The increase for the 3 years previous to 1902 had been only $11,000,000, and the democrats would have you believe that Michigan is being misgoverned. What do you think about it?

These conditions have been brought about under republican management, because the republican party created the tax commission has faithfully executed the law creating it, and will continue to do so.

Localizing these observations, we call attention to the fact that the tax commission has been at work in Charlevoix nearly a week, on Charlevoix county assessments, and we may expect gratifying results from their review and correction of the assessment rolls.

What Committees A Democrat Will Serve On.

Will some of the papers supporting Judge Durand please define what constitutes Democrat in Michigan. It is claimed their claim a national Democratic party, but not even its leaders agree as to what its tenets are. In some states there have been declarations for Bryanism. Other state have repudiated the Kansas City platform, and talk of returning to "Jeffersonian Democracy." Some partisans hail David Bennett Hill as a Moses; others look again to Grover Cleveland, and the Prophet of the Platte has by no means lost his fortunes.

Michigan Democrats when in convention wrashipped at the shrine of none of these not of any other Messiah. All of the doctrines promulgated by Democratic patrons emiate from Jefferson to Bryan and the Michigan were ignored. If there had been a convention and an attempt to reach a platform, it would have been as unnecessary as a similar effort at a world's congress of religions. When puzzled to be said issues were instead embossed in a confession of faith.

It was declared that there had been evolved a Democratic platform, but it is unique any devised by any other state, and it studiously ignored the beliefs regarding national affairs cherished by most of the present. Possibly the silver men who were thus outraged into a desertion of their leaders and a tacit adjuration of their faith are pleased now that they have had time to think it all over, but it is likely not. There could not be a more bitterness done administered to them than the forcing upon them of a gold man to head the state ticket and the complete abandonment of party principles for one had shown in national convention. It therefore seems not inappropos to inquire what constitutes a Democrat in Michigan. Possibly some of the papers supporting the so-called Democratic nominee and platform may be able to furnish a definition.—State Republican.

Special Correspondence.

New York, Nov. 6, 1902.

To the Charlevoix Sentinel:

The National Republican Congressional Committee has established headquarters for the coming campaign, in the St. James Building, 26th and Broadway, this city, and is rapidly getting under way the preparations for the contest for the next House of Representatives. Chairman Babcock, and Representative Overstreet, Hull and Sherman, with a large staff of assistants are on hand. The text-book for the campaign is being distributed to the congressional nominees, and the chairmen of the State Committees and other library matter, consisting of speeches, pamphlets, etc.

A little later in the season a large corps of speakers will be sent into the field and the voters of the land will be given an opportunity to hear the principles of the Republican party expounded from platform and stump by some of the most brilliant talkers in the United States. Colonel Henry Cannon, of Wisconsin, is in charge of this feature of the work.

The first effort of the Congressional Committee will be to arouse the attention of Republican voters to the fact that the coming fight for Congress will not be a walk over. On the contrary, there is evidence that it will be a vigorous contest, and that only by a vote rallying to the old party in full strength on election day can the next house be carried. There was never a time when the general conditions throughout the country were more favorable to Republican success than now. It is because of the very fact that there is such wide prosperity, such general contentment, that there is danger of indifference and apathy among the republicans which might lead to disaster unless the voters are warned beforehand of the necessity of vigilance and action.

The Democrats already are showing signs of making this an old fashioned Democratic campaign. That is, it is to be a campaign of misrepresentation and demagoguery on their part. Canards and "root barks" will be the order of the day for the Democrats from now on. As the Democrats are devoid of any definite ideas on the question of issues for the campaign they will have to resort to these old time familiar methods to keep their campaign going.

The Democratic Congressional Committee is going to make the campaign squarely on the Kansas City platform. Within the general public might suppose that the issues, which had been fought out in two campaigns, in both of which the Democrats were beaten, were dead, such is not the case. On authority of the Secretary of the Democratic Committee the contrary is stated.

Secretary Edwards, of the Democratic Congressional Committee, in an authorized interview in the Washington Star, July 21, 1902, said "the Democratic Congressional Committee is standing squarely on the Kansas City platform. That is the only democracy we know anything about, and it will be the only democracy there is until another National convention shall be held."

Chairman Babcock of the Republican Congressional Committee has given out the following statement, the only authorized statement he has made in this campaign:

"My attention has been called to tables published by the press generally, purporting to come from the Republican Congressional Committee or from some one alleged to be familiar with our supposed estimates.

"Now, the facts are that the Republican Congressional Committee has never published a table by States during the five campaigns that I have been connected with it. It is impossible at this time to even predict, by districts, with any degree of accuracy, what the result may be, for the reason that only about one-half of the nominations have been made, and but few of the State or District committees have as yet been organized, and local conditions are such in many places where the nominations have been made that it would be folly to predict what the result might be in those districts. The Republican Congressional Committee will publish no tables during the campaign, but as an early a date as possible, when the campaign has progressed sufficiently to enable us to secure reliable information, we shall give the public the benefit of it.

"I believe the Republican party will succeed and elect a majority of the next House, but we must not forget that since General Grant's first term in off-years, the republicans have succeeded but once in electing a Congress in harmony with the administration, and that was in 1894.

"The general state of prosperity is such that the people are busy, and having confidence in the Republican administration, take it for granted that the fifty-eighth Congress will be republican, and overlook the fact that there are about one hundred southern districts solidly democratic, in which experience has taught us the folly of attempting to make a campaign and in many of which republican voters are either disfranchised or a free ballot and a fair count denied, so that we must win 70 per cent of the debatable districts in order to secure a bare majority of the fifty-eighth Congress, and must carry 75 per cent of the debatable districts in order to have a safe working majority.

"I do not believe that the public should be misled, and want especially to call attention to the fact that the tables that have been published are misleading, and that the committee is not responsible for their publication."

Correspondence.

Norwood, Aug. 30, 1902.

MY DEAR SENTINEL:

The Farmers' Friendly Association wishes to express their deep gratitude to the editorial friends for the kindness of their notices of our newly and successfully formed organization.

We consider that much of the success of our picnic came from the assistance we received from the press. Too much credit has never been given in the press business. The fact is Mr. Henry Wagner is the founder of it, and to him belongs the credit for a great part of the planning, formation and execution of details of the day's doings.

The Farmers' Friendly Association has been busying in his old stray corner for many a day and I am proud of having been an assistant to him in this good work because I see good possibilities in the organization.

If all the farmers in Antrim and Charlevoix counties will lend their assistance to the Friendly, there is no reason why next year instead of 1200 or 1300, we should not have 5000 or 6000.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the Ladies Company of Boyne City, composed of Mrs. Frank Hinse, Mrs. Dwright, Miss Sue and Miss Vowels for the wonderful spread they gave us. It added much to the success of the picnic and everybody enjoyed the selections they made. Many have congratulated me on the treats given by Hev. Mr. Aylsworth, Mr. Holmes of the Charlevoix Sugar Co., Editor Wilkard A. Smith, Attorney Arthur Lyle Fitch and others. The only trouble was, there was too much Vanilla in them, for as I have said, Uncle Henry Wagner to whom the credit should be given for the forming and successful launching of the Farmers Friendly, which is destined to become an institution for Antrim and Charlevoix counties, and I predict 20 years hence we will be known throughout all the Grand Traverse country as "Daddy" Wagner and the people of that day will bless his work. In the mean time I will give to the Association whatever assistance I may to its joy power to give and I hope to see you all doing business at the same old stand with

Yours Truly,
GEORGE H. VANPELT.

THE TRUST PROBLEM

BETWEEN NATIONAL PARTY CAN SCARCE GIVE A SOLUTION.

New York Journal of Commerce Discusses Anti-Trust Legislation and Finds a Definite Practical Value Disappointingly Inconclusive.

[illegible]

ACCEPTING THE ISSUE

DEMOCRATS ARE ASKED TO DEFINE IT CLEARLY.

They Have No Trust Remedy to Propose Outside of the Worthless and Destructive One of Squashing Protection in Order to Smash the Combines.

The Boston Herald recently broached editorially with the following words:

"It may be claimed as an open question as to whether the Republican party is really accepting the issue now as to the American people in the coming contests of the present year.

Now the Boston Herald is one of our very contemporaries. Latterly it has seemed to assume and express isolation when it so desires, and instances in any alliance—any partnership—not to be exclusive, notwithstanding—in fact, such alliances, and so on—it seems to alert the subject, so far as to debating societies, we respectfully ask our contemporary to state what is the "issue" issue? We ask in good faith, for we do not know.

Now we hope that our contemporary will not be flippant and evade the question with the remark that the issue is "the removal of the protective duties under which trusts thrive." We know it thrives as well as we do that the tariff has nothing to do with trusts. Many immoderate duties have lost, but the Boston Herald knows it is an able journal, and knows the removal of prohibitive duties, the removal of protective duties, the removal of protection to play upon foreign competition is not what is meant by a tariff issue. Just as a hospital cart—lack it would absolutely be indefinite—we ask it to state what the issue issue means—confessing that we cannot celebrate it—because we know that if the thing can be defined, it is an able editor of the Boston Herald. Now, to help matters along, we will, ourselves, be so definite as to say that the issue issue is, by the Herald, we all mean the consolidation of capital, forming trusts and commercial combinations which to pounce on through the tariff, by the Herald, and fatten upon unsuspecting folks, and upon the public, by the Herald, to the tune of and billy. As, unfortunately, in opposition to this consolidation is what we define to be the issue issue, we, by these remedies, mean to subsidize and control them. Now, we propose to handle the trusts from that the Herald proposes to propose. We think it proposed not to propose what or should, not to regulate, what we think they are being done by the Herald, we think they are permanent, we propose to be permanent, we propose to be permanent, we propose to be permanent, and publication of the Herald, we propose to be permanent, we propose to be permanent, we propose to be permanent

LOCAL NEWS.

—A. T. Burnett & Co have a new ad this week.

—The last "dummy" run on the Pere Marquette will be Sept. 14th.

—Jas. Jennevwand M. J. Gallagher were over from St. Jaison Tuesday.

—Leslie J. Hobbs, of Chicago, is visiting his mother, Mrs. John Spaulding.

—Dr. A. W. Moore, D. S., of Kalamazoo, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Hodges.

—Miss Lettie West is at the home of her mother. Miss West has been travelling in California the past year.

—J. L. Hurd and wife of Chicago, spent a few days in town this week, and were greeted by many old time friends.

—Mapes Warren, engineer for this lighthouse district, was here over Sunday on the steamer Alice M. Gill, of the lighthouse service.

—Services will be held in the episcopal church on Monday evening Sept. 15th, by Rev. O. F. Stout. A cordial invitation to all.

—Married, the 4th, at the home of the groom, in this village, by Rev. A. J. Sagler, M. Gaylord Myers to Miss Jessie Wetzel of this village.

—The remains of the late C. V. Cook, which have been lying in a vault since his death, were on Saturday, removed to Reading, Mich., for final interment.

—Wilson Bailey, who will be remembered as a former Charlevoix boy is in town for a few days. Mr. Bailey now has charge of Tommy's boatyard at Joliet, Ill.

—Mrs. Ellen Cotter, of Chicago, are guests of Mrs. Cadora parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Cotter are accompanied by Mr. Needham, also of Chicago.

—D. P. Wilcox last week sold the lot opposite the Beach hotel, to an outside party. It is said that a cottage will be erected thereon. Consideration, $1,000.

—Oldham & Oldham contractors in Bangor, known as the surveying company, have a new ad. in this issue. Messrs. Oldham are practical surveyors of long experience, and we commend our old friends and every acquaintance to their firm.

—J. Milo Bolton received a telegram today that President McKinney of the Alpena and West Michigan R. R., and others, leave Alpena today to drive over the line to East Jordan. The Charlevoix promoters will meet the party at East Jordan to morrow evening.

—Warren Rice, formerly Business Manager of the Detroit Sunday Journal, a telegram announcing that he is likely would be the candidate for Lieutenant Governor, he wired back: "To late. I am for Alger and so are the great majority of people in this part of the state." Uncle Perry always had a level head.

—A lesson of the Charlevoix boys will shake the Charlevoix dust from their feet this week and leave for the Michigan Agricultural College at Lansing. The boys are Will Gagnon, Louis Bliss, Arba Cameron, Howard Francis, and Jakobs Wilkinson, all boys that will honor Charlevoix wherever they go.

—There was a peculiarity about a railroad wreck reported last week in the press. The locomotive was No. 10, 27 cars were demoled; 19 passengers were in the two coaches at the rear of the passenger train; it was on the 19th day of the month; the accident is said to have occured at 5:19—only no one was hurt.

—A notable family reunion occurred at the home of Hon. A. Bintner last Sunday. With the ex-Lieut. Governor there were present three brothers, and one sister—John, of Petoskey, George of Northport, David, of Toledo and Mrs. Esther Farr, of Pigeon, Mich. This is the first time in 16 years that the five have been together and the occasion was a joyous one.

—T. G. Holmes, an officer in the National Construction Co., and ex-spikemaster "hired up" with the Charlevoix Sugar Co., returned to his home in Toledo yesterday, but expects to return later. Mr. Holmes is not only proficient in spike driving, but is not a stranger to Charlevoix, and possesses a fascinating manner, and possesses superior talents for that most popular game.

—Mrs. Blanch Holmes (nee Burton) formerly of this city, but now in Georgia tomorrow.

—Mr. Alex Shanahan, of Edwards, Ill., is here visiting his son, Adele Shanahan.

—Erickson Bros are raising the roof of their machine shop, to provide a second story, which will be occupied by Louis Nicholson as a boot shop.

—On the 25th of this month the Bergmann House will go under the management of Jas. Boath, of 6th Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson will remove to their farm in Hayes.

—President Harry Schlosh is quite ill at his home, and is confined to his bed. Rheumatism was the primary trouble, which has shown secondary symptoms of an abscess near the hip.

—These tax rolls are back from lansing with assessed valuations, raised as follows: Norwood, $10,000; Melrose, $50,000; Chandler, $15,000. According to all accounts, Charlevoix will receive a very fair share of the state money along all lines on property valuation.

—Here is a fact that some of the Michigan farmers can paste in their hats. Wm. Henry, of Eveline township, had threshed the oats from forty acres, and the yield was 2,[illegible] bushels per acre. From 11 acres, he threshed 37 bushels of wheat. Can any northern Michigan farmer send in better crops?

—The schooner Alice M. Beers, which was an anchor off Nesson's Point, Glen Arbor, waiting to load, parted her anchor chains on the morning of the 4th, ashore. The crew were all safe, but the vessel's rudder is gone, her masts broken, her bulwarks store in and with the heavy northwest wind now prevailing prospects are that she will become a total wreck.

—The schooner John Mee was dismantled by collision with the Clark street bridge in Chicago on the day last week. The schooner was in tow of the tug Scotsman, and for some reason the bridge did not open to let the Mee through, although the signals gave the boat the right of way. The crash of the spars and rigging was complete but to one was injured. The John Mee is well known in these waters.

The Charlevoix County fair will occur at East Jordan Sept. 23, 24, and 25. The officers of the society are confident that this fair will surpass any previous one in exhibits and other attractions. The work of fitting up the Fair ground is about in apple sauce. Hundreds are making good headway in securing attractions. In the Base ball Tournament East Jordan and Bellaire will contest, Boyne City "Maroons" and the Kalkaska team and then the winners will contest for the purse. All will be good games. The races will all be fast and fine.

—For the past week a party of geologists have been working in this county under direction of the U. S. geological survey. The party consists of E. R. Taylor of Fort Wayne, Ind.; Frank Leverett, of Ann Arbor, and Prof. A. W. Grabam, of Ann Arbor, State Geologist Lane, and H. P. Parmelee, of Boyne City, geologist, joined the party. Professors Graham, Taylor and Parmelee were at the Beaver several days prosecuting the work. The work is chiefly along the line of glacial observation and research and will embrace a careful survey of the limestone formations in this locality.

—Dowagiac Times:

Latest dispatches are to the effect that a Democratic conference was held at Judge Durand's home Tuesday, and that the assembled wisdom of the party decided that it would vouchsafe on the ticket." Here is a specialist! Judge Durand is how speculative. If he lives he will be but a copious paralytic, and entirely unable to properly discharge the duties of governor if elected.

Yes the desperate democracy of Michigan, clinging to the only faint hope they possess, hope to win with a helpless and hopeless invalid.

Judge Durand in health was an able and honest man. Stricken almost unto death he is, and will be, it gives a temporary respite, entirely void of the office of governor. Times are in the onerous duties of governor as passers for the grievous illness of his old man. But on the contrary, they manifest full confidence in the recovery which may cause of Michigan. It is hoping against hope.

The Probate Judges.

About twenty-five members of the Probate Judges' Association of Michigan, which has been holding its annual convention at Petoskey, paid Charlevoix a visit Friday afternoon.

Most of the gentlemen were accompanied by their wives. The party arrived at three o'clock and was met at the railroad dock by a committee of citizens on the steamer Ethel L. Hackley, and taken out to the sugar factory, which was thoroughly inspected.

A run was then made to the life saving station, and a special drill was given for the benefit of the visitors. The party was then taken to the Beach Hotel for dinner, after which the Hackley was boarded again and a run taken a few miles into Lake Michigan.

The party was then taken to the railroad dock for their return to Petoskey. During the half hour before train time the party was taken through the inn and grounds.

Before leaving the boat the entire crowd of visitors and entertainers was called to the forward deck where the Judge from Kent county made a very pretty speech, returning the thanks of the Association for the hospitality shown them, and a vote of thanks was extended to the committee and the citizens of Charlevoix.

The Association will hold its next annual meeting at Battle Creek, but the wife of those present was emphatic in her praise of Charlevoix two years hence. The Judges were loud in their praise of Charlevoix and the hospitality of its citizens.

"Avoid the rush." Now that's no joke. If you have ever been in the store of F. G. Hines and Co., on the first day of school, you know what that means, so get your school supplies this week and get them right, terms cash.

School books bought sold and exchanged, everything needed in the school room prices the lowest, terms strictly cash.

NORWOOD NEWS.

Grace and Carol Payne of Battle Creek are here on a visit at Parker McIntyres.

Mrs. Jennie Livingston and daughter Edna of Battle Creek who have been here for the past six week left for home on Tuesday.

Mrs. Emma Perry, of Battle Creek, who is to teach our school for the next year will arrive this week, and school will commence Monday the 8th.

Marion Harris of Ellsworth, was over here to the picnic and stayed over Sunday.

Mrs. A. S. Richardson and Mrs. Delia Cameron are visiting relatives this week at Sturgeon Bay.

Miss Emma Jackson left Sunday on a visit at her uncles in Illinois and will remain there during the winter.

E. V. Nash left for his new field of work in Forest County, Wis., Saturday. Mr. Nash was in business at Norwood for 6 years, and this, of course he missed very much from this place. He will build a mill there, and in connection with other parties will be engaged in the lumber business at that place. Henry Bergman and Mr. Osmstead, was worked for Mr. Nash at this place for many years in with him, and their families will likely go in the spring. R. L. Stafford, Geo Stafford and Fred Jackson will go to help build the mill, but will return when that is done.

The plants at Norwood last week was a success in every way. One, there were 160 of whom were from Charlevoix. Everything went off smoothly from start to finish and every one seemed to enjoy it.

The Town Hall was crowded saturday evening at the free entertainment. The entertainment will close so Saturday evening of this week.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

The Grand Traverse Soldiers reunion at Central Lake last week was a very successful event, and united together a large number of veterans.

Elk Rapids Progress: Our citizens will be pleased to know that the management of the mineral plant expect to have the mill in full operation this week. The wet end of the mill was started Monday and everything pertaining to the huge plant if to could now to begin active operation.

At the business meeting held today Elk Lake was agreed upon as the place of meeting next year and the election of officers resulted in electing the following: Commander, W. E. Clark, Sen. Vice Commander, A. S. Benson, Jun. Vice Commander, H. E. Davis. These officers all reside at Elk Lake.

Traverse City Record: W. J. Berry superintendent of the Michigan Telephone Co. for western Michigan, has been in the city looking after the interests of the company in northern Michigan. He went to Northport Monday morning to complete arrangements for the extension of the company's lines from Sutton's Bay to that point. It has been decided to make this extension at once.

Gladstone potato shippers are now offering to contract with farmers for their potatoes and agreeing to pay fifty cents per bushel. It is probable that this year's potato crop will equal in quantity the crop of last year, but it is not probable that it will be larger. Hand picker potatoes are profitable and the average northern Michigan farmer would be willing to plant anything but potatoes if he could be guaranteed fifty cents per bushel for his spuds.

St. Ignace is to be congratulated. The Martel furnace which has been one of the past twelve years is to be put into commission again, giving employment to one hundred men at least. The original cost of the property was $700,000, the owners residing in Pennsylvania. It was last week sold to Frank E. Ismell, of Marquette, owner of the east New York mine on the Marquette range. The property, which has a fine location, and good shipping advantages, will at once be rehabilitated and run night and day.

Manistee Herald: The impression is current among the people of this State that a boom is to be successfully rained in Northern Michigan. This fact has been emphatically disproved this year by C. I. Hoffo. He has put into cultivation 120 acres which he had sown on the Antrim Iron City lands. From this amount of ground he raised 2,000 bushels of grain of a good quality. This is an average of over 17 bushels to the acre and is sound hard for any southern Michigan farmer to beat. Our small farms averaged over 25 bushel to the acre.

Traverse City Record: The matter of a large sugar factory has been received very favorably, but as yet no plan has been presented which is sufficiently attractive to induce local business men to take hold of it in any extent. While the enterprise is viewed with favor, long talk is cheap, cheap wound perfect an organization which could be entirely controlled by home people and so be tied up to any outside capitalists who had controlling interests. Under this plan much more money could be raised here than under the plan promoted by outside influences.

Lake Superior Sappiper, the three year old daughter of Mrs Sappiper of Highland, Ill., was drowned Wednesday about six o'clock p.m. at Walloon Lake. Charlevoix county thus making the second victim of the season for beautiful Walloon. Little Bernice had been playing with her best along side the dock in front of the cottage occupied by the family this summer and although no one knows exactly how the sad accident occurred, it is supposed she reached too far for her loved and in this way fell into the shallow water. Heroic efforts were made to resuscitate the little one, but life was extinct before the body was discovered.

A dispatch from Lansing to the Grand Rapids Herald of Sunday says: "Secretary Baker of the State Board of Health, has directed the health authorities of Marion township, Osceola county, to commence renewed hostilities against the Dowie Mission at Walloon Lake, for illegal violation of the health laws. The incident is alleged to have occurred in the case of a child, and this to have spread contagious at along the line. The local physician, who failed to report the case, will be prosecuted.

Traverse City Record: Thursday morning a new sign on the construction building of Charlevoix. The center stone of the big beet sugar factory to be erected at that place was laid with ceremonies befitting so important an event. The est, timbered of so large an industry in Charlevoix county was in clear sky, and to the farmers in that part of the state Sugar beets being the natural product of the soil opportunities are offered for an additional field of industry for farmers and consequence increased profits. The labor employed in the factory affords increased business in the city as well as a stimulation in trade through the added business of those who supply the factory. The result is obvious. It is a good thing.

Grand Rapids Herald: The Antrim county fair will be held at Bellaire September 16, 17 and 18, and the prospects are that it will be the largest and best fair ever held under the auspices of the society. The Antrim county fair, as it has been, was progressive, and enterprising. They know that the annual fair helps business, helps to make their section of the state down to the suitable world, and affords encouragement to local industries and the agriculturists, besides affording rich opportunities for a jolly time. Therefore while other fairs have languished through lack of support, that of Antrim has steadily grown and prospered. Where the first fair was given Antrim county was chiefly a wilderness, but to-day Michigan has no finer farms handsomer orchards or more productive fields than those found in Antrim. And the county is growing in richness, productiveness and prosperity with each succeeding year. It is developing its own resources, making the most of its opportunities and keeping abreast of the times."

Traverse City Democrat: About eight or ten months ago the word went forth that Charlevoix was planning to establish a large beet sugar factory. We thought at the time that it would not be done, but somehow our neighbor has gone steadily ahead and the large plant is now well under way, and will prove a blessing to every farmer and resident of Northern county, as well as to many in Emmet county. Now comes a report that Traverse City is to build a plant for the manufacture of beet sugar in which there will be about $500,000 invested. Some weeks ago a committee of naval officers were sent by naval department for the purpose of selecting a site on the great lakes for the naval station. This station would require several hundred acres of land, buildings of great cost, would be owned and when the station is in running order it will accomodate upwards of a thousand naval apprentices. This committee visited the most important points in this lake shore region, Grand Haven included, but we do not know of their having been in Petoskey, neither have we any knowledge that this committee was invited to Petoskey. Probably they do not know where Petoskey is. The question is: Where have we been during all this time?. We have the prettiest city, the most beneficial climate and purest air of any place in the world, our people, to all appearances, are the most happy, enthusiastic, energetic and up-to-date of any we have ever met. But where have been during all this time? Where is our beet sugar factory? What did we do toward even extending an invitation to the naval committee to look us up, to view our facilities and inducements? Doesn't it strike you that there's something seriously wrong?

Judge Durand Stricken.

Hon. Geo. H. Durand of Flint, democratic candidate for governor, was stricken with paralysis last Monday, and lies hovering between life and death at the time writing, with no chance of recovery.

The death of Col. Jas. Sloan in Milwaukee would be more sincerely and generally deplored than that of Judge Durand. He has always been an honor to his state—an upright, kindly, clean Christian gentleman.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D. Pastor.

The sermon last Sunday morning was devoted to a consideration of "The Golden Rule," and discussed the subject on the following lines: "The Principle of the Golden Rule; "The Application of the Principle," and "The results of the Application of it."

In the evening the sermon was on "The Hiviness of Labor," and had reference to the labor question. A number of the members of "The Labor Organizations" were present. A few and a solo were very pleasant features of the service.

Plans are maturing fast for what promises to be a very enthusiastic and profitable celebration of our 25th Anniversary which falls Sept 19th.

Education in the Philippines.

It is a genuine pity that the Democratic managers, in their recently issued campaign text book, should have wasted so much valuable effort, space and time in their endeavor to make a substantial issue by asserting that the acquisition of the Philippine Islands was a sentimental error and a disparaging experiment on the part of the government. It would have been an easy matter for the managers of this party without an issue to have proven to their own satisfaction the fallacy of this contention, for facts have recently arrived from the Archipelago which are gratifying to the extreme to the great mass of the American people who have an abiding faith in the destiny of our flag and who believe that the advancement of civilization is a sacred duty and a righteous cause.

The facts which prove beyond question that the native Filipinos are making rapid strides towards the institutions of modern civilization, under the paternal and guiding hand of the government, are embodied in the most recent annual report issued by the Secretary of War. The best evidence of this progress towards enlightenment is furnished by a review of the facts in the report concerning education and the public schools in the islands. When this phase of the situation was advocated in Congress by republican statesmen, it will be remembered that a clamor was instantly raised by the Democratic press that the scheme was impossible and impracticable because of the fact that the Filipinos were of that benighted class that would have nothing to do with civilization. What has already been accomplished in that so-called land of darkness proves the fallacy of this.

The Department of Instruction in the island is now under the head of a general superintendent, who has divided territory into eight divisions and has appointed a competent head to each division. In his last report to the Secretary of War the superintendent states that he already has at work eight superintendents, eight principals and assistants for normal, agricultural and manual training work, who have under their supervision 781 teachers from the United States; besides these there are so teachers selected from Americans who made applications in the Philippines, as well as two superintendents.

The most surprising feature of the educational experiment, however, shows the commendable enginuity with which the natives come forward to receive instruction as native teachers. On April 10 last, when this particular branch of the project was started, accomodations had been provided for but 350 scholars. This was thought to be ample, but on the opening day 450 enrolled and soon after it was necessary to make provisions for 670. Of these 570 studied faithfully to the end of the term, and the report is to the effect that their progress is surprising. English is grasping in the extreme. At the present time there are 4,000 native teachers being instructed, and 2,000 of these are receiving instruction in English.

But the good work has gone further than this. It is now estimated that 150,000 children are enrolled in the public schools, but only one-half of that number can be accoided for at present. The adult natives have not been neglected, as over 10,000 of them are receiving instructions in English night schools and many more applying but for want of room yet to be taken care of.

It would seem from this casual array of facts that the authors of the Democratic Campaign Text Book would do well to withdraw that misleading document and change the title so as to make it conform more closely to its inevitable contents.

There is no doubt the authors of the "Democratic Campaign Text Book" assumed their publication to be a popular one by the American people, but we matter of fact it has transcends anything genuinely humorous since the passing of Artemus Ward. A casual perusal of it would suggest that the word "fake" in the title could consistently be changed to "fake" in order that the unsuspecting reader might be prepared for the surprise in store when the ridiculously misleading contents are approached.

Taken all in all, the volume is not built upon altogether unbelievable lines. It starts out with a distinct method, for after the "report of Democracy"—the same old stock that made the memory of Jefferson famous has been paraded for a brief page in the beginning of the book, then the intended is sandbagged into submission by many pages of the latest Democratic platform. After that if the reader survives he is led by devious routes through 300 sanguinary pages which serve to convince him that the Philippine war was a grim necessity. A lighter touch follows wherein the authors, in 80 pages of fiction, sigures and pictures concerning the tariff, try to prove that the citizens of Europe for several years past have been buying shoe buckles, egg beaters, rat traps and axle grease some 5 or 7 per cent. cheaper than the Americans.

While the Democratic Campaign Book is now before the public in its entirety, and is really not entitled to the seriousness and to that extent should be briefly considered. Out of its 864 pages, 240 are devoted to the issue of imperialism, which is dead, dead. This leaves the Democracy 300 in the hereafter, and with such an issue it is liable to win out some time during the Greek Kalends. Now, look at the matter seriously. To the leaders of the Democratic party expect that a House of Representatives will ever be secured by casting stones at the honor and loyalty of the American Army, or by the proposal to set the Philippines adrift?

Ferry vs the Field.

Dexter M. Ferry is in the field for election as U.S. Senator to succeed James McMillan. W. C. McMillan having withdrawn from the field. This narrows the contest down to Alger and Ferry.

Both are good men; both are honest men; both are good republicans. Also, both are millionaires. But Ferry is wealthier, by far, and is president of, or connected with, more corporations than any man in Michigan. We do not claim that this in any manner affects his fitness for office, but when of his capital is invested in industrial enterprises, as was that of the late Senator.

But we think there is no doubt of the result as between Ferry and Alger. Alger has always been popular in his state, and this popularity has, if possible, increased during and since the Spanish war.

The treatment to which he was subjected by a congressional earthquake, and which was borne by him in dignified silence, has served to strengthen the friendship of the people of Michigan for him, and they will send him to the senate as a token of their regard for him.

But it is a fair fight. Mr. Ferry has a right to aspire to the place, and there will be no mud thrown at him by either Gen. Alger or his friends.

The Democratic Party.

The Democratic party has reached the limit of confusing. It confounded eight years ago with forever silenced. It set out to confound another eight years with Williams Jennings Bryan. All the while it was egregiously deceiving itself, heralding its very selfish, self-assertive, mediocre professional politicians. The transition from Cleveland to Bryan was merely a somersault from a dangerous into a bottomless pit. Neither was worth the pains and the cost. The unspeakable Mugwump still worships at the shrine of Cleveland, and there are those who still pride themselves on their fealty to Mr. Bryan as though it embodied some attribute of virtue and duty. It will never do to let Mr. Bryan, these severally exclaim, quite forgetting alike the sentence of a marriage vow and any pledge to speak of. Hon. Henry Watterson in Louisville Courier-Journal.

The great trouble with the Democratic party leaders, judging from their recent utterances concerning the trusts, seems to be that they have failed to recognize the great changes that have taken place in economic, commercial and social conditions. In other words, the business world and commerce are moving so much faster than Democratic statesmanship, that there is grave danger of the entire party being fatally crushed by a run over by next November.

The smoke nuisance has been a source of much worriment in many cities since the inauguration of the anthracite coal strike, and many municipalities have taken severe measures to suppress it. There was a time, not so many years ago, when the Democratic party, and a revised tariff was in the middle at the Nation's Capital, and there was no smoke of smoke to be seen in the entire land. Today.

HEIRS ON OTHER SIDE

EUROPEANS INTERESTED IN MINNESOTA CASE.

Death of Owner of Mining Land Brings to Prominence Claims of Heirs—Big Estate—Siberian Convicts Revolt at Hit Treatment.

The Mesabi iron range of Minnesota is being joined to Duluth Superior by a road of Northern Minnesota. This road is called Mesabi, and, among a number of other things, it has caused a lawsuit in the metropolis—one of which was held in Paris. Minnesota is the northernmost of the Ohiens in Europe. Between them, on the other side of the ocean, flourished a family known and to our little Independence here, in the person of Mme. Mesabi, chief owner from way back of the Mesabi range. Mme. Mesabi died, and her property, including a large tract of land in Minnesota, passed to her two nephews, Messrs. Hardy and Lamy. Mme. Mesabi died intestate, and the property was administered by a French notary, who, in the course of his duties, found that the Mesabi property was worth a good deal of money. He found also that Mme. Mesabi had a sister, who was the mother of two nephews, Messrs. Hardy and Lamy. Mme. Mesabi's sister was dead, and the notary found that the Mesabi property was worth a good deal of money. The notary found also that the nephews, Messrs. Hardy and Lamy, were dead, and that the property was worth a good deal of money. The notary found also that the nephews, Messrs. Hardy and Lamy, had been killed in a railroad wreck

START WORK THIS FALL.

Dashers Behind Stones & West Michigan Railroads.

Manistee Herald: Has the Alpena Gaylord & Western railroad become a thing of the past? It would seem so as far as Manistee is concerned, judging from the following article taken from the Traverse City Daily Eagle:

R. H. Mattlaney, who was elected president of the Alpena & West Michigan Railway company, an security of whose organization appeared in yesterday's issue of The Daily Eagle, says that the new company is a private enterprise and has no connection with the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway. W. H. Johnson is treasurer and T. N. Goodhourne is secretary of the company.

The new line as proposed will be 125 miles in length and run from Alpena almost directly west to Gaylord, passing through Flanders, Hillman, Atlanta, Big Rock, Heathcote, Gaylord, Wanda and East Jordan. It traverses both good farming land and heavily timbered country. The plan is to survey the line at once, to grade 25 miles at each end this fall, and to the said ends the east next spring. The capitalization of $1,000,000 will later be increased to $2,500,000.

To some minds the Alpena & West Michigan railway company, as the new corporation is to be called, is a successor of the old Alpena & Western railway company and a number of the stockholders of the old company are members of the new, though the enterprises are entirely distinct. For the $12,000 cash which these men put into the old company, they are to be given $50,000 in the new. Alpena City, which agreed to give $25,000 bonus to the Alpena & Western will do so much for the newly organized company and the country and other cities along the line are expected to help.

Is it more than possible that the proposed road, if built, will in time become part of a considerable railway system tapping the northern part of the state. Mr. Mattlaney is now at the head of the Traverse City, Lake Ontario & Manistee railway company, which owns and is planning to extend the Manistique & Northern railway north from Manistique, and which is also planning a car ferry line between Northport and Manistique. Grand Traverse bay alone separates the terminus of the T. O. L. & M. and A. & W. M. and the car ferry system might easily connect them both with Manistique.

Hold Your Apples.

The apple crop this year is very light. In our news columns this week we publish interviews with a number of the leading growers showing that it is certainly the condition in Mason county. It is also the universal opinion of the best authorities. Apple buyers appreciate this fact and as the following press dispatch indicates are doing fair means and foul to keep the price down.

There is intense indignation among fruit growers in the New York Commercial, over the reports which are cropping out in the newspapers of every fruit growing section in the United States, evidently inspired by members of the Apple Shippers' association, who held a meeting recently in Rochester. These reports which, apparently by regular correspondents of the various papers, are so alike that they are evidently the result of interviews with members of the association who have had outlined for their benefit a plan of talk which has for its object the spreading of the idea that the crop of apples this year is very large and of excellent quality and that the prevailing prices will be low. In every article which has appeared these prices are quoted at $1.25 for the first quality apples, with possibly $1.50 for the fancy grades.

"It is claimed that in 1900 the same plan was followed, the press combined to getting a report on the Associated Press wires which frightened apple growers so that the early sales were scooped in at from $1.75 to $1.50. Within days after the season the price jumped up to $2.25 and $2.50 and after the buyers had secured all of the early crop. Just season the same tactics were tried and many apples were bought at $1.25 and $1.50 when the crop was exceedingly short, many sales being made later at $3.50 and $3.25 for toppers and $2.50 and $2.75 for Ends and seconds barrelled to order."

Farmers with good or even fair crops who have not contracted for the sale of their apples have a golden mine and will show wisdom by holding the fruit and waiting for higher prices. All know how prices rose last year and the very best old fashioned sources this year's crop is only a little less than that last year and considerably below the 1900 crop.—Lexington Issue of August.

Narrow Escape for Roosevelt.

The carriage containing President Roosevelt and friends was run into by a trolly car, at Lennox, Mass, on Tuesday.

After a short visit to the home of ex Senator Dawes the President and started on a long drive to Lenox. He had not gone far when an electric car ran into them, throwing everyone to the ground and badly damaging the coach. The President received a cut on the head, Gov. Crane was bruised, and William Crane, the secret service man, was injured. It was the escape of the President was indeed miraculous.

NOT UP TO COLORADO.

Michigan Sugar Beets Have To Take Second Place.

Detroit special: The expert agricultural College is one of the best in the world, said A. Groff, an embassy of Bonn university, Germany, who was at the Sac Claire hotel last evening. M. Groff spent a day or two in looking over the best sugar farms of Michigan, and also inspected the sugar factories at Bay City. He says the latter he was much pleased, and says Michigan should make rapid strides to the beet sugar industry, though he says the middle and low lands of Colorado are producing much better beets than anything in Michigan in spite of cultivate. His reason are that the soil of the western state has not been worked so hard as that in Michigan; that the crops are far more scientific and consequently, should contain more sugar, and that under the irrigation system the exact amount of water necessary is added.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

East Jordan Enterprise: W. S. Johnson of the South Arm lumber co. was in town the first of week arranging their work here. They will do two camps for stocking out logs this winter and it is more than possible that they will soon rebuild their mill at South Arm.

Petoskey Herald: Jake Petoskey, who, as foreman of the Michigan Telephone Co. has been a familiar figure in our streets for years, was run over and killed by a train at Cheboygan county, on Monday. Money was raised by subscription and the remains will be shipped here for burial tomorrow.

The Bay Spring hotel at Bellaire will be turned into, into a Soldiers home. The building is large and well fitted for such an institution. The present home at Lake, in charge of H. S. Swift, will be abandoned, and Mr. Swift will take charge of the new home. He has Detroit and supporters.

Petoskey Democrat: Ex Congressman W. S. Mesick of Manistee, is to make Petoskey his future home. He has rented the house owned by Mrs. G. A. Burke on the corner of Emmet and Pelosky streets, and intends moving here with his family in the immediate future. Mr. Mesick will be welcomed as an addition to the legal profession of this city.

According to a Cadillac buyer and shipper there is no market nowadays for potatoes or apples. In Chicago the buyers are offering thirty-five cents for potatoes but are not buying for shipment at even that price. In Cadillac the $1.50 quotation range from twenty to twenty-five cents. It is probable, however, that there will be a demand for potatoes and apples before the beginning of the new year, and it is probable, too, that the potato quotations will materially exceed from twenty to twenty-five cents.

Petoskey Blossom: If there is any truth in the rumor that both the Pennsylvania and New York Central are trying to secure control of the Pere Marquette. As the Pennsylvania already owns the N. Y. & L. the acquisition of Pere Marquette would leave us without competition on freight rates except during the season of navigation and then only on Chicago freights. For this reason our people will hope for the success of the Vanderbilt interest.

Traverse City, R. Holmson, superintendent of telegraph of the weather bureau service, has been here and over to the Sleeping Bear island during the past week, locating the ground over preparatory to laying the cable from here to that point. Everything has been arranged satisfactorily and bids are advertised for the silver cord for the manufacturing of the cable. It is not definitely decided whether it will be laid this fall or not but if not it will be laid the first thing in the spring at the opening of navigation.

The Blackbiard City village council received old Fort park Wawatam park and has ordered it reserved, after which it will be tendered to the state to navigate in perpetuity for memorial purposes. The government will be asked to erect and maintain a memorial park to commemorate and mark the spot of the Indian massacre at the old English fort, Mich. Blackbird, June 4, 1763.

Heaviest battles of savage warfare. It will be remembered that on that day the English garrison at the fort consisting of its soldiers and officers, and been invited by the Indians to watch their ball game (lacrosse), which was played near the fort. The invitation was accepted. The ball was knocked high in the air and backward and forward and finally fell within the fort. After it rained 100 Indians and then the butchery commenced. The massacre having been carefully planned, Indian women had secretly carried into the fort to be used kettles, tomahawks and other weapons of warfare. Only 14 of the English garrison, including Captain Johnnigan and Alexander Henry, historian, escaped with their lives. The latter was saved by friendly Indian squaws Wawatam, in honor of whom the park was now named. This movement is backed by the Sac Claire semi-Centennial association, which successfully carried the semi-centennial and organization consisting of the leading citizens of the island is being performed to act in conjunction with it or aid in the fulfillment of its movement.

Resemblance Causes Annoyance.

Rev. Frank H. Rose, a chandelier in the United States navy, bears a strong resemblance to Admiral Dewey. His and his wife were in Wilkesbarre, Pa., recently and the rumor got abroad that the admiral was in town. Mr and Mrs. Rose took a carriage to go in the afternoon and were followed by a crowd wherever they went. Necessary for some one to announce that he was not Admiral Dewey and that the demonstration was annoying. Then the citizens went off in groups.

Why Democrats are Sad.

The St. Paul Globe, like other Democratic organs in the West, is discouraged by the good crops, and good prices that make the farmers prosperous, and unwilling to listen to a wail of the calamity howler. The Globe said:

"Is the rain fall due to Dingley tariff schedules or to New Jersey trust sanctions? If the ballots of the American citizens can be controlled by the rain fall and the crop yield, where is the boasted intelligence and independence of the Republic?"

The Globe and all other Democratic organs should remember "Prosperity theoretically means, not a condition and not a theory which confronts us." The American people are capable of judging themselves by conditions, and while the rainfall, has brought forth good crops this year, the same was true 1894 and the farmers were not prosperous or happy. In that last year of Democratic administration and low tariff schedules in the Wilson-Gorman law, the rainfall was good and the corn crop the largest in the history of the country, either before or since that date, unless this year's crop shall surpass it. We produced 2,283,874,000 bushels of corn 1894 and it sold at an average price of 21.5 cents per bushel at the farm, making the total farm value of the crop $491,090,957. In 1893 the corn crop was more than 750,000,000 bushels less than in 1894 and the value of it nearly double that of the last Democratic tariff year. In 1892 the average price of corn at the farm was 43.5 cents, and the total farm value $621,555,765. The rain is not the only agency for prosperity even on the farm.

The wheat crop was much smaller in 1893 than in 1893 but it did not bring increased prices due to its scarcity, because there was a scarcity of labor and wages to purchase what tread. In 1894 the wheat crop amounted to 427,084,000 bushels and the farm value of the crop was $310,022,833. Last year the wheat crop amounted 348,049,000 bushels and the farm value was $467,350,156. The oat crop in 1894 amounted to 707,346,000 bushels and its farm value was $152,485,351. In 1892 the oat crop amounted to 736,688,724 bushels and its farm value was $207,888,777. While the oat crop was larger by only 29,000,000 bushels last year the value was more than double that of 1894. There are the conditions on the farm which seem harrassing to the calamity howlers. They find that nature, and the Dingley law are cooperating this year and giving calamity a back seat.

The tours being made by President Roosevelt are splendid object lessons in patriotism and cannot help doing much good. His pride in being made an "Honorary Locomotive Fireman" was evident and genuine. Actions of this character will go far towards combating the Democratic endeavors to divide our population into two hostile camps—into capitalists and labor's camp—the camp of the classes and the camp of the masses.

Criminal aggression against the Filipino chiefs in building ports, roads, and schoolhouses, in insisting on sanitary measures, in providing a low equitable tariff and in aiding them to learn the art of self-government.

Possibly one reason why the Democrats are so opposed to the Philippine policy of the Administration is because the "Commander" pictured a Mazabele scout as a full blooded negro.

More American manufacturers have been exported during the past fiscal year than during the entire period the Democrats controlled the government of the United States.

The Democrats assert that tropical colonies have never been commercially successful, yet 10 tenths of the globe are occupied by temperate zone nations.

Popular Suffrage in the South.

Senator Patterson of Colorado, in discussing the Philippine Civil Government Bill, in the United States Senate last May said it was a monstrous piece of legislation because it would not permit more than 5 per cent. of the people in the Islands to vote. The Southern Democrats endorsed the view of the Colorado Senator. But what shows the Democratic Solidarity in the Philippines does not disturb them at home. South Carolina, the State of Tillman, and Mississippi, the state of money, hold elections year after year and claim to be among the oldest states in the Union, but neither of those States cast enough votes in 1896 to equal 1 per cent. of population. The vote of South Carolina was about 2.6 per cent. of the population, while the total vote of Mississippi was equal to 3.5 per cent. of the population. In South Carolina, where Tillman boasts that they have a white man's government, there were, according to the census of 1890, 196,375 white males of voting age, and the total vote of the State in that year was only 50,815, or a little more than one-third of the white men of voting age in the State, and only one-fifth of the men of voting age, could anything be more farcical in popular government than the state of South Carolina even as a white man's government? Mississippi is no better. There are 150,930 white males of voting age in that State and the total vote in the last Presidential election was 53,416. There were little more than one-third the white men of the State voting, and less than one-fifth of the voters white and colored recorded at voting.

In Georgia, the State of Senator Bacon, another critic of the Philippine bill, only 2 per cent. of the population voted in 1890, in Texas it was 13 per cent; in Virginia 14 per cent; while in Ohio there was 25 per cent of the population recorded as voting in 1890, in New York 21 per cent; in Illinois 14 per cent; and in Illinois 23 per cent. It is from Georgia, Alabama, South carolina and Mississippi that solid Democratic delegations will be elected in November. South Carolina will elect 7 congressmen and Mississippi will elect 8 with fewer votes than are required to elect one member of the House from Ohio, Illinois or New York. It is thus unequal representation which makes necessary a hard fight in every Northern State to prevent the South from controlling Congress.

Here is a typical case of misrepresentation made by the Democratic Congressional Committee's last book, just published. On page 181 it is stated "This would leave the cost of the Philippine war $606,598,874 up to June 30, 1902." The Secretary of War made an official report to the Senate June 19, 1902, in which he said that "The amount of money expended and the amounts so far as practicable to state it, for which the government of the United States is liable, especially unpaid for equipment, supplies and military operations in the Philippine Islands each year from May 1, 1898 to the present time aggregate $170,982,536.11." There is Democratic fiction against official fact.

A million dollars worth of opium recently arrived at San Francisco. The Democratic leaders might be able to see a victory in November next if they could only secure that consignment for use in their own pipes.

The Democrats maintain that the Philippine war was needless. True we could have abandoned the Islands to the German Admiral who answered Dewey, but then Dewey was not built that way.

Tax Commission Raises Property Valuations in Charlevoix.

Supervisor John Ward has received the assessment roll from Lansing, where it was recently taken by the auditors of the tax commission, and John did not recognize his child—in fact he nearly fainted when it looked him in the face, for it was very much bigger than when he tenderly entrusted it to the custody of its new guardians.

And it is safe to say that the humable gentlemen earned their salaries for the time employed on the roll. If their several salaries are proportionate to the magnitude of their guesses on property valuations in Charlevoix, they should equal that of Schwab, the steel king.

The roll as issued by Supervisor Ward carried a total valuation of $677,290. As revised by the tax commission, it is $1,301,092. Raise, $623,802.

It would be a waste of time and space to enlarge upon the inequalities exhibited in the above table. It speaks for itself. It is sufficient to say, that if it were not disgusting it would be amusing.

We repeat what we said at the outset. The purpose of the tax commission law is a righteous one. But, while the legislature may enact a good law it cannot always provide men with brains to execute it in its true spirit.

Supervisor Ward, however, is comforting himself with the fact that he guessed correctly on the value of the Charlevoix Improvement Co's property, which is practically owned by the railroad company. This is left as assessed, the commission not caring to increase the number of its guesses by raising on Mr. Heath's corporation holdings. It is difficult to understand why the review of the balance of the roll could not have been made in Detroit.

To continue misapplication of the law is not to condone an act. Under the constitution the purchasing power is vested in the governor and rightly so, but within the past three years we have seen that law prostituted. It is not the fault of the tax commission laws or of the executive that unjust and abusive results should ensue.

Now, if the commission can guess correctly the number of peas in one of Mr. M. Ferry's two bushel bags, it will complete a record of mathematical legerdemain that will give it little rivals.

GETS OUD TREATMENT

A CAPTURED BURGLAR IS FED, LECTURED AND FREED.

Family in Ogle, Ill., Endeavors to Make Rubber See the Error of His Ways, Superior Exclusion to Blackjack Reports Destruction.

M. and Mrs. Carlos Thompson, Ill., believe in returning good for evil. While they were in church last week a burglar broke into a nearby residence and stole some valuable personal effects belonging to Mr. and Mrs. William M. Hammond. When the Hammonds returned home they found the house ransacked and valuables lacking.

Sunday morning they received a telephone message from a neighbor who had caught the burglar in the act of carrying a valise containing some of the stolen goods to his home. The man, who gave his name as Rubber, had entered the house by a window. When Mr. Hammond learned that the man was a prisoner in the local jail he called on him and the Thompsons offered to take him home with them. Reluctantly the man accepted the invitation. He was given a bath and a change of clothes, and his own clothes were taken to the city to be cleaned and pressed. The man was then fed a hearty breakfast and lectured by Mr. Thompson on the evil of his ways. Rubber promised to reform and was given a dollar with which to pay his fare to his home in Sterling.

Rubber's home town happened to be the place where Mrs. Hammond had lived before her marriage, and she had a long talk with the man about old times in Ogle county. Rubber promised to call on his benefactors when he next visited Ogle county, and they invited him to make their home his headquarters while in the city.

Rubber said he had been a member of the Sterling police force for a short time, but had been dismissed because he was unable to "make good" with the boys. He said he had been "on the bum" since his dismissal, and had been "hitting the ties" for Chicago when he stopped in Ogle county to "get something to eat."

Mrs. Hammond, who is a sister of Mrs. Thompson, said that her husband had intended to give Rubber a shotgun instead of a blackjack if he had caught the burglar in his house at all.

Parkersburg Intends to Beautify.

Following the wave threatened with sweeping through the country in the shape of a movement to substitute a shotgun for a blackjack in the hands of the police, Parkersburg, W. Va., has decided to adopt a new method of dealing with the city's "bad men." The city council has passed an ordinance providing that the city shall be made beautiful.

MUCH GOLD IN TREASURY.

Gold is still the largest item in the income of the treasury department, the receipts from this source for the fiscal year ending June 30 last being $138,000,000 in round figures.

Club Gender Taxes Fixture.

Mrs. Adelle N. Johnson, an estimable woman in Chicago, who conducts a club for women in that city, has been taxed by the assessor in the amount of $2,000 for the fixtures in her club rooms.

Fire in Pittsburg Fair Grounds.

Fire, which, it is thought, started from a defective flue, destroyed a portion of the Pittsburg Fair grounds in East Liberty early Monday morning. The loss will be small.

Churchman Said a Scheme.

Rev. Dr. Stephen Merritt, a Methodist in the Texas Conference, died recently. He was a member of the Texas legislature when the famous "Merritt bill" was passed.

Five Wrecks in One Day.

Five freight wrecks occurred Sunday between Johnstown and Hornell on the Pennsylvania Railroad system.

FEAR ILLNESS IN SHIPYARDS.

Great Trouble Among the Monopolists Is Plainly Possessed.

There is no longer any doubt that a period of depression is in store for the British shipbuilding trade, ending the prosperous days of the Jubilee Year Tribune. With the freight market in an almost unshaken state and there is little indication to send men crowding into the shipyards. Nearly all the yards are carrying only a few men, and there is no chance for the women in British shipyards. Some of the Belfast shipyards, for instance, have a few hundred men employed, and hundreds have been laid off. Not only are the shipbuilding yards suffering, but the engineering shops, which are dependent on the shipyards, are laying off men in hundreds. The Belfast shipyards are building a few steamers for Russian and Italian companies, and a few for English companies, and workmen helped to launch them.

PUNN BABY TO DEATH.

Book Sell Fire to Buggy Containing Active One, with Fatal Results.

Efforts to awaken to the sense of the danger of playing with matches have been made by the parents of Punn Baby, who lost his life in a buggy filled with the stuffing of his father's stock of books. The boy was left in the buggy while the father was in the store of Mr. Hammond, and the boy, in his innocent way, set the stuffing on fire. Speedily nothing but ashes remained of the boy's stock in trade, and the boy's goods to his relatives. The fire started in the Hammond store, and the family hurried into the store to find the boy in the buggy. The boy was dead when they reached him.

MAGAZINE EXPLOSION KILLS.

One Dead and a Score Hurt as the Result of an Accident.

Shortly after 10 o'clock Monday morning, a little after 10 o'clock Monday afternoon, in the upper floor of the Hercules Powder magazine at the Jackson Park Fair, there was a terrible explosion, which killed one man and injured a score others, some mortally. The dead man was Mr. Kline, who was employed in the magazine, and who was alone in the building. Kline was a young man, and his relatives live in Ohio. The injured are all employes of the Hercules Powder company, and are employed in the building where the explosion occurred. The building is a two-story affair, and is one of the smaller buildings on the grounds. The building is located in the rear of the Hercules building, and is about 200 feet from the main building. The explosion was heard for miles around, and was felt in the city of Chicago. The force of the explosion was so great that it shook the ground for miles around, and the shock

MARINE NEWS.

The Harbor Springs steamer Shadight is hauled out at Washburn's ship yard for re-caulking.

The Booth Packing Co. has leased McCarthy's fishing tug Theresa, and will fish her out of Petoskey this fall and winter.

She installed Capt. A. Cummings, made the Beaver's trip to St. James Monday, on account of the Beaver having to go to Cross Village.

The steamer Beaver was about a week trying to get to Cross Village with a full load of Charlevoix and Harbor Springs freight, owing to high winds prevailing a landing there. She started out early Saturday morning from Harbor Springs, but encountered a heavy northwest sea run for this port. Lying here over Sunday she got out Monday morning and made the trip. She brought back a good load of peas for the Ferry seed co. The Beaver however, never waits for weather enough for a lee shore landing. She has made her Beaver Island trips pretty regularly.

On her last trip to Shelmerdine last week the steam barge Welcome, Capt. Geo. Weaver, lumber laden, had a narrow escape from distruction by fire which about two hours out from the Manitous, fire was discovered under the boiler. It spread with rapidity, and Capt. Weaver turned her back for Manitou harbor. The brave gained such headway that the fire hole and engine room were on fire. Steam and water were turned in, and only by the most vigorous efforts was the boat saved. After fairly subdued, the Welcome proceeded on her way. Capt. Weaver says that at one time he nearly "gave up the ship."

The tug Calumet, with the dredge and two dump scows in tow left this port early Wednesday morning of last week. After a battle with a heavy sea the tug reached Frankfort that evening. A mile from shore the crew of the dredge was taken from the half swamped craft. As a result of the dredge's misfortunes, two big scows were set adrift in the direct channel between Chicago and the Straits of Mackinac. The Calumet and dredge were over taken by the storm off Point Au Sable and within a short time the line holding the scows were parted. The dredge crew from that time until put was rescued I lost their efforts to keep their awkward craft above water. They had a hard fight, and won by a margin so small that if the dredge had been allowed to make half a mile more it would have gone to the bottom. Arbor Weird comes from Frankfort, that the tug Calumet has recovered the dump scows which were lost during a northwester last week.

A laughable, and at the same time positively true, marine incident is reported from Manistee, concerning the tug John C. Mann and the sailing schooner Lillie E. The tug pulling and blowing with all her might, and main yesterday, succeeded in towing the schooner from Big Point Au Sable to a point a few miles from Manistee. Then the tug's machinery gave out and she was apparently doomed to spend the night in the lake with a big stormy gathering. Things looked serious an second until it occurred to the captain of the schooner that if the tug couldn't tow the schooner, maybe the schooner could tow the tug. It seemed a good idea, and when the tug in her disabled condition swung around the schooner gracefully sailed alongside. The tow line was carried aft and, with the commodore thus towed, the schooner sailed proudly away with the tug hanging on behind. The captain of the schooner is now wondering how much quicker he would have got to Manistee if he had taken the tug in tow in the first place.

Chicago Record-Herald: With the arrival today of the steamer Manitou the overtures made to the Manitou last year came to an end. As soon as the steamer's passengers are landed the boat will be put in her winter quarters at South Chicago where she will be given attention by painters and from the before again appear in service. Manager Joseph Barnett has announced the company's satisfaction at the season's profit as shown by statement that approximately 17,000 persons have enjoyed the company's accommodations this season. Last year the actual number 17,136. But the pay season been one of good weather the time set a record that has been supposedted in lake passenger business to the northern resorts. Manager Barnett is comfort, with the difficult harbor, as one of her ports of call the Manitou very nearly kept up during the last season to the record made by competitors maintained during former years. On twenty-four out of the thirty-six trips made during the season she arrived at Mackinac Island on an average of three minutes ahead of time, and in while on eight trips she ran an average of eight minutes behind or the 900-mile run from Chicago to Mackinac.

The small schooner Experiment, loaded with wood for Milwaukee, Capt. Weaver, in a small size Devil's Half mile north of St. Joseph harbor. The crew were rescued by Lifesaver Jim Gifford and went ashore. The Experiment is the oldest schooner operating on the east shore. She was built in 63 passed to field and for the past forty-eight years was engaged in the lumber trade. Dating nearly 60 years the Experiment has sailed the Great Lakes and her last wreck is one of many. Fifty-four years ago the Experiment went ashore almost at the same place of her last wreck. On that occasion two of her passengers went through a thrilling experience, and one of them, now past 80 years of age, still relates the story of the wreck. The Experiment was sailed at that time by Capt. Nelson W. Napier, who went down with the schooner Alpena in 1880. Mrs Napier is the survivor of the wreck, and the chief figure in what at that time rank ed as a most disastrous occurrence. Mrs. Napier and two children, the oldest a boy 12 years old, and the other a baby a few months accompanied Capt. Napier on the fatal trip. Entering St. Joseph in a storm, the vessel was rolled over in the sea and went ashore with her keel to the air. One sailor was washed ashore dead. Others were never found. All accounts of the boat except Capt. Napier were believed drowned. When morning came a wrecking crew succeeded in reaching the Experiment, partly buried in the sand with water all around and under her. No one believed that any living thing could be found around the old hulk, but to make sure, axes were brought into play and a hole cut through the ship's bottom. Then in the ship's hole was found Mrs Napier and son, the latter clinging his unconscious parent above the water. The baby had been washed from the mother's arms, and its body was found weeks later in the sands along the shore.

SEEKS A NEW FIELD.

The Rev. A. Clarke Will Sever His Relations at Holland.

A Holland special to the Grand Rapids Herald gives the following information concerning Rev. Adam Clark, son of Joseph Clark, of Marion: Sunday September 14, Rev. A. Clark will deliver his last sermon to a Holland audience in the capacity of pastor of the Methodist church. He will close his years work on that date and will go to conference with the understanding that he will not be returned to this charge.

The Rev. Mr. Clarke has been so closely identified with the history of the Methodist church, that he has brought with misfortune and discouragement, and has been so helpful in building up the membership, that he was regarded as a fixture, that could not be supplanted without loss to the congregation. It is not on account of any discordant or inharmonious spirit that Mr. Clarke has decided to sever his relations. At least that his work here is completed and that he can be more successful in some other field.

The Rev. Mr. Clarke has been pastor of the Methodist church here for six years. When he took up this work the society had 155 members and worshiped in a small building that had a seating capacity of less than 200. Today the membership of the church numbers 321, and the society occupies a handsome edifice costing $12,000, and the debt on the new structure is so small as not to be burdensome. This is brief is the work of Mr. Clarke in six years and it was accomplished under difficulties of the most discouraging character.

Undaunted by the fire that, Feb 6, 1901, swept away the new structure that represented great labor and much self-denial, and over which hung a debt, Mr. Clarke set up from it work to restore the loss the fire brought, and with the assistance of friends he raised a subscription fund pledged to justify the building of a new structure.

No pastor ever had a charge in this city who was more popular with the people than Mr. Clarke.

SCHOOL NOTES.

School opened Monday Sept 8th.

The Athletic Association met for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year. The following were elected: Pres., Wm. Freeman; Sec. and Supt., Bert Blodell, Treasurer, Simon Sterling.

Prof. Brown, ex-superintendent of Indianapolis schools, visited the high school last week.

The high school Foot-ball team has been reorganized and Capt. Lewis is preparing the team for a game with Petoskey scheduled for Sept. 20. A good game is expected.

Ninety two students enrolled in the high school Sept. 8, and four new scholars have entered since the above date.

The twelfth German class has taken up "Marie Stuart."

Prof. Hemsp, head of the department of Mathematics of the University of Michigan, visited the high school Tuesday.

Friday evening Rev. and Mrs. Hyslop entertained the teachers of the Charlevoix schools. The hospitality with which their hearts and home were opened, caused to all present that feeling of congeniality that makes an old fashioned "Time of the world." The memories of that evening will linger long in the hearts of many. John Mabee.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

Organization has, primarily, reference to the relation of pupils to teachers, and next the relation of pupils to each other; the resulting secondary arrangements among pupils is of little consequence. This, then, presents the school as a whole with confronting the recitation, is a process commonness with instruction. A school organized does not remain so, but from day to day needs readjustment. A school is organized when pupils are classed and graded, and when the movement of the whole is progressive and.

All pupils who join with the teacher in the same act at the same time form a class; when this class is thought of as joining with the teacher in a series of acts in the development of a subject, it is called a grade.

A grade and a class are one, differing only from the view taken.

We hope our teachers will study carefully "Hamilton's school Management" and learn to distinguish between organization, class-section and recitation.

The Ferry Seed Warehouse.

Very much has been said, and truthfully, concerning the need of a better farmer's market in Charlevoix and, in the chronic contemplation of this necessity we are inclined to forget what we really possess in that particular.

This year, above all previous years, we are reminded of the large and growing benefit to Charlevoix of the Ferry Seed Co's warehouse.

A glance at the mammoth building at the foot of Pine Lake would of itself suggest to the mind large figures, but not until you interview superintendent Coulter do you realize that the enterprise over which he presides is not only an industry of no mean proportions, but, better still, a farmer's market that makes itself felt in Charlevoix and distributes its profit over more farming territory than any other enterprise in Northern Michigan.

Some idea of the magnitude of the seed pea business here may be gained from one item alone—bags. Mr. Coulter has received from Detroit and distributed among pea growers a carload and a half of 50,000 bags.

About 50,000 bushels of peas will be received at the warehouse this fall which will be cleaned and shipped to Detroit the coming winter.

This product represents an expenditure of about $75,000, and it all goes to farmers. Probably $20,000 of this goes to farmers in the section tributary to Charlevoix.

And it is gratifying to know that the enterprise is not only a permanent one, but one that cannot fail to grow in the future as it has since its birth.

Lieut. Reynolds, Inspector U. S. Life Saving service, was in town Tuesday. Lieut. Reynolds told the SENTINEL that the U. S. Fish Commission was in correspondence with Mr. Coulter in regard to the erection of a fish hatchery on the grounds of the Charlevoix station. The Inspector expects to make a final report on the matter on his arrival at his Chicago office. Capt. Clark, of the Michigan hatcheries, told the writer of this some time ago, that a hatchery would be established here.

J. W. Harris has accepted a responsible position as civil engineer on a big railroad construction job in Oklahoma and Indian Territory, and will leave for his new field of work next week. When Mr. Harris settled down here last fall and entered the real estate business it was his intention to make this his permanent business home. To this end he erected the cosy home on the bluff. Mr. Harris wants it understood that Charlevoix will continue to be his home and here his family will remain. And the recent offer from his old chief was too flattering to be turned down. There is much regret expressed that he must leave, but nobody blames him. Wherever he goes everybody in Charlevoix wishes him well.

The Michigan Methodist Episcopal conference is in session at Traverse City this week. Bishop Fitzgerald of St. Louis, Mo., will preside. One of the most important matters which will come up is that of the time fixed in which a preacher may remain in one church. It is said that many active churchmen would welcome the return of the five year limit. Among the speakers at the conference are Rev. E. M. Mills, D. D., of New York, secretary of the twentieth Century Fund movement; Rev. M. B. C. Mann, of Chicago, a noted colored preacher; Dr. James N. King of Philadelphia, representing the board of church extensions; H. N. Ostell of New York, who was President McKinley's special commissioner to Porto Rico, and Dr. J. F. Berry, general secretary of the Epworth League.

—Work has been resumed at the sugar factory, and Mr. Hartsig hopes to keep current enough on the road to prevent a lay-up.

—On Sunday morning a construction train arrived here from Grand Rapids, and fifty men began the work on the sugar factory side track.

—The remains of Mrs. Arthur Whitman were brought here from Elmira for interment Tuesday. Deceased was formerly Miss Daisy Ackers.

—During the wet fall an evening entertainment will be conducted by Rev. T. B. Hughes at his residence 210 Antrim street. Intending attendants should make early application as the class is limited.

—The SENTINEL has a large amount outstanding on subscription account. The next thirty days will be devoted to collecting them. Save us the trouble of sending statements, and call in or remit.

—The Petoskey high school team played foot ball here Saturday with the Charlevoix high school boys, and went home victors by a score of 10 to 0. Nobody was killed, but Cyril Shepard had a shoulder dislocated, and Mrs. Dentlio had a kneecap sprung.

—Died, Saturday morning, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, Jennie M. Ward, aged 24 year and six months of age, after a long and distressing illness. The funeral was from the residence, Sunday afternoon. The attendance, being large, emphasizing not only a large number of Charlevoix friends but a great many old Marion neighbors. Mr. and Mrs. Ward have the sympathy of all.

—Out in the barber at another all this week, has left the sixth jewel. Speedy, owned by C. G. Conn, the celebrated band instrument manufacturer of Elkhart, Ind. Mr. Conn, who is aboard, brought the talent over from England, where he purchased her. He will lay her up in Milwaukee this winter, and in the spring take her home to salt water. During the summer he will cruise about New Brunswick and New Foundland, and in the winter take her to the West Indies and Central America, the cruise over from England under her own steam, via Fayal and Bermuda, and experienced no trouble. She is 130 feet long, built of steel, and has twin screws. Mr. Conn made a pleasant call on the SENTINEL, and surprised us with the information that he was during the civil war an officer in the 2nd Michigan Sharp shooters, and at the grand review in Washington, commanded the company of Indians that was recruited in the Grand Traverse region. Mr. Conn owns the largest musical instrument factory in the world.

—Elmer Mayne went to Flint Tuesday to take his boy to the State school for the deaf and dumb.

—While wrestling at the seed warehouse Saturday, Herl Sharrow had a leg broken in two places.

—Mrs A. Buttars left Sunday night for Morrington, Vt., called by the serious illness of a sister.

—Erratum. In Crane's ad. on our fourth page the items of "all wool fancy stripe walsting" should read 75c and not $1.00.

—John M. Fetty goes to Grand Rapids this week. The family of Mr. Fetty go to their home in Indiana for the winter.

—Rev. Dr. Hyslop is in Detroit this week, and there will be no service at the Congregational church next Sunday.

—Mrs. H. A. Carr returned from Grand Rapids last week with her new stock of fall and winter millinery. See ad. in this issue.

—Mark Swan, author of "Browns in Town," and other successes, comes to the front this week with another effort, along new and original lines. "A Runaway Match" will be seen here at Lewis' opera house on next Monday evening.

—The steamer Illinois gives an excursion to the Soo, leaving Charlevoix at six o'clock Sunday evening, returning Tuesday morning, giving six hours at the Soo. Fare, $3.00 for the round trip, meals and berths included. This is a great chance to see the famous Soo locks and water-power canal.

—"A Runaway Match," a new comedy, by Mark T. Swan, will be seen here for the first time at Lewis opera house on Monday evening for one performance only. This new venture, effort is one of those satisfitting gems that help to make men and women see the bright and pleasing side of life.

—Mr. Waldemar Hartsig the agriculturist of the Charlevoix Sugar Co., is making the rounds among the farmers, giving much of his time to correcting errors in treatment of crops and imparting instruction where it is needed. Mr. Hartsig reports last crops very satisfactory, in a general way, but that the fields show some thin places owing to late or inattentive attention. His purpose is to impress the growers with the fact that labor is the best field to money well invested.

—If you want your town to prosper, if you want to encourage your merchants to always have the stocks wide broaden their scope of trade, patronize home enterprises. We believe there is very little profit in Charlevoix people trading in Petoskey or elsewhere, but if there is an apparent gain of a few dimes, it is offset by considerations of long distances and local interest. Don't spend your money outside of your own town. It don't pay in the end. Better go and encourage home capital and home enterprises.

—There is considerable food for thought, for those who are good at figuring relationships, in "A Runaway Match" the new Mark Swan Comedy to be seen at Lewis Opera House on next Monday evening. The plot of this interesting play hinges on a double elopement, in which father and son and mother and daughter figure. Helen Malebie, a dashing widow, barely on the sunny side of forty, elopes with Leonard Clason a prominent young attorney, while almost simultaneously Mitie Malebie, a school girl and the daughter, runs away with her boarding school with Cuthbert Claxton, a man of almost sixty Leonards father. Now the interesting part of this romance after all those couples were married, as they originally intended, what relation would Leonard bear to his father and what relationship would their children be to each member of the two families? To ascertain this will be considerable time and thought but it does not take long after the curtain rises on the fun fest of "A Runaway Match" to convince the most cynical that there is nothing doing but fun. The company is a well rounded one, each having been selected for special fitness for the characters they portray, while the scenic embellishment is lavish in every detail.

The President Submits to a Surgical Operation.

A small abscess having formed on President Roosevelt's leg as a result of the fecity on accident, he was compelled to undergo an operation yesterday at Indianapolis. The western trip was abandoned and the President returned to Washington.

A Still Broader View of the Question.

The work of the tax commission in Charlevoix suggests other phases of the question than those touched in our last issue. The injustice, inequality of the work done here was too manifest to require any necessity of pointing it out.

Had the commission used "Bill" Merriman's method, and raised the assessment roll "horizontally," with one fell stroke, arbitrary and unjustifiable as such an act would have been, it would have been more the officious blunderer and less the donger, but choosing the other course, they give us the spectacle of both.

For, the more carefully the work of the commission here is reviewed, the more numerous and glaring are its inequalities and inconsistencies. The law never put its seal of approval upon anything more senseless.

But there is a broader phase of the question to be considered. The admirable purpose of the tax commission law is to provide for just and equal taxation in its general sense. That is, that every county and every township in the State shall come within its operation. That this broad and comprehensive benefit cannot be attained under the present method of procedure is apparent. The spirit of the law contemplates as just an assessment upon John Smith's farm in Springvale as upon James Brown's brick block in Charlevoix.

But it does not seem to be the purpose of those authorized to make the law to give the law a general application. They go when and where the spirit moves them. Some days the storm center hovers in the vicinity of one first class hotel, and some days within easy reach of another. Their investigations are of the star chamber sort.

Any locality in the State is liable to be visited by the honorable commission; as any locality is liable to be struck by lightning or an epidemic of the itch; neither are certain.

And this commission, they say was created to provide for "equal and just taxation." Heaven save the mark!

The Dignity of the Anti-Skunk-Killing Law Must be Sustained.

The law prohibiting the killing of skunks during the months of September and October, "excepting when they are destroying crops or property." We have positive knowledge that there was a skunk killed on Main street last week, and we know the man who did the killing. For the sake of his family and friends we shall not print the name of the lawbreaker.

The animal which was thus cruelly slain as flagrant violation of the law was doing nothing at the time—that is, he was not biting or chasing him. The animal had destroyed no crops or property whatever. He was a quiet peaceful animal, seeking to domicil harmlessly under the woodshed. The man shot it to pieces. It was a cruel and unlawful thing to do—just as unlawful as it would have been to steal a man's all his neighbor's clothes line, or throw a member of the tax commission into Round Lake.

It is wrong to break the law, therefore you should not kill the skunks that seek shelter under your back-kitchen door. Don't pick the beautiful creatures. Treat them kindly. Put them on the head and gently stroke their fur. Feed them when you feed the cat. Encourage them to be domestic. The law will be respected. Don't kill a skunk or a tax commissioner.

Laws are enacted to promote the greatest good of the greatest numbers—including the skunks. The skunk is a valuable free-hunting animal. Its pelt is worth 75 cents. This is why the legislature passed the law protecting its life. It is considerable more than the rat tribe should increase, because, whereas, while two skunk skins are worth 50 cents, ten rat skins are not worth one dime. By protecting the skunk, the lawmakers at Lansing simply protect and foster a valuable industry. Don't you get the game wardens should see that this skunk killing business is stopped at once.

Modern American Life

CHAPTER XVIII.

Henry Tolliver, little in the character of a fool, was willing to be bad enough to please his friends. He was a man of the common sort, who, if he had been left to himself, would have lived a quiet life, and died without a name. He was a good-natured fellow, and was ready to do a good deal for his friends. Under the influence of Mr. Tarrytown, he had become a man of some importance in his own village, and was ready to do a good deal for the sake of the place. He was a man who was ready to take advantage of your position, provided you did not let him see that you knew he was taking advantage of it. He was the sort of man who would do a good deal for his friends, and who would be a good friend to them, that perhaps no one else could be.

"I wished I had gone with Carrington," said Tolliver, when he had recovered from his surprise. "I wish I had gone with Carrington."

"Why should I care for Carrington?" said Tarrytown, sharply.

"Why, I thought you would like to see Carrington," said Tolliver, with a look of surprise.

American vs. English Steel Workers.

Americans have often made comparisons of labor conditions in this country and in free trade England, and recently there has been published in England the report of a commission appointed by the British Iron Trade Association which recently visited the United States and thoroughly studied the conditions of labor in our great iron and steel manufacturing establishments. The report of the commission points out that in the United States the iron and steel industries are face to face with conditions that seldom both the employer and employe, meet at present, to be found in the world—the demand in point of normal remuneration, and time changes in industrial and economic results. "The workmen at American works," says Mr. James in his share of the report, "are generally supposed to be working much harder than they do in this country, (England), but this is not my own view. I heard much conversation with many men in various branches who had been employed in similar works in England, and some of them subject to my own control, the conclusion I have arrived at is that the American workman is just about as hard at the men in England. They have to be attentive to pulling operations and quick in transporting heavy and unwieldy masses of material, and the work is not more regular it, their attendance at the works, loss of time through drinking habits or otherwise not being tolerated.

Mr. Salaim in his section of the report says that the American workmen generally equals in the higher grades of labor, leaving the purely manual labor to workmen from other countries. "Thus it is," he says, "that around American blast furnaces the American is found in a very decided minority. He may be a foreman, master mechanic, blast engineer, locomotive driver, or stove tender, but he will not work 48 hours per week, shoveling ore or wheeling scrap. For these duties are employed in the south the negroes, and at the Northern furnaces immigrants, mostly Irish, Slavs or Italians." On this question of higher grade work and higher grade wages of American workmen, attention is called to the fact that in eastern works Polish and Hungarian laborers were receiving $1 to $1.50 per day, while American rollers working alongside of them were receiving on the average $12 per day of eight hours. The report quotes Mr. Carnegie as stating recently that the average wages of men in his employment at Homestead was $4 per day, or an average of 180 pounds sterling per annum, against an average of 68 pounds sterling per annum received by the steel rollers in South Wales. On the question of cost of living, Mr. James declares, as the result of his inquiries that "the average American workman, in most of the essentials of life, can live, dress and educate his family as cheaply as he can in the Old Country."

These are the other business views of English experts, not influenced by American politics. They ought to be reliable authority.

In 1896 the country showed the Democratic party that the people would not stand for free silver. The lesson was taken to heart and in 1898 together with free trade and got walloped once more. In 1900 they came up again with free trade and free silver and run away. Now the Philippines and got walloped again. Here they are back once more, doing business at the old stand on the old lines—free trade, free silver, and Bryan in the Orient—and they will be walloped again. They never learn anything.

An Advantage of Combination.

One of the reasons why American manufacturing are finding a ready market abroad is that we not only have the ability to do things well, but also to do them quickly. When the British Government wanted a most important steel railway bridge built in India, none of the bridge builders in Europe would undertake to complete it within the time limit given, but an American bridge building corporation took the contract and did complete it by the time required. This corporation was able to do the work because it represented the combination of a dozen small plants working on different parts of the bridge building. The advantage in allowing the corporation to manufacture and assemble all the parts of the structure under one general contract and do all work within the time limit. This is an illustration of modern business methods. It is a natural development, and to attempt to destroy the trusts by free trade would destroy not only the big combinations but the individual manufactures also are engaged in the same line of business. The Republican party has a better plan. It is to control and regulate the trusts, not destroy them, for they simply represent the modern methods of business combination and co-operation.

When your Democratic friend suggests free trade to kill the trusts tell him that you do not want to burn down the barn to get rid of the flies. Then remind him of a few facts and ask him to chew them over; first, that the only law statute books to regulate the trusts was passed by a Republican Congress; second, that this law was in force during a Democratic administration and that not a finger was lifted by the Democratic Attorney-General to use it against the combines; third, that a Republican administration is using the law and is now proceeding against the beef trust and the Northern Securities merger. Finally, ask your Democratic friend if common sense does not dictate that the Republicans have done, can do more to regulate the trusts than the Democrats.

The Democratic plans and policies for running this great big government of ours, for a strange combination of rot, unreasonableness and impracticality.

Judge Durand's Condition.

Press Dispatch—Judge Durand's mind is absolutely a blank. His unfortunate condition is beyond the help of physicians or saints, and the policy of those who insist on urging the family to keep him on the ticket is deserving the severest censure. No one wishes to drive Judge Durand from the ticket, no one desires any trouble insued. However, facts cannot be ignored. By misfortune, the judge has been incapacitated. He is no longer fit to be at the head of the ticket. It is not his fault, and but he enough of mind to act intelligently he would disregard the determination to force who wrote to him, Mr. Cown to decide, and decline longer to be the tool of such men as Mark Stevens. On Tuesday, E. O. Wood and that clique.

Like the indignant father who takes his boy behind the woodshed for a little fatherly correction, Uncle Sam has to pause about once in every ten years and take the Democratic party in to give it a hiding. The licking will come off this year about November 6.

NONUNION MINERS ATTACKED AT OLD FORGE, PA.

Two Hundred Full Blooded Indigenous Sons of Their Own Lowlands Tenderest Hearthstones Issue Forth Welcome to Escape a Fiery Doom.

The Pittsburg correspondent John Mitchell, Jr., of the Philadelphia Ledger, writes the following graphic account of the Pennsylvania Coal Company's (No. 9) mine, which is held by fifty Italian laborers as they were returning from work. Both mines are filled by contract mine workers. Several attempts were made to dynamite the mine. Scores were sent to the mine to escape the attacks of the miners who assume that he had a contract to run the Dynamite. Dynamite had been exploded in the mine.

CHICAGO BUYS PACIFICS.

Earl Paterson and James Wallace, of Chicago, have been in the Cheyenne country. After a series of negotiations extending over the greater part of the month, Mr. Paterson and James Wallace succeeded in securing all the stock in New York in a trust in thirty-four days. On a cash basis of $40 per share, the stock was bought from the St. Joseph and Western railroad, which was sold to the Union Pacific; then the property was turned over to the Chicago people. The Union Pacific has had a great deal of trouble in the Hedges case in New York. That case has been in the courts since Michigan vs. Nebraska, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska were joined in the case. Mr. Hedges, of Hedges & Co., of New York, owns all the stock in the Union Pacific and Wal[illegible]

CROP AVERAGES HIGH

GOVERNMENT MONTHLY REPORT GIVES FIGURES

These Are Well Above the Ten-Year Level Corn Percentage Is 81.3—The Outlook Is Bright, but Much Yet Depends on the Weather.

The monthly report of the statistician of the Department of Agriculture shows the average condition of corn to be 81.3 to date from 85.8, as compared with 85.7 on Aug. 1, 1902, 81.7 on Sept. 1, 1902, 86.6 at the corresponding date in 1900 and a ten-year average of 78.8.

Except in Nebraska and South Dakota, which report a decline of 12 points and 10 points respectively during August, no material change of consequence is reported from any of the principal corn States. Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, New York and Pennsylvania show a fair average, respectively below and above average.

The average of clover seed has been considerably reduced since last year only in the Atlantic and Pacific States and Utah, and this reporting even a small increase over last year, the Western States show that the clover seed crop Kansas, in which State the area is the same as last year, reports decrease. In California, Utah and Colorado conditions are below the ten-year average while all other States except Maryland, Ohio and Illinois show conditions above the ten-year average, report conditions below their average.

During August the condition of hops declined 7 points in Oregon and 5 in New York, and improved 2 points in California, while the condition in Washington remained unchanged during the month.

Apple Outlook Favorable.

Of the States having 1000,000 barrels of apples, Maine reports a decrease, while Nebraska and Missouri show improvement in condition during August. All the other principal apple producing States report conditions ranging from 1 to 10 points above their averages, the condition of Ohio, the condition agreed with ten averages, while Indiana, West Virginia, Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky report conditions below their averages.

Reports as to the production of potatoes indicate a falling off from the last 10 percent greater growing States range from 10 to 20 points below their averages, in all but eight of the States having 2,000,000 bushels or more, the condition is above exceeding the ten-year average by 4 points.

In all the States in which the production of apples is of more that local importance, the condition of peaches is above the ten-year average.

There is a decrease in the number of stock hogs now being fattened as compared with the number on hand a year ago, important hog-raising State except Pennsylvania, where an increase of 1 percent is noted. Reports as to size and weight of stock hogs marketed show a slight increase over the ten-year average in four of the principal States, Illinois, Missouri, Pennsylvania and Pennsylvania.

Corn for sun seed.

Railroad property in Illinois was assessed this year at $1,316,720 more than last year.

Much suffering and loss among stock cattle is reported from Oregon on account of drouth.

It is reported that Wu Ting Fang, Chinese minister, will be recalled to be succeeded to the same post.

The entire rating district of P. Ryan was sold in the market at Fitzgerald, Ga., the Sycamore dairy, Tuesday by Perkins Gaffney, was sold by Sanford & Son paying $10,000 for her.

WEEKLY SUMMARY OF CROPS.

Farms, Though Injured in Northern Districts, Do But Slight Harm.

Following is the agricultural report issued yesterday complete of crop conditions:

Although the week was cool in the central valleys and lake region, with more than the average rainfall in portions of the Mississippi valley, the general crops have made generally favorable growth and rapid advancement. The average part of Texas, in which season should be rainfall in the close of the previous week, has received a limited rainfall, and already improvement in the southern Atlantic coast districts also has been very seriously hurt, the border of the middle Atlantic States. The valley and portions of the lower valley, with south Atlantic States continue to need rain. Light to heavy frosts were very general in the northern districts from Montana to New England and the mild Atlantic States from the 3d to the 7th. With the exception of the Dakotas and extreme distress in the Upper Canadian Provinces, the general conditions are favorable.

Corn is generally reported very favorable in the Ohio valley and in the Pacific coast zone favorable.

Notwithstanding the general decline since August, Kansas reports a condition of 91, on 25 points above the ten-year average, while Nebraska and Missouri show a decline from August and thousands of acres of corn are being cut for fodder in the latter State, while in other States to the southward. The bulk of the Missouri and Nebraska crop is now out much of the cattle thrived in Nebraska and the Bureau of Office is in doubt as to safe. In Iowa, where corn has ripened very slowly, it is feared that the crop will not be safe by 20 and the real condition is not known.

The planting of winter wheat, although retarded by the drought, is in favorable progress in the previous week.

Texas—In the greater part of the central have received abundant rains and the fall sown grain is now in abundant condition, the benefiting. Rain in southern portions of the state is needed for fall sowing and offset the injury done to the crop by drought.

The Plains of the upper lake region the reports of the Dakotas show a decline from those from New York and New Jersey, the average condition of the four is 79 points below and Kansas, with a decline of 12 points below last year's average of the State.

Flooding in fall seeding has made little progress in the Northern Atlantic States and Missouri valley on the harvesting of late seeded fall grain, of oats, there are indications that yield is not as good as last year's crop.

Potatoes, Tobacco and Sugar Cane.

The last forecast for the yield per acre of potatoes is 81.

All the tobacco States having 1000,000 acres or upward in sugar cane acreage is reported to be 10 points higher than last year's average.

Rice shows the high condition of 102, the highest reported from that State since 1900, and 10 points above the ten year average. Wisconsin, 100; its highest since 1892, and 10 points above the ten year average; Ohio, 100, its highest since 1885 and 10 points above the ten year average; Michigan, 99, its highest since 1897 and 17 points above the ten year average; Pennsylvania, 98, its highest since 1895 and 10 points above the ten year average; Indiana, 98, its highest since 1898 and 10 points above the ten year average; Minnesota, 95, its highest since 1895 and 11 points above the ten year average; Nebraska, 91, its highest since 1897 and 20 points above the ten year average; Missouri, 90, its highest since 1895 and 11 points above the ten year average; Kansas, 91, its highest since 1897 and 20 points above the ten year average; Oregon, 90, its highest since 1895 and 10 points above the ten year average; Kentucky, 90, its highest since 1897 and 20 points above the ten year average; Utah, 90, its highest since 1895 and 10 points above the ten year average; New York and Texas, 90, its highest since 1897 and 20 respectively below and average.

The average of clover seed has been considerably reduced since last year only in the States of the Atlantic Island and this reporting even a small increase over last year, the Western States show that the clover seed crop Kansas, in which State the area is the same as last year, reports decrease. In California, Utah and Colorado conditions are below the ten-year average while all other States except Maryland, Ohio and Illinois show conditions above the ten year average, report conditions below their average.

During August the condition of hops declined 7 points in Oregon and 5 in New York, and improved 2 points in California, while the condition in Washington remained unchanged during the month.

BANDITS IN OFFICE.

FATTENED ON ST. LOUIS MUNICIPAL CORRUPTION

"Counsiliar" of 60 Members Who, According to the Confession of One of Their Numbers, Made Upwards of $25,000 in Graft Yearly.

J. K. McMILLIN.

The exposures made by John K. Mullen, former Speaker of the St. Louis House of Delegates, [illegible] the corruption in the House of Delegates whose purpose was to control legislation and sell votes for the benefit of the members. Mr. Mullen, who was the tool of the bandits, in the expense of the people assuming to be a member of the House of Delegates, in exchange for the protection of the gang of which he was a member. Mr. Mullen said that there is a combination between the Republicans, Democrats and Populists, and every third member of the House of Delegates is a member of the gang. Mr. Mullen said that the members of the gang called themselves "counsiliar" and that there were sixty members of the "counsiliar" and that the part of the men who controlled the action of the House of Delegates.

Ex-Speaker of the House of Delegates Charles Kinsella, Democrat, and Ex-Speaker Cleveland, former Circuit Attorney Folk and Circuit Attorney Jackson were arrested in St. Louis. Before being placed in a cell Tuesday night Folk said: "The indictment was so full and he knew of no charge of any kind." Speaker of the House of Delegates, has no doubt, is the leader of the gang. Folk said that the charges against Kinsella and Jackson were being investigated by the grand jury. Kinsella, he said, is a member of the House of Delegates. Mr. Folk said that he expected to make any arrests that these matters that were being investigated by the grand jury would be those of members. Mr. Folk said that he expected to make any arrests that were the members of the house collusion.

PLEAS OF BOERS FAIL

Demands of Burgher Generals Refused by England.

A Dublin parliamentary paper gives a report of the recent negotiations between the colonial secretary, Joseph Chamberlain, and the Boer generals, Botha, De Wet and Delarey. As a result of the negotiations the war goes on.

Prior to agreeing to the interview which took place at Pretoria, the colonial secretary requested a list of the demands of the Boers. The Boers, on the generals forwarded a list of demands which were as follows:

Complete amnesty for the Boers.

Rhodesia to be left to Boers which and so plans and minded together.

Dutch to be taught in schools and language to be schools and courts.

Boers to be given a franchise to enable them to take part in the affairs of government.

Impossible release of all prisoners of war.

Compensation for all losses arising out of the war.

Compensation for all losses arising out of the war.

Compensation for all losses arising out of the war.

Commercial and Financial

New York Steady progress is reported in trade and industrial affairs. Destruction of merchandise by fire in the United States has been relatively light. Commercial failures are reported in smaller numbers than for some time past. Bank clearings show a gain of 30 percent over last week. Wheat exports from the Atlantic seaboard have been very heavy, and the price has advanced. The monetary situation is easier, and the money market is in a better condition than for some time past. The stock market has been very active, and the tendency of prices has been upward. The bond market has been active, and the tendency of prices has been upward. New Railroad Project.

Petoskey Democrat: The following named Alpena gentlemen arrived in Petoskey late last Friday night and left again Saturday for home via Mackinac and the 12 mail: Hon. Michael O'Brien, mayor, and democratic nominee for congress from the fourth district; J. T. Kline, president of the Alpena Industrial Works; C. B. Williams, cashier of the Alpena County Savings Bank. H. Besser of the Besser Churchill Co., stave manufacturers; and T. N. Cuodlourne, secretary of the Alpena & West Michigan Railway Company. The party had driven over the proposed route of the A. & W. M. Ry. line in buckboards, making the trip from Alpena to Charlevoix in three days.

The city of Alpena is giving the road bonus a bonus of $25,000, and it is taken for granted that the other towns along the line will give proportionately. The gentlemen in the driving party composed of Alpena's representative business men, were highly enthused over the prospects, and were confident of the road as an absolute certainty. Mr. H. H. Metcaney, auditor of the G. R. & I., and president of the Traverse City, Lansing & Mackinaw Railway Company, is also at the head of the Alpena & West Michigan. These interests have no connection whatever.

The company is a private enterprise, having no connection with any other line. The line proposed will be 120 miles in length, and will run from Alpena almost directly west to Charlevoix, passing through Dundee township, Atlanta, Big Rock, Heatherton, Illinois, and East Jordan. Splendid farming land and heavy timber land country is traversed the entire length. It is announced that survey will be begun at once, and 20 miles at each end graded this fall, and the road will be ties and ironed next spring. The company's present capital of $1,000,000 will inter be increased to $1,500,000.

It was the pleasure of the writer to be in the company of the Alpena gentlemen Saturday morning, prior to their going north, and we found them very enthusiastic over the project. They also expressed their surprise at the size of our beautiful city, and the activity displayed.

Changes in Probate Law.

The legislature will be asked by the resolutions adopted by the Probate Judge of the state at their late meeting Petoskey to amend the laws in several important particulars.

One is the law relative to the commitment of indigent insane persons to asylums of the state. The present law provides that such persons shall be committed as county charges for the first year, and that thereafter they be maintained at state expense.

The Judge desire the law amended so that these indigents may be maintained by the state from the beginning. It is under that the asylum authorities favor the amendment.

Another matter recommendation to be made by the judges is that the limitation be removed from the value of real estate that they may order sold at private sale. It has been their experience that a better return is realized from private than from public sales, and wish to be empowered to use their own discretion in making orders of sales. Under the existing laws all sales of real estate valued at more than $1,000 must be at auction. Property valued at less than the above amount may be ordered sold at either public or private sale.

The legislature will be asked to repeal the present law as to the down of windows. At present all a widow receives in case of the death of her husband, without leaving a will is the interest on the income one-eighth of the real estate. It is proposed to give the widow an income in fee for, or an absolute interest in all the real estate, the rate to be in just proportion to the amount of property and the number heirs.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Indiana and southern Michigan farmers are gobbling up the choice cheap lands of Charlevoix county, at least a dozen families having located near Boyne City during the past two weeks.

John C. Wright of Petoskey, editor of the Lyre, is distributing unique campaign cards for United States Senator, on which he asks 20 cents for his campaign fund. He says he is sure he can get the office if all the liars in Michigan vote for him.

Petoskey Record: Mr. C. I. Hanley, of the Cable mills, say that the wheat raised this year in this section is the finest ever grown here or anywhere in the state and was harvested in prime condition. So far not one load offered at any of four mills or elevators has been rejected or docked, it being clean, dry and plump. Many farmers threshed 30 bushels to the acre and the average yield in Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim will be away above the average for southern Michigan, which was estimated at 17 bushels by the secretary of state on Sept. 1st.

A history of Grand Traverse and Leelanau counties, embracing a concise review of their early settlement, industrial development and present conditions, interesting reminiscences and biographical and life sketches of leading citizens, compiled by Rev. I. Spargue, will be published by H. R. Bowen of Chicago. The work will be issued in one large quarto volume, bound in morocco and will be completed within a reasonable time. The publisher invites the cooperation of citizens of the counties in this work which will be comprehensive and valuable.

Traverse City Eagle: Inez, Salome Steele of Northport, is the oldest man in the Michigan conference and is reverently spoken of as "Father" Steele. He was born on November 12, 1812 Mr. Steele came to Grand Traverse by appointment of the M. E. conference in the fall of 1861, to be Jennie Cole, of pastor at Old Mission and Traverse City and presiding elder of the Grand Traverse district, which embraced all the territory between Mackinac on the north and Muskegon on the south, covering an area of nearly half the state. At this time there were only ten ministers sent out by the M. E. conference in this vast territory.

NORWOOD NEWS.

J. M. Valentine left on Monday for Little Harbor, U. P.

George H. Van Pelt has gone to Chicago for the winter.

C. H. Ferguson and wife are in Chicago this week.

Rev. W. Aylesworth has returned from conference and will remain here the coming year.

The musical show condemned by Charles Ferguson at the ball last Saturday evening, was a great success. The hall was packed, to overflowing, by two hundred in attendance.

Two Indian boys, 12 and 14 years old, ran away from the Catholic school at Harbor Springs last week. They with a band of Cedar King on Sunday, and started to row across the bay to Northport. Mr. King started after them with his seat boat and overhauled them about a half a mile from Northport, brought them back, and Monday the priest from Harbor Springs came here and got them. The boys are orphans and formerly lived at Northport. They were going to their grandmother. They thought they were ill treated at the school by the other boys.

CERE MARQUETTE RUMORS.

Boston Believes That Some Road Is Under Way.

"The fortune in the Boston stock market is the continued rise in Pere Marquette common stock," says the Boston Transcript. "Evidently some deal is under way for ultimate control, the road represents a successful combination of various Boston properties, the management of which enjoyed great confidence with investors, and it cannot be otherwise than favorable to security holders if the Pere Marquette management contemplates change of control. The Thayer-Morgan interests have parted with the Fort Scott system and it is not at all unlikely, as suggested editorially in the Transcript yesterday, that the Pere Marquette will become it occupies a strong field in Michigan, with valuable connections, and has a constantly increasing traffic. Indeed the road hauls more coal than many imagine and its traffic generally is diversified well. That the system should be desired by Pennsylvania or Vanderbilt interests is not hard to believe. Both have been thought to be after control, late rumor credits Pennsylvania interests with the 'deal,' that the semi-dividend paying common stock should sell at the price of the 4 per cent preferred is quite enough to show that something is under way, though the customary details make it imperfectly life to say just what."

Decent Withdrawal.

Judge Durand, democratic candidate for governor, with drew his name from the ticket yesterday.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

Presumably there is no man or woman who does not be more or less and he who says he does not, is superior of being a just master in the art.

Whatever may be true of autocrats, there is no question but that all children yell autocrats, and the fables of Washington while he was called "George," are such stupid lies that the least also learn them should be indictable.

The earliest autocrats are those of the disposition or imagination. The characteristics of the human mind are such that it is practically impossible for any one to give an account of anything just as he saw or heard it, and with children it is absolutely impossible.

The mind film in all vacant tracts No one attends so closely to anything he sees or hears, that he knows it all. The most that any one gets is a series of views or statements that impress him. When he comes to report upon it, or testify regarding it, he fills in the connecting links.

Children hear and see less than adults, and the less they see and hear, the better story they make. We should never give a child to understand that what he supplements is false, but teach him that it is his part of the story and not the fact itself. No court ever accuses a man of perjury on the grounds that his testimony is not the exact truth.

The exact treatment of lies of the lion, mative is to insist that the child pick out the facts and leave those standing by themselves.

Two long footfts to count the moon a clear delightful statement of the whole situation but an cross examination he is born all to pieces, and made to appear as if he had not told the truth. The other tells what he knows and only what he knows, and not a single question is asked on cross examination. One of Winship's studies.

CHAPTER XIX

"Mindie," Hugh said one night when they were at supper in their cozy home, "I'm going to ask you a question."

"I was in the habit in Indiana," said Mindie, "to regard that kind of a thing as a proposition."

"Well, I'm going to propose, anyhow, and you can do as you please about it."

"I don't know that there ever was any question about it," she said with a smile, "anyway, was it? I had made up my mind to do what you wanted me to long before I left Indiana."

"Then why didn't you tell me?"

"Why, I was afraid you would be disappointed if I did, and I wanted you to have your fling. Besides, I thought it would be better for you to find out that I was the only girl you could get."

"Well, I'm glad you didn't tell me, then, for I was afraid you would be disappointed if I didn't make you think I was trying to win you. I thought it would be better for you to find out that I was the only man you could get."

"Then we both were fools, and we ought to be very glad we found it out before it was too late."

"Do you know what this reminds me of, Mindie? It's like the story of the man who married the girl he had loved for years and years, and when he told her how glad he was that she had waited for him so long she said, 'Why, Hugh, I didn't wait for you at all. I married the first man I met after you left me.' And he said that he was very glad that he had waited for her only on the chance that she might come back to him, no matter how long it took him to find her, and she said, 'Why, Hugh, I married the first man I met after you left me.' And he said that he was very glad that she had married him

Bank Deposits as a Barometer.

The flush deposits of the people in the United States last year aggregated $5,564,000,000 an average of $108 per capita. Ten years ago these bank deposits amounted to $2,200,000,000 or less than one half of what they are to day, and twenty years ago they amounted to $700,000,000 or about one-fourth of the present deposits. The deposits represent the savings of the people and they have been increasing more rapidly in the last six years than ever before. For instance the total deposits in all classes of banks—National, State, Private, Loan and Trust companies amounted to $4,000,000,000 in 1896, increased $564,000,000 the next year and $1,000,000,000 in 1902. Then came the Democratic free trade administration and in 1897 the total bank deposits increased from $4,000,000,000 to $4,200,000,000 or about $200,000,000. In 1898 they made a slight increase and got back to the figures of 1892. In 1899 there was another increase of $268,000,000 and in 1900 an increase of $432,000,000. The whole increase in bank deposits for the four years of the Cleveland administration amount to less than $200,000,000.

But after the election of McKinley confidence was restored and money came out of its hiding places to find a place in the banks again and in 1902 the deposits amounted to $5,136,000,000 an increase of $1,000,000,000, and in the next year after the enactment of the Dingley Law amounted to $5,527,000,000 an increase of nearly $400,000,000. The increase from the Democratic year of McKinley in 1896 to the close of his administration in 1901 was nearly $1,000,000,000 or nearly double. The exact figures for 1896 were $4,564,000,000 and for 1901 they were $5,564,000,000. These figures may be regarded as the barometer of the confidence in political parties and their policies. The year after the election of Mr. Cleveland the total bank deposits were less than they were the year before, and as he came into the administration confidence had not been restored so as to represent an increase of more than 1 per cent. The first year after the election of McKinley the increase was 5 per cent, and for the five years of his administration the increase was nearly 100 per cent.

These are the official figures of the Treasury Department. They point their own moral by showing that money goes into hiding under Democratic administrations and comes in sight under Republican administrations. All people who believe in keeping their money in old stockings or hidden in the chimney crooks will vote the Democratic ticket this fall. But those who have confidence in the banks and in investments that cause money to earn money, will not vote that ticket.

A recent report upon education in the island of Porto Rico should make very interesting reading for that section of the Democratic party that is trying to Satisfy the efforts of the Government in its Philippine work of civilization. Although native education was in vogue in Porto Rico it has been going on since the ending of the war with Spain, the percentage of illiteracy among the natives has decreased very little. This does not resemble a failure.

When the present campaign was started the Democrats raised a noisy hue and cry on every imaginable point, and for a time succeeded in raising something that resembled a cyclone. But the sum of prosperity shows clearly and the indications point to a continued spell of pleasant Republican weather.

An Indiana man, who recently blew out his brains with a double barrelled shot gun for an ailment known, forsooth, as "nervous prostration," believed in the Democratic policy that the only way to cure the so called trust evil is never to sweep away protection and arrest all American industries.

A Strange Democratic Appeal.

In the face of existing trade and business condition it is difficult to understand upon what grounds the Democratic party is demanding a change of the existing prosperous state of affairs. With one accord it has been raised, asking the intelligent voter to endorse the Kansas City platform by electing a Democratic Congress. As an honest or this strange appeal for a change the wrong trade revisions of both Bias and Bradstreet have just been issued, and an epitome of their contents shows the following interesting facts.

Industrial activity is greater than at any date in our history.

The productive capacity has been increased by an immense number of new factories and mills.

Railway earnings exceeded those of last year by 4 per cent, and those of 1900 by 7 per cent.

Never before have textile mills been so busy, and never before have they employed as many men.

The imports of iron and steel, owing to the inability of home mills to fill orders, exceeded 100,000 tons.

Retail trade throughout the country is larger and brisker than ever before and the whole outlook is brighter. Producers of foods and shoes are working their factories night and day.

Protective Tariff and Labor

The labor argument is a strong argument for the protective tariff. According to reliable estimates, about 80 per cent of the cost of finished products represents labor. As Congressman Hamilton of Michigan said in the House:

"If a thing is made at home, home labor is employed; it abroad, foreign labor is employed. Wages are lower abroad than at home. If a thing can be made cheaper because labor is cheaper, then it can be sold cheaper. If foreign products undersell our own products on our own soil, then our home factories must go out of business and our laboring men must go out of employment."

Now there is the science of protection against free trade put in a nutshell. It is plainly put and not hard to understand. And yet the Democratic leaders ask the voters of this country to abandon protection and have up free trade. They claim that free trade would kill the trusts. Free trade would kill every American industry and as soon as the last one had given its last expiring kick, the foreign trusts would swarm into this country and the poor consumer, charging what they chose, because there would be no competition.

No, the way to handle the trust question is not through free trade but in the sensible, honest way the Republican Party will handle the question, as the Republican party has handled every big question which has confronted the people.

The Supreme Court Judge.

The Republican State Judicial Convention at Detroit last week nominated without opposition Judge W. L. Carpenter of Detroit as a candidate to succeed the late Judge Long on the Supreme bench of the state. Judge Carpenter is a strong candidate. He has had several years' experience on the bench and is regarded to be as able jurist and a man of more than ordinary ability.

After prolonged efforts, the Democrats have discovered that several commodities of life, including canned beef, have advanced in price since the following interesting facts.

Industrial activity is greater than at any date in our history.

The productive capacity has been increased by an immense number of new factories and mills.

Railway earnings exceeded those of last year by 4 per cent, and those of 1900 by 7 per cent.

Never before have textile mills been so busy, and never before have they employed as many men.

The imports of iron and steel, owing to the inability of home mills to fill orders, exceeded 100,000 tons.

Retail trade throughout the country is larger and brisker than ever before and the whole outlook is brighter.

Producers of foods and shoes are working their factories night and day.

Protective Tariff and Labor

The labor argument is a strong argument for the protective tariff. According to reliable estimates, about 80 per cent of the cost of finished products represents labor. As Congressman Hamilton of Michigan said in the House:

"If a thing is made at home, home labor is employed; it abroad, foreign labor is employed. Wages are lower abroad than at home. If a thing can be made cheaper because labor is cheaper, then it can be sold cheaper. If foreign products undersell our own products on our own soil, then our home factories must go out of business and our laboring men must go out of employment."

Now there is the science of protection against free trade put in a nutshell. It is plainly put and not hard to understand. And yet the Democratic leaders ask the voters of this country to abandon protection and have up free trade. They claim that free trade would kill the trusts. Free trade would kill every American industry and as soon as the last one had given its last expiring kick, the foreign trusts would swarm into this country and the poor consumer, charging what they chose, because there would be no competition.

No, the way to handle the trust question is not through free trade but in the sensible, honest way the Republican Party will handle the question, as the Republican party has handled every big question which has confronted the people.

After prolonged efforts, the Democrats have discovered that several commodities of life, including canned beef, have advanced in price since the Dingley law was enacted. This would seem to be a severe jolt, but it will hardly have the desired effect when the facts become known that they will have corn to burn in the Western states this fall.

If the Democrats can, in any way, point out why the problems of trust regulation and tariff revision have a vital or necessary relation to each other, then it would be in order to consider the question as a campaign issue. But never, they point to possible connection and the wondering public will have to search farther.

Gen. Alger is no more the "favorite son" of Michigan now than he has been for nearly 40 years. The people of Michigan are simply letting the proposition lie, that is all. There was a time when it made a deal of difference who seemed to doubt it.

The labor improvements at Manila are an indication of the permanency of the plans of the Government and show conclusively that the Democratic cry of "national effort" is a fallacious one.

The average American, older in years and of sound judgment, and it is not at all likely that he will hesitate when it comes to choosing between a full dinner pail or an empty one.

Beets Should Never Ache.

Roosevelt and the Trusts.

It is very well for the Democrats to make opposition to trusts their chief issue for the forthcoming Congressional campaign especially if they consider it a clever piece of strategy to divert attention from their made goods. But it will be folly to attempt to discount the advocacy of President Roosevelt in announcing his purpose to deal with the trusts precisely that Congress will give him authority. Mr. Roosevelt has made a good deal of trouble for himself and prospects for his nomination and the passage of the law mentioned necessitate for him a very hard fight on the hands of his own party which the whole trust problem and issue as affecting the dangerous limitations of Federal authority is expected to drive conservatives sulking in Republican companies. The attempt to back the traditional attitude of the Republican party on the subject of trust control, and the abandonment of Sherry to the Union compounds question were quite sufficient to ordinarily for the fact that the President did not make an aggressive effort to make anything important of an issue last year. Mr. Roosevelt may get element of his ambition for his self conquest the country but he is moved to be feeble and ineffective in another attempt—Albany Times-Union.

Do geese as Ever.

The people should remember that Democratic tariff views if carried into practice will be just as dangerous now if not more so than in 1892. Let business men, workingmen and everybody else remember the Democratic tariff campaign of 1892 and the hard times that began in that as a result of tariff agitation and which did not end until the Republicans were successful in 1896, when they restored the protective tariff law, which today is giving us the great blessings of prosperity by which we all enjoy.—Schenectady Union.

Not a Cent for Tribute.

Tariff revisions on conservative lines accompanied by reciprocity and with protection where protection is still performing an equitable work seem to Hornsby view to be manifest duty of the party in power. It cannot be shirked without danger to that party's supremacy in affairs. Popular sentiment indeed is rapidly taking this form. Millions for protection of struggling industries and American labor, but not a cent as bounty for Philippine clients. Shaking the money with these people.—Washington Star.

Not Bad Guess.

However the Democratic party is not content to follow either Cleveland or Bryan. Its leaders they are both heretics. Both brought disaster—Bryan twice and Cleveland once—and Bryan with his platform. It would do well to look up a few Moses, and recommended by either—Detroit City Journal.

Nebraska and Her Senators.

Senator Thurston of Nebraska, in a long interview, submits evidence to show that the relations between the Republican state committee and the two senators, instead of being cool and strained, as has been reported, were entirely cordial and cooperative. He certainly did defeat the irrigation bill, and claims that he was in hearty accord with the sentiment of his state while willing to act in and practicable way for the benefit of Cuba, that the president and a majority of senators could agree upon.

Triumph in Surgery.

A French physician, Dr. Fontan, successor of the celebrated Dr. Tuohon, report that he has recently preserved the life of a soldier who was stabbed through the heart.

Planted Better Than He Knew.

More than twenty years ago two men were sitting through an eastern village and sections an old man sat in their vet camera among the contents. They asked him what he was doing and he answered that he was setting out plants of a new kind that his wife had got in a neighboring town. He said that they were called "Christian sunflowers." Last summer one of the two men again visited the village. The old man was dead, but the strange sunflowers had spread and still live and are said to have proved suitable Christian emblems to the place which they have so strictly imported. The spirit engendered through that first example of village improvement work in its stead, that old residents would not recognize it as the same town.

Dog Lived Through Antarctic Winter.

Lieutenant Shackleton's party on the edge of the pack in winter quarters. A co-dog passed of that during a heavy gale to the bay near Cape Adair, the ice field broke on and they had been drifted northwards into the open, carrying off one of my men. Nothing more could spare the dog as last, but a week later the sun was frozen as far as the eye could reach, and three months afterwards that dog returned to camp from over the ice, and he was fat. Now, these dogs can kill a seal, but one dog can not kill the dog that catholic lives living on penguins eat as it was. Shackleton's dog is back—Trust in Providence, in an article on penguins in Leslie's Monthly.

Morning in the Country.

Only the born countryman rises with the sun to enjoy the freshest and sweetest part of the day, when is between sunrise and 8 a. m. The casual or vacation countryman rises with the breakfast bell, which is generally rung at the accommodating hour of 7:30. The former rights thinks that the urban visitor is fit only to take money from—Boston Journal.

To Train Colored Girls.

A training school for colored nurses has been established in Charleston, S. C., by a colored woman physician, Dr. Crum, who is president of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania. The southern people seem to have taken to the enterprise, and the enterprise is highly commended by the Charleston press.

Teaching Economics.

"We want the people to patronize the hated opposition that is now spending their money on men who represented as incompetent monopoly." We are not in favor of monopolies, but we think the other people have made a good deal of money out of us, and we can't bear to see them do it.

LADS TAKE BALLOON.

ESCAPE SAFETY AFTER A WILD RIDE THROUGH CLOUDS.

Two Toledo Youngsters Lose Themselves Right Smart While Interested Spectators—Now Such a Thing Could Scarcely Happen at Cleveland.

Paul and Ed. Scannerbine, two of Toledo's youngsters, made a trip in a balloon on Friday. They did it without the knowledge of their parents, ran away with them, and when a mile and three-quarters from the ground in the air. The occurrence took place at 5:30 p. m. The boys had been playing with a small balloon for some time, and yesterday they thought they would try the one they had. Hydrogen gas was secured and filled into the balloon, and the boys, with their companions, Ed. Wallace and Ed. Lefler, took hold of the ropes and jumped into the seat. The balloon rose very rapidly, and it did not take long for the boys to realize that they were in a pretty fix. The lads were scared to death. Young Lefler was the only one who had presence of mind enough to stay in the seat and hold on to the ropes. The balloon rose to a height of about 1,000 feet, when it struck a cloud. Young Lefler was thrown out of the balloon and fell to the ground, but was not hurt. The balloon then started for Lake Erie, and it did not take long for the lad, Ed. Scannerbine, to realize that he was in a pretty fix. The balloon was now in the clouds, and it was impossible for him to get out. The lad was scared to death. He was in the clouds and could not see anything. He could only see the clouds. Toledo, Lake Erie, and everything else was lost to him

PRESENT GAME LAWS.

Open Season for Different Game Birds and Animals in State of Michigan.

The approach of the hunting season makes the laws relating to the open season of game birds and animals of special interest at this time. The laws regarding the more common birds and animals are as follows.

Squirrels—Fox, Gray, Black—Open season, Oct 15th to November 30th.

Ducks, Geese, etc.—Can be shot October 1st to November 30th.

Partridge, Quail—From October 20 to November 30th. A law was passed at the last session, changing it to the 1st of October instead of 20th but owing to an error in the wording of the bill the governor signed, the attorney general has declared the new law unconstitutional, so the old dates of October 20th to November 30th will have to be observed.

Mink, Otter, Skunk, Muskrat—Cannot be killed during September and October excepting such when they are destroying crops or property and then only by the person whose property is being destroyed, and on his premises.

A man can kill coon during these two months on his own land if he can prove they were destroying crops, or skunk if they are taking chickens, or a mink owner can kill muskrats if they are injuring his dam. The law prohibits "coon hunts" just taking those animals on another man's property. This protects their mate November when their fur is prime.

Deer—can be hunted from November 5th to 30th.

MARINE NEWS.

The Northern Michigan Transportation Company has paid the collision damage of the schooner E. Sceville, amounting of $600.

Capt. James Reid of Cayuga fame, well known here, has made a fortunate strike. By the successful launching of the big steel freighter Myra from the shore twelve miles from Tawas City, Mich., he has not only added to his laurels as a wrecker, but has captured a valuable property. The Myra is valued at $125,000, and was launched on the lands of 30 per cent to the wrecker. The log scalers went on light last March, and she was high and dry, she was abandoned to Lloyds, which found no one willing to undertake the task of getting her afloat again until Capt. Reid was engaged. It is claimed by some that the Myra is the largest vessel ever launched on the Great Lakes. The Myra is 525 feet long, 58 feet beam, and 32 feet deep. She is a sister ship to the Mataafa, which was launched last spring, and is the largest vessel on the lakes. The Mataafa is 560 feet long, 60 feet beam, and 32 feet deep. The Myra is a duplicate of the Mataafa, and is the largest vessel ever launched on the Great Lakes. The Myra is 525 feet long, 58 feet beam, and 32 feet deep. The steamer Lou, A Cummings left at Beaver Harbor from Charlevoix Wednesday with a broken eccentric. She was there after a load of shingles for the new Newport hotel when the accident happened. The Columbia, of the same line, was at the Soo with coaches, but went to Beaver Wednesday and towed the Cummings here.

Milwaukee Wisconsin. There seems to be some doubt in marine circles that the northern Steamship Company will operate its big white boats, the North West and North Land, on the great lakes next season, says the Duluth News Tribune. The boats did not pay on the lake Superior run, and it is said that they have not paid on the Chicago-Buffalo run. Another discouraging feature has been the extraordinary expenditures to make the boats deliver the goods as regards speed, and with unsatisfactory results. The astonishing company last winter alone spent a sum variously reported from $250,000 to $500,000 for improvements, and now it is said that men best should have a 12-million plant instead of a 10-better plant, their present equipment. While Duluth no longer seems to have any direct interest in the fine steamships of the great northern line, continues the News-Tribune, persons here would be sorry to see them cease operating, for they are a credit to the lakes. There is no report to the effect that the boats will be taken off the lakes, but the impression prevails in marine circles that such may be the case.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

The Charlevoix County Pomona Grange and Charlevoix County Teachers association will hold joint session at Ironton on Saturday Nov 15, 1902. The Grange and the teachers will discuss educational questions of vital interest to the rural schools of the county, especially the "Small High school." The well system for the township; school grounds decoration and some of the practical questions of the day. We know the patrons will be interested; we always had a good turn out of the patrons at our Institute meetings. Come prepared to enjoy the session and take part in the discussing. Program Later.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Pellston Record. Mr. R. G. Wyckoop says that the directory enumeration is almost completed and indicates a population of 1,000 and upwards.

Indiana Independent: A. F. Wallbrecht, proprietor of the Intermediate Valley Roller Mills at Central Lake, says he will put in a shaving mill at this place next season, and will either run himself or place a competent man in charge.

At Kalkaska the Central hotel was destroyed Saturday by fire and water. The goods were saved, but the building was ruined. One hundred and forty dollars belonging to a guest was stolen from a dresser while the fire was in progress. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Traverse City Record. A letter from President Wm. Durand of the Alpena, Gladwin & Western, who is in Frankfort, states that the survey of the line has reached to within thirteen miles of Frankfort and will be completed by the 1st of October. The work is progressing satisfactorily and Mr. Durand is pleased with the results.

Edward Hanson, a boy 15 years of age, is the hero of Northport. Sunday afternoon Miss Cohen, aged 12, the oldest daughter of A. Cohen, while standing on Mill's dock became dizzy and fell into water. She was in imminent danger or drowning when young Hanson plunged into the water and kept her afloat until once helpless arrived and she was lifted upon the dock.

Traverse City Record. H. Boutell, of Saginaw, who is extensively connected with several beet sugar factories, was in the city yesterday on his way to Charlevoix, where he will endeavor to look up the beets raised there by farmers this year, to ship to the factory in Saginaw. It is stated that the Charlevoix factory cannot be completed this fall in time to handle the crop raised by the farmers. The work on the structure was not started soon enough.

Because of the demand for land in northern Michigan, partly due to the organization of land purchasing companies, and partly to the discovery that the pine barrens are worth something after all, delinquent taxes are being paid to the auditor general on lands that have been returned by the tax gatherer for many years. Taxes have been paid this year at the rate of $51,000 per month, or nearly $2,000 per day for every business day of the period.

Petoskey Record. While on a fishing tour of Gull Island last Wednesday, the Vindex, a Detroit fishing tug out from Petoskey, was struck by a gust of wind which sent her smoke stack off into the lake. The stack was not, having been put on the boat but a few days before at Charlevoix. The tug experienced some difficulty in making port but arrived in the Petoskey harbor Wednesday evening.

Boyne City's population has increased from 900 in 1900 to 1,400 in 1902, and the increase is permanent. New industries are impossible. The Boyne City Brick Co has a big deposit of clay from which sewer pipe and paving brick will be manufactured. The town is putting on airs and is discussing the question of sand schools. Indiana and southern Michigan farmers are gobbling up the choice cheap lands of Charlevoix county, at least a dozen families having located near Boyne City during the past few weeks.—Detroit Journal.

West Mrs Charles N. Dewey, wife of the well-known teacher of penmanship, returned to her home in Petoskey one evening last week, she found a neighbor's wife installed as housekeeper who with her neighbor had retired for the night. She gave her husband a few hours to have been and then sought a lawyer to file proceedings for a divorce. The professor mourned by numerous credit lists. Dewey has for the past 12 years held successful writing schools all through northern Michigan, and a few years ago was a candidate for secretary of state on the Democratic ticket. His life is an estimable and attractive young woman.

Traverse City Eagle: A. V. Friedrich, president of the board of trade, is in receipt of a letter of inquiry from Hugo Atmiral H. C. Taylor of Washington, D. C., asking a number of questions about Marion Island, which was recommended to the treasury department as possible site for the naval training station to be established on the great lakes. Mr. Friedrich will give the desired information at once. This inquiry would indicate that the report circulated some time ago that Michigan City had been selected as a site for the naval training station, was premature. The local of Indiana will do all that it can to improve upon the government the suitability of Marion Island for the purpose proposed.

The making of cement brick has assumed such proportions and is meeting with such pronounced success that as one of the industries of Michigan it is continued to rank among the foremost. Experiments of the past two years have demonstrated the durability of the product, where the proper material is used, and popular great results. Test of material in this city and vicinity show that superior brick can be made in the locality, and the supply is almost inexhaustible. Efforts towards the establishment of a cement brick plant here are in progress and prospects are bright for a successful plant here at no distant date.—Traverse City Herald.

A party of Chicago capitalists and hotel men are negotiating with E. S. Nolde for his island home at Elk Rapids for a site for a big hotel to be open all the year around and big enough to accommodate the immense resort trade that comes there. The plans as proposed will call for an investment of from $40,000 to $20,000, depending much on the architect's plans and specifications which will soon be submitted for approval. The house will be modern in every respect and will occupy the most beautiful site on Grand Traverse Bay. The island contains about four acres and is now the home of Mr. Nolde. It is set out with beautiful strawberry and trees and is located in the center of the river, on west side of main street.

APPEALS TO PUBLICITY.

A Startling State Issue Pointed Out.

Tax Payers Save Money.

From the Detroit General.

Secretary of State Fred M. Warner, talking to the Journal today, referred to the state tax apportionment to his own county (Oakland) and said: "Taxes are, in round numbers, $61,000 this year as against $52,000 a year ago and $39,000 two years ago. They are $61,000 less than they were in 1899 and only three thousand dollars greater than in 1898, notwithstanding the four years' growth of the state and county. Another thing that is of especial interest to taxpayers is that notwithstanding the fact that much property which has heretofore escaped taxation is now on the rolls, the rate of taxation will be considerably lower in Oakland county this year than for many years before, notwithstanding the big population in thirty-four millions, instead of thirty millions, as it was before."

"This showing," continued the secretary of state, "is not peculiar to Oakland county. The people of the whole state are benefiting by the Republican legislation of recent years and the economical, business-like and honest administration of the affairs of Michigan's government by Republican officials."

"This is a state issue," asserted Mr. Warner, "that appeals to the intelligence and the pocketbook of every taxpayer. Democrat and Republican. The state tax levy this year is one million dollars less than it was a year ago; the equalized valuation of property, real and personal, is higher than before, because much property is now on the rolls that the assessors had before omitted, so that to 100 of every hundred taxpayers everywhere in the state the burden of taxation will be lower in rate and lighter in dollars and cents than it has been for many years."

"What about railroad taxation?" he was asked.

"The showing is no less favorable to the people," said Mr. Warner. "The gross amount of taxes paid by railroads of Michigan Jan. 1, 1903, was $757,234.94. This amount has increased steadily, except for the years 1900-4-5, when the whole country was suffering from the stagnation in business. I think later came Republican legislation reducing the rate of taxation on railroads and the gross amount paid by those corporations jumped, first to one million dollars then to a million and a quarter, and on Jan. 1 of this year the amount was $1,585,506.05, nearly double what it was five years ago. During this 10 years the taxation per mile increased from $413.45 to $707.85. The benefit of this increase on railroad taxation, brought about by the Republican party, is felt by every taxpayer in every school district in Michigan. The specific tax paid by railroad corporations goes into what is popularly called the primary school fund and is distributed among the districts according to the number of children. In 1896 the fund amounted to and distributed was $993,257.85, being $1.42 per capita. In 1899, as a consequence of Republican legislation, the amount was $1,068,050.50, the next year about the same, while last year increased to $1,464,012.30. This was $416 for every people of school age in Michigan. I haven't the figures at hand showing the gross amount of the primary school fund for 1902, but it is largely increased over that of a year ago, the per capita amount being $2.52, as against $1.42 in 1897."

"This is a state issue of some consequence, is it not? Imagine, just for a guess work. In very many school districts, yes, it is a majority of the school tax. Imagine what would be good luck to the people in half their districts since power changed hands."

the entire amount of state taxes levied in such districts and counties.

"Here are some more figures that have a direct bearing on the state issue.

Jan. 1, 1897—
State Treasury revenue balance	$926,278.13
Jan. 1, 1903—
State Treasury revenue balance	2,028,[illegible]

"The first date marks the time when the Democrats assumed the control in Michigan; the second date marks the end of the administration. During that two years the United States government paid into the state treasury $720,860.08. If this opportune payment had not been received the treasury revenue balance on Jan. 1, 1899, when the Democrats relinquished control, would have been overdrawn by $158,820. The full effect of Democratic mismanagement was not felt, however, until later, for during their two years of power no public improvement was made, nor were reports even kept up in state institutions. There was no provision made by them for the increasing needs of our rapidly growing state. This duty devolved upon the Republican administration which followed.

"In this same connection is interesting to remember that on the first day of August, this year, the revenue balance in the state treasury was very close to $2,000,000. Republican officials seem to be managing business affairs of the people on a common-sense manner. The money of the people is economically expended, not squandered. Every department of the state government is honestly administered and is worthy of the confidence and approval of the people.

"It seems to me," concluded the secretary of state, "that the more the people know about the conduct of their state affairs by the Republican party the larger will be the Republican majorities on election day."

Trusts operate as freely, or even more so, in free trade England as in protected Germany, which is proof positive that the tariff is not the father of evil, neither of the trust. Democratic theories cannot stand against that practical demonstration of facts. This question was tersely handled by the Hon. Edward L. Hamilton of Michigan, in the House of Representatives during the last session of Congress. He said: "In the last analysis the question of tariff reform resolves itself into a choice between foreign and domestic corporations, or if it does not do that, it does resolve itself into a question of reduced American wages. If foreign combinations should get possession of our markets and our manufacturers say that they would not raise prices, what redress have we? Now there is a wide section, in a few lines of the question of the tariff and the trusts. It's a good little sermon to think over.

If Republican policy, as laid down by the late President McKinley, is to be perpetuated and carried out, it will be absolutely necessary to return a Republican majority in the House of Representatives. If any danger to this plan exists it will be from indifference, and this is what must be guarded against. It is the duty of every Republican, and of his neighbors are properly aroused to the importance of voting for a Republican Congressman.

Willard Stearns of the Adrian Times and again has now declared that he will not support L. T. Durand for governor. Mr. Stearns at first declared against Judge Durand but was whipped into line and finally came up to the scratch heavily in defense of one of the Hill candidates, Senator Heinze, too, has gone back on the ticket, and is out with a set purpose to defeat the new Democratic candidate. Truly the democrats are having a hard time.

The citizens of this country should bear in mind that if the Democrats succeed in securing the reins of government for the first move will be to scuttle the Philippine ship and then they will repudiate every promise made by the party of McKinley in the direction of civilization. It is the plain duty of every person who believes in fulfilling an obligation made in honor to vote for a Republican Congressman this fall.

The great trouble with the Democratic party is that it has been seeking issues instead of presenting issues to such it. Several issues have been tried in the hope of attaching power, but all have been abandoned and now the "great unwashed" is tossing about upon a stormy political sea, rudderless and without a compass. How can it ever expect to reach port.

Five years ago under the Wilson bill the European countries were flooding our markets with foreign made goods, but to-day under the Dingley tariff those same nations are studying combinations to resist American invasion of their own markets. This speaks rather significantly.

The golden trust color of the New York Democratic State Convention is causing no little thought.

Democratic hopes have been badly punctured and they have lost their regular outfit.

REAL TARIFF ISSUE

HOW THE COMING CAMPAIGN MUST BE FOUGHT.

Leading Republican Journal Declares Tariff Revision is Unavoidable—Meaning of Democratic Villas' Letter to Chairman Warner.

Ex-Secretary Vilas' letter to Chairman Warner may or may not be a perfectly spontaneous utterance. Possibly Judge Griggs, manager of the Democratic congressional campaign, may have had something to do with this dramatic reappearance on the political scene of a leading Democrat of the old school, and we may perhaps expect to hear three voices from the east at regular intervals—as part of the fall for recognition. This, however, is of minor importance. Despite the sneering of the Bryan faction, the issues of this year's campaign for control of the house will certainly be the trusts and the tariff. This letter from Mr. Vilas is symptomatic, and Mr. Harcourt will not miss its significance.

"There is no great difference between the position taken by the conservative and the famous Cleveland message on tariff reform. Mr. Cleveland denounced the tariff as "the communism of pelf." Mr. Vilas demands "the overthrow of the grand, central governing conspiracy of protection." There were few trusts in the eighties, but even then Mr. Cleveland in almost the same language as Mr. Vilas employs today, subject the people confront the "combination of plutocracy" and the conspiracies against popular liberty and popular opportunity.

Recognizing the ability and political effectiveness of Mr. Vilas' keynote editorial the question arises as to how the Republican congressional campaign committee meant it. There is no issue between the two great parties here, beyond a question, but what form and shape shall it be given? The Republican party cannot and must not raise a general denial and either expressly or by implication assert the maximum of high protection as exemplified by the Dingley act. It must admit the need of revision all along the line. It must place itself squarely on the Buffalo platform.

The Democrats, to be consistent, must advocate a revenue tariff pure and simple free trade being out of the question. They will have to descend to particulars and tell the people exactly what they propose to do and how they propose to demolish the great industrial conspiracy. Will they, if returned to power, reduce the duties horizontally to one cent? Will they write free protection from trust controlled industries and leave the present rates on those where combination is still weak? Glittering generalities will not answer; the voters will demand definite suggestions and businesslike statements.

And the Republicans must meet this demand for definiteness and certainty. They will naturally deny that protection is robbery, "a false and deceitful name." A conservative one, but they must admit that the system has been misapplied and abused. Certain schedules, as Mr. McKinley said, are no longer needed either for revenue or for legitimate protection; they must be lowered, repealed or so "conditioned" by means of reciprocity, as to increase our foreign trade.

In short, tariff revision is unavoidable. Shall it be undertaken by the friends or opponents of protection? This is the real, the immediate tariff issue. The fanatical and militant high protectionists in the Republican party must be sent to the rear.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Export Prices.

Let us take up this export price question calmly, fairly and honestly, with a sincere purpose to get at the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Let us ascertain if foreign prices of American goods are lower than the domestic, and if so how much lower and what proportion of our exports are sold at a lower price abroad than at home; what the reasons are for this practice, and how it affects the American customer and the American wage-earner employed in the manufacture of the goods exported.

In the first place there need be no dispute over the contention that goods are sold abroad at a lower price than at home. That is, some goods—about 9 per cent of our exports of manufactures, which are less than 7 per cent of our total output. So that this great Democratic free trade bugaboo consisted less than three one-hundredths of one per cent of our total manufactures. It is shown clearly as follows:

Total annual value of manufactures	$15,500,000,000
Exports of manufactures	400,000,000
Value of exports at list or invoice prices abroad	380,000

"In this extent it is claimed and conceded that our manufacturers resort to the practice of selling foreign prices—a practice resorted to at times by the manufacturers of every country in spite of high tariff, low tariff or no tariff. It is resorted to in different parts of the same country and even manufacturers or merchants or sellers of goods of any description will at times resort to a reduction in price to get rid of certain merchandise for certain reasons. The reasons are many and should be most carefully considered. This will be done in a series of articles and every possible phase of the question will be thoroughly examined. It is our desire and purpose to place before the voters of the United States the one per cent of truth and the 99 per cent of falsehood concerning export prices.

Iron Products as Dreadnaughts.

The cheapest and commonest iron products made in South Staffordshire, England, find a market in India, and constitute the sole door fastenings in the huts of the native tribes. A large trade was formerly done in cheap cast pots, in diameter from 12 inches and up, which, when it was common, had sure brought for ornamental rather than for use. The dusky belles of the dark continent strung them together and wore them in the form of a necklace.

SETTLING CANADIAN LANDS.

Chicago Tribune Calls Attention to New Situation.

Director of the Mint Roberts, who is expected in Washington from a visit to Iowa, says that in that state and other western states there is a rage for land speculation. There is easily a countless community in Iowa, says Mr. Roberts, which has not organized a syndicate to operate in lands in the Dakotas or Canada. To this speculative fever Mr. Roberts ascribes the movement of money from the east to the west in advance of the time when money is usually sent for the purpose of moving the crops.

Back of this speculative activity in lands—an activity which has often been disastrous—lies the price of wheat. There is a good demand for that cereal, which promises to continue. The Dakota lands which are being sought after produce good wheat. So does the land in the Canadian northwest. The price of land in the Dakotas is low compared with the price of lands in Iowa. The price of the fine Canadian government lands is extremely low. Hence the surprising rush of farmers to the Canadian northwest, Iowa farmers sell their farms at a high figure and go north, many of them crossing the international boundary line. It is estimated that 25,000 acres of Canadian lands are sold to American farmers every day. If sales are kept up at this rate and the lands purchased are brought under cultivation "it will not be so long before Canada will be raising 250,000,000 bushels of wheat a year instead of the 80,000,000 bushels raised now."

As the volume of Canadian wheat increases the reciprocity sentiment in the northwest will increase. Mr. Roberts was struck by the present strength of that sentiment and the desire of the milling interests of Minneapolis and St. Paul to secure reciprocity with Canada so the Canadian wheat lands may supply the flour mills. At present none of the Canadian wheat is made into flour in the United States. It all goes to England, to English millers. As it is thrown upon the market there the fact that it can be shipped the price of competing American wheat is much more seriously affected than it would be if the duty on Canadian wheat were removed and consequently of it moved this country to be held here till the foreign demand warranted its shipment.

Reciprocity with Cuba is the burning question of the moment. Reciprocity with Canada is a question which will come to the front soon and stay there until it is settled one way or the other. There will be bitter opposition, largely petty and selfish to its natural, fair trade relations with Canada, but such relations will be of great benefit to the United States. Next to Great Britain and Germany the dominion is the large est purchaser of American products. It will be a still larger purchaser in the event of reciprocity.—Chicago Tribune.

A Great Octopus Hunt.

The tariff and the trusts are sold to fly on the list as the leading issues for the congressional campaign on the part of the Democrats. Bryan will be eliminated, anti-imperialism and anti-expansion will be touched upon very gingerly, if at all, the Democratic leaders will let tariff and the trusts, and the Democratic orators will be instructed to couch their spellbinders on these topics. The selection of issues indicates talent on the part of the Democratic board of strategy, for the subject chosen will afford the widest possible latitude for misrepresentation and deception, for appeals to passion and demagogic denunciations of those in control. The subjects also will afford opportunity for many and most generous promises. But does anybody imagine that if the legislative functions of the government in both branches were turned over to the Democracy today any great reforms would be brought about or that any more stringent laws would be enacted? It is too impossible even to imagine any such results in the conversions of the country does the Democratic party for the asking. The election of a Democratic Congress would simply fill the world with a guarantee to most of monopolists, and instead of hauling better laws we would have a government enjoined in its most impotent branch, that we will have a great octopus hunt this year.—Grand Rapids Press.

DEATH VALLEY RICH.

GREAT DEPOSITS OF NITER ARE DISCOVERED.

Prospect of Wealth Drives Rush of Fortune Seekers Into Forbidden Section of California—Rattlesnakes Venge His Life for Others.

Discoveries of vast deposits of gold in Death Valley, of California have started a rush to that desolate region. Dozens of expeditions fitted out in California and Nevada are now on their way. Tuppence Coombs, the Goldfield, Nev., jockey, who made a sensational ride across the desert to Death Valley to warn the latest fortune hunters, in one of which portion of the terrible desert at least a week is the limit of endurance, has reported by the dispatches as being of small effect as regards the crowds of those in Cliffs. So far there small wagon is not known, but the rush has been been continued by the prospectors, who have gone as far north as the mouth of the much-sought mountain in Mexico. "Pete" who turns up for such events is the same man who pressed Bonaparte, Lord Hampshire and Mr. Bonanza Singleton into the expedition, who lately traversed the mountains of the Death Valley in a vain search for the lost mine, and who, in company with Tom Talbot, Valley Tom, Shorty Smith and Lee Lake, discovered the Tonopah mine, the richest of all the Nevada camps.

Tonopah Discoverer Is Leader.

Pete is the leader in the present expedition, in which he is accompanied by Tom Talbot, Valley Tom, Shorty Smith and Lee Lake, who discovered the Tonopah mine. The expedition is now operating with Bonaparte, Lord Hampshire and Mr. Bonanza Singleton and the gentlemen who lately traversed the mountains of the Death Valley in a vain search for the lost mine, and who, in company with Tom Talbot, Valley Tom, Shorty Smith and Lee Lake, discovered the Tonopah mine, the richest of all the Nevada camps.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Petoskey now has a daily paper, The Evening News, issued from the office of Independent-Democrat by Messrs. Churchill & Goldsmith.

Hon. W. W. Smith, ex-mayor of Traverse City and his entire family were poisoned Saturday night by eating cheese. Mr. Smith was unconscious several hours. All have recovered from the effects.

Petoskey Record. John Duvenoy, Jr., took five children to the Indian school last week. His father informs us that the Indian department contemplates establishing a school at High Island in the near future.

Farmers who raised seed peas for the Jerome B. Rice seed company are disappointed that the firm has not arranged for a seed sorting warehouse here. They now have to ship the peas to Detroit.—East Jordan Enterprise.

Bellaire Independent. It may be of interest to know that 22 carloads of seed peas for Jerome B. Rice & Co. have been shipped by our farmers thus far this season. This is many times what has been shipped from here before.

Boyne Citizen. A. T. Montgomery of Heel City has purchased the Lewis House of W. J. Lewis, and will take possession next Monday. He will build an addition three stories high, 24x60, adjoining the house on the east, put in steam heat and make many more improvements.

The saw and grist mill at Eastport, owned and operated by Kirby & Cole, was totally destroyed by fire recently. There was no insurance and only a few tools were saved. The mill had run during the forenoon and burned while the crew were at dinner. The fire is supposed to have been started by a spark.

East Jordan Enterprise. Superior Bros. have sold their stock of groceries, provisions and harness to Messr. W. A. Murray and Jas. G. Turner, from Grand Rapids, and the new proprietors took possession on Monday last. Superior Bros. will now devote their attention to their rapidly increasing produce and farm machinery trade.

The Pere Marquette passenger depot and freight shed at Williamsburg were destroyed by fire Saturday evening. It is supposed that the fire originated from a spark from an engine S. R. Gale, the night operator, was in the depot when the fire started and says that if he could have had a pail of water when he discovered the fire he could have extinguished it without difficulty.

Traverse City Record. George Parks does not believe that it will be absolutely necessary for local hunters to go to the northern peninsula to hunt deer this year. He believes there will be opportunities for plenty of sport right here in this county. Thursday, on the vicinity of the forks of the Boardman river he ran right into a large herd. The deer did not wait to be counted but disappeared into the woods.

East Jordan Herald. There is a mystery surrounding the disappearance of Lemuel Brewer who was last seen leaving Lalonde Bros.' saloon on Wednesday night of last week. No trace has been found of him since and it is conjectured that he must have fallen off the dock into the lake. He was very much under the influence of liquor having been imbibing freely. Brewer was an old soldier and kept a small store at the state road crossing on the D. & C. R. R. and was the railroad company's agent at that point.

Many businessmen of the state operating camps in the northern woods are to adopt stringent measures this year in the fight against incendiarism, which caused serious trouble last season. Some have been determined upon which it is believed will be effective in preventing the disease from spreading. It is required that men be vaccinated before being hired; that each camp have some isolated building or double sealed tent in which to take care of contagious cases; that all camps where smallpox has existed be thoroughly disinfected, and that all persons operating camps withhold money due from wages from employees who may be ill with smallpox until they are cured. It is claimed that the epidemic last year spread from the lumber camps.

Last week's Boyne Citizen contained a first page sketch of Mr. Joseph Van Platen and his mill at Boyne. He had time enough to visit the mill and the town. The article speaks in very complimentary terms of the hustling young businessman and his successful methods. We reproduce the biographical part of the article "Godfrey Van Platen was born in Germany, April 11, 1867; came to America when he was but a child and lived with his people at Chicago. Here he received his education in the public schools of that city; also attending a private German school. When sixteen years of age he began work in his father's and assisted him in conducting the wholesale wood and coal business in which he was engaged. In 1892 Mr. Van Platen removed from Chicago to Michigan, locating at Alanson. Here he conducted a grist mill for four years, after which time he operated a sawmill until five years ago, when he came to Boyne City and built the mill which he is still conducting. Mr. Van Platen is one of our most energetic business men, and his assistance is always readily enlisted in any measure which makes for the upbuilding of our village."

A meeting of teachers of the Little Traverse region was held at Petoskey Saturday, Sept. 17, to consider the advisability for forming a local teachers' association which should bring together once or twice a year the teachers of a few neighboring counties. Representatives were present from Charlevoix, East Jordan and Petoskey and communications were read from teachers from several other places indicating much interest in the movement. Supt. J. M. Tice of Charlevoix presided. Discussion revealed the fact that many teachers do not attend the N. M. T. A. at Cadillac or the State Teachers' Association either on account of difficulty in reaching the place or traveling or on account of the expense. It was then decided to organize such an association. The first meeting will be held at Petoskey October 31 and Nov. 1. A good program has been arranged by the committee and a rousing meeting will be anticipated.

Petoskey Democrat. The arrival of Elder J. A. Bristol, secretary of the Northern Michigan Conference of the Seventh Day Adventists in our city, marked a boom to local church work of that creed. The plans are drawn for the refitting and developing of the basement of the Adventist church on Petoskey street into a center for the distribution of health foods, church literature and books on matters affecting their religion. Elder H. A. Olsen, who has charge of the state circulation and distribution of their publications arrived in the city yesterday, and will aid Elder Bristol in his work. Elder S. E. Wight, president of the Northern Michigan Conference will arrive the first of the week, and with his best in hand, Petoskey is made the headquarters of the Conference. Elder Bristol will devote nearly his entire time to the work in Petoskey, while Elders Olsen and Wight are kept on the road a good deal. Elders Bristol and Olsen with their families are occupying the Gile residence, corner of Michigan and Petoskey streets, with their offices in the residence.

"I just wanted to have some all to myself," writes Alfred Fee, of Washington, "but I just could not keep back that music into a corner. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt tired worn out to work when I began to use Electric Bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy life and work." They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sick, run-down people. Try them. Only 50c at F. G. SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

About two-thirds of the rural teachers are supplied with the Teacher's Reading Circle books. The balance will feel the disadvantages to gained from those teachers who keep up with the State Reading work.

Some of the complaints from the teachers who neglect this work are not feasible.

A reasonable night as well complain that he is kept so busy with his main work that he has no time to study new methods and devices, he may with as much reason claim he has not time to look after the welfare of his pupils.

The Reading Circle books selected yearly, the live, up to date teacher finds some of the best pedagogical works on the subject of Elementary work. This year, "James Practical Agriculture," affords the means of doing some good work along the line of nature study which we intend to look after in our visitations this fall and winter.

The day is coming when a teacher who makes application for a position to teach will be met by the query,—Are you a graduate of the State Reading Circle books?

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

The attendances at the church last Sunday were good and particularly so seeing it was not generally known that the pastor has returned from a short holiday. In the morning Mr. Hyslop, preached on the Topic, "The Lord's Foods" or "Foods for the Lord's make," and in the evening on "Borrowing Religion" from the words "Give us of your oil." The choir rendered a beautiful Anthem in the morning and supplied two quartettes in the evening. Next Sunday the subjects of the sermon will be as follows. Morning, "Solemn Days," Evening, "Jesus's Birthright."

Took His Money Along.

In the Department of Indre et Loire, France, there lived a miser well known to have a modest little fortune. After his burial his heirs arrived and searched wardrobes, beds, mattresses, every available corner, in their desire for money. It was nowhere visible. The heirs were in despair at information nothing. Finally they had an idea. They went to look for a fortune-teller. She claimed to be a respectable dame who was well acquainted with the demands and knew his habits. Hence she drew on facts rather than on the realm of the unseen, and told them that the fortune of their relative was concealed in his soil.

This left had been left upon the early of the dead man. He was disinterred, the belt cut and, in truth, 3000 francs in gold fell out.

Duvray' Quick Wit.

At the Francais theater in Paris one evening during the performance of a play by Sardou, a spectator was observed to be slumbering. "Look," said Duvray to the author, who was sitting near him, "you see the effect produced by your tragedy." But the next evening at the same theater it happened that the play was one of Dumas' own, and it happened that a gentleman in the stalls was overpowered by sleep. Sonnet being present noticed this, and, with inimitable facilitation, tapping Dumas on the shoulder and pointing to the offender, he said, "Please notice, our dear Dumas, that your play can send people to sleep as well as mine." "Not at all," was the ready answer, "that is our friend of yesterday; he has not woke up yet!"

Strange: Than Fiction.

A curious case of telepathy is reported from Athens. M. Lavaro Lyras, a Greek sculptor, was quietly talking to his wife while somebody behind them gravely entered and began telling incomprehensible phrases. When his sentiment had satisfied somebody he told his wife that he had heard a voice, saying that his brother's wife was dead. The sculptor and his wife noted the date and hour of this strange incident and some days later a letter was received announcing that the lady in question had died about the time and at the place 600 miles distant.

Mother Love and Selfishness.

Half-a-dozen psychologists and authorities, who analyzed emotions as chemists analyze substances, reducing them to their primal elements, tell us that a mother's love for her children is the spontaneous of selfishness.

The mother loves her child not because her child is more lovable than other children, but because it is her own.

The child is a reproduction and a perpetuation of herself.

So her love for the child is a sense self-love.

And then, too, the child takes on a personality and one of the mother's own little ways of thought and act and growth.

Thus the mother loves through her own conceit.—St. Louis Chronicle.

The greater part of my fortune is in my business, and I have found that the world does not reward those who endeavor to make it a gift. Although I have lost heavily, I am still a rich man, and I propose to devote the remainder of my life to a new aim.

CHAPTER XVII.

The afternoon's mail was in and the proprietor of the Curtainstock Store was sorting it over in his office when a man who answered to a name without the Wilcox Avenue address called upon him. The man was a stranger to the place, and the proprietor was glad of an excuse to put off the evil hour when he should begin to open the letters addressed to the firm. He had a vague idea that the man was a bill collector, and was ready to pay any bill that was presented, if only it could be put off for a little while longer. He was not in any condition to meet any bills just now, and he was ready to do anything that would give him a little breathing space.

The man was a little taller than the proprietor, and was dressed in a manner that was neither fashionable nor unfashionable, but was in good taste. He was clean-shaven, and his face was very pleasant. The proprietor felt that he could like the man, and was glad that he had come to see him instead of some one who had a bill to present.

"Mr. Harrington, I believe?" said the stranger, as he entered the office and closed the door behind him.

"Yes, sir," said the proprietor, with a sigh of relief at the fact that the man had not a bill to present.

"My name is Wilcox," said the stranger, as he seated himself in the chair which the proprietor had placed for him.

The proprietor had never heard of any Wilcox family in the city, but he was glad that the name was not that of any of his creditors, and he was willing to listen to anything that might be said by a man who was not a bill collector.

"I have a letter from my brother," said the stranger, as he drew a letter from his pocket and handed it to the proprietor. "Perhaps you have heard him speak of me."

"Your brother?" said the proprietor, puzzled by the fact that he had never heard of any brother of his.

"Yes; I think you know him," said the stranger, smiling. "He says you at one time did business together."

"Why, I don't remember any brother of mine in the Curtainstock Store," said the proprietor, with a sigh of relief at the fact that he was not dealing with a bill collector.

"I don't know anything about that," said the stranger, with a smile that showed his white teeth to advantage. "I know that I made it in the Curtainstock Store, and I thought it was your brother. Perhaps I made a mistake in the name. Anyhow, I have a letter from him to you, and I thought it was from your brother."

"Let me see the letter, if you please," said the proprietor, who was now very much interested in the stranger.

The stranger took from his pocket a small envelope addressed to the firm of Harrington & Co., and handed it to the proprietor. The handwriting was that of a man who was accustomed to the use of the pen, and was very different from that of any of his creditors. The proprietor felt that he could like the man who had written such a hand, and he was glad that he had not been called upon to pay a bill of such a man. He felt that he could pay a bill of such a man without much difficulty, if he could only put it off for a few days longer.

The envelope was addressed to the firm of Harrington & Co., and was marked "Private." The proprietor felt that he could like the man who had written such a hand, and who had marked his letter "Private." He felt that he could pay a bill to such a man without much difficulty, if he could only put it off for a few days longer.

The proprietor opened the letter with a feeling of joy and a sense of relief that he had not felt for many months. The letter was from a man who was a stranger to the proprietor, but who was evidently a man who was in a position to do him a great deal of good if he could only be induced to do so

Democrats and the Farmers.

The Democrats are dishing for the farmer vote with their trust price lists, representing that prices of manufactured products are higher now than they were in 1896. The American Tariff is to be safe, able to see the advantage or disadvantage of his position on a par with another and needs no help from the politicians. There has been an increase in prices since 1896 but this increase has been to the advantage of the farmer more than anyone else. Comparing the prices of 1896 with those of 1902, farm products show an advance of 40.19 per cent so that for every $100 received from the sale of farm products in 1896 the farmer in 1901 received $140.19 for the same quantity and quality. The same quality of farm products would purchase in 1901, 34.15 per cent more food than in 1896. It would also produce 31.97 per cent more clothing; 36.31 per cent, more fuel and lighting; 21 per cent more of farm implements; 20 per cent, more drugs, and 26 per cent, more house furnishing goods.

Farm prices are higher in 1902 than they were last year and the advantage of the farmer in the market is greater now than then. Reapers, mowers, plows and cultivators are quoted by the manufacturers at substantially the same prices as in 1896; farm wagons and drills show a slight increase; farm general hardware is the same as in 1896. Dry goods are a shade higher, boots and shoes are lower, and so is clothing. But wheat sold for 45 cents a bushel in 1896 and at 81 cents in 1902; corn sold for 24 cents in 1896 and at 65 cents this year, hay for $5 a ton in 1896 and for $8.50 a ton this year; chickens and eggs increased nearly 100 per cent, butter increased 40 and beef, pork and mutton.

The farmer under Republican rule has the benefit of an increased foreign demand, and through manufacturing activity a greatly enlarged home market. Even if he pays more for a few articles of consumption, he receives so much more for all his products that his purchasing power is much greater.

For example, the farmer can buy a reaper, mower, wagon, plow, corn cultivator, and wheat drill for $200, for which he would have paid $277 in 1896 but to pay for the equipment of implements and machinery would have cost him 503 bushels of wheat, or 1,895 bushels of corn, or 2,926 bushels of oats, or 11 steers, or 12 hogs of average weight. In 1902 the same equipment costs 262 bushels of wheat, or 818 bushels of corn, or 704 bushels of oats, or 8 steers, or 10 hogs.

The same rule holds good when the farmer comes to buy dry goods, clothing, or groceries, as he raises his own vegetables, fruits, meats, and chickens, and makes his own butter and cheese, prices for these do not concern him greatly.

The farmer is not seeking Democratic sympathy or advice. He has a very vivid recollection of his experience under the last Democratic administration.

There is no doubt now as to the attitude of the Republican party regarding the trust question. When President Roosevelt promulgated in his recent speeches that he would urge Congress to do all in its power to control the evil, he evidently meant exactly what he said. This is carried out by his recent action looking to a settlement of the coal strike. There is no question but that the great industrial problems will be dealt with at the first session of Congress, providing a Republican House is returned.

Did you ever pause to think of what a protection of the coal strike really means, assisted by human misery? When you have reflected, just consider the fact also that the Democrats have filed their claims to power on a platform, and are trying hard to win November 4th.

An interesting test of the prosperity of the country was shown in the recent annual encampment of the G. A. R. at Washington. The biggest crowd ever in attendance upon a Grand Army encampment was present. It must be remembered that most of them had to come from distant states, New England, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan furnishing the greater number, but Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, California, Minnesota and Wisconsin being well represented. That means that the old veterans had to have money. Of course they had money; they had it from the proceeds of selling their crops for good prices, because protection has made business good and created a demand, they had it from their little investments, which had been safeguarded under sine Republican laws, some of them had it as gifts from their boys who are working in the great industrial system built up under the protective tariff and are glad to send the old folks on this jaunt to Washington, they had it because the Republican party, in the face of constant Democratic opposition and cancer poison lies that were both past and generous, as a grateful Nation wanted them to be. In the stormy days of '61 to '65 the veterans did not attend national encampments, when they were "mighty close to home." We are all glad so many could attend this year, and we are glad too that for the measures of prosperity which enables these old veterans, beloved of the Nation, to see some good times in their old days.

The Democratic policy of government is destructive, the Republican upon-building. The Democrats say, times are not half so good as they were, we are afraid somebody will make money by it. The Republicans say, look around you and see how almost everybody will make money by it. The Democrats say, times are not half so prosperous as they were in 1893. There is no doubt about it. It is a fact patent to everyone with eyes. You will find that those neighbors have better clothes, better food, better carpets, stoves and furniture in their houses, and their wives and children have been able to have a little fun along with their prosperity. How can sensible men, who are these things, if they reflect upon them, think for a moment of rejecting the policy of government ownership which brought about these conditions, for the policy represented by the Democrats which has been tried and proved a failure.

E. L. Montgomery—prominent Grand Rapids democrat who is well known in the state, has declined to support L. T. Dickinson, the democratic nominee for governor. I cannot support L. T. Dickinson, no more than I could his brother, for I know that both of them were the candidates for the railroad interests of this state," said Mr. Montgomery in a recent interview. "There is now, as far as I can discern, absolutely no hope for democratic success this fall, when had the right kind of democrat been nominated, we could have secured the greatest victory in the history of the state. We stood down time to defeat and put up an excellent platform, especially against the railroad interests and yet they have turned around and nominated a man on the dictation of railroad interests—a railroad attorney."

The Democratic leaders, even on the start to which industry are making a strenuous effort to place the responsibility for the hard coal strike upon the Republican party. This attempt will utterly fail, for there is not a fair minded man in the entire country who does not know that the movement is far removed from politics, and that the tug of war in the industrial world was inevitable. It is far better that the matter should be fought out, now, when there is prosperity and plenty in the land.

The Democrats are making a desperate attempt to capture the next House of Representatives, and their triumph would have a peculiar significance. If they should win it will only be the work of a week and a day to declare in the next presidential campaign that the time has turned. This would be a great campaign for them; however there is little chance that they will have this crumb of comfort.

Governor Bliss' administration will be one of the spectacular features of other state administrations in Michigan—but the people's money will be not been wasted in trying to tackle to the capitol building in Lansing—and every department of state will be conducted on a basis of economy. A vote for Governor Bliss and the state republican ticket is a vote in support of republican policies—both state and national.

If it is true, as political history denotes, that the political party which attempts to organize is lost, then the Democratic party must be good bunch for 1904 sister.

CHANGES IN THE TARIFF

Declaration of Iowa Republican Platform Favors Reciprocity.

The Republicans of Iowa reaffirm this year's platform, quote such a

"We favor such changes in the tariff from time to time as become advisable through the progress of our industries and their changing relations to the industries of the world. We believe the policy of reciprocity as the natural complement of protection, and urge its development as necessary to the retention of our highest commercial prosperities."

The Republicans was express themselves also into fashion do not hold upon the higher tariff law as a perfect, unalterable piece of legislation. It has no sanctity for them. They are willing to lower duties when the progress of industry makes high duties unnecessary for protection. They are ready to lower duties through reciprocity treaties whenever commerce's advantages can be gained thereby. This is the policy of McKinley. It is a broad, liberal, intelligent policy which should unite the course of the Republican party in congress.

The Iowa Republicans also say this year as they did last year: "We favored revision of the tariff schedules that may be required to prevent their affording shelter to monopoly." There was opposition to this clause in the committee on resolutions. It was asserted that the clause would be a piece of ability to the Democratic national campaign fund. It was argued that as the tariff is the parent of trusts. Happily the argument had no effect. The Republican party of Iowa has not been put in the false position it would have occupied if it had declared unboldly that the tariff schedules cannot afford shelter to monopoly.

It is a notorious fact that some of the tariff schedules do afford shelter to monopoly. That is they permit certain trusts or combines to exact from domestic consumers enormously high prices for their products—prices higher than could be exacted if the tariff afforded no more protection than is necessary to enable the American producers to compete on even terms with their foreign rivals.

As some trusts make an inestimable use of the protection they enjoy, why should the Republicans of Iowa and of the United States hesitate to say so? Why should not they promise to improve the terms of a shelter they are abusing? The language used in the Iowa platform is not a confession that the tariff is the parent of trusts. Three six trusts in free trade England. The language is a simple statement that the users which made the tariff will change the tariff whenever it appears a change use is being made of any of the duties levied by it—Chicago Tribune.

Never Stronger Than Now.

The convergent views of Republican statesmen, and the financial world with which such views are normally maintained, indicate the virility of the Republican party. It has been a political force for half a century, and never stronger than now.

Republican is a word that does not sound well in American ears. There is a sleep bill that runs downward from socialism and once started on it, men find it hard to stop. The Democratic party, if the Democrats of New York are representatives of the party, is a whole, is tending rapidly to socialism. Where will the Democrats stop? What will they take up next?

The Democratic orators are going around the country shrieking about the "Tariff fortified security of the trust." It is only necessary to scan the history of trusts in free trade England to prove the assinine character of such a statement. This Republican party, however, will regulate them.

His Life In Peril.

"I just wished to have one all to prove," writes Alfred Iles, of Wellsville, Kansas, "Bucklen's and a fair back had made life a burden. I couldn't eat or sleep and felt too worn out to work when it began to use Electric bitters, but they worked wonders. Now I sleep like a top, can eat anything, have gained in strength and enjoy hard work. They give vigorous health and new life to weak, sick, run-down people. Try them. Only 50c at T. E. COAL IN YUKON BANKS

LARGE DEPOSITS FOUND NEAR GREAT SLAKEAN RIVER

Geological Survey Makes Exhaustive Investigation and Finds Four Seams Also with Large Quantities of Lignite—Ties Will Decide Probes for Dollar.

Dawson, Yukon, Jan. 7.—Coal in the Yukon basin has been known for years, but it was not until last year that the Canadian Pacific railway and the Canadian Northern railway began to think of using it for locomotives. The Canadian Pacific railway sent a party of experts to the Yukon last year to make a report on the coal deposits, and the Canadian Northern railway has just completed a report by its experts on the same subject. The Canadian Pacific railway has not yet made its report, but it is understood that it will be favorable to the Yukon coal.

The Canadian Northern railway has spent a good deal of money in the Yukon in the last two years, and it has been prepared to do more if the report of its experts should be favorable. The Canadian Pacific railway has not been so active in the Yukon, but it has been prepared to do more if its report

MARINE NEWS.

The steamer Denver could not make her island trip Monday on account of the storm.

The steamer John Sipty, loaded from Chicago here, was driven into Manitowoc Monday by the storm. She was thirty six hours reaching that port.

Steamer and tug men are beginning to do some hard thinking about coal supply for late fall operations. It is next to impossible to get a cargo of coal.

Capt. Chas. Morton, superintendent of Traverse Navigation district, accompanied by assistant inspector W. E. Reynolds, left Grand Haven on Monday on inspect the buoys and stations in the district on both sides of lake Michigan. This is inspector Reynolds' last trip. He will resign the same date as this issue of Washington, D. C. to resume his duties as lieutenant in the revenue cutter service, having recently been promoted to a first lieutenancy.

The price of fuel at Buffalo has been advanced to $5a ton. Some of the steamers that have been there during the past few days had trouble getting coal at that figure, says the Cleveland Plain dealer. The masters of steamers of the Pittsburg Steamship Company as well as masters of other lakers that made it to Buffalo have been instructed to take on only that enough to bring them back to Ohio ports. The steamer Harlem, which arrived here from Buffalo Monday night, had to stop in Erie to get enough fuel to bring her to Cleveland. While the Coal shippers have not made any change in the price and are filling their contracts at $2.50 a ton when they can get the coal, they have had to hunt to take care of the business. Some of the dealers that have to depend on others for coal have been forced out of business. The leading shippers and best men say that they do not want to mark the price up, and that they will not make an advance until they are forced to. The steamers certainly cannot stand the prices that are being charged for fuel at Buffalo. The owners say that they ought to get 5 cents a ton more for going to that port. Until a few years ago there was a differential of 5 cents, but now charges for all lake Erie ports are made at the same figure.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

When an outbreak of a dangerous communicable disease occurs in any locality, it has been common to consider the closing of the schools of that locality as a prime and immediate necessity. Secretary Baker of the State Board of the State Board of Health has opposed this idea for several reasons. Three of these reasons are. First, the best board of health thereby confesses its neglect or inability to cope with the disease by the proper legal methods. Second, of infected pupils and children of uninfected school children. Second, if the schools are closed the environments of the children may be contaminated and stigmatized and the fear of their contracting and spreading disease may be increased. If the local board of health is unavailing to successfully control the outbreak, the appearance at school of children from infected homes not known to health officials, might enable the intelligent teachers to discover and report to the health authorities cases that otherwise might fail to be reported to them and thus spread infection promiscuously.

Rather than to close schools, churches, and public assemblies it is much pleasanter, and usually much better for the insulation to be applied to the sick and infected persons or the few persons, than upon people of a locality or community, the law does not contemplate that, and it is doubtful if a health officer or local board of health could enforce it if the authority is denied.

The laws provide that every infected person and thing shall be isolated.

If that is done there is no need of isolating all of the people of a locality. If the school house or other public building is infected, it should be closed to allow its being thoroughly disinfected before allowing any public gathering in it, and opened again as soon as the buildings and contents have been thoroughly disinfected and aired.

There may be exceptional instances where the closing of the school would seem to be required, but usually the office does not advise it, but does advise the complying with the law as to all infected persons and things.

Out of Death's Jaws.

"When death seemed very near from a severe stomach and liver trouble, that I had suffered with for years," writes J. Dennison Hunter, of Gainesville, Ga. "The 1st bottle of your Elec. Bitters gave me decided relief, and now six bottles put me on my feet." Guaranteed by all druggists. Only 50c at F. G. Bliss & Co., drug store.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph.D., Pastor.

In the absence of the Rev. A. F. Vaghe, we were pleased to welcome to our morning services a large number of the M. E. church. We hope some day to be added to reciprocate this fraternal Christian feeling.

The Sunday school is growing nicely but steadily.

The ladies missionary society meets Friday at the home of Mrs. Dickert. Subject of consideration "Home Mission."

The choir is preparing to give an hour of their Sunday evening sacred concerts, possibly on the last Sunday of this month.

The pastor wishes to see a good Congregation at church Sunday morning.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

The Traverse City starch factory has shut down for want of coal.

Boyne City is discussing the question of granting an electric lighting franchise.

Several cases of diphtheria are reported at Nahma. So far there have been no deaths reported from the disease.

The M & N. E. extension to Provemont is rapidly nearing completion. The laying of rail will be finished soon, and it is announced that trains will run into Provemont within the next two weeks.

The prospects for high prices for potatoes this fall is not promising for the farmers. A large crop has been harvested over in Wisconsin and Minnesota and they are not only supplying the Chicago market, but are actually shipping them to Grand Rapids and Detroit markets.

East Jordan Enterprise: Dr. Winfred Hoston has bid farewell to her friends at this place, and on Tuesday started for the scene of her future labors as a missionary in India. She will sail from New York City 14th on the S. S. Kaiserina Maria Theresa. Miss Hoston is a niece of Mrs. A. L. Coulter of this place.

Traverse City Herald: It is reported that the Louisiana Timber Associa tion has made a gift of its property to the government for a naval station, and that the government has sent for plans and will investigate the matter. The land includes the high bluff on which the hotel—formerly the Indian mission house, is situated, and the view is one of the most beautiful in the region.

The sentence of the court in that you be confined in the penitentiary at Jackson for 15 years at hard labor." These were the fateful words spoken at 2:10 Friday afternoon by Judge Mayne to John A. Hargrave who was convicted by the jury in the circuit court at Traverse City last Wednesday morning of man slaughter for the killing of his wife, Mary E. Hargrave, on April 21, 1902.

East Jordan Enterprise: Postmaster Clink has a new design for a hanger for wagons, sleighs, etc that he has tried here, giving the best satisfaction. He has shown it at the fairs in the Pushaw and Grand Rapids, where it was seen by some of the largest manufacturers of the country, whom Mr. Clink says are anxious to arrange by the use the hanger with their vehicles manufactured. We wish him the best of success with his invention, for which he has applied for a patent.

Word has reached Petoskey that Capt. A. E. McCabe, formerly a prominent young lawyer there and of the 25th of Spanish war, has resigned his position as assistant chief of the Sorsogon bureau in the Philippines and will engage in the practice of law in Manila. Capt. McCabe went to the front during the Spanish war with the 25th volunteers and subsequently took a commission in the regular army and was assigned to the Philippines.

The old water mill and site at Boyne Falls, formerly owned by Wm. Brown, has just been sold to Hood & Knight, of the Raphin, who will tear down the old mill and rebuild a modern factory of a size at $20,000 to manufacture sash, doors, lumber and veneer. This plant when completed will employ at least 50 men. They will have one of the best kiln dry outfits in the state. The new Boyne Falls Cooperage Company's factory, which is nearly completed expects to commence operations by November 1.

The potato output in Grand Traverse county this year will fall far short of that of last year. The average is about the same but where the blight struck the crop it did not grow, and in some cases the farmers claim that they will not have over a quarter of a crop but the fair average put it at two thirds of a crop. The price is also far below that paid last year. A fair average price of the potatoes last year was 75 cents and for a long time they sold at a $1 and touched as high as $1.25. This year a farmer has been lucky if he received 50 cents per bushel. The average price has been from 35 to 45 cents.

The entire mill property of the Schomberg Hardwood Lumber Co. at Good Harbor was wiped out by fire Thursday, the breaking out about midnight. No efforts to subdue the flames were availing and the course of the fire could not be stayed. The saw mill was totally destroyed, a large quantity of shingles and the lumber in the yards, the total loss being not less than $15000. Besides the mill property the dwelling occupied by Levi Dodge, an employee of the mill, was consumed with nearly all its contents. Nothing is known of the origin of the blaze and no probable cause is given yet.

The soil of Northern Michigan is largely composed of what is known as "sandy loam." This land is easily worked, is very productive, and has the advantage over heavy clay soil of being "warm". It can be cultivated as soon as the snow leaves in the spring, regardless of frequent rains, and it does not cling to the plowshare nor to feet of the agriculturist. It was formerly urged against this soil that it was not "strong" and would soonerun out." But that criticism has been set aside. There are farms near Central Lake that have been worked for the past forty years and those that are better now than when first tilled, and I know of no farm in this neighborhood that has been properly cared for that is not now at least as productive as it was at first. —Michigan Tradesman.

Statistic search was made all day Sunday at Traverse City for three boys of prominent families, who went hunting and are believed to have been drowned. They were Jack Corbett, son of the late Judge H. L. Corbett, who was killed while deer hunting three years ago, aged 17, Glenn Morgan, aged 14, son of M. D. Morgan, member of the board of public works, and Elliott Ashmun, the son of a well known family. The boys went hunting and about 2 o'clock are known to have embarked in a sail boat on the bay. The sea became rough and the boys have not been seen since. The boat was found partially filled with water near nooning on the shore, and near after noon a coat, recognized as owned by Corbett, was washed ashore. It is believed the boat became unmanageable and capsized. The bodies have carried out by the current or sunk. Dragging the bay has so far failed to discover them.

Married, at the home of the bride's parents in this village, last Friday evening, by Rev. Dr. Hyslop, Mr. Lou H. Comfort, Superintendent of Construction of the Chicago & Michigan Lake Shore railway, and Miss Metta Irish. The wedding was attended only by a few relatives and friends, the young people leaving on the evening train for Escanaba, where Mr. Comfort is temporarily engaged on government work. Although Mr. Comfort's work takes him everywhere on the great lakes, their home will be in Ishpeming. Mrs. Comfort is a Charlevoix girl, born and bred, and Charlevoix people will congratulate her and her husband. Mr. Comfort was located here for several months three years ago, when he had charge of the U. S. lightHouse supply station, during which time he made many friends here.

Married, at the Congregational parsonage, in this village, the 17th, by Rev. Dr. Hyslop, Mr. Frank Richardson and Miss Elizabeth Wagner, both of Norwood. The bride is the daughter of supervisor Wagner, of Norwood at which place Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will reside.

Married, at Petoskey, Tuesday of last week, Mr. Henry O'Leary and Miss Margaret Gordon, both of Charlevoix.

The Best Harvest.

The Charlevoix Sugar Co's beets were received and set up on the factory grounds last week. The pulling of beets is now fairly under way, and the first of the crop came in yesterday.

The beets are received at the factory grounds, weighed, and loaded into the cars for shipment. General Manager Pitts wish to impress on the farmers the importance of topping in their beets before frost endangers them. They cannot come too thick or too fast, as preparation is made to care for them as fast as they arrive at the scales.

Moore Resumes Work.

The great coal strike was officially ended Tuesday noon, when the miners' convention ratified the terms of peace reported by President Mitchell.

Work is to be resumed in the mines today, and conditions in the coal market will soon again be normal.

WILL A. NORTON.

The Eloquent Orator From St. John to Speak Here Saturday Night.

The State Central Committee has assigned Hon. Will A. Norton to Charlevoix for saturday night of this week. Mr. Norton will speak at the Opera House.

Will A. Norton is one of the very best political speakers in the state, and should draw a large crowd.

Let everybody turn out and hear him.

Board of Supervisors.

The board of supervisors finished its session Saturday noon. Following is a synopsis of the proceedings:

The committee on foreign ferry reported total cost of operating ferry for the year, $290.54.

The agent and Indian Manitou county order claim came before the board in the shape of a communication from J. H. Wylie, of Grand Rapids, who holds said orders. Mr. Wylie was referred to the prosecuting attorney.

For aged and indigent soldiers one tenth of one mill on the dollar of assessed valuation was voted. The committee reported that $108.78 had been paid out from this fund the past year, and that $952.78 remained on hand.

One-tenth of one mill on the dollar on assessed valuation was voted for the Agricultural Society.

A petition to vacate a section piece of State road in Marion known as the Vosburg hill was granted.

The superintendents of poor reported that $6,279.46 had been paid out for poor purposes, and that $720.50 had been received for products of the farm.

The supervisors of Charlevoix and Hayes were instructed to report, at the January meeting the cost of running the Charlevoix bridge.

For county tax ¾ mills on the dollar was ordered raised.

The salary of prosecuting attorney was fixed at $1,000, county treasurer $1,000 and fees; county clerk $900 and fees; the sheriff was allowed $900 for justice fees.

Total disbursements of county treasurer for year, $62,302.80.

Lecture Course.

Three years ago this coming winter the Lyceum attempted a lecture course. Two numbers costing us $70 were put on—Fred Emerson Brooks and Rev. Thomas McClary. On these the Lyceum lost something like $7.00. The loss was sustained on McClary, whose lecture was given in the old high school room which had a small seating capacity.

The following year a course was conducted by what termed the Citizens Lecture Association. The managing committee consisted of F. A. Kemp, Dr. Weeks and J. M. Tree. This course cleared about $40 which was put into the Lyceum fund, and the work of conducting the courses in the future turned over to the high school. Last year our course cleared up about $25 and cost us $230 exclusive of expenses which were nearly $50 more. This amount which was cleared was expended for library and laboratory supplies.

This year we have embarked in a much larger and better course. We have bought it at a reduced rate and paid $275 for it exclusive of the local expenses. Not only has one number been added but each individual number is better. The attractions are as follows: The Pringle, Nov. 28; Garrier, Dec. 16; Fraser, Jan. 15; Biggs, Mar. 2; Wesleyans Male Quartette, Mar. 27; Ham, April 6. The entire course sells at $1.00. If single admissions are purchased the following prices will be charged: Wesleyans and Pringle 50c; Garrier, Biggs and Ham each 25c, making a total of $2.00. It is good business policy to purchase a season ticket, it will help to put the course on a paying basis. If tickets are purchased they are transferable within the family of the purchaser. A student ticket is issued, costing 75c which must be used by the person purchasing the ticket. Seats can be reserved at 10c per entertainment or 20c for the season.

This course must be made a success or none along with it. Buy your tickets and be prepared to spend a few evenings of solid enjoyment.

Out Of Death's Jaws.

"When death seemed very near from a severe stomach and liver trouble, that I had suffered with for years," writes T. Moak, Durham, N. C., "the King's New Life Pills saved my life and gave perfect health." Best pills on earth and cure the Pyle. Only 25c at F. G. Bliss & Co., drug store.

Miss Is Trouble Again.

A series of mishaps befell Gen. Miles and his party during their stay at Honolulu, on their way to the Philippines. In addition to the General being robbed, Mrs. Miles was compelled to do without her maid on the voyage between Honolulu and Manila. The maid missed the vessel at Honolulu.

So long as Miles did not lose his yellow belly-band, his epaulets, bath-tub and self-esteem, the country is safe. Senator Alger should cable his congratulations.

Growth of Beet Sugar.

The great beet sugar industry of the world owes its very existence to a discovery of Vilmorin. The original sugar beet grown in France does not contain enough sugar for commerce. The amount of sugar could be easily determined in the beet, but in making the test the reproductive qualities of the plant were always destroyed. Vilmorin learned how to extract the pulp without destroying the plant, and by selection and cross-breeding he grew a plant upon which the great industry is now founded. We owe also to Vilmorin the present carrot, a vegetable which was nothing more than a thin, dry, woody root, unfit for the stomach of a sheep or a cow. Yes. A vegetable which is a fact and carefully examined every root. By selecting seed from only the best plants for the new sowing, he produced a carrot with more flesh and less wood. The horseradish, the turnip, and, indeed, the potato vine were once plants with thin, dry, woody roots, without the least suggestion that they would ever develop into food for man or beast.—Success.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Charlevoix expects to meet Harbor Springs in a foot-ball game here, next Saturday at Recreation park.

Lawrence Ackert entered school last Monday and is taking a part of the eleventh and twelfth grade courses.

Every body is invited to attend Open Lyceum next Wednesday evening, October 29, for the benefit of the Charlevoix Athletic Association. Admission only 15 cents.

Crawford Rosenbraugh entered the tenth grade last Monday.

The debate last Wednesday evening, "Resolved that a canal across the isthmus connecting North and South America should be constructed and completely controlled by the United States," between the Freshmen and Sophomore was won by the negative or Sophomores.

Miss Geo. Hagelston presented the high school with a beautiful plant.

Mr. John D. Deets delivered his lecture, "Providential America," at the High School Friday evening. It was a fine effort and showed most clear thought and good logic.

NORWOOD NEWS.

J. M. Valentine has returned from the West and will move his family to this place.

Willard Spaulding has moved his family to Ellsworth.

F. A. Spaulding and wife have gone to Fort Hagelston and will remain until spring.

Mr. Bergmann and Mr. Olmstead have left for Wisconsin this week.

Charles Ferguson and family have gone to Chicago. Miss Lula Jackson went with them as nurse girl.

Frank Richardson and Libbie Wagner were married on Friday of last week.

Lyman Vandusen's store burned to the ground last Tuesday night. It is not known how the fire originated. There was a small insurance on the building but none on the contents.

Goes Like Hot Cakes.

"The fastest selling article I have had during my 40 years in business is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Druggist C. T. Guido, of Davis, Ky., "is Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, because it always cures. In my six years of sales it has never failed. I have known it to save sufferers from Throat and Lung disease who could get no help from doctors or any other remedy." Mothers rely on it, best protection against croup. Guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottles free at F. G. Bliss & Co., drug store. Regular sizes 25c and $1.

(CHAPTER XXIII)

Our country is unknown—what lies beyond it, being either sea or the same sort of country. Mrs. Tarewell, Constance, Mr. Bowen, and I, are the only people who have walked in our country. Mr. Bowen is a wealthy coach maker, the upper branch of his business being in London, and he has a place in Surrey, to which he goes when he and his wife are not at home.

Maybe this took us by surprise. Mrs. Tarewell, Constance, and I, were at home when we first saw him.

"Yes," Mrs. Tarewell answered, when I asked her about him, "he is a very good fellow." Constance said nothing.

"What kind of country, Mrs. Tarewell?" I asked, when I had recovered from the surprise of seeing a man.

"Why, Mr. Malcolm, you know that things are changed, you might not go far enough to see the country, the administrative board is very particular that men shall not trespass on the property, and, besides, it is very difficult to get through the tangle of bushes, and, besides, it is very difficult to get through the tangle of bushes, and, besides, it is very difficult to get through the tangle of bushes

Democratic Trust Remedy.

The one great remedy of the Democratic trust evil is free trade. They insist that the only way to break the power of the trusts and prevent them from extorting monopolistic control is to place on the free list all articles which are made by a trust in this country. This is not a new proposition from Democratic sources. Mr. Breckinridge proposed it in the fifteenth congress. His proposition was that whenever the chief production of sale of any article passed into the control of a trust, the secretary of the treasury should declare that article the free list until the trust was abolished.

Congressman William L. Wilson, the author of the Wilson tariff bill, and the ablest free trade representative in congress at that time, objected to the Breckinridge proposition as vigorously as he did to the Sherman Anti-trust bill passed by the fifty-first congress. Mr. Wilson said, "public sentiment, doubtless, would approve such a measure (suggested by Mr. Breckinridge) but it would punish the innocent together with the guilty, the independent refiners as well as the sugar trust, and would unsettle business and invite combinations for mere speculative purposes."

Mr. Wilson was an earnest tariff reformer and believed in a tariff for revenue only, but he did not believe that there could be successfully carried out a plan to discriminate against articles controlled by the trusts. He recognized that there has never been a monopoly in any protected product under our tariff laws, controlled by a trust. He knew that there was only one great monopoly in this country, the Standard Oil Company, and that its product has never had protection or bonus from the tariff; that it flourished in a free trade year.

Mr. Wilson was consistent in his tariff views. He believed in a tariff for revenue only, or tariff revision along free trade lines but he believed that there could not be discrimination against trusts, without punishing the innocent as well as the guilty, and that such discrimination would unsettle business and invite combinations for mere purposes of speculation." The Democratic leaders in congress today believe as did Mr. Wilson six years ago, that the tariff should be reformed on a free trade basis, and every element of protection eliminated from it. They have so declared in their campaign book and in many of their conventions, but in the great industrial States where the benefits of protection are known to the workingmen the Democratic candidates pass over the real issue to talk about free trade only in trust controlled products. Scratch one of these Democratic advocates of free trade for trusts, and there will be found a free trader pure and simple, one who if given the opportunity, will vote for a bill just like that Wm. L. Wilson framed, which was passed by the Democratic fifty-third congress and which proved to be the greatest labor crusher ever known in the United States.

The Republican party is the only party that ever did anything to curb the trusts. While the Democrats fumed and fretted about the trusts in the fifteenth congress which had they control, the impudence in control of the fifty-first congress passed the Sherman Anti-trust law. It has gone on vigorously as he did to the Sherman Anti-trust bill passed by the fifty-first congress. Mr. Wilson said, "public sentiment, doubtless, would approve such a measure (suggested by Mr. Breckinridge) but it would punish the innocent together with the guilty, the independent refiners as well as the sugar trust, and would unsettle business and invite combinations for mere speculative purposes."

DEMOCRATIC TICKET LOCALLY.

A Champion of Right.

Now that the smoke of battle has practically cleared away and the bad effects produced by the cost settler have been erased, it is only right and proper to marshal all the facts in the case and give credit to whom credit is due. From the very beginning of the delectable but unreliable struggle the leaders of the Republican party have took sides in favor of peonage and have endeavored right and day to deliver victims to the interest of a selfish public. Successes finally crowned these efforts, and there is not a voter in the land, with the welfare of his country at heart, who does not unite in a shout of gratitude for the intrepid men who would not rest until they had achieved success. Today the name of Theodore Roosevelt is embazoned firmly on the scroll of fame as the fearless leader and champion of the downtrodden. He will go down in history as one who dared to do right for the people's cause, notwithstanding the fact that his motives were being questioned and criticised by an army of Democratic orators, who sought to spread disaster by an appeal to the passions of unthinking men.

* * *

A little thing like the absence of truth does not seem to bother the average democratic spellbinder. In a speech delivered at a Western City recently the orator of the evening, after stating that the tariff was responsible for trusts, pointed to free trade England where he said there was not a trust. When he invited anybody present to refute the statement, a man arose in the audience with a list that proved clearly that thirty-seven hundred trusts ruled England than in the United States. Then the discomfitted orator said that the English trusts were only small ones.

* * *

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of the grave danger apt to result from apathy. It is all well enough to be contented for the present, but there is a future that must be looked after. If a Democratic Congress should result from a careless feeling of apathy on the part of Republicans, the people of the country would have plenty of time to rue it in the year of hunger that will surely follow.

* * *

Aside from the temporary distress caused by such an unusual state of affairs, the coal strike may have been a blessing in disguise. It has proved conclusively that hereafter arbitration is not only desirable, but is demanded by public welfare, and public welfare rules this Republic. It also demonstrated that the Republican party is never afraid to face an issue of any kind, and has always predined the right man at the right time.

* * *

What shallow demagogy it is for the Democratic orators to insist that the government ownership of coal mines is neither revolutionary nor socialistic! Ignorance is expected from an ignoramus and folly from a fool, but it could seem that the Democratic party has fairly outdone itself this time, in its attempt to keep up its reputation for assininity.

* * *

What did the Democratic leaders do when seeking the great strike? While President Roosevelt and his party officers were striving every force to avert the terrible disaster threatened, the Democrats were doing their utmost to precipitate ruin by encouraging the strike. Just these facts are true will be shown by the ballot on November 4.

* * *

An anonymous party who views with quiet amusement, yet some disgust, the efforts of the Democratic orators to fan into life the dead embers of the recent coal strike has been prompted by his muse to contribute the following classical lay.

The back of the strike is broken
But despite this glorious fact
The democratic jamboree
Is over left intact.

When President Roosevelt declared that "Public interest is paramount" he did not think of what it signed mean politically. He acted a good deal like the unknown Jim Bludso, who saw his duty and "went for it then an' then."

* * *

Despite their apparent indifference the Democrats are working night and day to secure a majority in the house. It would mean free trade and years of poverty and distress to the country, did it succeed.

* * *

Is it not the duty of every broad-minded man in this country, regardless of personal political preferences, to vote to sustain the party that has brought about such a period of bounteous prosperity.

* * *

With peace at home in the Philippines and prosperity everywhere in evidence in this country, there is indeed a gloomy outlook for the Democratic party on November 8.

* * *

If there is any merit in prophecy signs the Democratic party is right to do what to our politicians doubtless seems the most in preparing the shroud.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Harbor Springs is to have a fine new hotel, the announcement of it being quite a surprise.

East Jordan enterprise. There is a change this week in the management of the Lake Side Hotel, E. E. Richards retiring, and the owner, M. A. McHale, taking personal charge of the hostelry.

The body of John Dyneman, the old man who escaped from the Antrim county farm at an early hour Thursday morning, lost weeks ago, was found last Friday in the chopping near what is known as deep water point on Intermediate lake, about three and one-half miles north of this place.

Over at Sutton's Bay on Sunday a light occurred in a railroad camp and two of the Italian gang are dead. One of them caused Arnoldest shot another named Ferdinand, whereupon a brother of Ferdinand leaped on Arnoldest with a knife and literally slashed him into ribbons. Fifty ugly stabs and cuts were found on Arnoldest's body.

H. C. Levinson, a leading dry goods and clothing merchant of Petoskey has filed a trust deed of his fine new stock to Ben Segal of Harbor Springs. Levinson has not fully recovered from the losses occasioned by two fires, which in the period of a 12 month each time ruined his stocks of goods, but he will continue the business in his new store under the trusteeship.

Smallpox has broken out at Boyne Falls—two or three cases having come to light. Industrial are that most strenuous efforts will be required to prevent a general outbreak of this dread disease in Northern Michigan this fall. Last year's experience should have proved a good, if expensive teacher, and every precaution taken to, as far as possible, to prevent a repetition of the disastrous results.

There is trouble with the water in Petoskey, and the health officer says, "There are cattle; too many cases of typhoid fever in Petoskey, and I am of that opinion that these are local unsanitary reasons for it. I should advise that all water be boiled before it is used for drinking purposes. That is a rule at all times, but if followed closely now, would have a strong tendency to check the disease."

Petoskey Record: The Bay Shore Lime Company are erecting a large stone crusher on the land recently purchased by them of Henry Euston about two and one-half miles west of Petoskey. The crusher will have a capacity of 250 tons per day and will run the year round. It will give employment to 20 or 25 men. The company are erecting a large boarding house near the plant to board the men in their employment. Mr. John Nyman has accepted the position of foreman.

Mad Ole Maddock of East Jordan has won a place on the University of Michigan eleven this year. Maddock is a freshmen but his superior qualities as a football player have placed him where few first year men and streamers. He has had experience in a minor college eleven and was promptly thrust into Hinze-Smith's place after the first day's practice. He runs like and angry bull and his name has already been conceded him—"Mad Ole," from the resistless way in which he tears down the field or rips his way through the line.

Traverse City Eagle: Ralph Hastings and Edward Hoxie were apprehended yesterday by deputy game wardens A. L. Collier of Charlevoix for alleged killing of partridge out of season. They were hunting on the plains in the vicinity of Interlochen and Bendon when the game warden surprised them. The reason for Partridge did not open until today. Hastings and Hoxie are said to have had five birds between them. They were let go on their own recognizance but yet to appear tomorrow before Justice Brown. Mr. Collier says that there have been many violations of the game laws in this part of Michigan.

The Klondyke and Cape Nome gold fields have no fascination for W. H. Jennings of Petoskey, Michigan. He has something better, even more valuable than anthracite coal at present. Some time ago he accidentally discovered a deposit of peat, under what was formerly an ashy patch. He attached very little importance to the find at first. Later investigations showed that the peat bog underlies a five acre plot, and that it consists of a layer or ledge from ten to twelve feet in thickness. A little imagination or computation, will serve to show that the deposit is a very large one. A close examination indicates the peat to be of a superior vegetable formation and may have been in its present bed for many ages. It dries readily, and is consequently, giving out great heat. It is odorless, and contains very little ash. Mr. Jennings has been benefited without selling anything out, which in my come in contact.

Sault Ste. Marie claims that the biggest conflagration ever witnessed in this part of the country will take place there on the 25th to mark the opening for service at the great power canal. The power company has appropriated $25,000 for the occasion and prominent men from all parts of the country will be present. Senator Hanna will be one of the speakers. At the conclusion of the ceremonies a fine bonfire will be spread in the power house. On Friday, the 14th, the school children and citizens generally will be entertained with speeches and a bonfire. On Saturday the turbines will be started and the first power from the canal will be used to light more than 5,000 electric lights strung on the power house and the many bridges which span the canal. Business will be suspended in both Sion and everybody take part in the jollification.

Dominick Murray, proprietor of the New Murray hotel, and a pioneer of Mackinac Island, died at Mackinac Friday. He was born Aug. 12, 1820, at Newport, County Mayo, Ireland, and came to Mackinac Island in 1842, accompanied by two younger brothers, Patrick and Michael, both of whom are living at St. Ignace. Mr. Murray was sheriff of Mackinac county for 17 consecutive years. During the mill boom months and the big logging days of the lumber industry, he had many exciting adventures. He was president of the school board for a number of years, and has always enjoyed the respect and confidence of the community. During the gold fever excitement in California in 1849, he made the perilous trip across the continent. His wife, who was Miss Annie White of Waukegan, Ill., whom he married about 45 years ago, and 10 grown children survive him. One of the latter is F. M. Murray of St. Ignace, probate judge of the county. Brunetta trousers and his advanced age caused his death.

SULTAN WANTS WAR

LITTLE MINDANAO RULER IS VERY DEFIANT

Refuses Favorable Conditions of American Commander and Provides His Strongholds Against Invasion. Anticipating Other Invasion.

The Sultan of Mindanao, Hadji Mahakuta, has refused to accept the favorable conditions of surrender offered him by the forces of this government. He considers the treaties made with the Sultan of Sulu not binding upon him. He goes on to say that the Mindanao people are not subject to the Sultan of Sulu. Many years ago the Sultan of Mindanao declared himself independent of the Sulu Sultan, and he proposes to remain so. He intends to resist the American troops to the last extremity. He concludes by saying: "If Roosevelt is a man he will come and take my country."

PLAN GREAT LUMBER TRUST.

Manufacturers Pave Way at Atlanta for National Organization.

As the outcome of a preliminary organization meeting held in Atlanta last November for the purpose of bringing together the lumber manufacturers of the country, representatives of the lumber trade to the number of 1,000 assembled in Atlanta last week for a session of the convention, the purpose of which was the formulation of a plan for a national organization. Mr. Thomas Dwight, president of the Boston Board of Trade, was chairman of the meeting, which lasted three days. Plans were formulated for a permanent organization, and a committee was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws to be presented for adoption at the next meeting, which will be held in Atlanta in the month of March. The committee appointed to draft the constitution and by-laws is composed of twenty-one members representing the various branches of the lumber business, and it is understood that Dwight Cramer, of Minneapolis, will be chairman of the committee.

Woman Murderess in Texas.

Miss Sissy P. Lewis, a young and attractive woman, shot and killed her husband, Jim Lewis, near Hemphill, Tex., on Christmas night. It is said that Lewis was fond of liquor and was in the habit of coming home at night and abusing his wife. On the night of the shooting he came home and had a quarrel with his wife. He then left the house and went to the barn, where he was followed by his wife. A few words passed between them, when Lewis struck his wife with a whip. She then shot him with a double barreled shotgun, killing him instantly.

Government Troops Repulsed.

The troops of the Venezuelan government have been repulsed in their attempt to drive out the rebels from the city of Ciudad Bolivar, capital of the State of Bolivar, after a battle of two hours. A schooner with more aboard than it could safely carry was sent down the Orinoco River with the government troops. Information has been received that Dorbo, commander of the government forces, was killed in the battle.

Drowns Her Child in Sewer.

Mrs. Tessie Keller of Sunbeam, in Allen County, Ohio, drowned her child in a sewer. She is the wife of Lewis Keller, who is in the employ of the Sunbeam Gas Company. Mrs. Keller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hoffman, of Sunbeam. Her husband treated her in a cruel and unnatural manner, it is said, and she had threatened to murder him. Her husband treated her in the same way, it is said, and she had threatened to murder him. Her husband treated her in the same way, it is said, and she had threatened to murder him.

Picnic Ham Poisons Family.

Six members of a family were taken very ill after a meal of picnic ham. Two of the children are in a critical condition. The others are not dangerously ill. The family consists of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kaiser and four children. The ham was purchased in the morning and served for dinner that day. The ham was served cold, and some of it was left over. The remainder was thrown into the garbage can, from which it was taken by a neighbor's family, who also became ill.

CUBA GROWING DEFIANT.

Washington Believes Republic Seeks a Pretext for Intervention.

There is considerable uneasiness on the part of the administration in Washington over the manifest disposition of the Cuban government to evade the obligations it assumed by incorporation in the Platt amendment into the organic law of the republic. Since the latter of October the Cuban government has been at variance with the leading national authorities here upon what has been proposed in great and favorable to the United States by the action of this government in fixing the tariff on Cuban products. This feeling has manifested itself in the demand by the municipal and of the municipal of American troops now found in Cuba and adjacent seas, for finally expressed, however, in permitting a vote to be taken on Friday, in the Cuban Senate, which was United States troops from Santo Domingo and Cuba.

TELLS OF THREE MURDERS.

French-Canadian Miner in Klondike Confesses to Three Murders.

A murder mystery has been made as long ago as 1896 by Peter Cherrier, of the province of Quebec, which he is charged by his confession. Twenty years ago, Cherrier, with his wife and child, and some others, also a French-Canadian, left Montreal for the Klondike. They had some provisions for their money. Cherrier's money was all in gold, and he came along and lodged with a boat and a supply of Wm. Howe, who agreed to take them to Dawson in boat for pay, and he to pay the profit for the food. A few days afterward they ventured to Dawson in boat, and the next morning the three passengers were missing. Howe was asked by Cherrier to go with him to the place of the disappearance of the three men, and he did so. Cherrier then killed Howe, and then killed the third man, and carefully wounded. Several other men were seriously injured.

Assassin Stands at Bay, Jackson Leader in Anti-Saloon Crusade.

An attempt was made to-day upon Rev. Mr. Hamilton, the first president of the Rescue Anti-Saloon League, by the assassins in the latter's yard and, he left the building, he was shot at. He was hit by a bullet in the shoulder, and he fell to the ground. He was not seriously injured, and he was able to walk to his home.

TEACHER FIRES ON PUPILS.

Kills and Wounds Trustees and Children, and Is Shot Down.

Hooper County has been received of a tragedy which occurred in Hooper on the 20th. The school teacher, Miss Ella Hoffman, was in the school room, when a man came in and, without a word, fired a revolver at the teacher, killing her. The pupils and others in the school room, fled in terror. The teacher, after being shot, fired a revolver at the man, and he fell dead. The teacher then fell to the floor, and died in a few minutes. The man was found to be a man named Hoffman, who had a grudge against the teacher.

MARINE NEWS.

Many of the schooners, and some of the steamships will lay up soon. The schooner Ross Hecle, which left here Monday, will make but one more trip. The H. D. Moore will also lay up about Nov. 1st.

The steamer Hettie B. Pierce, which went ashore at the entrance to this harbor Tuesday night of last week has been abandoned. Her engine and boilers will be removed by Sheldon later on.

The Charlevoix Sugar Co. have chartered the tug Newell Avery for picking up beets on Pine Lake. She will tow the scow Bessie Bay and two flat scows. Capt. J. U. Emery will sail the Avery.

The Marine Cooks' Association of the Great Lakes is going to give up a stiff fight to break away from the Seamen's Union and the matter will come to a head at the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Frank W. Gunsaulus of Alpena has purchased the steel steamship Myra from James Reid and others. The Myra went ashore last fall near Hall's Island and was released a short time ago by the Reid Wrecking Company. It is understood that the Reids cleared up something like $20,000 on the job.

Two dangerous shoals have been located near Waugoshance light in Lake Michigan. One is 13,000 feet north, 52 degrees east from the light, and the other is 11,700 feet north, 45 degrees west from the same light. They are near the west half north channel through the straits of Mackinac.

The barge G. J. Martin is to be sold under the hammer of the United States marshal at Toledo. The Martin is one of the old timers. Thirty-five years ago she was in her prime as a fast schooner, and was owned by Dexter & Noble, of Elk Rapids, carrying lumber from that port.

Announcement is made from Detroit that Maj. W. H. Bixby advocates the construction of a third canal lock at Sault Ste. Marie, to cost $5,000,000. Eight years will be required for its construction. Maj. Bixby plans to have the new lock large enough to accommodate any traffic and deep enough to handle vessels of 21 feet actual draft, and says by the time it is complete the channel in Detroit and St. Mary's rivers will be that depth.

In the north gale last Friday night the schooner John Minzer, bound from Harbor Springs to Detroit with a cargo of hardwood lumber, stranded on Point Aux Barques reef. Capt. Norman McDonald and his crew of six men were taken off the waterlogged vessel by the Point Aux Barques life saving crew. The schooner will be a total loss. She was one of the oldest vessels of the sailing fleet in service on the great lakes, having been built in 1866. For many years she was in service on Lake Michigan, engaged in carrying lumber from Michigan ports to Chicago. The boat was owned and hailed from Detroit. Norman McDonald, of Detroit, she was 154 feet long, with regulation tonnage. The Minzer has taken a good many cargoes out of Pine Lake.

Chicago Record Herald: Notice of an advance of 25 cents per day in sailors' wages, the advance to take effect Nov 1, has been sent out by the Seamen's Union. The new card makes a schedule of $30.00 on schooners and of $2 per day on steam barges. The notice of advance has caused the effect of helping rates in a few instances, and it is expected that it will have a reviving effect on the trade in some other directions for the brief remaining portion of the month. The rate affected yesterday was on hard wood lumber from a Lake Michigan port, $2 per 1,000 being paid for single from Pine Lake to Chicago. Some of the lumber carriers are convinced that the lumber carrying trade will not stand the rates broken of higher wages after Nov. 1, as they assert that there is not enough lumber available to keep all of the tonnage moving. They claim that the rate will result in the tying up of a large number of the smaller boats, many of which are now running at scarcely any margin of profit.

According to advices from Washington the new revenue cutter Tuscarora which is to be stationed at Milwaukee, will not be commanded by Capt. Davis, of the Morrill. It is stated unofficially at the offices of the revenue service that Lieutenant Commander Capt. David A. Hall will succeed Capt. Davis, who is now on the retired list, but who desires to remain on active service. It is understood that if Capt. Davis insists on remaining on duty he will be assigned to a new boat designed for anchorage service on the Sault Ste Marie. Capt. Hall is a native of Michigan, and entered Annapolis from now on the Chesapeake. He was appointed in 1873 and was promoted to his present rank in 1895. The revenue cutter Tuscarora, which was recently completed by the William H. Trigg Company of Richmond, Va., for service on the great lakes, developed an excess of speed on her trial trip, over that stipulated in the contract and in every way she proved herself to be an excellent craft. The Tuscarora will replace the revenue cutter Morrill, which was assigned to this point after the Gresham went to the front at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. The Morrill was intended only for temporary service on the lakes, so that strictly speaking, the Tuscarora will succeed the Gresham. Her home station will be Milwaukee. The Nautical Gazette gives the following dimensions of the new revenue cutter: Length over all, 178 feet; length between perpendiculars, 165 feet; beam molded, 36 feet; depth, 15 feet; draft, 9 feet; displacement, 620 tons; indicated horse power, 1250; designed speed, 14 knots; speed on trial, 14½ knots.

BEAVER ISLAND NEWS.

Mrs Holcomb is on the sick list at present.

Schooner Black Hawk loaded with bark for W F Gill last week.

W J Gallagher and W. D. Gallagher returned from the meeting of the Board of Supervisors on Monday.

Weddings bells will jingle right merrily on Beaver Island this fall. Listen to their chimes a little later.

H. F Farmelee has been doing a phenomenal business in New York Life insurance in the Island this fall, waiting for applications in one afternoon on one of his trips to the Island not long since. Every body seems to agree with Mr. Farmelee that New Life is O. K.

If all present plans are carried out a new company will come to the Island this fall, put up a mill construct a narrow gauge rail road and begin to make use of the large tract of timber known as the Miller lands. Further mention will be made of this deal when positive information is obtained.

Beaver Island is shortly on its boom. Don't leave out the "oo" and spell it with a "u" either, for we won't stand for it. Instance—we have a fine class business and shops—three of the last general stores in the country and one of the most recent and welcome additions is a barber shop in charge of Mr. Richards.

Dr. J. A. Aud and family of Charlevoix spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday with Dr. Whitman. The doctors made a trip to the Head. Dr. Aud was there and secured a nice bag of rabbits and ducks from several lake pickerel. Our genial friend from Traverse City, the gentleman in a royal manner at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Mulloy.

SCHOOL COMM. COLUMN.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction says: Inasmuch as the examinations for the eighth grade diplomas have now become firmly established, they should fall into line with the usual plans and processes of final examinations. The following suggestions are submitted:

The county board of school examiners shall look over and mark all papers written by applicants for diplomas. An average standing of 75 percent and not less than 70 per cent in any branch should be required.

The successful applicant shall be granted a diploma signed by the county commissioner of schools and counter signed by the teacher of the district where such pupil completes the eighth grade.

Only pupils who have pursued the studies of the eighth grade, at least six months shall be permitted to take the examination. Lists of such pupils' manuscripts shall be forwarded to the county commissioner of schools immediately after the close of each term of school. Blank forms for such lists will be furnished by the county commissioner of schools on application.

Beaver Island is shortly on its boom. Don't leave out the "oo" and spell it with a "u" either, for we won't stand for it. Instance—we have a fine class business and shops—three of the last general stores in the country and one of the most recent and welcome additions is a barber shop in charge of Mr. Richards.

Dr. J. A. Aud and family of Charlevoix spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday with Dr. Whitman. The doctors made a trip to the Head. Dr. Aud was there and secured a nice bag of rabbits and ducks from several lake pickerel. CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph.D., Pastor.

Splendid Congregation last Sunday morning, the pastor preached on the topic "The Divine Program of life." A full choir supplied good music particularly a fine anthem, which was much enjoyed.

Next Sunday morning the annual offering for home Missions will be made, the pastor will preach on the words "Thy kingdom come" and the choir will render the "Te Deum."

In the evening the choir will give a sacred concert, similar to others already given and which have been so much appreciated—Musical numbers "Jubilate Deo," "Benedictus" solo, duet, quartette, Chorale, and two Organ Solos with organ accompaniment, short sermon on "The influence of music."

America's Famous Beauties.

Look with horror on Skin Eruptions, Blotches, Sores, Pimples. They don't have them, nor will any one, who uses Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It glorifies the face. Eczema or Salt Rheum vanishes before it. DEVIL IN THE PRESS.

New Hampshire Publisher Makes Unique Apology to Patrons.

We owe an apology to our readers. For the past three nights we have been laboring at great disadvantage in getting out our paper. The result has been late delivery and some of our patrons have been forced to go without any paper at all. It has been a time trying not only to the patience of these readers, but one of extreme hard work for those employed in our premises. As to the trouble it would appear as though the evil one had set himself in our way and was heading all of his energies to thwart our efforts to get out our edition. The press has balked, and notwithstanding constant growling and cursing has only performed its accustomed rapid work in an intermittent way. We are in hopes, however, that the expert machinist now studying its mechanical failures will unravel the cause of the machine's unwelcome actions and that hence forth we shall have no more trouble with it.—Foster's N. H. Democrat.

Southern Aid.

Declaring that free silver is dead, the opponents of bryan proceed to make the Democratic issue. And what do you suppose it is? Free trade (so-plumbing) is left entirely out, according to the Clevelandites.

If free silver is dead, free trade is positively petrified. The American people have repudiated one as emphatically as the other.

The Hill men are not even so definite. With characteristic cowardice they fear to attack republican issues, having issues of their own to confuse them. So they content themselves with attacking Republican record and reiterating "We are Democrats." Democratic success so seen on top, this, so far discussed leaders. The voters will not be fed on husks.—Detroit Express.

Brain and Intellect.

The exact seat in the brain of the highest intellectual faculties has formed a moot point in science since the functions of the organ of mind began to be investigated with accuracy. The general opinion locates what we term "mind" in the prefrontal lobes of the brain, but by another school of thinkers the higher functions have been credited with performing our highest cerebral duties.

Russia to Found Museum.

Russia has decided to found an archaeological museum in Schlusselburg. The building is to be erected in the style of an old Christian basilica, and is to be arranged for three apartments one devoted to the Greek, one to the Roman and a third to the Byzantine periods. The whole project has been intrusted to the management of Grand Duke Alexander Mikhailovitch.

Prize Fighting Prohibited.

The Royal Academy of Lincei at Rome conferred an unusual distinction upon Signor Marconi, in awarding him, by unanimous vote, at its last meeting, a prize of the value of 14,000 lire. It was adjudged to him in token of the interest taken by the academy in the successes which wireless telegraphy has made and continues to make among Signor Marconi's work.

Cass Was Not Hopeless.

During the recent convention held in London, two of society's pet names got quarreling. One of those nasty chatterer Society journalists having heard of it, scared, and they call each other names. Say, "Well, well, I shall soon reconcile them."

Not Remunerative.

Bellville's failure to reach the population results but New York's population attracts, editor, "Is Polar Bear season Pennsylvania?" Up to date no polar explorer has made as much out of his services trade as the recipient for putting his clever skit.

One Prayer Always Answered.

A Uvalde lady met, says "St. A. P.," that he met Mr. Balfour one evening at a dinner party when the conversation turned on the importance in life of self-confidence. Mr. Balfour paused on the saying, "God give us a gift occasionally." Mr. Balfour heard it, and, bending across, added: "And that, sir, is the only prayer the gods always answer."

Should Come to America.

The tenor Scotinoff, the most eminent of Russian operatic stars, receives a salary of 24,000 a year, less than one-third of what he receives for a month's season in the United States.

Largest Building Stones.

The largest building stones ever used are found, not in Egypt, but at Baalbec, in Syria. They measure sixty feet long and twenty feet square.

—E. A. Burnett left Monday for Oregon, where he will spend the winter.

—E. E. Wilsie, of Merrill, Mich., was the guest of Geo. F. Brown over Sunday.

—Beets amounting to twenty up at the factory, and about two carloads per day are being shipped.

—A. T. Burnett & Co. are putting a new front into their building on the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets.

—Cal. Frost, the building contractor, is putting in a five-and-a-half gasoline engine at his Antrim street shop.

—Among those who will go north deer hunting this fall, are Bone Posey of Sports, Egbert Carpenter and M. J. Stockman.

—Something special! Sure thing. The Chicago Weekly Inter Ocean and this paper $1.90 for one year. Ask us what it means.

—D. J. Fraser, furniture dealer, Ayers block, made a voluntary assignment for the benefit of his creditors Tuesday. W. H. McCartney is assignee.

—Geo. Pappin and C. D. McLaughlin have formed a partnership in the general blacksmithing business and will open a shop at the old Caldwell & Louden stand.

—The chief difficulty in connection with the marketing of the last crop of beets was the fact that twenty-five loads were unloaded on the ground for want of them.

—Sam Lodedi, who formerly was a resident of Charlevoix, has decided to locate permanently here, and will open a cigar factory in the Chaloupka block, succeeding Chaloupka & Mayer.

—Mrs. Leslie Giddings was advised Saturday from Clarkston, Mich., of the death of Mr. Giddings father. Mr. Giddings, who is an engineer on the steamer Sheldis, running between Port Huron and Duluth, could not be reached by wire.

—Seven rods, or that portion of the newly established road around the Vosburg hill which lies in Charlevoix township, is being constructed by M. J. Pearson, on contract. Two hundred rods will be built by Marion this winter.

—Local owners of vessels consider the season of 1902 about over so far as making money goes. Increased wages, prices of fuel, and increased expenses generally, with no corresponding increase in freight rates, are assigned by them as a reason for this conclusion.

—The annual thanksgiving proclamation was issued Wednesday by President Roosevelt. It notes that the people of the United States have more to be thankful for during the past year than and any other people. The day set apart for the observance is Thursday, November 27.

—The matter of establishing a U. S. fish hatchery at Charlevoix has been settled, and work will be commenced early in the spring. It will be located either on the life-saving station grounds, or on city property near the power house—just where has not yet been definitely determined.

—In the notice, last week, of the marriage at Norwood, last week, we stated that the bride was a daughter of Supervisor Wagner. Mrs Wagner was a sister of the Norwood official. Supervisor Wagner has the finest two daughters in Northern Michigan, but they are not of marriageable age.

—At the Baptist church, on Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. T. B. Hughes, will preach a special sermon to those who have been recently converted in the union revival meetings. There will be opportunity for thanksgiving and testimony. The male quartette will sing and other special music will be provided. The Knights and the Captain will sing solos. All are cordially invited to attend.

—The schooner Maine arrived at Ogdensburg last Friday with a cargo of coal.

—Mrs. Jerome Graves and her daughter Grace left today for Ann Arbor, where they will reside.

—Henry Hoffman has established a junk shop in Charlevoix. See his ad. in this issue.

—A. H. Caldwell, formerly of Charlevoix, but now of Grand Rapids, was in town yesterday.

—Hon. G. T. Stout will hold services at the Episcopal church Monday evening, Nov. 3d. All are invited.

—The schooner Wolverine was sold under the hammer at Milwaukee by the United States marshal on Saturday and sold to by Wm Schlosser for $375.

—There is a great amount of farm and garden news in the Chicago Weekly Inter Ocean, besides all the telegraph and cable news of the world at large. $1.90 pays for both the Inter Ocean and this paper for one year. Special deal? Well, we should say so.

—Manistee Herald: Dr. G. W. Hosmer has sold out his practice to Dr. P. H. Bacon, of Grand Rapids, who will take immediate possession. Dr. Hanna comes well recommended and will no doubt prove an efficient addition to our corps of physicians. Dr. Hosmer has not yet decided where he will locate.

—Captain Fountain and his crew of life savers are continuing the splendid work of landscape improvement down at the station grounds. The hill is being terraced and sodded, and the trees and shrubbery cleaned out. Next summer Captain Fountain hopes to complete the work, and it will be a credit to him, the village and the government.

—It is very noticeable says Menominee fishermen, that whitefish along the west shores of Green Bay have almost disappeared. There were very few caught this year, while five years ago there were many caught every season. The government plants hundreds of thousands in the bay every year, but as they develop they go out into the colder waters of the lakes.

—A St. Joseph special of last Saturday says: Third wave fleet, so plentiful as they are at the present time, 15 miles southeast of here. On Thursday the tug Edward K. lifted 4,500 pounds of lake trout. Yesterday Mulhagan Bros., owners of the tug Lloyd M., lifted 7,420 pounds. Will find at 35 cents on the Chicago market the Lloyd M's cargo was valued at $408.38.

—Petoskey Democrat: W. L. Cartwright is once more in his old berth of chief clerk at the Cushman House. Mr. Cartwright has been with the Hotel Eaton at Charlevoix for the past two years, and was this summer engaged in business at that place. Knowing his ability from years of experience, Mr. Cushman lost no time in engaging Mr. Cartwright's services, when he found him at liberty.

—City engineer Williams, of Petoskey, established the levels for the main Bridge street sewer Tuesday. The sewer will be laid through the middle of the street, with side connections to the curbs every twenty-five feet. That portion between Clinton street and the river will be laid about sixteen feet deep. This depth is necessary to take all sewage to the river, and to secure proper grade. Bonds on lateral sewers hereafter to be laid, superintendent Weston expects to begin work next week.

—The Charlevoix Sugar Co's beets come in hardly down at Saginaw, according to the following special taken from a Detroit paper: "Frequent fall rains have done much damage to the tight crop of sugar beets in the Saginaw valley. Many fields are under water and the beets are going to decay. Some farmers have quantities of beets pulled, but cannot reach the factories on account of the roads. The plant of the Saginaw Sugar Co. has been forced to suspend operations, owing to the fact that all the beets on hand have been ruin through. The company intends to resume operations in about two weeks."

—Last week the freshmen and sophomores at the Agricultural College got tangled up in a class rush, and seventeen of the boys were expelled. Thereupon every student in the college struck, demanding the reinstatement of their fellows. All classes at the college are suspended. The boys seem to be in the right, and it is thought that the state board will adjust matters in their favor. Charlevoix boys at the college are Sam Hines, Arne Cameron, Howard Francis, James Wilkinson and Will Gagnon.

HALLELUJAH WEDDING.

Salvation Army Nuptials to be Celebrated Here on November 6th.

The Salvation Army believes in utilizing all terms and all opportunities for the furtherance of the cause, and hence "Hallelujah Weddings" have become quite common in the Army, according during the progress of their evangelistic work wherever they are continued.

Ensign Bernard's little detachment here, after a three weeks' campaign will celebrate a "Hallelujah Wedding" at the M. E. church, on Thursday evening, Nov. 6th, and the event will be made the occasion of a gathering of the forces now engaged in

BRIGADIER B. B. COX.

Northern Michigan, as well as several officers or distinction from points distant points.

The soldiers who are to be united in holy wedlock are Captain Ford Talbot, of Ensign Bernard's Charlevoix force, and Captain Johnson, who has charge of the work at Charlotte. The ceremony will be performed by Brigadier Blanche Cox, who has oversight of the work in Michigan and Indiana. Brigadier Cox will be accompanied by Staff Captain Edith Yoder, of Detroit, and Chief Joseph Keating, of Gaylord. The forces stationed at Petoskey will be here on special train.

Admission will be charged,—25 cents general admission, and 50 cents for reserved seats.

The revival work will continue here for probably a week after the wedding.

The Deer Slayers.

The following Charlevoix deer hunters will leave on the steamer Illinois Sunday for the northern peninsula hunting grounds: E. H. Shawley, B. Carpenter, Frank Cotton, M. J. Stockman, Lee Howtam, Frank, Gus and Ed. Chaloupka, Geo. Pappin, Wm. Conway, Jas. Richards, Wm. Rice, Henry Dixon, J. P. Partridge.

Another bunch goes next week.

The Harvard Flowing Match.

The annual Grange Flowing Match came off on the 23d with its usual interest and success. Everybody seemed anxious to do their best to make it a pleasant occasion.

The dinner was served by the ladies of the Grange and their lady friends in a manner that was a credit to any neighborhood, at the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trimble. A good delegation of the sisters of the Marion Center Grange looped in the work.

The business men of Charlevoix were very generous with their prizes for the plow-men, and they turned out in force and helped their boys to cheer for their country cousins.

The proceeds of the day were $44.05. A list of prize winners are given below:

Annual Grange Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Charlevoix County Pomona Grange will be held with Ironton Grange on Thursday, Nov. 6th, 1902, and be called to order at 10:00 a. m.

It is hoped that there will be a large attendance as the officers for the ensuing year are to be elected and installed, and the business of the year closed up.

Brother A. E. Palmer, of the State Grange, will be with us and give a talk on Grange Fire Insurance and other Grange topics.

On Friday morning at 10 o'clock the school teachers of the county will be present and the organization of a Patrons and Teachers Association will be completed.

The question of Rural High Schools will be discussed by brother Palmer, Conn, Chase and others.

C. H. Dewey, A. E. Meggison Walter Murphy and Miss Mary Simonson will give talks along the line of Centralization of Rural Schools, and securing Agriculture in Rural schools.

The talks will be interspersed with song, instrumental music, and recitations. All patrons and brothers are expected to be at Ironton Friday.

A STORY OF

Modern American Life

CHAPTER XXII.

Several months later, on a sunny morning in December, a man of big frame knocked on a cottage whereof dormer sweep up to the platform in front of an Eastover Junction mill. Mr. Hungy prepared to descend. It was some time before, by dint of much knocking and fair the nine occupants of the cottage were astir.

Four heads of bushy, unkempt hair appeared in the dormer windows.

Hungry stood the unmoving, but flat-footed, sweep of the dormer. Then he shouted: "Are you the three Guess twins? Or are you the seven Guess twins?"

A soft, dulcitonic voice, with a drawl in it, replied: "Neither. We're the Guess twins, and we're twelve in family."

"Well, I'm Mr. Hungry, Hungry's my name, and I've come to take you to your new home."

"Not here?" Hungry queried.

"Why, Mr. Hungry, we don't know what we're here for, we don't know what we're here for, we don't know what we're here for."

"Well, I don't know, either, but I've got my orders to take you to your new home."

"Mr. Hungry, we don't know what we're here for, we don't know what we're here for, we don't know what we're here for."

"Why, don't you come home?"

"Oh, I don't know, I don't know if we'll be any hurry. I doesn't heard a word from you in ya, all the time I've been here, either from my aunt."

"Hardly! Hardly! I've about to ask if Mrs. Tarwater didn't written. Then suddenly from the direction of Eastover, where the gone over the day-and the sunshine, a voice called: "Hungry!"

"Hungry! Hungry! Hungry!" Carrying it, asked.

"Well, you ourselves, you know be expected to his brother's little."

"I said it is no fit place, sure."

"How long have you been in America?" Hungry asked.

"Six weeks."

Hungry read Hugh journeys. There was a change about him that struck Hugh. The laugh had left his face, the twinkle in his eyes.

"Yes," Hungry answered: "they're out to the plantation. I'll drive you there, if you care, since we're half a mile."

Under an elm beside Carrington mansion, at "Home" where the Carrington pillars stood of your way to college a friend—or are you graduating, Mr. Hugh?"

Hungry paused in a self-satisfied way, with Chilmonger Plantation last year, and as I was saying, Mr. Hugh, Chilmonger through the woods."

Since 1898 the United States has taken a prominent stand in the markets of Europe and also the east. It may be possible that a protective tariff is a message and an injury to the country, but it must have had some influence in making possible the above fact, and that certainly is reason enough not to have it wiped out by a reformedy hand.

Nothing should be taken for granted this year. It is your duty to put shoulder well at the proposition to compliment prosperity to come out and vote early on November 4, bring a neighbor along too. Every vote cast for a Republican Congressman is an endorsement of the splendid methods of President McKinley.

It is entirely safe to say, that no matter what is the chaste made by the democrats there will always be a tariff high enough to protect our home market and safeguard the workingmen. Remember that a Democratic Congress will bring free trade and that means hunger and distress.

There is little danger now from the condition of apathy which threatened to crack hard in the Republican camp at the beginning of the campaign. Things have livened up to such an extent that confidence has entirely returned and republican money is begging at odds of 3 to 1.

Did you ever reflect that when you cast your ballot for a Republican Congressman on November 4 you are indorsing the policy of civilization in the Philippines and helping to make bright the future of benighted millions?

While the Democratic orators are making the statement that the cost of living is higher than ever, they do not state in this connection that the chances of obtaining employment are greater than ever before in history. Is this not an evidence of prosperity?

Those who are prone to sit still and let well enough alone should remember that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. A change of administration would knock the bottom out of prosperity and we would again have the days of hunger upon us.

While a Democratic success in the coming election would not result in any particular legislation, the uncertainty of it will would mean a death blow to prosperity. It is your duty to vote for a Republican Congressman and avoid the situation.

Having tuned in getting out from the distressing coal strike, the Democratic party will now turn their attention to yelling calamity. But everybody has heard the song of the boy who foolishly yelled wolf, when there was no wolf cause.

Disaster can find no proper shelter place in a land where there is peace and plenty. That is why the Democrats will be futile in their efforts to elect a majority of the House of Representatives.

The total value of our manufactured product in 1900 was more than $13,000,000,000 and only about $900,000,000 of it was exported leaving more than $12,500,000,000 of it to be consumed at home. The farmer who pays the bills of high prices for food products are the last customers the factories have. It won't help anybody but the foreigner to change the tariff policy because prices of meat and butter and sugar are higher. We can't get three products elsewhere even if we do break down the protection to our manufacturers and let the farmer buy English and German manufactured products instead of our own.

More than 95 per cent of our commerce is at home, with our own people, an exchange of products among the producers of different agricultural and manufactured products. This commerce is not affected by the tariff, as trade between the States is absolutely free. By protecting this home commerce from the invasion of European manufactures with a tariff which compels importations to pay a large share of our revenue, it has become the marvel of the world. Protection has built home commerce until we have become not only the greatest producers, but the greatest consumers in the world. The American market is the market sought by the foreigner as well as by our own manufacturers. The protective tariff keep this market for our own manufacturers and the labor they employ. Free trade would open this market to the European manufacturer on equal terms with our own. High prices of food products is an incident of prosperity and great consumption. The tariff does not effect the price of food products, because this country produces the food products not only of our own people, but also of Europe.

There is one comfortable reflection for the democrats in the campaign about to close and that is there have been no dark days of disaster yet. It has been a gospel of hope campaign, and this is one that always wins because it is popular.

Remember that President Roosevelt declared recently that the tariff is a business and not a party question. These words need no comment. Business men and should go far towards shaping public judgment.

TWO WAYS TO DO IT

THE PROPER FOREIGN CURE FOR TRUST EVILS.

Tariff Reduction Would Make Our Country Dumping Ground for the Surplus Production of Cheap Labor in Other Countries.

A common charge against the "trusts" is that they deliberately dump their surplus products upon foreign countries at any price attainable while keeping up prices at home. That is probably true of the trusts, for it is time of every manufacturing concern, big or little, which ever produced a surplus in this or any country. It is one of our farmers who secure from all railroad companies lower freights on grain and meat destined for export than on that to be consumed at home; while the avowed intent to dump our surplus on other countries. When our tariff extras freight rates are made to answer the purpose. The Pacific coast is and always has been a demanding ground for every manufacturer in America. A St. Louis manufacturer, if he has a surplus, will sell it to the Pacific coast, or Europe, for a price cheaper than he would sell it into the territory on which he relies for his home support. So we only answer that the trusts, in this respect, adhere to the practice which has obtained in all countries since international trade existed—as any other trade, for that matter. The main objects of protection seem to be to keep labor employed during periods of depression. In this employers are influenced partly by the motive to keep a trained force together and to keep their machinery going, and here, very largely by feelings of humanity. At any rate, the production of surpluses in America does give employment to a vast number of Americans who would otherwise be idle. All nations compete with each other in the production of surpluses—nearly always at less than home cost. It is not in any sense peculiar to the "trusts."

Now there are two ways of dealing with surpluses entering from foreign countries. One way is to encourage them to come in, which speedily shuts up the home industries and the smaller first of all—because no industry can compete with goods sold at cost or less, and nearly all international trade has come to be on surplus. This is the method which free trade Democratic centre on to adopt, and they are seeking to divert the popular prejudice against trusts, against a trade practice which existed before trusts were heard of and will continue to exist after they are dissolved, and would exist just the same if there were neither trusts nor customers. The other way is that proposed by German statesmen, and likely to be followed by all Europe—to keep surpluses out by a tariff tariff. That, in the end of crises, we propose for the Brussels sugar conference. It is therefore no question of getting out from now the American copper trust but a question which it is coming on any foreign market which will receive it. But German statesmen won't have it. Although German producers had about exhausted the supply which she uses, her people are determined that German mines shall not be closed down by American copper sold in those markets at less than cost of production. A committee of 22 Reichstag has actually proposed a duty on raw copper, which will apparently be adopted. Germany thinks it more profitable to keep her own people employed than to let cheap American copper at the cost of the idleness of a portion of her own people. It is to our interest that she should do so. If our trust smelters are kept out of foreign countries they must be sold at home, which will reduce the price of all copper in this country. The Republican policy is one that of Germany—protect our industries—trusts and all—assess the labor of the surpluses of foreign lands sent here at less than cost. The Democratic policy is to invite these surpluses and close down our own works. It is for the American people to choose between them—San Francisco Chronicle.

Not a Door Knob, a Real Live Egg.

Watterson Would Scottle.

Henry Watterson is now a "scottler." Next to Edward Atkinson and Brother Bryan he is at the head of the procession of those who would get out of the Philippines. Not long since he was whooping it up to shy, he would have American ideas and civilization go hand in hand to redeem the natives from the bondage of barbarism. He inclosed the shekinah of liberty, and went even further than Mcsliney in saying that the far to lose flying. He was characteristically generous in his patriotism and nationism, and the attitude he assumed was admirably suited to his figure and profile. But now he thinks it wants to get out, and not be particular as to the method either. He would have us find a small hole somewhere and crawl through it. Mr. Watterson is supposedly trying to get in line for what Democratic national convention will declare for. It is not principle with him this time nearly so much as it is expediency.—Grand Haven Herald.

Commissioners' Annual Report Gives Statistics to Report in Number of Foreigners Coming to United States—Vessel Wrecked on Michigan Coast.

The annual report of the commissioner of immigration has been issued. It shows that of the 648,743 immigrants who arrived in the United States during the fiscal year 189,993 were males and 458,750 females. Of the total number of arrivals there were 584,173 by steamers, 64,279 over the borders of British North America, 121,282 by steamer at Mexican ports, 1,009 by steamer at Pacific ports. Most European countries showed an increase but there was a falling off in the arrivals from Ireland, Germany, Italy, Russia, Finland, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Spain, Portugal, Turkey, Asia, Africa, Australia, Scotland, Wales, Scandinavia, Turkey in Europe, Asia, Turkey in

The Farmers and the Sugar Factory.

The Charlevoix Sugar Co. have notified farmers growing beets for them that not being able to compete the sugar factory in time to work up the crop, they contemplated to ship the beets to other factories. After that they cannot make the test called for in their contracts but instead will take the beets at a flat rate of $5 a ton. This is a disappointment to the farmers, who, from long experience make expected, under the terms of the contract to have contained between 16 and 17 per ton. We have that a meeting of the farmers interested was held at Charlevoix yesterday, and with wind blowing from that direction a distinctively warm wave swept over the county.—East Jordan Enterprise.

Just half the first half of the above is true. That portion of the hope of the farmers to realize between $6.00 and $7.00 per ton, could only have in justification in phenomenal yields and phenomenal analysis. As to a meeting of farmers being held in Charlevoix, nobody in Charlevoix knows anything about it.

Now as between the farmers and the sugar factory, of any other factory, the SENTINEL is with the farmers; but let us reason together.

When the general was in Charlevoix for the consideration of the Charlevoix Sugar Factory, the company entertained well grounded hopes that the plant would be ready to make sugar the coming winter. But many misfortunes occurred, which have been before referred to in these columns, that frustrated those plans. Attention was at once directed toward carrying out contracts with farmers.

The contracts provide for a payment of $4.50 per ton enhanced, and 50 per cent additional for every one per cent of sugar over 12 per cent, as determined by analysis. Thus, an analysis of 14 per cent would give the grower $6.50, and a little over per ton for his beets.

Last year, while there were some tests that went above that, 14 per cent was the average in Michigan. With an acute realization of conditions, and the necessity of dealing squarely and fairly with the farmers, the company decided to make a clean sweep with the sugar crop where by our growers should realize $7.00 per ton straight. This was deemed fair and equitable.

The farmers should not lose sight of this fact. The Charlevoix Sugar Co. is the beneficiary in the matter. The situation is very regrettable, but it cannot be helped. The sugar company had that the farmers should consider all the difficulties that have placed themselves in the way of the project—difficulties in no way reflect on the integrity or good faith of the company—and be generous in their judgments.

The plant is one in which all, and especially the farmers, are vitally interested. This year's crop of beets does not compass the success or failure of farmer or factory. There is a future for both, and great possibilities for both.

Therefore, we believe that the farmer and the sugar factory should meet each other half way, in view of existing conditions, and look forward to a grand fruition of the hopes of both.

The first shipment of Angora goats for the W. H. White Co. arrived at Boyne City Monday. It consisted of 101 rams and ewes, of fine blooded stock. More will follow with the results of the experiment are watched. The rolling nature of the country and the fine flowing lands are highly suitable for such a venture. Mr. White's success in fattening 300 head of western cattle during this summer has opened the way for the Angora goat. There is no doubt in the minds of many that northern Michigan will have a prominent position in the cattle industry from its fine advantages.

Promoter Burand of the Alpena, Gaylord & Western railroad states that the road is as assured thing as he has been entitled by the Gustavus Bond Co., of Detroit, that they are ready to proceed with the execution and filing of the first mortgage, printing of bonds and converting $500,000 worth of bonds into cash as soon as the maps are filed. The papers and maps, he states, will all be completed this fall and winter and work will be begun early in the spring. The first section of the road to be built will be between Elk Rapids and Gaylord, and if nothing interferes it will be finished in time to accommodate passenger service by the existing season next year.

According to statements of old hunters who have been out in the woods this fall after partridge, deer are more plentiful in the upper peninsula than ever. Big game is said to be especially plentiful along the Ontonagon river. Farmers near Bessemer report whole fields of cabbage and turnips destroyed by deer, and kick because they have no protection against the animals, claiming that if they shoot them they will be prosecuted. The season does not open until November 1, but from the number of deer carcasses already taken out the slaughter this year will be as great as ever. Many parties are already establishing camps in anticipation of the Thirty-second.

An Important Amendment.

The legislature of 1899 placed Michigan in the van with three other States by the enactment of a law strongly favored by the most advanced students of penology, one recommended by scandals of penitentiaries, and one which many of the circuit judges of the state promptly availed themselves of. The Indeterminate Sentence Act.

In November, 1901, after two years of successful operation of the law, in opinion, in which four of the judges of the supreme court concurred, declared the law unconstitutional. Judge Grant, who had made a careful study of the subject, held that it was constitutional, and a wise and most beneficial one.

Since Michigan's law was thus nullified some twelve other States have enacted indeterminate sentence laws, and are sentencing their convicts under them with most satisfactory results. Michigan, usually at the front in all advanced movements, is now lagging far behind even much younger States, because of the inability of her courts to sentence convicts, in wise is considered by all advanced thinkers on the subject, the only rational way.

The Michigan legislature of 1901 has placed it in the power of the people of the State to correct a blunder by the adoption by the legislature of a joint resolution (No. 11) proposing to amend the constitution, thus empowering the legislature to enact a law imposing indeterminate sentences, so called, as a punishment for crime, and what said constitutional amendment shall be submitted to the people at the general election to be held in November, 1902. It certainly is unwise seem that every voter as he deposits his ballot at the November election should ask himself if he will grant to again place his State among the number of sister states who are in the lead in what pertains for dealing with convicts, by voting "yes" on this amendment.

BALLOONING AS A CURE.

French Doctor Says Tonic Effects Are Astonishing.

Dr. Nauglier, of Paris, in a paper read at a recent meeting of the Academy of Medicine, made astonishing claims as to the tonic and blood forming effects of balloon ascensions. A two-hours voyage in the air, he declared, causes a marked increase in the number of the red corpuscles, and the condition persists for ten days after an ascension. Five such ascensions, he said, are more beneficial to an anemic than a sojourn of three months in the mountains. The good effect begins to be felt almost immediately, and a lengthened stay in the air is of no value, and in the case of many is even actually detrimental causing nervous irritation.

Dr. Nauglier urged that the municipal council be asked to provide a large balloon capable of taking to the upper air daily fifty patients who are too poor to afford a change of climate.—New York Medical Record.

Second Cousin Sarah

BY THE AUTHOR OF "BEAUTY JONES," "PRUDENTIA," "LITTLE MISS BINKEY," ETC., ETC.

CHAPTER I

It was pretty warm down in Wall Street, though the Men of the Place to which all such cases are already were all gone, and it was so late getting the mail ready, that, assuming that the clerks, and all rats, and latter and winter, were still in the secondary, and that there was not a glimpse of sunshine from Noah's end to which end Jones had long hitched his mare, had gone home, and gone already to the Land of the Harvest. It was a world that shut up by the 4th of July and waited for a change. Women-folks talked up at the banks the story that about their heads and said "more-n-n" and the wet spare desire so thought they had asked for enough and not the except from those benefits of the Lemon Squeezer of course.

It had been raining all day on the top; just as it had rained the day before, and the day before that, and the day by day at ten o'clock in the evening it so rained that it was a question if it would not last quarantined, and the wind had blowed out, and the rain had fallen on the dark night—a dismal night. Wonderful for the time of year, and yet not so very unusual, for it was the 4th of July.

The rain was not violent, to save time anyone of the Men of the Place, but it was the kind that had been doing away time on the Island, and was doing it in a manner into the outlooking. The tree glistened at his door, and the leaves had grown.

"No, I'm not ready for you, my man."

"No, I'm not," said the fourth with alacrity. "I'm very strong; I have been sitting in a draught, and I'm very much afraid, sir, that I'm not well."

"Well, I'm very sorry, I'm very sorry," said the Man of the Place, and he was sorry.

"And I'm very sorry, too, sir, I'm very sorry."

"Well, I'm very sorry, I'm very sorry, I'm very sorry."

MONKEYS ARE POOR THROWERS

Travelers Claim They Are Unable to Aim with Accuracy.

An explanation of the origin of stories which attribute to monkeys the power of throwing stones may be found in the account of their habits given by trained and competent observers. Mr. James Brooks says, with reference to the animal that he named Macaque, the greatest attempt at destruction and the most wicked mischief (either alone or in a gang) he has known to be committed by a "troop of monkeys" seemed to be a mischievous spirit.

Mr. Wallace, when talking of the wanderoo, declares that he has seen this black-faced species throw down upon him from the branches of trees, not cocoanuts, but nuts, twigs, and even (literally) dung, for it is evident that a bough cannot be thrown to any distance from the top of a lofty tree.

In one case a female ape, on a durian tree, kept up for at least two minutes a continuous shower of branches and of the leaves opposite fruits as large as thirteen-pounders, which most effectually kept no clear of the place in which the dog could be seen crouching when he was at last obliged to retreat. Mr. Wallace, when at Ternate, offering in jest a young pomegranate, and evidently meaning mischief.

NEW KIND OF FAIR FAKIRS

Egg Throwing Contest Met With Crowds Appreciation.

Hunnewell, Pa., has had a novelty fair recently. That it should be not an unusual event in this little unpronounceable burg, since it has the fair habit, but one of its methods of entertaining the crowds was original, to say the least.

At noontime Ozzy Izzard, and made a big hit—in fact, several of them; for it consisted of an egg throwing contest, which was conducted on strictly primitive lines, and the regulation implements were of Adamsian simplicity.

The apparatus consisted of a pile of straw on one side of the street behind this was a framework of poles, upon which was stretched a canvas with a circular hole in it. Through this aperture the busy marks, an Italian, whose facial geography was exceedingly indentureting, thrust his head as a target for the unusually numerous fruit in all stages of novel transit toward children.

The primary sum of five cents for three throws was thought for the time the joint thought fad vacation, and almost one dime, the canvas, with its physiognomical decoration, grew in resemblance from a sieve in the Also to a dozen Moll Pitcers and a dodge thrown in.

The street was sticky with eggs, the Italian gentleman was drowned in omelettes sufficient to make the street thickened. So did the fair ditto the eggs. So great a drawing card did the novelty prove, that the fair ditto had the pleine were required to clean out the street. And afterward the city fathers were needed by a body to clean out the streets.

But the importation from sunny Italy lead to the sensation of the day, and the fair dollars which undoubtedly was of great assistance in cleaning up the fair.

WHERE GO THE BIBLES?

More Copies Are Sold Annually Than of Any Other Book.

Along with all else that about the modern book, an Antiquarian who, has been and all the depleting of the all legal fact by scholars and preachers and officers and with the constant reference which are not that the Bibles tion has a sentimental basis, there comes the assertion that more copies of the Bible are sold annually than of any other book that is printed. Want because of all of these? Five quarters of one-thousand book stores know that few Bibles are to be found on their shelves, and what do appear are chiefly of curious old copies, many of which are held at a good price. It is hardly profitable to buy Bibles for use for wrapping wares and it is not probable that the expenditure of the book are purchasing copies for the sake of supplanting them. Yet in spite of all the Bibles that are sold and paid for, it is scarcely possible to find a person, except the less professional students of the book, who know much about what there is in it. The supposition must be that most of those buyers procure it because they think it is a good thing for the protection of the house.—New Bedford Standard.

OLD HABIT TOO STRONG.

Pent-Up Enthusiasm Had to Find an Outlet.

Congressman Jones of the state of Washington tells this "amen" story: A brilliant theological student had been invited to come and preach on a candidate. Brother Silas Smith was asked for an invitation to keep the audience awake by shouting "amen" about every an other. Some of the members thought this might disconcert the preacher, so one of the members offered him a new pair of boots, if he would refrain from shouting "amen" that day. Silas agreed. But towards the end of his discourse the student warm a little too enraptured for Silas who shouted "Amen! Boots I'll be there sure!"

SHOW GARDNER NEW STROKE

Japanese Rowing Crew Astonishes Competitors in Regatta.

At the Royal Henley had yesterday, a little three-man shell was in the war canoes, in which a long crew from the Japanese warship Takasago was among the competitors. The novelty was resented by the eight and sixteen-oarsmen affected by them. This is the way, you do it, according to some observations found on at the beginning of the stroke, the four blades are dipped in unison, and then drop suddenly backward—why? Some in the air something will point why backwards to the boat then it is know forward, well and good if we go on dragging backward in the same way till it does. The Japs claim it turns, as from an paint, which seems to show that there is something in the Takasago style after all.—St. James Gazette.

American Farms.

Approximately the earnings of the five and twenty-five million farms of the United States was, for 1902, five and one-fifth billion dollars, says the Review of Reviews. This is one-fifth or one-fifth of the total income of the farms, as also other line in their history, the products of the farms for sale sold for $4,720,118,102. The cereals were more, are almost equal to the crop of 1899. This year, the cotton bumper crop, corn and several hundred-million fold of sixers in excess of three years ago were placed on the market. And one should also remember that the number of farms is continually increasing at a rate of from 15,000 to 40,000 annually.

Mother at Her Country.

Six men held the title of "Father of His Country" before Washington. Few seem to know that there was a "Mother of Her Country." She was Maria Theresa, the great Empress of Austria. It is said she made only one mistake in the course of her reign—consenting to the partition of Poland. On the edge of the document given her to sign she wrote: "I consent because so many great and learned men will have it so, but after I am dead and gone people will see the consequence of thus breaking through all that has hitherto been holy and justified daughter was the unhappy Marie Antoinette.

Ancient Banking House.

Dr. A. T. Ely, formerly a pupil and now assistant of Prof. Hermann V. Hilprecht, the world's leading authority on Babylonian antiquities, has been at work several months deciphering and arranging the records of the banking firm of Murashu Sons, which was the leading banking house of the city of Nippur, in Babylonia, several hundred years before Christ, says the Dry Goods Bulletin. Nippur, buried in a form very similar to that in use in the present age, wills, deed of sale or rent, merchants' guarantees of goods sold in the markets, and other business dealings of almost every conceivable kind are found among them.

The Duty of Marriage.

Nothing great is achieved by a life of skeptical ease. It is the strenuous man who wins and nothing is so well calculated as married life to make a man strenuous, says the Ladies' Home Run. To no man comes the fruition of all the virtues equally with him who brings carrie to and fro the wakeful and vociferous infant in the wee hours of the night. It is every where acknowledged that nothing so well develops one's physical and intellectual strength as trying to make a living for a growing family.

McKinley's Niece a Financier.

Margaret McKinley, niece of the late president and daughter of Abner McKinley, is a circle in the national bank at Oklahoma City and has made a small fortune in real estate speculation. Miss McKinley has been in her present position for several years. She began her real estate operations by buying city lots, for which she paid $1 apiece. The property was located in what now became a prominent business section and the young woman's profits are said to have accrued $40,000.

NEW KIND OF FAIR FAKIRS

Egg Throwing Contest Met With Crowds Appreciation.

Hunnewell, Pa., has had a novelty fair recently. That it should be not an unusual event in this little unpronounceable burg, since it has the fair habit, but one of its methods of entertaining the crowds was original, to say the least.

At noontime Ozzy Izzard, and made a big hit—in fact, several of them; for it consisted of an egg throwing contest, which was conducted on strictly primitive lines, and the regulation implements were of Adamsian simplicity.

The apparatus consisted of a pile of straw on one side of the street behind this was a framework of poles, upon which was stretched a canvas with a circular hole in it. Through this aperture the busy marks, an Italian, whose facial geography was exceedingly indentureting, thrust his head as a target for the unusually numerous fruit in all stages of novel transit toward children.

The primary sum of five cents for three throws was thought for the time the joint thought fad vacation, and almost one dime, the canvas, with its physiognomical decoration, grew in resemblance from a sieve in the Also to a dozen Moll Pitcers and a dodge thrown in.

The street was sticky with eggs, the Italian gentleman was drowned in omelettes sufficient to make the street thickened. So did the fair ditto the eggs. So great a drawing card did the novelty prove, that the fair ditto had the pleine were required to clean out the street. And afterward the city fathers were needed by a body to clean out the streets.

But the importation from sunny Italy lead to the sensation of the day, and the fair dollars which undoubtedly was of great assistance in cleaning up the fair.

MUST MOVE A WHOLE TOWN

Old Mission Camp in the Cities of Alaska Is to Be Destroyed.

Nome is to be within the coming winter, Hulda Blake, one of the oldest and most popular women in the Nome and Alaska, has made a short stirring in the town, has to be moved. Hulda Blake's cabin, which for years has been occupied by Mr. Blake and family, is located on the Nome creek, and is one of the old mission camp on the east portion of the town, and it has stood on it for that cause of about be wanted. The work of removing the house already has begun, and it is said that it will have been moved. Nearly all the buildings were of small value at time of the move back in the mining but now most of them are quite valuable. Some of them are being moved recently and those will likewise be moved to the mission.

THE LANGUAGE OF DAGGBALL

Fearful and Wonderful Description of the National Game.

Four with two bases and Hogan parades!

Hogan is the pitcher in the outer most part proper in a bunch, and Hogan parades, which means that Hogan gets insane blade.

Jones again stops Hogan's Smith's homer to his garden, but fails to force it to indoor Hogan's extremities, and the rubber.

Donovan lobbed a sulfuric to his pants, smashed a bunch, but his death pulverizing, a base. Dunning made three frantic lunges at the sacred, and Hoff's audition well for the inside down the trail to the dirtier sphere.

Daly's stunning grasper to right broke innumerable double fences.

Davis dunked safely to inbound, and Brown's early return of the gift was contributed to Hogan's home at the plate.—Kansas City Independent.

Pretty Story From Russia.

One day an elegant-looking man, begged an alms at a Russian capital of a very poor and poverty-looking passenger. At that moment a general—and it must be remembered that in Russia a general is a very great personage—with his pretty young wife, came upon the scene. Then I will give you five rubles," said the passenger to the beggar, "on condition that you give this young lady a kiss. The beggar was straight to the lady, fell upon his knees and kissed the hem of her dress. The astonished and then, getting her husband's permission, held out her cheek for him to kiss.

Pretty Unique Binding.

A curious collection of books is contained in the library of Warwickshire, near Chester, in Germany. The books appear at first sight to be logs of wood, but each volume is really a complete library of the tree it represents. Each leaf contains a page, and shows the bark, in which a small place is cut to write the scientific and common name as a title. One side shows the trunk in its natural state and the other is polished and varnished, because also shows the leaves, fruit, flower and insect specimen, on which is set a brief description of the tree and its uses.

Guns of the Shah of Persia.

It is now generally known that the Shah of Persia has four sons now in Europe, receiving their education. They are noble and intelligent, with a knowledge of English which shows they desire an opinion, such is their fear of their cousin, the Czar. The latter was not in favor with his father. Nasser ed Din, who was assassinated in 1896. Until his accession he was governor of a distant province. The princes until recently were kept in the harem with their father's numerous wives.

INDIANS RUN AMUCK.

BRAVES OFF RESERVATIONS IN SOUTH DAKOTA.

Thirty Six Prairie Fires, Killing Game and Ponies, and Bits Capture by Warders and Posse of Police Force Since Monday Last.

Indians are running amuck recently in the country on the Rosebud and Pine Ridge Indian reservations. Thirty-six prairie fires have been started by the Indians since Monday last, and the authorities are in fear that the Indians will make a general outbreak from the reservation and shooting up the country. Indians have been in the Rosebud country for the purpose of procuring game, and the prairie fire started by the Indians may be the result of a desire to drive the game out of sight. Two Indians have been killed by the posse of police since Monday last, and the Indians have been driven back into the reservation. The Indians are said to be armed with rifles and have plenty of ammunition. The Indians are said to be very bitter against the whites, and it is feared that they may make a general outbreak if they are not driven back into the reservation.

PILIPINO COMES TO PLEAD.

Native are Graduate of Oxford is on the Way to Washington.

Kilinon Reyes Luis, a native Pilipino, graduate of Oxford, and educated American, has arrived in San Francisco on his way from Manila to Washington to tell something of the need of the Pilipinos. "Inquisitive is much used for the Pilipinos," said Luis when seen at his hotel. He was Fusionist and a stable citizen. He cannot decide with the Nationalists being a good standard of money. In the old days silver was generally used, then bartter in much as gold and at the same time for the Spanish dollar and it is a silver currency though the government is making all its payments in gold and money, being $2.31 for every peso. The Pilipinos are not ready when I was there to govern themselves. There is no unity of action. There is no unity of thought. There is no unity of feeling. There is no unity of purpose. There is no unity in anything it seems to me. Aguinaldo is a good man, but he was notable only for the fighting days of his life. He is a very uneducated man. He makes a good man, but not a good ruler.

BOY HANGED BY PLAYMATES.

Thought Hanging of "Show Novel" Club Met Fatte Thus.

Thought hanging of "Show Novel" club met one of Charles F. Hudson's six sons, grandson of Nathan Hudson, a prominent and respected citizen of Indianapolis, while playing hanging in the back yard of his home. The boy was found in the afternoon unconscious by his father and was pronounced dead by Coroner Frank Funnemann, who thought the death was caused by the boy's playmates, who had been playing hanging and had left the boy hanging when they left the yard. The boy was found by his father, who was in the house, and was pronounced dead by Coroner

"WE APPROVE!"

That is What the Country Said Tuesday About Roosevelt's Administration.

Gov. Bliss Receives the same Endorsement in Michigan.

GREAT REPUBLICAN VICTORIES ALL THROUGH THE NORTH.

Republicans Will Again Control the National House of Representatives

In Tuesday's elections Theodore Roosevelt and the party and policies of which he is the leader and exponent, received a most sweeping and pronounced endorsement.

By states the majorities are as follows: Pennsylvania, 300,000; Ohio, 100,000; Wis., 50,000; New York, 15,000; Iowa, 75,000; Mass., 20,000; New Hampshire, 10,000; Conn., 10,000; Mich., 60,000; Ind., 100,000; Kan., 40,000; Wash., 20,000; Minn., 20,000; Illinois, 55,000; New Jersey, 12,000.

The National House of Representatives is safely republican. In Michigan the democrats defeated Corliss in the first district, and re-elected Maybury mayor of Detroit.

Iowa, Hines' majority will reach fully 40,000, which, considering the light vote cast, is fully as great a victory as that of two years ago when his majority was 80,000.

Congressman Darrah's majority is 10,000. His own county—Gratiot—giving him 2,000 majority.

O. C. Moffatt, for Senator, received 4,000 majority.

In Charlevoix county the vote was light—only about half—but the majorities polled. The majorities by townships is given in another column in tabulated form. For representative, Mr. Paddock ran fully up to the State ticket.

There being no opposition to the county ticket, it is considered safe to say that it ran fully parallel with the state ticket.

In Michigan eleven out of the 12 congressmen elected are republicans. The state senate and state legislature will have an overwhelming majority of republicans. In the house of representatives there will be 91 republicans and 9 democrats; in the senate 32 republicans and 1 democrat.

Starving but True.

"If every one knew what a grand medicine Dr. King's New Life Pills is," writes D. H. Turner, Decorah, Iowa, "you'd sound all your halls in a day. Two weeks' use has made a new man of me. Unbearable indigestion, stomach and liver troubles, fled as if by magic." Hines & Co's drug store.

Peppio & McLaughlin, who have opened a blacksmith shop at the Cadwell & Louden shop, are well known in their line. Mr. McLaughlin has an established reputation as a horseshoer, while Mr. Peppio has a record as an all around workman.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Petoskey Daily News: Max Spangenberg died at his residence at Round Lake Friday evening about eight o'clock, after an illness of considerable duration.

Boyne Citizen: John Grund, of the firm of Grund, Gillett & Cunningham, Bayne and Traverse Cities, with Case and Conner of Kingsley, has purchased the hardwood mill of Guerin & Joinerville at Walloon Lake, and will, after sufficient improvements and repairs have been made, start it running for the fall and winter.

Anxiety is felt on South Manitou Island over indications that the island may suddenly be swallowed up in Lake Michigan. Capt. Ludtke, in charge of the life saving station at Sleeping Bear point, has notified his superiors at Washington that in his opinion the island will soon disappear. A boat house recently built by the life-savers on the island has dropped out of sight, and recent soundings have shown a depth of 20 feet, where formerly there was but 5 feet of water.

The first deer license issued in Charlevoix county to a woman, at least since open was moved by county Clerk Meech to Mrs. L. H. McIntosh of Clarion, who goes this fall with her husband to the headwaters of the Pigmoshnee river in the upper peninsula for the deer hunting season. Mr. McIntosh is an old hunter who has gone many day, and bear as well, and it is more than likely that Mrs. McIntosh will kill a deer before they return.

The total number of smallpox cases in the past three weeks in Boyne Falls is 19 and the total number of houses in which it has been is six, and in all but two of these houses thorough disinfection and fumigation has been carried out under the immediate supervision of the board of health. The two remaining houses have no new patients therein and will be ready, and the quarantine raised not later than Friday of this week. All cases have been very mild.

Elk Rapids Progress: The deal on the Island hotel site owned by E. S. Noble is about closed. Mr. John C. Tuck of hotel prominence is one of the parties who has been negotiating for the site and up to the present time his name has been with hold from the public. Mr. Tuck arrived in Elk Rapids Tuesday afternoon and after a conference with Mr. Noble made him a conditional offer which Mr. Noble accepted. The conditions were that local capital be secured to assist in building a first class modern hotel with a capacity for entertaining two hundred and fifty to three hundred people during the resort season and all the year around hostelry with at least fifty room capacity.

The other evening a boy went into a Petoskey meat market and bought fifteen cents worth of bacon, and started on a few line for his home. Within a minute or two the meat man noticed that the twine holder on the counter was wabbling unaccountably. "By jinks," he said, "I forgot to fetch the twine that I tied that there bacon up with." He came to the door and grabbed it, took up the stick and gave it a pull. At that instant there was a shriek in the distance. The boy had been scared out of his bacon. The meat man pulled the twine in and there was the bacon. The boy followed the bacon in fear and trembling and reached the market about the same time as the accompanying shriek, which he had thought a ghost had released out of his bacon.—Petoskey Evening News.

East Jordan Herald: An important real estate transaction was consummated Wednesday whereby Mr. D. C. Loveday secured the W. H. Porter grist mill and water power at Deer Creek a mile and a half from town. It is not yet fully decided just what will be done with the property, the plans being still incomplete. It is certain however that the dam will be raised and the water power considerably augmented. A portion of the power will be used for operating a grist mill and it is also possible that the Electric Light and Power Co's plant may be removed to that site. At all events we are satisfied that Mr. Loveday will develop the property to the great advantage of the our industrial interests.

A young lock deer came home with J. H. Lightfoot's cattle, and was so tame that Ed. Lightfoot captured it and now has it in a pen where it eats from his hand and seems to be very tame. He has written to the game warden for a permit to keep it. Mr. W. Babcock and wife were in the vicinity of the Wequetonsing tenement Sunday afternoon and evening and found Sunday afternoon pickings up bushnuts, and had their baby in a cab a short distance from them. They heard the baby wailing disappeared and were dumfounded to see a bear sitting on its haunches about ten feet from the cab. They yelled and Mr. Bruin leisurely loped off into the brush.—Harbor Springs Graphic.

A startling Surprise.

Very few would believe in looking at A. T. Hewitley, a healthy, robust blacksmith of Tilden, Ind., that for ten years he suffered, such tortures from Rheumatism as few could endure and live. But a wonderful change followed his taking Electric Bitters. "Two bottles wholly cured me," he writes, "and I have not felt a twinge in over a year." They regulate the Kidneys, purify the blood and cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervousness, improve digestion and give perfect health. Try them. Only 50c at F. O. Hines & Co's drug store.

SCHOOL COM COLUMN.

We wish the teachers would spend some time teaching the children familiarity with the authors, and their writings.

This month would be a good time to take up the life and writings of Eugene Field. Tell something of his life, his birth, where educated, first poem, his death etc.

He was the Home Christian Author of America in verse, translating the pathos and joyousness of childhood in a way that made his rhymes welcome to thousands of homes and won the hearts of parents everywhere.

He had tenfold of friends in Chicago where he lived from 1883 until his death, among whom were Dr. Isaac Taylor, Dr. Bristol, James Whitcomb Riley, Bill Nye and many others who with him formed the "Saturday Club, a club of a room in McCarty's publishing house. He was a wifely reader not a fervent lover of Horace.

Much of his work is naturalness, ephemeral, but much also is lasting and famous.

Selections from his writings will make excellent supplemental reading.

Asleep Amid Flames.

Breaking into a blazing home, some firemen lately dragged the sleeping inmates from death. Painted walls, up and down hear. It's that way when you neglect coughs and colds. Don't do it. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption gives perfect protection against all throat, chest and lung trouble. Keep it near, and avoid suffering, death and doctors' bills. A few doses will stop a bad cough. Guaranteed at Hines & Co's drug store. Handsome and also lasting, it's a pleasure to buy a bottle of Dr. King's New Life Pills. Only 25c at F. O. Hines & Co. druggist.

JUST A TRUCK DOG.

Scrawny and Dirty, but He Did His Duty Well.

He was a dirty, scrawny dog, but he maintained the dignity of his standing, or running, in fact, in dogdom. He might have been white at one time, with his black spots defined sharply, but circumstances evidently had compelled an existence that in recent years had not permitted a bath other than that provided by falling rain, and the indications were that he had not taken advantage of opportunities in that respect frequently.

He was trotting along under a truck that crossed Fulton street at a busy point on the river. He planted neither to the right nor to the left, but, kept his eye on the bend of the road in front. If he had been a coach dog he would have been under one of the great wheels, but, being a truck dog, he was under the first axle. Whether he had been trained to trot there as a protector of the tail-end of the truck from the unsecurring urchins of the street, says a writer in the New York Times, or if his ancestral tradition dropped back to a rear post into a consciousness of the difference between a coach dog and a truck dog, the chronicler knoweth not. He had a purpose, he knew his duty and he was doing it.

FIREPLACE AS A MONUMENT.

Structure Recently Erected in an Eastern Graveyard.

In the old Smith graveyard, in the town of Windham, Mass.—which contains eighty-five graves—Charles H. Hunnewell has set up an extraordinary monument, in the middle of the lot he has set up a brick case a large iron open fireplace, with the usual crane, hanging in the upper part. The fireplace and crane are made of the old Hunnewell home, which is still occupied by Mr. Hunnewell and his family, says the Rumford Journal. The old bricks in front of the fireplace are the ones originally used in the house, and are the andirons which impart to this strange monument such a—if the world is permissible in this connection—hospitable look. The frame which is inserted in this great open fireplace contains a genealogical record of eight generations of Hunnewells, or from 1634 to Nov. 1, 1901, a period of 267 years. In addition, the frame contains the surrounding the family records on all sides—portraits of some of the men, swords, guns and pouches owned by Mr. Hunnewell and which drew prizes at the fairs. There is also a large picture representing a Dutch scene in which the frame contains pictures of seven hens, two dogs, four cows, six men in seven pictures and one pretty picture of various domestic animals.

The Conjugal Paradox.

"We don't quarrel much," said one Betty, complained the young husband. "You insist on holding your own in every and every conversation about things, just as you did before we were married."

"Don't you know, dear," said the young wife, leaning over the back of his chair and smoothing the hair over his temples with her soft hand, "that we are one, and indivisible, and we are two more completely when we are one?"

And his answer was that he was almost convinced.—Chicago Tribune.

A Disappointment.

One of the Austrialian newspapers publishes the other day a preliminary notice of a man still living. The editor, forthright, blurted, on receipt of his notice, but in so doing a large truth is now made a fact. This is how he did it: "We are truly glad to learn that our dear old friend still lives."—Philadelphia Ledger.

IN THE TREASURE ROOM.

Incident That Startled Bank of England Directors.

Years ago the directors of the Bank of England were startled by an intimation sent up from the cashier's office that a burglar was secreted somewhere in the building at midnight among the money chests. "I have been inside the bank the last two nights," wrote the cashier, "but I am not a thief; so meet me in the green drawing room with all the money at 12 tonight." Though the letter was regarded as a hoax the directors were motioned, and they quaffed the strong room that night. Nothing happened. A few days later a heavy roast of papers and securities came from the strong room arrived at the bank, with a letter complaining that the directors had set the police upon the writer and that therefore he had not appeared as he promised, but to prove that he was innocent he had not a foot he sent a chest of papers he had taken from the bank. Let a few gentlemen be a time in the room and he would duck them at midnight, said the writer. This time his instructions were obeyed. There a man with a dark lantern burst into the strong room at the back at midnight, and, seeing the gentlemen, made for the directors to put them to prove that he was not a strange class of man who gained a foothold in the bank by hiding in it at night and through an opening from a sewer he had found the way into the strong room in the world.

Comparative Wealth of Cities.

In a paper on the practicability of obtaining correct ideas of the comparative wealth of cities by the rule of assessed value, an eastern expert says that in Boston real estate is assessed at about 75 virtually its selling value; among the different boroughs in New York the assessment ranges from 60 to 80 per cent of the actual value, while in Chicago they are not over fifth of the real value.

His Young Problem.

The boy was greatly troubled. "Is it true, father," he asked, "that they have sleeping pows in some states?" The father assured him that it was. "And they wake when grown people?" asked the boy. "When they deserve it," said the father. "Well," asserted the boy, with conviction, "if that's the case, I don't see what's the use of growing up."

Mr. Inswerth, a wealthy banker of Washington, Ill., has purchased two lots on the grounds, and, in the spring, will build the finest cottage on the premises. The sewer work on the grounds will be completed this week Saturday, and it is first-class in all respects. The Association has this fall built 1000 feet of six foot cement walks, at a cost of nearly $1,000.

—Some of the Northern Michigan papers are publishing greatly exaggerated statements concerning relations between the Charlevoix Sugar Co. and the beet growers. The story has gone far and wide that the farmers are really will refuse to renew contracts for beet raising. While some may feel dissatisfied, the statement that this feeling is general, or even exists among a majority, is wholly false. We personally know of many farmers who will double their acreage of beets the coming year. When farmers come down to a candid and fair consideration of the question, with all its conditions, and their own future interests, they will correctly the injustice of hasty judgment. The farmer will not "cut off his own nose to spite his face." There is great benefit coming to the farmer through the beet sugar industry. Will he throw obstacles in the way of it, or by meeting emergencies half way make it a certainty? Much of this criticism which has certain had the factory been completed and the beets raised. It is now plain to the men in the inauguration of new enterprises.

—The two day Farmers' Institute for this county will be held at Charlevoix December 17-18. These meetings are conducted under the joint auspices of the local County Institute Society and the State Board of Agriculture. Several state speakers have been provided and there are men who have made for themselves a mark on their own farms as successful, practical farmers. The best speakers have also been chosen with care and our readers who are interested in agriculture in any of its lines cannot spend two days to better advantage than in attendance at these meetings. At the evening session the topics that will be considered are such as should interest every citizen and the young people especially will be benefited by attending the meetings. Farmers' Institutes have been held in more than sixty counties in Michigan during the past year and have considerable increase in attendance over that of previous years.

Roosevelt vs. Nagler.

President Roosevelt was the principal guest of one day last week at the sesquicentennial anniversary celebration by the grand lodge of the Most Ancient and Honorable Fraternity of Free and Accepted Masons of Pennsylvania of George Washington's fraternity. He said in part:

"It seems to me that that which this country needs more than anything else is not to preach only, but practice the virtues we try to realize through Masonry, and show to the nations of the greatest Mason that ever lived—Washington—the homage of deeds, not merely words.

"One of the things that attracted me so greatly to Masonry, that I had the chance of becoming a Mason, was that it really did live up to what we, as a government, are pledged to—treating each man on his merits and as a man. When Brother George Washington went into a lodge of a fraternity he went into the one place in the United States where he addressed to their official position in the lodge. He went into the one place in the United states where the idea of our government was realized as far as it is humanly possible for mankind to realize it fully yet."

Prosperity in Another Key.

The East Jordan Enterprise in recent issues has been throwing considerable send at the Charlevoix Sugar Co., in connection with the beet crop. All of which, of course, is a matter of spite. But the following we take from the Central Lake Torch:

"Sugar beets are being hauled to town and loaded on cars for shipment. Some inconvenience is manifested by the inability of the railroad company to furnish cars as fast as needed. The beets are taken by the Charlevoix Sugar Co. for whom they were grown on contract, and by them shipped to factories in the southern part of the state. It was very unfortunate that the factory at Charlevoix could not be completed in time for the crop last fall, but another year they will be able to handle it and with a great deal more satisfactory results to both the company and the growers. Although this season was not the crop in sufficient to prove that beets can be successfully raised here, and while there is a great deal of work connected with the raising of the crop, was only a very minor, yet enough to furnish claim to be fully satisfied with their first experience in sugar beet raising."

"MAD OZ" MADDOCK OF EAST JORDAN LED THE CHARGE.

Michigan Men Fought Like Fiends Incarnate.

The correspondent of the Detroit Journal writes those of the recent football game between Michigan and Iowa, his reference to Maddock, the East Jordan freshman, being of particular interest:

"As an exhibition of dare devil football the 107 to 0 game with Iowa was interesting, perhaps the most interesting, ever seen in Ann Arbor. Michigan's players were like fiends incarnate in the recklessness with which they plunged, hooked, ran and tackled. Maddock, Newley and Herbstreit were the high priests of the carnival of daring, and their hairbreadth escapes from broken necks astounded the other players and spectators alike. "Maddock one, in dashing through the field met two big Iowa men head on. With the fearful impetus of his 180 pounds and a running start he crashed into both, bowling them over like ninepins together. The shock checked him only a fraction of a second and, gathering speed again, he proceeded to the third Hawkeye, who crouched low to tackle. Mad with the lust for more yards, Maddock leaped into the air. Four feet up from the ground he must have gone, for his cleated boots fairly cleared the head of the youth he tackled, whose arms closed around the thin air. It seemed that the fall to earth alone must have killed him, but he was up again and had full 10 more yards before being smothered under a half dozen of Iowans."

The Railroad and the Beet Crop.

One of the serious problems that has confronted the Charlevoix Sugar Co., in its effort to take care of the beet crop, has been the scarcity of cars.

An immense fall business is reflected in the strenuous efforts of the railroads to meet the greatly increased freight traffic. Scarcity of cars is a common complaint, always more or less prevalent at this time of the year, in more extensive than usual.

"We are shipping about from 500 to 1,000 cars daily." said Freight Agent Leavenworth of the Grand Rapids & Indiana in managing to take care of the business and is not so badly off as some other roads in this respect. It is a condition that is not local by any means. It prevails with all roads the country over. The big trunk lines are being rushed far beyond their ordinary carrying capacity moving grain to the east. The anthracite coal strike had the effect of lessening the supply of cars as a great many were loaded back by the interested lines for fear they would need them to supply their own wants in the way of fuel.

For the Pere Marquette it was stated that while it was feeling the scarcity of cars the same as other roads, freight traffic was not being seriously interfered with. A representative of the freight department stated that there was a prospect of a very large movement of potatoes within the next few weeks from western Michigan to the east, which would call for a large number of cars. This he figured would likely increase the stringency in cars. "I am inclined to believe," said he, "that the latter part of this and next month will see a car famine of greater proportions than that which now prevails. That it is a condition to be expected at this time of the year during prosperous times like these. The roads might fill up all their sidetracks with cars during the summer to hold for the season of the year, and yet they would be unable to prevent this periodical scarcity of cars."

SCHOOL NOTES.

Ira Denton entered school Monday Miss Hue has organized a High School chorus.

The program Thursday morning was given by the Sophomores.

The Charlevoix High school team gave Petoskey Saturday to play foot-ball.

Among the visitors at the High School last week were Misses O. Hemmingsen, Chase and Alice Gaffney.

On Friday Nov. 14 there will be a supper given by the senior class, in the Burnett building formerly occupied by Dworkin's boot and shoe emporium and have a square meal for 15 cents.

Second Cousin Sarah

BY THE AUTHOR OF "ANNE JUDGE, SPINSTER," ETC., ETC.

CHAPTER II.—(Continued.)

Sudge Hill was a narrow strip of one of innumerable proportions, with an aspect of wildness about it that fascinated Sarah and not quite cause to settle. It had been built in the golden days of prosperity—for, why had Hatfie much money to cut into building, and had even made forays of siddings a week at the knob to the villages of the pioneer life. It was a mere house to size the fact that she had been lucky enough to get it. There were a whole generation of Hatfies, and there was a big notice at the table that not more than a Hatfie should sit down to the table. Sarah's father had died and it was this that he pulled up his bottle to inspect before turning into the carriage drive.

There he went capable along the drive, and—on an image of the house, not unpaid—rolling and tumbling, and the wheels giving the reels by a gay front young man in flower, with a cigarette between his teeth, stalking in the rear, to be of service to the newcomer.

"Old James was gone, then," he said to the servant.

"Yes, sir. He's with Squire Black of Hymen."

"And your wife—is she well, Wood?"

"Middling, sir."

He thought that rather feeling could be through the glass front door, and he was wondering if he was a good young man, when his young master Mrs. Darkins, who was could and proved to be a little fat and fair and very nice.

"Is Mr. Carlton in?"

"Yes, sir, he's engaged just now."

"Will he be long?"

"Not very long, I think, sir."

"Then I will wait for him. Tell him he's arrived." Sarah was a little nervous, and was glad to have a small young person, who was not quite a lady, to be her servant. Mrs. Darkins, who was could and proved to be a little fat and fair and very nice.

The Succoth Carpenter an Odd Character of the Jewish Quarter of Great Cities — Strange Abodes Erected for Festival Week

The secret industry in the metropolis is that of a smooth carpenter, who finds employment one week of the year in the District among the orthodox Jews. His work is done in the footlight, which precedes the Feast of the Tabernacles and consists in building odd little booths known as succoths in the back yards of the tenement houses. The feast of the tabernacle is supposed to commemorate the time during which the children of Israel wandered in the wilderness and probably also their sojourn in the land of Egypt. During this period they lived more or less on the open, which fact is symbolized by the booth having no roof, or else a covering of evergreens and bulrushes. According to another school the booths represent the time when the Israelites came to such numbers that they were unable to get into the temple, and so built temporary shelters around the sacred edifice.

The succoth should be habitable in nature, and less than six feet in height, six feet long, and four feet wide. It should be made of the cheapest and flimsiest building material to indicate what it represents. Some of the builders take pride in making the structures as remarkable as possible. Others use the poorest materials, and say and do them with as much skill that the finished succoth is neat and attractive. There is but little competition among the builders. The omnipresent supplies the wood at the lowest price, and sells it to him at cost, while for the sake of adding to his price he hangs some little extra. Chairs, also borrowed, will add comfort to one or more builders, and pay cash the usual on hire.

During the festival week the humble booth is gaily dressed and occupied every day by its owner. It is not at all unpleasant in fair weather but when, as often happens, it rains, the attic that is decidedly uncomfortable. As a result the poorest materials, and so far as possible unknown in the study desert where the Israelites wandered are used.

Still more suggestive in the way in which the peasants are said to have of wound up or of claiming the Lord, the one of grass, grain, bulbs, a food, usually a pomegranate, to one hand and a bulrush or some other in the other. At the end of the prayer each of these is shaken twice and then raised over to the east, the most ancient of the family. The water results are supposed to commemorate the failing of Moses in the harvest, and the fruit the promise of the Lord, who blessed a land flowing with milk and honey.

HAD TO PAY THE PRICE.

Bibliomaniac Married to Secure a Rare Volume.

M. A. Brisson, the French writer, relates an anecdote of a well-known Frenchman, who, in his younger days, spent most of his time in his younger days in Paris hunting up valuable books among the second-hand bookshops. He was a bachelor and by a housekeeper had an extremely plain woman, who, however, was valuable from her skill in the care of her books. One day the housekeeper appeared with a parcel of books, wrapped in paper and asked her master if he had all these books. Among them was a small volume bound in red morocco. "What did you pay for this?" the master asked after looking at the title page. "Thirty sous for the lot," the servant replied. "Not so good neither, this book alone is worth 10,000 francs." The bibliomaniac went on, and the moment after regretted his hasty speech. "I'll give you 100 francs for it," he said. "The manuscript said just you that it was worth to-day." "Why give you 500?" "No, no." "Seven hundred and ninty." "But it was to-day." and to make a long story short, the master had to offer to adopt the first edition.

"I crossed the Great Desert Shake in July," said the returned partisan, "but you go through Kansas" asked the bystander. "I didn't hear the place mentioned," said the tourist. "Well," said the bystander, "you passed through a place where there were three square leagues of corn, didn't you?" "Yes, was that Kansas?" "It might have been, and it might have been Indiana. Did you go through a state with mines and miles of graffiti?" "Yes, I remember it well, so that was Kansas." "It might have been and it might have been Iowa. What other state of corn and prairie do you go to?" "Well, and the tourist, "one state we passed through had lots of prairie and lots of corn, and on that July day it was very hot, and in the evening ever so far we could see a home made of the rear chimney, which owed a little column of smoke, which seemed straight as an arrow for its base and a half." "That," said the bystander, with a satisfied air, "was Kansas."—Wichita Eagle.

METHOD IN REVENGE

HOW JAPANESE SAILORS PUNISHED BAD FAITH.

Remarkable Affair That Recently Took Place on the Great Naval Port of Kure—Blunderbusts Destroy Valuable Property.

An extraordinary fad, in which a large number of Japanese blunderbusses took part, occurred in the great naval port of Kure, Japan, recently.

Some fifteen months, among others the Kitogun and Sosen in Kure purchased in the Osaka Hard for the accommodation of the Japanese ties at the Mikasa, Hatsukuni, Chiyoda, Yaeyama Tsukuba and two other warships there. Some of these were twenty years in a coal time time of it. The fate concerned and the British Blunderbuss had nothing to complain of, but it was not so with the more traditional Japs. They soon clearly that an interior cross or another had been forgotten in the enthusiasm of the Bunsmen, and though they said nothing on the subject to the latter, they quietly laid their plans for revenge.

First of all they waited till the Kitogun and the other British vessels had left for Wakkanai, so that none of the British friends would get into trouble, then they divided into watches and sides, each section operating with the other as harmoniously that the blunderbusses seemed to be going through number exercises instead of firing. It might also be mentioned that not one of the officers was under the influence of liquor.

At nine o'clock on the night appointed a shrill whistle was heard in front of the Sosen savings bank of Kure, and it was answered simultaneously by a shrill whistle when some thirty sailors, who seemed to have sprung out of the earth, poured into the back and began knocking in the unfortunate safes. Nothing one of them stood out that it was the wrong house, whereupon the work of destruction ceased for millions, at least minutes, and standing motionless upon the floor of the bank the men felt the building in a body.

Meanwhile similar bands of blunderbusses were swarming all over the city, smashing wholesale lights and street lamps and leaving the streets in complete darkness. When this delicate task had been achieved the main body of the rioters, who stood ready and marching in perfect order—attacked the Tabaki Board, the inhospitable hostelry which had supplied the Britishers with an inferior article in the way of cigarettes.

The attack was conducted to the sound of trumpets, and being planned home upon every several guardsman, it soon was impossible to tell, but, the enlarged blunders pouring into the house from all sides with fierce war cries. None of the inmates was molested, but the house and everything in it were torn to pieces. The comfy screens, the sitting doors, the furniture, even the walls were smashed to pieces, the Japanese Kakemono were torn and the matting on the floor ripped up. The only garment of the geisha were taken out of the wardrobes and destroyed.

All this was done in about a quarter of an hour, after which the sailors dropped, leaving the house in ruins as a reproach and a cocksure warning of what they were able to do in times of serious diplomatic illusion.

At the same time another corps had arrived at the headquarters of the gendarmerie, but, hunting for the latter naval officers happened to be among the themselves there, and on sight of their shield the bold tars decamped like a pack of school children.

The third corps attacked the police station in order to rescue two of their comrades who had been captured early in the row, but the police formed in front of the station with drawn swords and the sailors contented themselves with three particular prisoners were released in that station. The other were then tore widely along the streets, shouting and blunderbusses with great regularity and timing their antics like a troop of trained acrobats. Even this thing ended "in the end," when, when they did every low mischief, the operation was performed in strict military movements of the lower members.

The gendarmerie station was the last place attacked. The rioters first invested it, according to the method recommended by the best naval authorities, but the gendarmes fought stoutly, firing plenty of blank cartridges and the tars finally withdrew discomfited.

Their exhaustion for their discreditable escapade was a masterly performance, being carried out in a very valid and orderly manner and without the loss of a single man.

Good Use for Bicycle-Meter.

A bicycle rider was caught in Lowdon county, and his fine, proved to be a bicycle meter. The fine was 5 shillings, and the bicycle meter was used to measure the distance from the place attacked. The meter first is, it seems, according to the method recommended by the best naval authorities, but the gendarmes fought stoutly, firing plenty of blank cartridges and the tars finally withdrew discomfited.

CUBA'S FOUR PERIODS

EXCITING AND INTERESTING EPOCHS IN ITS HISTORY.

Romantic Incidents and Tragic Events Have Marked the Time Since its Discovery—Few Intervals of Comparative Peace.

Since Cuba became known to the world 400 years ago her story is one of romantic incidents and tragic events and may be divided into four epochs. The first one can be dated as that of discovery, colonization and conquest. For 200 years it was the spoil of foreign four. Columbus on his first voyage discovered the island, and in 1511 practically the entire native population had been exterminated by Spanish cruelty. In 1538 and 1554 Havana was destroyed by the French, in 1624 it was taken by the Dutch, from 1660 to 1760 it was often ravaged by Buccaneers, and in 1762 it was taken by the British. At no time prior to 1760 was the island safe from attack by European governments or by pirates. Then for 150 years or so ensued an era of comparative peace. The only for the single incident of English occupation in 1762 the island prospered mightily in tobacco and the slave trade, of which it was the center for Spanish America. It is said that in the sixty odd years of this trade fit no fewer than 550,000 slaves were brought into Cuba.

Along about this began that epoch of Cuban history which ended only in the expulsion of Spain in 1898. This might be called the revolutionary period. More than 10,000 negroes participated in the insurrection of 1848. The uprisings of 1849 and of 1851 were led by American adventurers. The Spanish revolution of 1868 led to an effort for Cuban independence, which continued with varying fortunes for 12 years. In 1880 the insurrection was put down, but it had sacrificed upon the island a debt of $95,000,000. The revolutionary movement which ended in American occupation may be said to date in its more active manifestations from about 1895. When the Maine went down in Havana harbor the bell rang for the curtain which was to fall for more and for all on four centuries of Spanish colonyle. The coming four years form an epoch by themselves—the period of American occupation. While much of the work done by our representatives there is for all time, some of it is already in peril from Cuban incompetence and unrest. The island is accordingly entering upon another stage of its existence.

GREAT YEAR FOR FINDS.

Recent Discovery of Coins in Wales Reveals Other Treasures.

The recent discovery in North Wales of several valuable silver coins, gold rings, armlets and spoons, dating from about the year 1600, recalls to mind, says an English writer, some interesting facts concerning the recovery of treasure trove.

The year 1882 appears to have been the most prolific in these unexpected finds. In January of that year, while repairs were being carried out in a house in Brighton, the workmen unearthed a large leather bag containing 20 crowns and several shillings of the reign of Charles II., James II. and Queen Anne.

In the following month a discovery of great antiquarian interest was made at Viterbo, Tuscany, when a number of antique silver bowls were brought to light. They proved to be excellent examples of 12th and 13th century work, and were covered with pagan inscriptions.

Some months later a clay vessel full of Roman coins was found near Yeovil, Somerset, and, at about the same time, 250 coins of Queen Anne's reign were found at Walford.

The greatest discovery of the 19th century took place in December of the same year in an old house in the Rue Vieille de Temple, Paris. Upon the demolition a copper jar was found in one of the walls. It contained 1,857 gold coins, worth nearly $20,000 in bullion, but to the collector their value was untold, for they belonged, unquestionably, to the rarest reign of France.

In other parts of the house were found 1100 coins of Jean le Bon, 6100 of Charles V. and over 600 pieces of other mints, the latter being alone valued at $150,000.

Our Beloved Flag.

Since the beginning of the war with Spain reverence for the flag seems to have deepened and broadened. Before that period many school houses and other places of public resort had no flag. Now it is rare to find a place without one. Since the outbreak of the war with Spain over 1,000,000 people have bought and paid for a flag, totally the output is valued at $1,000,000. People who bought this flag in a spasm have not as a rule been thought of buying even a little one for home use, as national flags now have been on sale at prices affording ample profit to retailers.

Giving Study to Lever.

An association of Lever of Bath made his given money to Johns Hopkins university in Baltimore to be a memorial investigation in the United States, activities and influence of labor organizations in the United States. The sum of $500 is given for the immediate purchase by the university library of additional books, pamphlets and reports relating to the subject. The further sum of $1,000 is made available to meet the expenses incident to carrying on the inquiry for the next academic year.

ORIGIN OF WOOD ENGRAVING.

Many Countries Contend for the Honor of the Invention.

Much controversy was at one time excited about the country that could claim to have originated wood engraving. A very simple process was known in the Egyptian for the production of stamps, and it has been asserted that the Chinese printed from blocks of pearlree as early as the tenth century. The independent origination of the art has been generally credited to Germany among modern nations. In the Chronicle of St. Christopher, which has often been reproduced, was cut in 1423, a St. Sebastian in 1437 and a Madonna has been dated 1418. Playing cards were, however, in use in France in the middle of the fourteenth century, and the figures were impressions from wood blocks, stamps the Scientific American. It is allowable for France to dispute the priority of Germany, and many enthusiasts have been made to claim the art as due to French enterprise. M. Henri Bouchot of the Bibliotheque Nationale, now declares that a part of a block with a representation of a crucifixion has been discovered in a country town of France. The costumes are entirely those worn in the middle fourteenth century, and it is assumed that the wood block belongs to some time between 1340 and 1360.

For Curbing the Trusts.

The bill for the control of trusts which will be introduced in congress by Representative Littlefield, and which is said will be put forward as an administrative measure, embodies provisions which will strengthen the popular belief in the sincere purpose of the president and his advisers to secure legislation that will be effective in checking monopoly and to curbing the operations of the trusts.

It is now generally acknowledged that the cheapening of the cost of production and distribution through the formation of industrial combines may, if properly managed, redound to the benefit of the people, whether they the consumer gets a share of the profits accruing from the combine or not, depends upon the managers of the combine. If they appropriate all the benefits to themselves, and use their power to raise prices, destroy competition and crush out all competitors, the combine becomes an evil that should be curbed by the strong arm of the power of the federal government.

It is to prevent industrial combines from becoming monopolies that the Littlefield measure is proposed. Under this bill the commission of trust and has the facts to prove that it has suffered damage from the operations of the combine in question.

First—To receive three times the amount of damage suffered.

Second—To have all the lawyers fees paid by the court.

Third—To have the trust pay all other expenses of the suit, including the court costs.

If a millionaire, retail dealer, manufacturer, or other person, can show that he has suffered damage from the contract or interstate trade brought about by a monopoly he may collect three times the actual damage, suffered, and the trust will be required to pay all the expenses of the suit. Moreover, under the Sherman anti-trust law, the plaintiffs, managers and directors of the alleged monopolies may be compelled to appear in court and will answer under oath questions and to produce all books, papers and accounts that may be necessary to throw light on the transactions of these combines.

The question of constitutionality of such a law will of course provoke much discussion among the lawyers. If it can be made to stick it gives promise of a measure that will check industrial combinations of the trusts, countries which will benefit the American trade. The word used to define this measure is "monopoly" it reciprocity, and the men who have given it inheritance in Maine, Blaine, McKinley, Roosevelt and many others.—Detroit Tribune.

The Farmer Finds This a Good Fence

Not a True Panacea.

The Indianans in their tariff revision almost at trusts would find another large weight be multiplied. Not as a trust panacea that tariff revision would be, but as a means of general industrial of combined, questions. The question for present statesmen is to shape the tariff so that it will not necessary to preserve the life of home industries in the face of the tariff reduction in the interest of similar industries in the part of other countries which will benefit the American trade. The word used to define this measure is "monopoly" it reciprocity, and the men who have given it inheritance in Maine, Blaine, McKinley, Roosevelt and many others.—Indianapolis Herald.

Cold Storage and Corners.

New Methods of Preserving Constituents Add to Trouble.

The improved methods of preserving foodstuffs devised by science have been supplied to constitute an unlimited gain for mankind, enabling us to spread the products of one season over another and to correct the shortage of one year or country by the abundance of another. But cold storage has, it appears, its disadvantages, since it enables the capitalist to corner the supply of perishable foodstuffs and exact a higher price, says the Baltimore Sun. The market need not be confined to the peaches or eggs if the cold storage man can put the extra supply away in warm for a scarcity and higher price. While the cold storage thus increases the available food supply and tends to prevent waste, at the same time retarding or preventing relief. Dealers, thus, it also increases the control over the market enjoyed by speculators. But there is a limit to the power of the combine in these cases, as is seen in the case of wheat or corn which are not so perishable as peaches and eggs. Theoretically the capitalist should be able to control the world's supply of wheat and be able to sell at starvation prices, but in fact he does not do so and cannot do so, in the long run the prevention of loss by cold storage may tend, by increasing the general supply of a given article, to reduce its average price.

Where the Fault Was.

When Mayor Low was at Great Barrington last autumn, riding from the railway on a strenuous political tour, he enjoyed several stories about it. Herbert Parsons says the New York Times. On one of these he observed a farmhouse informing the visitors as Stockbridge or Lenox, when he knew they were within a much shorter range of that town. Said Mr. Low to the driver.

"What's the matter with that milestone?"

"—" was the keen response promptly given, "it's reflected all right, only it's in the wrong place!"

Secretary Thought to Have Absconded After Chasing Somewhere Worth of Bogus Bonds—Cotton Deal for Barbes Defense at Bridgeport's Cause.

Owing to the engrossing by the banks of $200,000 worth of bills of lading and warehouse receipts covering cotton, the affairs of the Bergstrasser-Wolf Commission company, of New Orleans, have been placed in the hands of a receiver. The company was one of the most prominent in Louisiana, and its failure will be felt throughout the state. It is also stated that the concern will be unable to pay its creditors in full, and that the cause of the failure is due to the dishonesty of the firm's secretary, who is said to have absconded with the company's funds.

The firm is a co-partnership composed of Bergstrasser, Wolf and Barbes, and was formed about two years ago. It was one of the most active in the cotton business in the city, and was considered one of the strongest in the city. The firm was also interested in a large cotton plantation in Louisiana, and was said to be worth in the neighborhood of $200,000 over and above its liabilities. The firm was also interested in stock and bonds to a large amount, and was said to be worth $200,000 over and above its liabilities. The firm was also interested in a large cotton plantation

BEULAH FARM HOME.

Pleasing News From the Jackson Daily Citizen.

The Beulah Land Farm for Boys is now at Bay Springs. The trustees of this incorporation have purchased the Bay Springs hotel, with 120 acres of land. The many advantages of this beautiful place are apparent to all who have seen it. It is located near the end of Pine Lake, an arm of Lake Michigan, 10 miles long and navigable its entire length. Charlevoix is at the entrance of this lake and Boyne City at the head of it. The latter is a busy manufacturing town with good opportunities for the older boys to work their way up. The Bay Springs hotel and buildings overlook the lake and may be seen for miles. The hotel is 180 feet in length, built in the form of an L, and is said to have cost $40,000. The first story is brick and the other three are frame, surrounded by verandas. It has 50 rooms, well adapted for home and school purposes. One is a theatre, 50 feet long, for entertainments and lectures. The farm is a productive table land and beyond its high hillrise, which protects the buildings from the strong winds. Many springs issue from the hillside. Which keep them green and beautiful. One of them is piped to the buildings. Another has sufficient power to carry an eight-inch stream of water over the top of the hotel. It now flows along the slope in a narrow stream and forms pond and island lake. These springs are lake belong to the property. There are fine orchards on the place which yield an abundance and variety of fruit. Shade trees beautify the lawns and fields and help to make an attractive spot, which cannot fail to impress the hearts and mind of the boys. The invigorating air gives new life to those who come from the city slums, and have lived in stifling, over-crowded rooms. The Beulah Farm Home is also a life-saving station for boys who have lived in dives of vice, without parental care. Their good and the good of the community demands places of refuge for them where love is the motive power to develop and strengthen character. By learning thrift, self-reliance, honor and good citizenship these boys are fitted to take honors among the people.

The state school at Coldwater cannot provide for all. The number is too great besides the laws limit boys over 12 years of age to enter it. Parents who wish to part with their children for a limited time cannot avail themselves of its privileges. When all is done that can be done there is still much to do.

Help is earnestly needed for the Beulah Land Farm for Boys who have time and ability to give. Salaries are small and living is plain. Teachers, helpers and boys all at the same table and eat the same food, as parents do with their own children.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

The meeting of teachers and patrons with the Pomona Grange at Boyne City was an enthusiastic gathering. The banquet provided for the occasion was an excellent feature, the tables fairly groaning with the load of good things from the granger's baskets. The hall was well filled, the rostrum being utilized for seating purposes.

Hon. A. E. Palmer state senator from this district gave an account of his six weeks visit in Company with Supt. Pattengill to several of the states in which the Centralization of the rural schools and Transportation of pupils are in effect.

The teachers and patrons present have a clear and distinct idea of what Centralization and Transportation means. Mr. Pattengill's report was published in the Michigan Farmer and by permission has been published in the "Department of Public Instruction's report, also, it has been published in pamphlet form and can be had for the asking.

Supt. Pattengill. It is hard to say why secondary schools have not been projected and carried out for the rural districts. If the times demanded at least a high school education for the city boy or girl, the reason should apply with equal force to the youth of the country. It is a false philosophy which reasons that all the young people of the city should be provided with those additional education facilities but that only occasionally is it necessary for a boy or girl from the country to take advantage of the high schools. On the other hand it is equally as many bright and wholesome people to be had there, take advantage of the schools recently established, for their parents are not so poor as they allege to carry the boys out of their support away from home and farm, many think that a majority of the city boys. The proposition is that there are possibilities in a very serious future growing out of the fact that a boy or girl is no longer under the home instruction common school education gave sufficient discipline for the past generations, but it will not do for future business and industrial methods, the demand for specialized and skilled labor in every direction demands a corresponding disciplining of the mental powers in order that the ordinary citizen may be able to keep pace with this intensive age.

The times demand that our schools shall render better service than they are now doing.

At the years go by, larger and more important responsibilities fall upon those who assume the duties of citizenship than their predecessors had to grapple, and there are growing sentiment that the least which the state should furnish to every boy and girl in Michigan is a good high school education.

An attempt was made to kidnap the 12 year old daughter of Henry Wood of Petoskey last Monday evening. As she stepped out the back door of their residence she was grabbed by a man who attempted to make off with her, but her screams brought assistance and the villain fled.

The big hotel being erected at Northport will be the best and most modernly built and equipped hotel in the state. This hotel will be equipped with acetylene light, steam heat, hot and cold water and a complete telephone system of its own, that is, a telephone in each room which can be connected to the local and state lines and with any other room in the building.

Traverse City Eagle. Engineer Christ stated this morning that the grading on the Traverse City, Leelanau & Manistique railroad will be completed from this city to Northport this month. It is the intention to do the grading along the lake front in the city this fall and, if time permits before winter sets in, the rails will be laid. Steel will not be laid on the remainder of the road until the snow is off in the spring.

Upward of a hundred teachers from this part of Michigan met at Petoskey on Friday last and made a permanent organization called the North Traverse District Teachers' Association. The officers elected to be covered is the counties of Cheboygan, Emmet, Charlevoix and Antrim and there to be held annual meetings annually. The next meeting is set for about May 1st 1903 at Petoskey. Prof. Pierce of that locale was the originator of the movement and he was elected as President, with Commissioner Baker of Cheboygan as Vice-President, and Prof. Howe of Mancelona Secretary and Treasurer. On Friday evening lectures on Pedagogy given them a lecture on the topic "The Bible in the Public Schools," in addition to the regular routine a committee was appointed to have in charge inter-scholastic athletic events and debates between champions of the classes in the Counties covered by the association.

East Jordan Enterprise. The report of Engineer Gibbs of the Ely-Jordan that can be developed at the site of the great mill on Deer Creek is more favorable than hardly any one in these parts had supposed. A head of 32 feet for a dam can be secured and over 300 horse power developed with two 24-inch turbine wheels. This power can be used where it is located or it can easily be brought to the village by wire conductors and distributed to such manufacturing plants as may need power. Primarily of course, the new proprietor of the site, Mr. A. C. Loveday, has in view the supplying power for electric light plant, but there will be over 200 horse power more available if the full dam shall be built. With the present development the electric power from a central plant motors in the dwellings and most convenient points, and one be had for many lines and it is logical that this site and opportunity will be speedily utilized and set to work on new industries in East Jordan.

The steamer City of Charlevoix has laid up at Manistee, but the Illinois will remain on the route probably all this month.

The tugs Dickson and Parmelee have joined the fishing fleet working for U. S. Fish Commission at the Beaver—making five tugs in all.

Capt. James Reid the well known wrecking master of Sarnia, ont., has secured another wrecking job for his from that of removing the wreck of the Winslow from the straits of Mackinac. The outfit has already left Sarnia for the scene.

It has been decided to keep Capt. A. B. Davis of the revenue cutter Morrill in service, and he will be placed in command of the small revenue cutter Mackinac, which is to be stationed at Sault Ste. Marie next season. The Mackinac is now being built at Baltimore.

The schooner Maine will strip and lay up at Ogdensburg. She has a charter to transfer 10,000 bushels of wheat from a Canadian port to Ogdensburg this fall. She has taken two cargoes of coal from Oswego to Ogdensburg and is now loading again at Oswego. There is some talk of taking her to salt water next year.

The steamer Illinois of the Northern Michigan line backed into the dock while having Traverse City lately, tearing away the entire corner of it, and making a big hole in the warehouse. The damage will exceed $500. It was one of those accidents that are unavoidable, as there is no better man living at the helm than Capt. Billy Fitzsimons.

The war department has set aside a sum of money for the construction of an inspection vessel to be put in service as soon as possible on Lake Michigan. Capt. Keller of the engineering corps of the United States army, with headquarters at Grand Rapids, Mich., announced lately that the funds for the craft were available. Naval Architect W. J. Wood of Milwaukee has been engaged to design the steamer. He will begin work at once on the plans and specifications. He is allowed some latitude with regard to the dimensions, the only restriction imposed being that he keep within the appropriation set aside by the department. The new vessel, according to Mr. Wood, will be somewhat smaller than the ordinary lighthouse tender. The Williams is now the official boat of the engineer.

That Lake Michigan will next year be the scene of operation of a ship canal is generally accepted as a fact among vessemen of Chicago. Three months have passed since the first step toward consolidation of the interlines was taken, and yesterday it was declared on good authority that all the lines have submitted schedules of their properties to the promoters. J. H. Graham, president of the Graham & Morton Transportation Co., with headquarters in Chicago, probably will be president of the consolidated companies. The companies to be merged, with steamers owned by them, are: Goodrich Transportation, nine steamers, Barry Brothers' Transportation Co., nine steamers, Graham & Morton, six steamers, Dunkley-Williams Transportation Co., four steamers; Lake Michigan & Lake Superior Co., four steamers; Northern Michigan Transportation Co., two steamers, Manitou Steamship Co., one steamer, Indiana Transportation Co., one steamer; Peoples Transit Co., one steamer. It is understood the plans are to make the capital $5,000,000.

DEATH FOR UNREQUITED LOVE

Only Man Shooting Woman and Then Blows Out Brains.

Harper County, Kansas, was the scene of a double tragedy, which resulted in a young man's death and a serious wound to a young girl on Friday. The young man, Andrew Hoag, of Mount Hope, Kansas, shot Miss Mae Hoag, a young lady living in Mount Hope's residence, and then turned the gun on himself and blew out the brains. The shooting occurred at the home of the young lady's parents, and the tragedy is the result of unrequited love.

CAR HITS WAGON MOR POLLED.

St. Louis Police Save Motorman and Conductor from Mob.

A Cherrie street car, loaded with people, struck by a wagon car at the corner of Hickory street and Jefferson avenue in St. Louis and eight persons were injured. The wagon was in charge of a man and colored boy, the latter is said to have been the driver. The car was filled with people, and the force of the collision was so great that it knocked the wagon off the track and the horses were killed.

$250,000 Fire at Cassopolis.

The plants of the Vincent Bros. Manufacturing Co. and the Wood Bros. Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of Wood's Patent Lawn Mowers, at Cassopolis, Mich., were destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock Friday morning. The fire is said to have started in the engine room of the Wood Bros. plant. The factories were those of the Cassopolis Vindicator, and contained valuable machinery and material. The loss is about $250,000, with insurance of $100,000 on the Wood Bros. plant and $50,000 on the Vincent Bros. plant.

Cure for Hog Cholera.

Dr. Salmon, the chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, in his annual report, says the discovery of the germ of hog cholera and the preparation of a serum that will prevent the disease, are the most important results of the year's work in the bureau. The discovery of the germ of hog cholera, he says, has been followed by the preparation of a serum that will prevent the disease in healthy hogs and cure it in those already sick. The cost of the serum is about $1 for a dose for a hog of average size, and the treatment seldom needs to be repeated. The bureau has been manufacturing the serum for some time, and has distributed it in Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Texas, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, Arkansas, Louisiana

LUCK RESTORES A DIAMOND.

Found by Its Owner in Street Where She Lost It Five Years Ago.

The luckiest woman in the west is Mrs. Anna B. Scott of Denver, on Five years ago, in returning from a party, she lost a diamond earring worth $200. In looking for something else a few days ago she found the diamond in the street where she had dropped it so long before.

Hundreds of persons had passed over the spot in the meantime. Rain and snow had buried the jewel in the sand, and at just the right time the rain again washed the diamond clean for Mrs. Scott to find it. Other persons had looked in vain, when it was lost years ago.

"I was not looking for it," said the owner, "I was looking for a little ring that my daughter thought she had lost. As I could not find the ring, I went over the ground rather carefully.

"Suddenly something sparkling caught my eye and then I cried right out loud, 'Why, there's my diamond!'

"I was so startled by my find that I could really hardly believe that I was awake, or that it was 1902 instead of 1897."

Oriental Finance.

"Korea rocks with corruption," said the bishop of north Queensland recently on his return from a visit to Korea. "I will give you an illustration. Some time ago a commercial traveller—who probably he's something to gain by the proposal—approached the king on a concession that the intrinsic value of the nickel Seoul coin is only relative one—one half the face value. He suggested that the king might establish a mint and turn out these coins at a great personal profit. The idea was at once put into execution and the market flooded with a debased coin. Naturally, there was very soon a painful paralysis of trade. The foreign merchants refused to take the new coin, and the native traders had no remedy, except to exhaust crows. The king—of course, he knew no more than himself—but some ready money. But all classes of its people suffered immense losses. The poor, for instance, fell to half its regular value. Eventually, however, after about twelve months' operation, the mint ceased to turn out these debased coins."

Engraver of the Bank of France.

The engraver of the Bank of France is not to be envied in regard to the conditions under which he works. The bank is about to issue a new thousand-franc note, and the engraver has been working at the plates for the last eighteen months. Each morning he arrives at the bank, where a special room is reserved for him. Here one of the most trusted of the bank messengers receives him, locks him in, and mounts guard outside the door. In the evening all the plates and accessories are put in a box, which is sealed up and transported to the vaults below, where it is locked up for the night.

Strange New Verbs.

The gardens and fields of Yucatan are filled with succulent vegetables and others herbs unknown to the outer world. In the cultivated fields at the proper seasons are growing clusters of Indian corn, beans, squashes and tubers for which we have no name, for the reason that we have never seen or heard of them. reports the Pittsburg Dispatch. The forests and jungles contain fruits that, excellent even in their wild state, could be made delicious by scientific care and cultivation. There are half a score of wild vanilla vines that yield a quality rivaling that of the bitter wild almond, the progenitor of the peach.

Septimber's Hard Luck.

Relative to the birthday day, Lee Fairchild tells this story of a fellow-orator who had been very much annoyed during the delivery of his speech by people in his audience asking him irrelevant questions which he was unable to answer. Alluding to the matter after the meeting, the speaker said, in all earnestness: "I've got in three weeks committing that speech to memory. Now I've got to go and work up a lot of repartee to go with it!"

Teacher Makes Neat Answer.

Chicago once had as its superintendent of city schools a bachelor named Howland, whose gruffness of manner and love of neatness were proverbial. Going into the room of a junior and attractive teacher one day, Mr. Howland took notice of an untidy desk and a carefully arranged book-shelf, and, pointing his finger at them, asserted, bluntly: "What sort of a housekeeper do you think you'd make?" "Why, Mr. Howland, are you looking for one?" was the humorously quietest reply.

Poetic Gem Spoiled.

An old bachelor, who had become misanthropy and poetical, wrote some lines for the village paper, in which he expressed the hope that the time would soon come when he should

"Meet death within a smile,
With a weeping willow by my side;"

but in the inexpressible horror it came out, he prefaced it with

"When I shall rest calmly within a shed,
With a weeping willow by my side."

Japanese Music.

Coron is coming on, having organized a brass band. At a late the modern band is not popular among the orientals. The Chinese hacks at the one the Japanese giving it but slight encouragement. A Japanese regiment marches on parade to the monotonous tootlings of a fife, beaten accompaniment over the drum as an accompaniment. During the war in 1894-95 there was not one band connected with an army corps and that one was attached to headquarters. When it played music that few of its hearers understood or really wanted to hear, the moment it ceased to play the drum and fife corps commenced to beat a tattoo on the march the troops received no cheers, but were simply marched in a sullen wall and the men coming in on the charge.

A PATRON OF ART.

Boston Woman Who Was Mistaken About Value of Her Purchase.

One of Boston's patrons of art stopped into a picture store on Boylston street the other day, and, after an inspection of the stock, called a salesman and asked the price of a bit of colored that appeared to her fancy. "Three fifty," was the reply. "You may send it to my address," she said, and took her departure.

A few days later she was back in the store, wearing a look of extreme drama. Having located the clerk from whom she had made the purchase, she inquired if some mistake had not been made in the price. "I think not," he said. "Have you the bill with you?" "Yes, here it is." "I see no mistake in it." "You don't mean to say that the price was $3.50?" "Why, certainly, and we considered it a very low figure." Taking the pressure from under her cloak, she handed it back to the salesman, saying, "I thought the price was $5 from what you said."—Boston Herald.

The Flower.

How fresh, O Lord, how sweet and clean
Are the blossoms of the meadow, blest of God!
To whom yesterday or tomorrow is as to-day,
To him just a fresh tribute of pleasure bring.
Child needs none;
Age has none;
As it there were no other God thing
Could make him happy.
Yet, whatever enjoyment or sorrow depart
To see their mother—not, when they have departed
Winter, Spring, Summer, Autumn,
Bring back another.
Dead to the world, keep house and know
Not.
And age to age I but again
After so many years I find, with wife,
I have more cause the one and rain
And sunshine than I had in my life
Previous to this.
We, and the Lord Who made us all at night,
Sleep.
There are the windows filled or lines
To thank us not—so my lot shines that Night
Is as the day—
Who would be more,
Who would be less
Than what he wishes?
Portion their blessings—their portion

Wedding Gifts in Coffin Box.

A young married woman in one of the neighboring towns must be given credit for originality in securing means for transporting her wedding gifts. Her new home is in a distant city, and she therefore entered her old home to pack her presents. The problem presented itself of finding something of sufficient size to hold them. A hickmaker was consulted, and it was found that it would cost about $5 to make a box to order such as she desired. Finally it was suggested that a common coffin box might answer the purpose. The young woman jumped at the suggestion and invested $2.50 in a long, plain pine box. The neighbors of the young woman's mother were startled to see a undertaker's wagon stop at the big, long box into the house. A number of harried cars were made before the mystery was solved. The bride was she who will make good use of the coffin box after she returns to her home by utilizing it as a couch.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Wit of Wall Street.

William H. Travers, in his day the wit of Wall street, once amused up the whole stock market situation in the following way: Jim Fisk was crossing the ferry boat in his steam yacht when he ran into a fleet of other big private yachts. The owners of these recognizing Travers' yacht, put out in their launches to pay him a visit. As they came up the side, one by one, Travers welcomed them in turn, recognizing each as a fellow broker or banker in Wall street. When they had all gathered beside him at the rail he looked out over the blue waters where the tiny yachts of each rode at anchor—and there were no other boats within sight.

Travers pointed to the fleet.

"Gentlemen," he said, smoothly, "we who—whose are—the co—operative yachts?"

A Modest Philanthropist.

John M. Ulman, one of a rich philanthropist, and his bride, the daughter of J. Wilson Brown, president of the Maryland Trust company, have returned from a honeymoon in Europe to take up their abode in Baltimore, not in the fashionable section but in the heart of the business district. "We decided to move down here in order to be in closer touch with the people with whom we wish to work," Mr. Ulman explain. "Many of them live here among for a long time and are very much attached to them. Where is nothing in the manner of our going in for social settlement work or of attempting any sort of organization. We will just try to do what we can in a modest way."

Hels in Reserve.

The thrifty wife of a London shopkeeper is illustrated in a story told of a city goods dealer. The merchant in question possessed a very excitable temperament, and on hearing his assistant swear a lady customer, "Oh, we have not hair enough for a four-inch switch," he remarked, "Jim, I'm ashamed to be turned to the lady, fling down on his assistant, and said: "We have plenty in reserve, madam—plenty upstairs." The lady looked thunderstruck, and then the assistant informed his master that his reply was to her remark: "We have not had any rain lately."

Too Eager to Prosecute.

Rev. Mr. Barker, a preacher in Chicago county, Missouri, learned that a Summer caterpillar was visiting the pear by telling figure in minus. The reverend gentleman, having a slightly distorted sense of duty, induced a boy to purchase some whisky, his intention being to poison the vile—a—pear. The boy succeeded the liquor all right, but instead of giving the preacher a cop on the charge of conspiracy to kill Barker's blind cousin to secretly. Meanwhile the newspaper is doing a brisk sale.

REPENTED OF HER BARGAIN

Boarder's Appetite Too Great for Landlady's Pocketbook.

There can be no question about it, for the mistress of the house is a woman of pretty, and she vouches for the truth of the story. She keeps a large boarding house, and not long ago a man came and engaged table board for four months. He was a man of good appearance, his credentials were everything that could be desired and she agreed to take the party. But upon the day set for their arrival the man came alone.

"When will the others come?" she asked him.

"Do tell you the truth" he replied. "I am the only one, but I have a monstrous huge appetite, and I pay the rates for four people for my self."

To say that the woman was astonished would be a mild expression, but it seemed a fair arrangement, particularly for her side of the bargain. That was until the man had been boarding with her for a week and then she was obliged to ask him to leave, for she said he not only ate enough for four people, but for a boarding house full, and she could not afford to keep him.

Some Young Old People.

Mrs. Castlebury writes from Philadelphia to her 75-year-old son in New York that she never felt so gay and jolly in her life as at this very time. And feels quite positive that she will live to be over 100. Her handwriting is like copperplate, it is so steady and clear. At 97 she is planning amusements five years ahead. "Old Mark Cockleys, a highly respected citizen of Brooklyn, aged 97, walks from his home in Lewis avenue to Richmond Hill, a distance of a few miles, to jump on the lawn with his grandchildren. The late Secretary Gresham's mother has just celebrated her tenth birthday, hale and hearty. The astonishing collector and assistant advertising manager of the Detroit Free Press is younger at 82 than any other man in the office. He walks thirty or forty miles a day, takes a drink whenever he feels like it, and plays cards until midnight. James F. Scott, at 88, superintends his farm and country place at Pelham Manor and there is scarcely a day that he does not handle a rake or hoe himself. As a diversion he pushes a lawn mower. There are others. Glory in every green and vigorous old age!—as Charles A. Dana said.

Let It Go at That.

A Boston lady who is a district visitor became much interested in a very poor but apparently respectable Irish family named Curran, living on the top floor of a great building in a street not far from her parish. Every time she visited the Currans she was annoyed by the staring and the whispering of the other women living in the building.

One day she said to Mrs. Curran: "Your neighbors seem very curious to know who and what I am, and the nature of my business with you."

"They don't," announced Mrs. Curran. "Sh! they ask you what I do?"

"Sarah, they do, indeed."

"And do you tell them?"

"Faith, thin, an' I do not."

"What do you tell them?"

"Sh! just tell thim," as the calm reply, "that you are my dressmaker, an let it go at that."

Ancient Picture Gallery.

A picture gallery that dates from the stone age has been unearthed in a cavern near Rodez, France. The pictures, which are of prehistoric animals, were not only cut in the rock, as is usually the case with such representations, but were painted in several colors and give some evidence of artistic skill. There are eighty pictures, of which "a curious represent figures of various kinds. The pig usents used, which are shades of red and brown, have been found on analysis to contain a mineral unknown in the Quaternary period. Some of the pictures, which are of prehistoric animals, are so perfect that it is not

Second Cousin Sarah

"A man is a man, woman, childhood Reuben, and he walked to the front door and he rapped on it with the knocker. He knew that the city of Worcester was the finest place and most thoughtful city he had ever seen, and he was glad he had come, and enough he had forgotten some of the people he had met in the cars that night and he had stopped from the consumption, he is something like forgotten, but he had forgotten the free-hearted of the certain man he was to Maid Sarah Bashford, and he was a little trembling when the maiden came toward him.

Frank Lewis, of Cross Village, while out deer hunting lately shot his nephew in the head. The results will probably be fatal. He took the boy for a deer.

The smallpox scare is about over in Boyne Falls thanks to the energy of the board of health. The disease has been confined to the few families where it first appeared. Of the six houses quarantined all have been opened except one.

Fully $5,000 was paid out by potato buyers in Traverse City to farmers last week. This estimate is based on the report of the city weigh-master, which shows that 205 loads of potatoes were weighed on the city scales.

Petoskey Democrat: A wrestling was held at the Cushman last week by some railroad magnates from Alpena, Charlevoix and East Jordan. The railroad is planned to extend from Alpena to Charlevoix by way of South Arm, we understand.

The hunting camp of A. C. Cope at Dollarville, lately burned to the ground. Mr. Cope lost $75 in money, his two companions lost $25 more, and two valuable guns went up in smoke. The three men were out for their afternoon sport and returning to camp in the evening found their cozy little home with all their trappings destroyed by fire. Carelessness in leaving the camp fire was probably the cause of the loss.

Northport Leader: Rev. S. Steele, one of the oldest pioneers in this county and a man who is still preaching older on this district celebrated his 90th birthday last Wednesday and in honor of the occasion about twenty-five of his relatives and friends gathered at his home and partook of an excellent dinner. A number of presents were given and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent in talking over old times. Among the relatives were four generations of children.

Members of the United States lake survey have discovered a new shoal in Lake Michigan about (illegible) between two shoals recently surveyed off Waugoshance. The center of the new shoal lies one and seven-eighths miles due north of Waugoshance light, and a depth of 24 feet or less extends one mile east and west with the greatest width north and south of one-quarter of a mile. The least depth found was 19½ feet.

East Jordan Herald: Wm. Spencer early carries off the laurels as the most successful deer hunter in this region. He was doing a job of plastering up at Howard one day the first of the week and running out of material he borrowed a rifle and went out into the woods. He was gone about three hours and got three deer, one of them a mammoth buck that tipped the scales at 225 pounds after it was dressed and it was not a very good day for hunting either.

Petoskey Democrat: One of the best paying crops raised by the northern Michigan farmer today is peas. We give below some figures, which seem large, but which were furnished us from a very reliable source. Darling & Beaton informed us that they have handled 50,000 bushels of peas mostly raised in Emmet county. Over 14,000 bushels have been delivered in Harbor Springs and Pigeon lines, at Alpena. It is estimated that 70,000 bushels have been handled by the Ferry Seed Co. at Charlevoix, a portion of which were raised in Emmet county. This makes a total of 134,000 bushels. The price paid to the farmer for these peas varies between $1.10 and $2.00 per bushel, according to the variety. Darling & Beaton place the average price at $1.50, which would mean the snug sum of $100,000 a large percentage of which has been distributed among the farmers of Emmet county.

A Startling Surprise.

Very few could believe in looking at A. D. Tinlen, a healthy, robust blacksmith of Tinlen, Ind. that for one year he suffered dab torture from Rheumatism as few could endure and live. But a wonderful change followed his taking Electric Bitters. "Two bottles wholly cured me," he writes. And I have not felt a twinge in over a year." They regulate the Kidneys, purify the blood and cure Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervousness, improve digestion and give perfect health. Try them. Only 50c at J. G. Hines & Co's drug store.

About Potatoes.

A Cadillac buyer in an interview has the following to say regarding the potato market.

"In my opinion the potato price is certain to reach the mark doing much before the 1st of January. Dealers are in poor condition in the Genesee valley, where the crop is usually good and high quality. This year the content has been very good and a crop of quality been the portion and which will now be selling, being super-cooled, hollow-hearted and rotting badly. New York's crop, which is usually depended upon, is also a failure this year, and it seems to be northern Michigan's opportunity. The belt of territory which stretches across the state and includes Wexford, Osceola and Mecosta and all counties north, is considered the best potato patch in the world. The potatoes in this belt are always of the best quality and this year is no exception to the rule. Northern Michigan is depended upon for at least 1,000,000 bushels of potatoes for shipment and possibly more.

Prices are holding here pretty steadily at the 35 cent mark and are not likely to go beyond that until cold weather. This, of course, is the wholesale price, the consumer paying from 40 to 50 cents. If cold weather sets in the increased difficulty and risk in handling shipments will send the price up several notches."

Asleep Amid Flames.

Breaking into a blazing house, some German lately dragged the sleeping occupants from death. Parents, sons and daughters, all were in peril. But when you neglect coughs and colds. Don't do it. Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption gives perfect protection against all throat, chest and lung troubles. Keep it near, and avoid suffering, death and doctor's bills. A few doses will stop a late cough, prevent the night sweats and lessen expectoration. Guaranteed to have results by all druggists. Trial bottle free.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

There is general agreement among the school authorities that the first thing to be done is to reduce the number of small school districts, to make the township the smallest unit of school management, and as far as possible to consolidate the country schools wherever the average falls below 20. This carries with it the proposition to provide free transportation for pupils whenever they live beyond a reasonable walking distance from the schools.

The movement for the consolidation of small schools has already been in progress long enough to have demonstrated that when properly managed it will produce excellent results. So rapidly has legislation opened the way for the change that it will probably be a surprise to many readers to learn that in 18 States transportation of pupils at public expense is already practiced by existing laws.

This is at present the most important movement affecting the rural schools, and it will be well, therefore, to study it more closely. It is the general experience that a saving of funds is effected through consolidation of schools. Of the towns in Massachusetts that have tried the plan 10 per cent report a less cost after consolidation and only 8 per cent an increased cost.

Of 124 New Hampshire towns, 115 report less cost with conveyance as compared with maintaining local schools. Connecticut transported pupils at $14.14 per capita, Vermont at $12.75 per pupil. These are averages. In individual cases the cost varies greatly, according to the particular circumstances in each case.

The testimony is very general that consolidation results in improved schools, and is well nigh unanimous that attendance is more regular.

BRONTON NOTES.

A brand new baby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Boyer.

J. W. Mosher, our busy grocer, is getting in his winter supply of goods.

Hugh Miller of Charlevoix is spending a few days hunting in this vicinity.

Dr. Chase is still very ill, but is slightly better than he has been for some time.

Mrs. Bentley, of Harbor Springs, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Bentley.

Miss Lyngklipp her his new brunswick completed. It looks as if Niels was going to get married.

The will ducks and partridges are very plentiful this fall, a good many are being bagged by our local sportsmen.

It is reported that there has been two weddings in this vicinity the past week. Gilbert Holland and Miss Claude Dodson, Hugh Roberts and Miss Myrtle Wright.

The social and handkerchief sale of the Ladies Aid Society last Friday night was a success in spite of storm. A general good time and several dollars more in their treasury.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. James Hyslop, Ph. D., Pastor.

Next Sunday morning the subject of sermon will be "The Apostolic Spiritual Commonwealth." In the evening the pastor commences a "What is It" course of sermons on the following subjects. "What is Religion?" "Sin?" "Grace?" "Faith?" "Conversion?" These subjects are important as bearing upon the truest character and form of life, and should be interesting to many. Good congregational singing and special music by choir will make bright the service.

At the request of the Christian Endeavor Society the pastor has stated to give half hour lecture talks on "The Home" on which he will use the blackboard quite freely. The first was given last Sunday evening in Endeavor hour and was well attended. Subject for next Sunday evening is "The Canon of Scripture" and some methods of bible study.

The ladies supper Wednesday was a good success.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM WILDCAT

Ferocious Animal Makes Attack on Engineer and Fireman.

A construction train on the Montrose and Tunkhannock Road came to a standstill near Springville, Pa., Monday night owing to the engine slipping an eccentric, and the engineer and his fireman got out to repair damages. As they were working they heard a terrific yell, and then a wildcat sprang from the bushes on the engineer, knocking him down. The fireman hit the cat on the head with a wrench, and it quit the engineer and attacked the fireman. This gave the former time to draw his revolver, and he got a bullet through the brute's head, killing it. It weighed fifty pounds. Both men were badly lacerated. Philadelphia Inquirer.

Monkeys Hard to Train.

To make a monkey into an actor is a difficult feat because he is too intelligent to train and too clever to be trained, a circus man once showed me that the more intelligent an animal is the more difficult it is for man to do its tricks, says the Pittsburg Dispatch. This is illustrated in the case of the horse which is a peculiarly stupid animal, and has always to be worked mechanically, and yet horses are exceedingly easy to train. A donkey, on the other hand, which is many more intelligent than a horse, is not easy to teach, because he always wants to reason out his own will.

A HUSTLER FOR BUSINESS.

Coroner Meant to Let Nothing Get Away From Him.

As a coroner of a western town was barreling along the street he was stopped by a friend.

"Don't stop me!" he cried excitedly. "I'm going to hold an inquest.

"Where?" inquired the friend. "Who's dead?"

"Don't know his name," replied the coroner, rushing along. "But there's a side show just come to town with a mummy."

"Great Scott!" exclaimed the friend. "You're not going to hold an inquest on a mummy, are you? Why, they've been dead a thousand years or more."

"Doesn't make any difference," retorted the coroner. "I wasn't elected to office in this town to lose money, and when anything dead comes this way, you bet I get a fee out of it. Come along and I'll put you on the jury."

HIS IDEA OF AN INCUBATOR.

Four-Year-Old Tells of Pathetic Plight of Chicken.

A well-known Harvard professor has a bright boy, who one day, at the age of four, appeared in his father's study clasping in his hand a forlorn-looking little chicken, which had strayed from a neighboring incubator.

"Willie," said his father sternly, "take that chicken back to its mother at once."

"Ain't dot any mudder," answered Willie.

"Well, then take it back to its father," said the professor, determined to maintain parental authority.

"Ain't dot no father, dither," said the child. "Ain't dot anything 'cept an old lamp!"

Richest Nation on Earth.

The change footing of Gotham at first the best example of socialism in the world. The tribe is said to have $5,000,000 cash on deposit in Washington and to own 1,500,000 acres of land, worth another $5,000,000. Their realty holdings give a per capita wealth of $10,000 for every brave, squaw and papoose in the tribe. The interest on their money in Washington adds annually a little over $200 to each member, old, middle-aged and young. This makes the Oneida the richest people in the world.

Monument to Belgium's Queen.

Countess Lonyay and her daughter, Princess Elizabeth Windisch-Graetz, have determined to erect a monument in the grounds of Hainlendorf castle, near Vienna, in memory of the late queen of the Belgians. The permission of the emperor will have to be obtained prior to the erection of the statue, but no difficulty is anticipated on that score.

The Best Building Stone.

Fossil coral, found in Fiji, is the best building stone in the world, it is claimed by an eccentric Englishman, the residency of Brooklyn since a few months ago. He has brought a quantity of it to this city, and has offered it to the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences, and also to the Brooklyn Bridge Trustees, if they will use it in the construction of the bridge. He says it is impervious to water, and that it will last forever. The Brooklyn Institute has not yet decided whether it will accept the gift or not.

—Don't think you will get Dallas's gasoline on a pedestal if you send one to the supreme bench. He will be the same jolly Charlevoix chum when he comes to his Charlevoix college, and will greet you with the same good fellowship. He will be just as much interested in the success of Charlevoix interests as he has ever been. Being a supreme judge he will be no less the genial, companionable gasoline.

—Mr. E. K. Burnham, who has had charge of the season gathering at Beaver island for the Chicago commission, returned Saturday, and left Monday morning with the final consignment of trout eggs for the Northville hatchery. There have been gathered and shipped 12,000,000 eggs. Of these 95 per cent will be hatched and returned chiefly to Lake Michigan fishing grounds. If one half of these fail, matters, which the commission has reason to believe is probable, the benefit of the work will be apparent.

—The stock yards belonging to Burns City, and which has been in use at the sugar factory all summer, will probably be brought up our village crowd. The crowd is said to have the purchase, and the matter has been referred to the proper committee with power to act. Next spring, on the completion of the sewer, the necessity of permanently improving Bridge street will confront us. Omaha close is, all things considered, the best solution of the problem. —Mr. J. B. Paige, of Traverse City, is in the succession of G. H. Shadbolt as superintendent of the Charlevoix electric light plant. Mr. Paige was here over Sunday, and on Monday had the network when a contract was signed. Mr. Paige, who is an efficient and well recommended electrician, will take charge of the plant December 1st. The new superintendent is a young man, and during his short stay here favorably impressed all of our citizens with whom he came in contact.

—At the M. E. church Tuesday evening, Dec. 2nd, the Rev. William Lawfman, of Traverse City, in his Lecture Entertainment on the disease of "Strong Drink"—its causes and cure, Mr. Lawfman discusses that old subject in a new way, he most graphically illustrates his arguments by a series of Stereopticon Views, mostly taken from life, he has a new high grade Graphophone which will begin on the 5th concert. Admission 10 cents.

—Mrs. A. J. Weston, who has been on an extended visit with friends in Northport, returned to her new home in Charlevoix with her son E. H. Weston on Wednesday.

—Andrew Young, father of A. F. Young, died at his home in this village last Thursday night. The funeral was from the home on Saturday. Deceased was 68 years of age. He removed here from Manistee two years ago.

—Mrs Belchner, wife of A. H. Belchner, died very suddenly at her Avenue home in this village Tuesday night, of apoplexy. Deceased was a pioneer of South Arm township, removing here from that township a few years ago. She was a sister of Mrs. H. B. Hipp, of South Arm. The funeral will occur Saturday.

—The W. C. T. U. will hold a Mothers' Meeting at the home of Mrs. Wickel on the evening of Thanksgiving afternoon Dec 5th, at 2:30. A special program is arranged for three o'clock, after which they will serve a tea-meet free. All members are expectantly requested to attend this meeting, and others interested in the work are cordially invited.

—Don't think you will put Dallas's gasoline on a pedestal if you send one to the supreme bench. He will be the same jolly Charlevoix chum when he comes to his Charlevoix college, and will greet you with the same good fellowship. He will be just as much interested in the success of Charlevoix interests as he has ever been. Being a supreme judge he will be no less the genial, companionable gasoline.

—Mr. E. K. Burnham, who has had charge of the season gathering at Beaver island for the Chicago commission, returned Saturday, and left Monday morning with the final consignment of trout eggs for the Northville hatchery. There have been gathered and shipped 12,000,000 eggs. Of these 95 per cent will be hatched and returned chiefly to Lake Michigan fishing grounds. If one half of these fail, matters, which the commission has reason to believe is probable, the benefit of the work will be apparent.

—The stock yards belonging to Burns City, and which has been in use at the sugar factory all summer, will probably be brought up our village crowd. The crowd is said to have the purchase, and the matter has been referred to the proper committee with power to act. Next spring, on the completion of the sewer, the necessity of permanently improving Bridge street will confront us. Omaha close is, all things considered, the best solution of the problem. We have the stone, and the crusher would be a good investment.

—The Justice of the Supreme Court is expected here next week.

—The Kalamazoo Gazette-News has started a boom for Delmar Bradleman of this city, for Justice of the Supreme Court.

—This is a matter that will deeply interest Charlevoix as Mr. Bradleman has come to be regarded as one of our own people. To say that he is popular here but faintly expresses his relations with Charlevoix people.

—Mr. Bradleman is one of the foremost lawyers of Michigan, and would honor Michigan and the bar on the supreme bench.

—We do not apprehend that it will require any very strenuous work to send a solid delegation to the judicial convention for Judge Bradleman for supreme court judge.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Walter Small has entered school.

Floyd at the high school Saturday night at 8 P. M.

There will be a foot ball game today between Charlevoix and Harbor Springs. Admission 15 cents.

Mr. Tice entertained the teachers at his home last Friday evening. A pleasant evening was spent by all.

The Charlevoix foot ball team expects to play the Petoskey team Saturday, which will probably prove a close and exciting game.

Remember the Floyds open our lecture course on Saturday night. We are sorry that it could not be arranged to come some more convenient evening, but it was the only available date. The remaining entertainments come on the following dates: Garver, Tuesday Nov 18; Ziegler, Thursday Jan. 15; Hipps, Tuesday March 10; Weslayans, Friday March 27; and Haas, Monday April 27. Owing to the fact that the first entertainment comes on Saturday it will not begin until 8:30 p. m.

Second Cousin Sarah

BY THE AUTHOR OF "ANNE ALDINE, SPINSTER," "LITTLE MAID KIRBY," ETC., ETC.

CHAPTER V.

Brighton Colbeck occupied the first floor of Elliot Lodge, and the gardener who had been hedging and trimming Rosalind's rose bushes some of these days was engaged in setting up a fresh lattice in order a bower, and had entertained numerous passers-by with the very interesting news that the Lodge was to be occupied by a large white man, who exercised on a crimson dressing-gown, and who had a habit of sitting in the sun bareheaded, with a "smoking" between his teeth, and had been frightened between the windows of the house and several dogs, and had shot "Prince Albert," in blue and yellow, in a way of variety of shooting, and therefore was a dinge when from the dog-fancy point of view, and had "cussed" Mr. Meeker to the Court," and over the row was a dreadful sight of swearing, and of the royal pathology which followed, and was altogether a man who contributed to an earnest Jennings who had been known to pray every day for two months.

Mr. Jennings was always waiting for November, although he drove a little horse and chaise, and was a "Liberal" in politics of those of the year. On the night of November 5th, Mrs. Jennings was standing at his door, after his period rule, to see the bonfire which he was one waiting for November as a signal, and Mr. Jennings, the gardener, who had said not he should be in his rose arbour, and Mr. Jennings was joined in his watch by a woman who was a little, and so far as her hands sufficed, and possibly really, or his shoulder, for Mr. Jennings wanted and doubled up under the pressure.

"I was you wouldn't, Lizer," Mr. Jennings said conversationally.

"Why I would not when John?" asked the woman.

"Where's the use?" said Mr. Jennings, with a sigh. "Hain't you given a month arterwards over, and hain't you got your own way? Hain't you had your own way ever since you married me? Hain't you been a-ruling and a-reigning over me, and a-lording of me, and a-bullyin' of me, and a-ordering of me, and a-cussin' of me, and a-cuffin' of me, and a-bullyin' of me, and a-ordering of me, and a-reigning of me, and a-ruling of

New Military Raft.

An interesting experiment with a new form of pontoon raft has recently been made on the River Vesle, near Rheims, by a battalion of French infantry. To bend the raft of the usual sacks filled with hay were enveloped with waterproof material. The whole battalion, was transported across the river in thirty minutes.

What a Woman Does.

The owners of three ranch, New York, are placed by a woman. Miss Alice are an absolutely necessary to the modern businesses and Miss Hattie Tidmell work in or on house as Owen, on the railway but to place on a little time-saver invented. This electrical contrivance is attachment rings the bells.

Ignorance in Bavaria.

Sigelsbach Michael Kinsch of Furnenbiburg, Bavaria was vigorously attacked for the government concerning the matter of his dog, which bore a big bad wolf. The sentence was a fine before by the German peasants, who said the recommendation for the use of their harvest and wanted a society his wonder that he was saved from his foot when the wolves came.

New Cure for Dyspepsia.

A new cure for dyspepsia is advertised "Eat the patient," says one of the faculty. "Give them one to three pints of water and hour before and second and third quarters are time and to be said twice each day and walk backwards and forwards, one half hour. This method will agitate the water in the stomach and wash the walls completely."

Remarkable Balloon Ascension.

James Glaisher, that meteorologist, is since nearly forty years ago. Forty years ago he made one of the most remarkable balloon ascensions on record. He was also to record a height of 29,000 feet before he became unconscious and the balloon suddenly rendered 23,000 feet before he compelled 20 to 21,000 managed to descend in the valve.

Threaten to Employ Chinese.

The mining people of South Africa are beginning to announce that in case the African workmen was not able to supply white labor, upon which the gold industry depends, they must look elsewhere, namely to the yellows, familiar in uncle early, and suggestion of Chinese labor. In other words, they will employ. The Chinese.

Moonshine Whisky Makes Trouble.

Benjamin F. Perry, son of a former governor of south Carolina, has been sent to jail in Coushatta, that state, charged with selling moonshine whisky. He will be tried at the next term of court in Richland county. Perry's brother was a congressman from a mountain district of South Carolina a dozen years ago.

Mule's Negligence.

A Geelgin negro, riding a mule in a thunder storm, was badly shocked by lightning. When he recovered he looked at the mule reproachfully and thus addressed it: "You pod devil, you! Oldest Pension Office Clerk.

Judge G. M. Tompkins is the oldest pension office clerk in Washington. He was appointed in 1861 and saw the department grow from a little bureau to one of the largest and most influential branches of the government service.

Refuses to Resign.

William O'Doherty, M. P., who has been asked by the executive committee of the United Irish League for North Donegal to resign his seat in parliament, because he attended the coronation, reiterates his declaration that he was no worshiper of the king.

Clyde Fitch Back at Work.

Clyde Fitch, the playwright, returned from a five months' tour of Europe taken for the benefit of his health. He is not a strong man yet, but will remain his work and will bring out a new play about Nov. 1st.

Lives by Capturing Sea Lions.

Capt. J. K. Mullins of Detroit, makes a good living capturing sea lions, the pets most of them on the coast of Mexico and Southern California. He has just returned from Europe, where he disposed of forty.

Unhealthy West Africa.

West Africa has the most unhealthy climate in the world. Other places such as Aden, Singapore and Hong Kong are better. Other places that stands and York, are also higher death rates. That is either true, but that important the annual rate fall, the number of days when it does fall and the excessive humidity of the atmosphere are considered the causes of unhealthiness are accepted.

Plague of Caterpillars.

Southern Russia is beset with caterpillars. Swarms of the insects have recently taken possession of the streets, buildings, yards, gardens and farm lands in the neighborhood of Kiief, and all over the provinces much destruction is being caused. Near Kief, the other day an express train took two hours to climb through the half inch of caterpillars that blocked the line.

The Aloes.

As Pailly was going along the street one day he came upon a ship yonder was crowd to see an aloes. The old man looked at it for some time, when a passer by asked him what he was looking at. "Why, sir," says Pailly, "I guess, as old as aloes mustn't fary are in Oriental, but O'Ye aloes' aloes was that needs a stalac engine to pass it."—Yit Bits.

Statues of Victoria.

English sculptors, scrambling to forts are being kept busy on several executive stations and portraits of their late queen, which are now in great demand in all the British possessions. Williamson of Joker is at work upon no less than three colossal bronze Victorias which have been ordered for the north-western provinces of Japan.

Copyright Law Lifts Prices.

The law passed in Richmond provoking the copyright of recent copies in Canada, complaining some into effect the 1st of the month, and the day the revolution and the fashion probably reached 25,000 feet before the compilation 50 70 cent, compared to [illegible] in the price.

American Exports to Japan.

Imports from the United States into Japan were more less in 1901 than in 1900. This was chiefly because of the falling off in the quantity of raw cotton imported from America. A very large increase is at the same time noticable in the importation of machine oil, brought about in anticipation of the doubling of the import duty from October 1. In locomotive engines and machinery and other engines and iron and steel, there was also a noticeable increase, but in the matter of rails and nails, the United States for the time lost back.

How to See the Eclipse.

To cause an eclipse of the moon one should have a good looking companion who is not too scientific and who will get drowsy sitting on the front steps and droop his head on your shoulder so her rule time come within two inches of yours and for curls tickle your neck. Then when she is insensible and shocked at what happens you can pretend to be pained, but don't show too much grief.—Anthony (Kan.) Republican.

The Dum-Dum Bullet.

The Dum-Dum bullet derives its name from Dum-Dum, India, where it was first made. Its top is of copper and hollow. When it strikes its victim it becomes mushroomshaped, and tears its way through the flesh making a dangerous wound at all events only to within thirty minutes after the bullet strikes at least so says a medical paper.

Work for Women.

In the canning and running factories women have largely taken the places of men, and of trade increases as it has done in the last two or three years thousands more will find employment there. Their labor is lighter, being what is termed "clerical work," which consists of cutting dried beef, stuffing sausages, packing tins, etc.

Old and Worn.

Our democratic contemporaries would have us believe in the sense of but that they are valiantly fighting the trusts, but when we read their editorials we are forced to the conclusion that they have simply danced off some of their old free trade rags moth and are now attempting to foist them upon the country in a new guise.—Western Union News.

Woman Beheaded.

Nineteen year old Veronika Kubalicka, who had killed her three children, was beheaded with the sword at Hanover the kaiser having refused to pardon her. If she had committed murder by deed she would have been sentenced to three months and released after two weeks.—Exchange.

What They Were.

Little Frances had been put into combination garments some time ago, but she could not remember the name of them. One day she discovered that some one had strayed her doll in the air apparel and running to her mother she exclaimed: "Oh, mamma! Dolly got combination garments on! Just like mine!"

Old Bureau Used.

The newest bureau is a reproduction of the high, awkward affair before which men perform at one time or another heavy catnapping, during a familiar visit, to make their toilets. There is the selfsame swinging glass of indescapable proportions and the narrow table cluttered with little drawers. The knobs, of course, are glass.

Ambiguously Worded.

There was some hilarity recently behind the scenes of a certain London theater when the actors were confronted with the dreaded "notice" to the following effect: "The run of the piece will terminate in a fortnight from today unless the business improves, which it is now doing."

Politician and Statesman.

In the course of a speech the other evening Secretary Shaw hitched his wagon to some fine cultured horses, with this clever epigram: "The difference between a politician and a statesman is the difference between a young man who is looking for a situation and one who is looking for work."

Could Not Be Very Anxious.

An Edinburg a compositor was put under caution of $10 not to attempt to commit suicide. A person who will be prevented from committing suicide by the possible loss of $10 is probably not very enthusiastic about doing the deed.

Historical Writer Dead.

The Rev. George Rawlinson, canon of Canterbury, who died a few days ago, was a well known historical writer. His best known work appeared only the sisters of Egypt and the other ancient empires. He was born at Chelsfield, on Nov. 23, 1815.

Wheat Crop.

An agricultural book of the northwest territories shows that in four years the production of that has increased from 5,845,478 bushels to 12,898,147 bushels, and of oats from 3,640,303 bushels to 9,716,122 bushels.

Shrewd Paris Swindlers.

It is said that a shrewd firm in Paris made a small fortune by selling what purported to be bones from dead bodies found in the ruins of Martinique. These bones have been found to consist of plaster of Paris.

Cigarettes by the Ton.

Five hundred and thirty-two tons of cigarettes were exported from Cuba in the year 1901.

Steamers on Swiss Lake.

There are 45 steamers on the Swiss lakes. The largest can transport 1,200 passengers.

A Polikinsky's Publisher.

The Revue Hebdomadaire describes a rare bird among publishers, Albert Savine, who for seven years spent $100,000 in producing works by Henry Fouquier, Hervieu and other famous authors, for which, at the time, there was little demand in France. In more than two years he paid $20 a month to a French worker in new Russian books and he paid $100 a page.

CHASED BY WILDCATS

FARMER'S LIFE SAVED BY HIS BRAVE DOG

Perilous Night Ride Through Mountain Woods of Pennsylvania—Former Residence of William Cullen Bryant and Bancroft, L. L., Is Destroyed by Fire.

Clarence Moser, a farmer living near Coudersport, Pa., had a rather strange experience with wildcats, which, from an unusually large number have lurked in the vicinity of late, and which have been quite numerous of some days. He was returning from a hunting expedition which took him to the woods of the adjoining township of Eulalia, and was alone except for his faithful hound, when he was attacked by a pair of wildcats, which had evidently been shadowing him for some distance. He had reached a point where the road ran through a dense wood, when he heard a growl behind him and turning saw two wildcats springing for him. He had his gun with him, and as the animals sprang at him he fired at the leader, killing it instantly. The other wildcat then sprang at him, but the dog, which had been following his master at a distance, came up and attacked the wildcat, which then ran into the woods. Moser then started for his home, but the dog, which had evidently been badly bitten, did not follow him. Moser was compelled to return to the place where the dog was last seen and call him out of the woods before he could get him to follow him. The dog was so badly bitten that it died the next morning. Moser had his face and hands badly scratched by the wildcats, and was compelled to walk three miles before he could find a team to take him to his home. The wildcat killed by Moser was a large one, and weighed about 40 pounds.

CHARLEVOIX SENTINEL.

VOLUME XXXIV. CHARLEVOIX MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1902. NUMBER 36

Charlevoix Sentinel.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Governor Bliss has appointed Chas. G. Gray of Petoskey as a member of the state board of dental examiners to succeed L. A. Gillett of Bay City.

A. B. Wagley who has had charge of the food department of the Erk Rapids Iron Co. for years past, has resigned the position to accept a similar one with the M. A. Hanna Co. at St. Ignace.

East Jordan Enterprise: E. N. Cook of this place has sent in his resignation as post master, and will be succeeded by Supervisor Wm. Madrigan, whose performance will give general satisfaction to the patrons of the office.

A Inindle county school marm caught the justice in a falsehood, whereupon she asked him where he expected to go if he told such stories. The justice replied that wherever he went he expected he'd make lives for school teachers.

A young lady near Petoskey so admires those poultry that she announces her desire to marry the young man who can display the finest flock of domestic birds in the country. Here is a chance for some "bachelor" to take the prize at a pet stock show.

Central Lake Torch: Rev. E. L. Sprague surprised his congregation last Sunday by announcing his resignation of his charge at this place. We understand that he has accepted the pastorate of the Congregational church at Thompsonville and expects to go there at once.

Peter Isaacs, a young Indian, lets his hand come in contact with a wire at the mill at Manistique where he was employed, and the member was cut off. With the stoicism of his race he did not faint or get excited, but stood beside the machine explaining to the spectators just how it happened. He then walked to the hospital, where the arm was dressed, after which he walked home.

Traverse City Record: By a deal which will be completed in Buffalo this afternoon, land in Traverse City will be purchased by Buffalo capitalists for the establishment of what will ultimately be the largest stock yards and stock feeding farms in the State of Michigan. It will involve an outlay of $200,000. The cattle which will number between 20,000 and 30,000 will be fed on the refuse of the staves factory.

The Manistee News says that Gus Kistinger has bought the machinery, boilers and engines in the old Canfield & Wheeler mill at the mouth of the river and will transport them to Beaver Island, where he has lately been acquiring extensive timber tracts. Many years ago there was another lumbering on the island, and it is claimed now that the timber remaining offers exceptional advantages for sawing and marketing.

Central Lake Torch. While on a recent visit at this place, Charles Liken, of Solenang, secured three sugar beets, taking them from a field on Church's place. He took them home and had them tasted and weighed to Mr. Brown that they tested a much higher per cent than those raised at the beets where they have a sugar factory and have been for years extensively engaged in raising sugar beets. This should be encouraging to those who expect to grow beets in northern Michigan.

Traverse City Record. A gentleman from Manistee is in the city looking up the matter of the establishment of a large canning factory in this city. He is being shown about by President Friedrich of the board of trade. This gentleman also represents a corporation who make a business of the drying of vegetables for canning purposes, and it is their design to secure large tracts of land in this section for the growing of huckleberries, the idea being to grow the huckleberries hereabouts and have them canned here.

SUGAR BEETS PROFITABLE.

Genesee County Farmers Aspire, Satisfied With Results.

Robert Miller Writes Interestingly About Beet Culture.

The Burton farmers who raise sugar beets this year under contract for the Rochester beet sugar factory are shipping the beets over the electric line, and with few exceptions their experience has been much the same as that of the Lake Orion township the next south will be dotted, fully 150 acres being put in. The largest yield this season was that of Geo. Hinsky, who put in a little over seven acres. Of the average seven acres and a half were drowned out in the rains early in the season. From the remaining five and one-fifth acres Mr. Hinsky expects to ship an average of fifteen tons to the acre. He has already shipped three carloads, one on Thursday night and another today, and has five more carloads to ship. The price paid is $4.50 a ton for beets with a test of 12 per cent and 25¢ extra per ton for each extra per cent of saccharine matter above 12 the basis. As his beets test about 16 per cent he will average in the neighborhood of $6.00 per ton. The freight is $1 per ton, so that he figures that the clear profit on the ton is $4.50. The cost of raising his entire yield he estimates at $420.

Next year Mr. Hinsky will put in 27 acres of beets and he he has had this year's experience is quite like he expects a better yield per acre.

The above clipping from the Flint Daily News of the 22nd inst., may serve to help encourage some of the farmers around Charlevoix who may not be fully satisfied with their first experience in sugar beet raising.

While the statements in regard to the Burton farmers and of George Hinsky in particular may have a growing effect on some of the doubting, it would be well if it should have the effect to correct and allay some of the misrepresentations and exaggerations that for some reason, are being diligently circulated, especially in regard to the situation in your section.

If it could be shown wherein any one is going to be benefited by the crippling of the business in the country around Charlevoix, then there might be an excuse offered for those spreading the discouraging statements, but as it is, I see no other reason than the mean spirit of envy and neighborhood jealousy. I heard quite a little of it on my way out west. At Baldwin we had to wait some time for the train that was to take us on our way. While loafing around two men came into the office and in the usual inquiry on such occasions. One said he was on his way home from a visit to his son-in-law away up near East Jordan.

"How are times up there?" "Rather dull; lumbering is playing out and farming don't amount to much yet, and in fact I don't think ever will, the country is too rough and the soil too poor." Well, I thought that was quite an agricultural region; the fact of their building a beet sugar factory led me to think so. "Yes, they have started out at a lake factory near there but the people, or a majority of them, think it will never amount to anything. In fact it begins to look so, as they have knocked off work on their factory for lack of material. My son-in-law thinks it was a dodge to get a lot of farmers into raising beets, then the factory fail and leave them with slim beets on their hands for beet sharps to buy at their own price. In fact to you to law save some time and money thinks they are going to fix no money in beets, so he went to getting out tan bark, and left his beets to grow as best they could."

Here a third man entered into the conversation and said, "I do not know anything about the fake factory you speak of or the country where it is located, nor do I know your son-in-law, or care what he says regarding the profits of beet growing; but I do know from an experience of four years that there is good money in beet growing both for the farmer and the manufacturer. This year my crop will be in just a failure for the reason that at least one-third of my ground is under water, and more of it is so soft that it cannot be weeded, so I expect my crop this year will fail to pay expenses; but one year I raised to double my average, then with good cultivation and a favorable season, will make up for this year's failure. I know that not every man who plants beets will make a success of it. You can easily tell who will succeed and who will fail by the appearance of their farms. When you pass a farm where the corners are full of weeds, fences full of briers and other weeds, you may be sure that that farmer will never succeed as a beet grower. You must know you cannot tell by the looks of the fields whether they had been planted with potatoes or red root, or seeded with mustard or oats. But where the potatoes fields are one mass of dark green overlapped with diseases of blight blossom, and where no mustard is seen to oat or wheat fields, only much as has been plucked up by the roots and piled up for dead cotter, you might expect success should such farmer engage in beet growing."

Here the man who had been eating his son-in-law near East Jordan, changed the subject to the very unfavorable season it had been, the whistle was heard in the distance, all were in a bustle to board the train and we were soon rumbling toward my destination.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

President Eliot, of Harvard University in a recent address before the Connecticut State Teachers' Association took the public school system of the country to task.

He asserted that the education of the young was delusive that there is not nearly enough of it, deplored the lack of intelligence in school management and attributed a remodeling of the system generally.

He says the schools have not kept pace with the social development of the past half century than they are doing no more than prepare the young for the life of forty years ago, whereas the life of today is widely different from what it was at that time.

He finds in the prevalence of drunkenness, of gambling, of controversies between capital and labor, of crime, of the spoils system in the civil service of the government, and various other national evils, proof of a lack of that reasoning power on the part of the people which the schools should train.

Mr. Eliot expects a great deal from his ideal school system. Criticism is many times healthfully if based upon sound principles, and this statement of failure in results from the public schools even though from an ideal and possibly from an impracticable standpoint, may well serve to show what the highest ideal and purpose of public education is.

Teachers should realize that much is required of them, and in endeavoring to come up to these requirements a higher point in individual work and general educational results will be reached.

Marvelling but True.

"If every one knew what a grand medicine Dr. King's New Life Pills is," writes D. H. Turner, Dempseytown, Pa., "you'd sell all you have in a day. Tu. works" but has made a new man of me." Infallible for constipation, stomach and liver troubles, 25c at F. G. Hines & Co.'s drug store.

A Startling Surprise.

Very few could believe in looking at A. T. Hadley's healthy, robust blacksmith of Tisdale, Ind., that for 20 years he suffered such tortures from dyspepsia as he now calls dire and live. But a wonderful change followed his taking Electric Bitters. "Two bottles wholly cured me," he writes, "and I have not felt a twinge in over a year." They regulate the Kidneys, purify the blood and cure Dyspepsia. Unequaled for Malaria, Impotent digestion and give perfect health. Try them. Only 50c at F. G. Hines & Co's drug store.

—Petoskey is posting through the same painful experience that Charlevoix did several years ago—with this difference: Petoskey water is impure, whereas ours was inadequate in supply. But Petoskey has well as Charlevoix did. When Petoskey adopts our plan and constructs filter galleries on the beach of the bay, they will have no trouble as to quality or quantity. It cost Charlevoix about $15,000 to find this out.

—A Lansing special of Nov. 29th, says: "Makers of sugar beets in this vicinity are so well pleased with the results of this year's operations that the sugar company is experiencing very little difficulty in securing an increased acreage." Last season, last year as this time no acreage winter rye had been contracted, but 1,500 acres have already been contracted this year and the company expects to secure the necessary total acreage in a short time.

—It was a case now and the widow marries again and the second husband dies, is she the widow of the first husband, or of the second one, or of both? That is the conundrum recently before the pension authorities. The widow of a federal soldier was married to a person of such sixteen she married again and the pension stopped. Then the second husband died and the widow made application for reinstatement as the widow of the first husband, and the claim was allowed. Consequently, under last ruling, a widow can never be a widow of any but her first husband.

—The Calumet Workmen's Club, a large number of the members of which are socialists, has passed resolutions censuring President Roosevelt for his recent speech at Philadelphia enlighting the Press Stanzas. A particular feature of the speech to which the socialists have taken exception, is his address to the chairman of the meeting as "Worshipful Master." This is denominated a "fawning attitude," it being declared that it should be below the dignity of his president, and our United States to call anybody "Worshipful Master." A copy of the resolutions has been forwarded to the White House.

—Everything around the Belvedere is in a state of disorder, but it is to disorder that presages improvement. The big new addition to the Belvedere is in the hands of the carpenters and plasterers—a large force of them. Under the other part of the hotel a basement is being excavated, which will be used for new lavatory and closets. On the grounds all about, improvements are being made; cottages are being built or enlarged, walks are being built and grounds beautified. The fine new cottage of H. F. Foley, on Newman street, is finished and will be finished this winter, and the Parmelee cottage on Bergy Point, is being practically rebuilt. Belvedere adjustments seem to know the Charlevoix Summer Home next summer.

—We recently over-heard a conversation between two people which we may does not charlevoix sell its pick properly for resort sites, and spend our money on the strangers? Not on your life, friend. Not in a thousand years. The writer of this had the honor to be president of Charlevoix when the park property was bought of Amos Fox. It embraces about twenty acres, and fronts on the outer bay for about half a mile. The property cost $900, and when the proposition was voted upon, there was a majority against it. The tax payers of Charlevoix never made a better investment. Never had street improvement may cause tax-payers to groan now, but the time will come when, if the property should be sold, the groans would give place to nightmares and tortures of remorse. Save the park for posterity, and posterity will rise up and call you blessed.

—The Chicago Tribune is picking out an all-western eleven selected from the universities places Joseph Maddock, of East Jordan, right tackle of the University of Michigan in the class of the best football players. Maddock has made a wonderful record for himself this season on the gridiron. It is very unusual for a freshman to be put on the first eleven of an institution which possesses the fastest football players of the west. He has made good in every game and the selection by the Chicago Tribune stamps him as the best right tackle west of the Alleghanies and it is doubtful if he has a superior in the whole of the United States. Young Maddock weighs 190 pounds stripped, and is a perfect specimen of athletic manhood. He is a very swift runner. His furious onslaughts on his opponents won for him early in the season the nickname "Mad Ox," an appellation which has clung to him throughout the season. F. H. Yost, the famous coach of the Michigan football team, indorsed Maddock to attend the university. He entered the law department.

The steamer Mary, of St. Ignace, arrived here Tuesday to lay up for the winter.

The fishing tug Alice F. of Manistique, arrived here Friday and was hauled out at Washburn's yard to receive a new wheel. She left again Monday.

The schooner Grace M. Filer, with a full cargo of Grand Traverse Bay potatoes, was driven here by the southwester Monday, but left for Chicago Tuesday.

The latest arrival for cargo is the schooner Duval, of Harbor Beach, which comes for a cargo of lumber for her owners, Pere Marquette. The record for several winters of being the last clearance of the season.

The steamer Searchlight, of Harbor Springs, was ashore at Ironton Village, Tuesday afternoon. Capt. Chrysler succeeded here for a tug and the Taylor left at midnight. At this writing the Searchlight is still on the beach and a high northwest wind blowing. There is very little prospect of releasing her.

The steamer Illinois arrived here Monday afternoon from Chicago on her last trip of the year, bringing out of Chicago the largest cargo of freight she ever carried. The extents her trip to Algoma, for which point she took a large consignment of freight, she will arrive back the last of this week.

Traverse City Record. Some time ago Bert Lindley of Chicago, sold his yacht H. S. Pingree, Jr., of Frank Friedrich and took her to Chicago, where she was put on the lake during last summer. Mr. Lindley recently sold the yacht to New Orleans parties for $2,000. The craft will be taken down the Mississippi by her new owners and her future home will be in that city.

Invitations have been issued to the launching ceremony of the big car ferry, "Manistique, Marquette & Northern No. 1" by the American Ship Building Co., of Cleveland. This car ferry is the craft that will ply between Northport and Manistique, connecting the T. C. L. & M. with the Manistique, Marquette & Northern. The launching will take place next Saturday, December 6, at Cleveland, and work upon the fittings and interior works will be rapidly prosecuted. This ferry will be 325 feet in length, and have a capacity of 30 loaded cars. The boat will be entirely of steel, and she will cost about $600,000. The craft will be ready for service in the spring, as soon as the T. C. L. & M. is opened for traffic. This will be the largest and finest car ferry on the lakes. Grading on the line has been completed, and steel will be laid in a few days. The road is expected to be in operation early in the spring, and have it in full swing by the opening of the resort season.

$20 REWARD!

I will pay a reward of $20 for the return of a certain one-horse sleigh from the Indian Camp meeting ground Saturday last, and no questions that will serve to identify the party or parties taking it.

SCHOOL NOTES.

Visitors at the high school this week were Miss Rose O'Neill, Sara Levinson, and Miss Bartlett and Miss McGhee, of East Jordan.

The Thanksgiving foot-ball game with Harbor Springs resulted in a great victory for Charlevoix, the score being 27 0. This was a great improvement over the game at the Harbor a few weeks ago.

After repeated attempts by Charlevoix to engage Petoskey for a game of foot-ball saturday they have at last positively refused to come over here, and the victory Thanksgiving will end the foot-ball season.

Petoskey high school has challenged the Charlevoix high school to meet them in a definite game time this winter. The subject is "Resolved that Christmas eve prefer to the Church than to the School."

The foot-ball team met and elected the captain for 1903. The only candidate was Monte Withers, who by his work as "Tackle" for the past two seasons has clearly gained the captaincy. He was elected unanimously.

The Athletic Association held a meeting Dec. 1st at which meeting a new constitution was adopted and the following officers elected for the ensuing year: President, Will Pinnegar; Vice President, Hollie Lewis; Secretary, Burt Barnett; Treasurer, Stewart Stevenson. Manager for baseball, Lawrence Ackert; Manager for foot-ball, Verple Gates; Manager for track athletics, Walter Sinclair; Manager for in-door sports, Will Scroggie; Captain of base-ball team, Hollie Lewis; Captain of track team, Burt Barnett. The election of the Board of Control was laid over until next meeting.

For sale—100 season tickets at $1, for the rest of the course. The town needs the course and the school needs the money. It is absolutely necessary that we raise another hundred dollars to order to come out even. There is not $25 worth of entertainment. This is $25 more than the previous course. The following numbers are yet to appear: Burton Holmes, Mance Mc Donough, Ben Greet, Dr. Hale, Frazer, one of the best popular lectures on the American platform, Jan. 15. He has been recalled repeatedly at East Jordan. The next on the list is Riggs, March 3. Mr. Riggs can best be described to a Charlevoix audience as a Mackenzie Adams. His lecture, "Musical Fits and Misfits," is replete with humor. The Wesleyan Male Quartette appears March 27, and is the highest priced as well as the best company that has ever appeared before a Charlevoix audience. Mr. Ham, who gives "Old Times in Dixie" and "The Shoflygoter in Politics" is of a typical southern order. His lecture always pleases, and can not fail to please. Come on friends and give us your support.

SCHOOL COM. COLUMN.

School Education says "Teachers in our public schools are required to have some acquaintance with certain branches of study, and to possess a good moral character. If the moral character and qualification is to be ascertained by means of a written examination, we suggest the following questions to be used in the examination of August next:

1. Is it right to steal an umbrella?
2. Is it a matter of conscience with you to keep every appointment you make, and always to be strictly "on time"?
3. Is the use of "white lies" to avoid disagreeable things justifiable?
4. If, when making a payment, you receive too much change, should you keep it?
5. Do you take and read an educational journal? Do you pay for it promptly in advance or as nearly so as possible?

Try have just learned of a teacher who failed to receive a $1,200 position because the superintendent learned that she had for three years ignored the little text to her as the president of her educational journal, and who there and with out half an hour's notice by saying "What has that to do with teaching?" when informed why she was not appointed.

In our visitation we find some of our teachers who are keeping a record of the time they spend in talking to pupils to respond at the close of the day "perfect or imperfect." We question the value of a teacher who spends more time talking than good time in the school room. We hope for better, and be disappointed if any one teachers who have adopted

BY THE AUTHOR OF "ANNE JUDGE, SPINSTER," "LITTLE KATE KIRBY," ETC., ETC.

CHAPTER XI

Long before Headen's clock had made up its mind to strike the next morning, Sarah Rochester was cramped uncomfortably and tired. Her head was aching, and she felt not quite sufficiently to amount to her usual self. Nevertheless, she was determined to be up in time to hear her cousin, to see the big coal fire lighted and hot coffee and an inviting noise with the breakfast table set in the room which was called Headen's Work, indiscriminately to the other rooms in the house, at the time when she should be in his room ready to help him to dress, and to be required by Hover of Tony company to breakfast.

Tony, strange enough, was her bugbear. Unfortunately, had been found on the room of the Fifteen Bugle party, based after the Indian wars had ceased, and it was a long and tiresome one, and Sarah was not used to such excitement. The fact was, she was not used to anything, and was not used to the world, which she had hitherto seen only through the spectacles of a lady, and love for the unknown, in the person of Tom Tony, had gladdened her not at the day of which we speak.

The night was gloomy, and Headen, who was not in the habit of thinking, had not found on a model of imaginary choice with sweet, she felt, and yet, in spite of her gloomy forebodings, Headen had enjoyed and had enjoyed herself, and enjoyed it and had expressed that about it. But Sarah, in the intervals of sleep, believe the Tony afternoon for time had been a long one, and had spent nothing in the noble something but that Tony, Tony, Tony, the Virginia Tony, Tony with more the prestige of Tom Tony and of your head. It should divide a person's mind, it should divide a person's mind, and cause responsibility—so Sarah felt—to be the cost of her health. Tony, Tony, Tony,

HUMBUG AND MENACE!

WHY THE TARIFF COMMISSION IS NOT DESIRABLE.

It Would Involve an Extended Period of Tariff Agitation and Uncertainty, Thus Causing Uneasiness and Alarm in all Lines of Commercial Activity.

There has recently been some approval in high quarters of a proposal to appoint a "bipartisan" tariff commission to wrestle with the tariff problem for an indefinite period and wind up with making "recommendations" to Congress. The New York Commercial, which has been a very patent supporter of the protective policy, has taken the matter up in a sensational way, sending out broadcast and blank petitions all over the country, with the evident intent, if a commission should be appointed, of claiming that the "Commercial did it," after the established custom of the sensational press.

A "bipartisan tariff commission" would be an utter humbug, and its performances would be a mere farce. It would be absolutely known in advance that the three or five members who would constitute the protectionist majority would "recommend" the maintenance of the present protective system, and that the two or four free traders of the minority would object to every recommendation made by the majority and "uncommend" exactly the opposite. It would also be known that the reports would be printed in many thick volumes of "testimony" argument and speculation containing little or nothing new and comprising an enormous mass which nobody would ever read or even look at except for the purpose of digging out short extracts calculated to support a policy which the scarcer was precedent more in favor. Finally it would be known in advance that Congress would pay no more attention to the "recommendations" of our commission than it pays to the whole whip whistle about the dome of the Capitol.

If the commission were only a farce the nation could, perhaps, afford to pay the cost for the sake of cutting the jaws of the disgruntled and restless, just as a nurse diverts a squalling baby with a rattle. But it would not be merely a farce; it would be disastrous. From the moment it was received in apprehension a commission every business interest in the country would wish assurance; it would be known that we had entered upon a long period of tariff agitation, whose outcome as to any particular interest could not be ascertained so. There would be increased fears in advance and modify the "recommendations" of the commission, and when that was through the whole fight would be transferred to Congress and there we would witness a few years ago, and the country saw the results. The plan to discuss matters in the open forum of the House of Representatives and Senate, as contemplated by the constitution.

There is no objection to securing official information as to the workings of the present tariff or the probable workings of any proposed modification. On the contrary, it is highly desirable. But the government is already provided with machinery necessary for that purpose in all respects better than any partisan, bipartisan or 57-partisan commission. It is only necessary for congress to direct that the actuary of the treasury department should report in words and figures precisely what would happen in respect to revenue and to imports and exports of commodities in case certain named changes in the tariff were made. These official estimates could be made upon request of any organized party in Congress, any national political convention or any other influential body making definite inquiries in good faith. That is all we want to know. We want no "recommendations" from anybody. A few copies of it would cost some thirty. It would be businesslike and practicable. A bipartisan commission would be a humbug and a menace to prosperity.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Long-Deferred Reward.

Michael Cronin of Detroit, Mich., was forty years late in receiving a deserved reward. Cronin was a young man when he served under Col. Crow (Field Marshal Lord Roberts) in the Bhotian campaign of 1862. Through some flaw in the distribution years ago Cronin was overlooked. When his whereabouts was ascertained the British government sent for him and the medal and clasp for the possession of which only some rubies were lacking. A registered letter containing the medal from London reached him last week.

Irving's First Opportunity.

When he was a young man at Oxford John Morley was noticed early as an amateur actor. Later in life he took a good deal of interest in London theaters. In the early 70s Mr. Bateman was lessee of the Lyceum theater. One day Bateman said to Morley: "I am at a loss to know what to pay next week. Why don't you give that tall young man a chance at Hamlet?" asked Morley. The tall young man was Irving, to whom Morley saw the possibilities which were developed in after years.

Smoke Nuisance Worries Vienna.

The smoke nuisance is moving even the quiet soul of the Austrian capital. Vienna is worried because the other said it disfigures the city with the black clouds from the chimneys of industry. Several municipalities have been drawn up, and it is likely that in a comparatively short time a strong effort will be made to have the other of these bodies a law.

Emperor William's Good Sort art will be known of the time arises on his subjects. In the first place, he holds that art not should be patriotic; in the second place, German; third, it must be morally elevating to subject. These restrictions are not easy to fulfill without violating the sentiment of art, but his sovereign judgment, his will is law.—Chicago Tribune.

FALSE ASSUMPTIONS

THAT TARIFF HELPS TRUSTS TO KEEP UP PRICES.

Increased Prosperity and the Greater Consumption Arising from That Cause is Wholly Responsible for the Advance in Prices.

There are two Democratic assumptions, both false, upon which the bulk of their campaign arguments are based. One of these assumptions is that the prevailing high price of articles of all descriptions is due to the action of the trusts, which have deliberately advanced prices for the purpose of reaping extraordinary profits from the necessities of the consumers. The other assumption is that the trusts have been able to advance prices and to maintain them at a high level through the protection which the present tariff bills afford the American manufacturer from foreign competition.

If these assumptions were correct, it would necessarily be found that the advance in prices is confined to or close to the manufacture of which the trusts were conceived, and in such articles alone as were protected by the Dingley tariff and protected from competition in this market by the present tariff laws.

Leaving entirely out of sight for the present consideration of the fact that the most conspicuous advances in prices have been in farm products, which are certainly not controlled by trusts, it is found that the advance in prices generally is nearly uniform in all articles of general use, and this without regard to whether they are or are not protected, or whether they are home products or are imported from abroad.

As a representative of the Dingley Department, on the "Movements of Prices from 1890 to 1901," can be found the wholesale prices for various articles in common use. The following give some illustrations in prices of articles which are on the free list, and the prices of which are concurrently unaffected by the tariff.

In all of the articles named by only one which by any stretch of the imagination can be called a "trust" product is refined kerosene. The price of refined kerosene, the trust product, it may be seen, has advanced in almost precisely the same ratio as the price of crude kerosene, which is sold by the producer to the trust.

Of other products in this line, the largest advances recorded are of tropical and semi-tropical products, which are not produced in the United States, such, for example, as glycerine, and hemp and raw silk. The above a startling advance in price, and yet it is not only on the free list, but is not produced in the United States in appreciable quantities. The advance in the price of all goods in this country is credited to Democratic arguments to the machinations of the trust, aided by the tariff. Yet the advance in the price of such articles of use as are great in proportion as the advance in the tariff, controlled by no trust and protected by no tariff.

Simple truth is that the advance in prices of all articles of common use, home made or imported, of trust manufacture or made by the independent concern, produced on the farm, or made in the mill, protected or unprotected can all be credited to one controlling cause, the increased consumption, due to the prosperous condition of our people, which increased consumption has stimulated production as well as advanced prices.

We are not yet of Crœsus and also of high prices, by the Democratic expedient of killing off the tariff and closing the factories, thus cutting of wages and consumption together. We know this can be done again because it was done in 1892.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Best Retained in Lava.

The lava streams from the eruption of Vesuvius in 1858 were so hot twelve years later that steam issued from their cracks and crevices. Those that flowed from Etna in 1787 were found to be steaming hot just before the crust as late as 1840. The volcanic fertile in Mexico, poured forth in 1759 lava that eighty-seven years later gave off volumes of steaming vapor. In 1759 it was found that a spring had burst into life, continuously signed, although no discomfort was experienced in walking on the hardened crust.

For International Stamp.

The Denmark general committee has proposed to the International Postal authorities the adoption of an international stamp. This excellent idea would allow of stamps being forwarded for reply, a difficulty that is often met with under the existing regulations. The stamp would be marked "Reply," and certain quantities would have to be adopted to prevent fraud between the countries.

TRIUMPHS IN PARIS.

AMERICAN PIANISTE CAPTURES HOSTILE FRENCH CROWD

Mrs. Fanny Bloomfield Zeisler Wins Another After Anti-Foreign Demonstration—Buckbreeze Murdered in Dayton, Ohio, Other News.

Mrs. Bloomfield Zeisler of Chicago, the finely appointed concert given by the famous pianiste, assisted by the Nouveau Theatre in Paris, drew a fashionable audience on Saturday afternoon to take part in an engagement of the American. Notwithstanding the fact that she expected to play before a hostile audience, Mrs. Zeisler was received with the greatest enthusiasm, and after playing the instrument of the Mississippi played an air of the Hungarian composer, Liszt, and finally the Chopin waltz in G flat. The audience was so pleased with the American that it encored her twice, and she responded by playing a number of Chopin's compositions. The place in which the concert was given is situated on the Rue Caumartin, and is a short distance from the Opera.

MURDERED BY MASKED MEN.

Bookkeeper in a Store at Dayton, Ohio, Victim of Bold Robbers.

Joseph W. Stolle, bookkeeper in a hardware store at Dayton, O., was murdered by masked robbers who entered the store in which Stolle was working alone in the office at 12:30 on Saturday. They gagged and tied the bookkeeper. Then one of the robbers fell by accident and the other ran to the office and demanded that the bookkeeper open the safe. Stolle refused to do any more and in the act of motioning the safe door he was struck on the head with a club by one of the robbers. The bullet passed through the skull of the victim. The robbers fled, but gathered up the money they had taken from the cash drawer, which totaled $18.

TARIFF AND POLITICS

NO PROSPECT THAT THEY WILL BE SEPARATED.

So Long as the Democrats Keep Up Their Fight Against the Protective Policy the Two Parties Must Continue to Divide on That Line

In the notable speech which Sir Edward gave the subject at Leeds last fall, the President expressed the opinion that the tariff ought to be taken out of politics and treated as a business proposition simply as a business question. This is a suggestion whose theoretical soundness does not admit of intelligent dispute. All competent and disinterested students of the question are agreed that the tariff, as it does, the basis upon which the trade, commerce and manufactures of the country are conducted, as a matter which ought not to be exposed to the uncertainties of politics or subordinated to the interests of contending political organizations. There is nothing so baneful to business as nothing which so certainly and promptly blasts the wheels of commerce, paralyzes the energy of the enterprising, alarms the timidity of capital, chances actively to stagnation and brings idle to distress, as that feeling of uncertainty and suspense which is inevitably attached to the discussion of a serious change that disturbs the schedules of the tariff as be distributed in manner satisfactory to the maintenance of the protective principle.

This has been shown by experience time and again. It has been shown upon every occasion when the settled determination has been made business men, if they are allowed sufficient time, will adjust themselves to almost any conditions which handle the element of promptness. But they cannot do business amidst a state of uncertainty as to what they do not know from one day to another what to expect, when they are without any assurance upon which to rest their calculations. Mr. Reed well recognizes the truth of this as those have recognized it before him. He perceives that nothing is more harmful to the national prosperity than to insertile the public mind upon this question of the tariff, and in order to avoid doing so that he wishes the divorce of the tariff from politics to be proclaimed. He set out in his speech at Logansport exactly define the means whereby in his judgment this result, so to whose desirability there will hardly be any serious difference of opinion, could be attained. That lay beyond the scope of the occasion. He he said enough to indicate that he favored the coupling of an export duty to which should be intrusted the responsibility of determining in what cases and to what extent, duties on the tariff should be made. In other words, the President is inclined to think that the result he has in view could be attained through the instrumentality of a tariff commission.

It might, if congress would abdicate its powers and prerogatives in the premises and consent to be bound by such a commission's recommendations. It might if the Democratic party would agree that the tariff is not rightfully and should not be made a political issue, it it would admit that protection has been definitely and irrevocably adopted as the national policy of the United States, and that from among the possible planks included in its heterogeneous collection, the useful old plank of "tariff for revenue only" should be conclusively eliminated. Unfortunately, or otherwise neither of these things is in the least likely to happen. There was a tariff commission under the Presidency of Chester A. Arthur, and how much attention does any one suppose that Congress paid to its recommendations? No attention at all. Congress will never submit to surrender any of its powers in this or any other connection, while the possibility of the Democratic supposition that the tariff could be taken out of politics is simply contemptible.

It follows that the President's vision of a time when the tariff will be treated by a body of experts as a business proposition is what the late Senator Ingalls might have called "an idealistic dream." The only safeguard against the evil of tariff tinkering is still and it likely to remain the election of a stalwart Republican Congress in Philadelphia Together.

Respected the Law.

"Gentlemen!" cries the Texas sheriff to the men as he singed about the gallows, "I hang of you to have proper respect for the officers of the law. At least wait until the judge and the coroner can be summoned. They are pretty bad last week because you went ahead and had the lynching without letting them in on the game."

Appreciating the fact that the severe of the people were entitled to a few privileges, the mob courteously sat down and waited for the sheriff officers.

The Babies in Japan.

The arrival of a baby is a very important event in Japan, especially if it be a boy. For seven days after the interesting event the house is full of relatives and friends, who come to congratulate the happy parent. At the end of twenty-one days it is etiquette for the parents to give a big feast to their friends in honor of the event, and it is understood that every great guest is present to the infant. The birth of a girl is treated with less ceremony and she gets fewer presents.

CHEW TONS OF GUM.

Cleveland Flint and Chicago Second in the Consumption.

Cleveland claims to be the largest center of gum chewing and chewing gum. It is asserted that more gum is manufactured and consumed in that city than in any other. Difference in population not being considered, and the two greatest manufactories of chewing gum are numbered among its merchant princes. They find it difficult to spend their profits. But Chicago can claim the second place, and the best indoor estimate that our reporter can obtain is a ton of gum a month. Last year 1,000 boxes containing 200 pieces and costing $1,000. That is a very small expenditure for the amount of pleasure and good that is derived from the habit, for, while gum chewing may not be refined or elegant, it is considered very healthful. It aids digestion, prevents dyspepsia, cures insomnia, concentrates the mind and promotes meditation—things. Herald.

FEMALE NATURE NOT CHANGED

Women of Biblical Times Fond of Paint and Powder.

Prof. Hilprecht, the Babylonian expert, returning upon his discoveries at Nippur, tells of one which shows that the fashion of that famous town and those of the present day are "in the same under their skin." He says: "Besides the coffins he found that we discovered, were rare cosmetics, jewels, trinkets and belongings of the dead. There were paints in three jars, too, for the dead women. For these antiquets believed that the departed one would need toilet articles to make her to keep up appearances on her spiritual journey.

Had Plenty of Surprises.

The reservoir of the old Portage railway near Altoona, Pa., is causing no end of disturbance among reptiles and wild beasts. Several days ago workers cleaning out a cutting of 600 rattlesnakes among the fallen rocks. Half the reptiles were slain by the party, while a bear, who happened to be also within sighting, when a full-grown bear ran in front of his instrument. Half an hour later a man far down the slope dropped his implement and ran when a mother bear and two cubs came up in a friendly sort of way to her who was come up. All sorts of wild game are abundant along the line of the old road.

Queer Life of French Author.

Henri Murger, author of "La Vie de Boheme," whose name is inseparably associated with traditions of the Quartier Latin is said to have arranged his life month by month on a plan characteristic of that happy-go-lucky region. He chose to have three days of enjoyment and five to pay, twenty-seven days of struggling and pinching at the rate of $1 a day, and if the month happened to have thirty-one days the extra day was provided for with the help of a dollar borrowed from a friend.

Stag and Eagle.

In India, Admiral Kennedy had the following adventure: "I was out alone for a stroll one day with my rifle, when I saw a splendid stag. I crawled toward him, but when passing an open glade in the forest there was a stand of a mighty wind directly overhead. Looking up I heard a splendid whistling again beating the wind within ten yards or so. I raised the rifle and covered it, but did not fire. The action took my stag, for when I looked again it was gone."

NORTHERN MICHIGAN.

Allston Taylor, a prominent East Jay farmer near Traverse City, was struck by a Pere Marquette train while driving across the track and instantly killed. The rig was demolished.

Jesse Lawrason, son of A. Lawrason, of Harbor springs, died of Asiatic cholera in the Philippines, November 15th, the sad news being conveyed in a telegram to the father last Saturday.

Week began Monday morning on the buildings for the new gas plant at Petoskey. It is expected that the plant will be completed by June 1st. The service will also be extended to Bay View by the high pressure system.

Many lumbering camps are closing up their work in the upper peninsula which will leave the woods in excellent condition for a greater park for game. The logging trains and sprinkle will be on more and then the lumbers will not have such free access to all parts of the forest. Many thousand acres will hardly be traversed then by man, as the largest portion of the upper peninsula is useless for agricultural purposes.

Last Jordan Enterprise: Jas Holmes one of King Edward's subjects residing at Alberta, N. W. Ter., is soon to return with his family to Uncle Sam's domains and settle down for the rest of his days in the land of his birth. He has traded house and personal property with Dan Delong and soon will be Farmer Jim of Wilson township this county. Uncle Dan will soon return also.

The people of Schewaing township near Saginaw, are enterprising and in the right direction, too. At the recent election they voted to bond the township for $10,000, the entire amount to be used in building good roads. This is the largest sum that a single township any where in the state has ever voted for road improvements, and it is a hopeful sign that the value of good roads, especially to the farmer, is beginning to be appreciated.

Petoskey Democrat: Wm Crandall of Harbor Springs, who has been display a well on the Jake Hollenberger farm, about five miles west of town, lost his life Tuesday afternoon about four o'clock by a cave in of the walls of the well. It seems that Mr. Crandall had been working at the bottom of an 80 foot well, when the sides, of a light sandy nature whose crumbling the curbing failed to resist, fell and buried him in a grave of such colossal dimensions that it exceeds all natural efforts for a burial place.

Traverse City Eagle: A rather amusing incident occurred at the depot Sunday while some merchandise was being unloaded from the steamer Ilinois. A large number of barrels of molasses had been taken off the boat and rolled into the warehouse and set on end. A quantity of soap was the next thing to be taken off the boat. Among those unloading the boat was an Indian and he with the rest was set to carrying the boxes of soap, walking on top of the heads of the molasses barrels with the soap. Finally one of the heads gave way and he was precipitated into a barrel of molasses.

Bellaire Independent: The Sawyer-Goodman telephone line is being built through from Mancelona to Central Lake, and if bad weather or other causes do not delay we can talk to outside points over this system in a very short time. The setting of the poles to this place from Mancelona was finished Monday, and the gang of men passed by now at once and began setting poles for the line to Central Lake. From Central Lake to Charlevoix the line will not be built until spring. The wire going started from Mancelona Monday is using the wire. But one wire is being put in now, but next season another wire will be put up and a full metallic circuit service given.

The reports from all sections of the upper peninsula to the effect that the annual slaughter of deer is this season much lighter than usual, are amply confirmed by the shipments of deer carcasses across the straits. In former years, where the daily consignment of deer would reach the hundreds, twenty-five to thirty is now the average number, despite the fact that several hundred more hunting licenses have been issued than ever known before. The lack of success on the part of the army of nimrods is due in great part to the weather, which since the season opened has been such as to protect the game to a noticeable extent. In no part of the peninsula does snow cover the ground, nor has there been but a flake or two to fall anywhere. With no snow it is practically impossible to track a deer, and thus many that are shot and not killed instantly are able to get away to shelter in the swamps, to die or recover. The absence of snow also prevents the hunter from stalking his prey quietly through the woods. The weather conditions are unprecedented for the time of year.

Second Cousin Sarah

BY THE AUTHOR OF "ANNE JUDGE, SPINSTER," "LITTLE MAID MARY," ETC., ETC.

CHAPTER VII.—(Continued.)

Hendon turned and looked toward the spinster. Some little emotion he felt the woman could be beyond stopped the young lady where she had been in his father's house. His embarrassment was great, but the young lady's perception was still more strongly marked. She stopped, charged his coat with one large clear gray eye, and said:

"Mr. Oldcastle! you in Worcester! You have repented you the error of your father?"

Hendon shook his head and smiled a little.

"You are a foolish fellow," she said, "and almost as strange a man as your father is. Are you still living down that wretched street in Chatham?"

"I am only afraid to live in wretched streets," was the reply.

"What has brought you to Worcester?"

"To see Aunt Rachel," he replied, "and to discover if possible the reason of my second cousin Sarah. They are my relatives, I am their nearest of kin, yet they treat me as a stranger. May I ask, Miss Rachel, if you know the reason why Sarah Eastlake and I are so at odds?"

"Why, I don't know that I can exactly answer that question. Sarah is very peculiar, very peculiar, and very full of love for you. She was waiting for her granddaughter to come back. Couldn't she come to-day? I don't mean at exactly the time you said, Sarah recalled at the suggestion, "but after you had left here and got your situation, which might enable you to have a home for her. A friend of mine has found you a situation already, and I will be security for your faithful service, until they learn to trust you for yourself."

Sarah broke down at last. The tiny little hands went up quickly to the face, you she sobbed forth:

"God bless you, or but don't—oh, don't say another word!"

But Hughes Calmady carried away by the chance, sold of his adventure and went on. He had one object in life now—to get Sarah Eastlake out of her house.

"Why, you are my cousin," he said earnestly, "and why shouldn't I help you for your own sake as well as for the sake of that old woman grieving for you down in Worcester?"

"Sal!" said her sister-in-law, slowly and emphatically, "I've been a thinking it all over."

"Well!" said Sarah Eastlake.

"And if you'd love to go, I'll put high a single word against you, even if he is my brother, and my father said he would be sorry I had you out, and if he does he'll know exactly what doing you an ill turn. He's not so bad, as a know, take him altogether, and I'm sure I'd miss you, Sal, as common Mrs. Eastlake with interesting expression, exclaimed Hughes, "Why, I'm lazy, dissipated, worthless, there's a fellow as a private one do nothing drily, and yet I'm sure I'd miss you."

Sarah wavered, but she turned quickly to her sister-in-law.

"You—you I do—and I'm sure sure I get on good from this place unwatched—you with her some time to get away."

"Of course I will."

"I was born and my own free will, sir, not knowing where to go or my despair and fault, the said Sarah to Hughes, "on one of those dull days of March, when the sun is so pale, it's a feeling of irritation against the weather, sometimes, I mean. The Captain talked seriously of ordering him back to the company, and the lazy attorney was clinging to what they called a soft place. The Captain was good, and I was doing the big head, and was shirking his plain duty. The intended also that he was afraid to go home a little, but at Stone River all this feeling was dispelled.

"The boys noticed that our division wagonmaster was, on the first day of the battle, only to the front. Some of them who had been acting as team guards came back to the rear on the second day to see to get all sorts of weather, but to a feeling of irritation against the wagonmaster

TARIFF AND FARMERS

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS ALWAYS AN EASY MARK.

When Potatoes, Beans or Onions happen to Bring Profitable Prices, Take Off the Tariff and Thus Deprive the Farmer of His Legitimate Advantage.

Among the minor expressions which the New York Commercial has indulged in in connection with the plan of taxing the tariff out of politics and placing it in the hands of a bipartisan commission is more interesting and useful in pointing out how not to do it. Thus, that of Mr. Charles H. Parsons of the Parsons Fruit company. This gentleman is quoted as saying:

"I certainly am in favor of a tariff commission, non-partisan preferable. Our President in his several speeches last month entered quite fully into the subject and a large majority of the people are with him. A tariff is notoriously and should be for the benefit of all, if possible. A tariff for the benefit of the manufacturers necessarily is for the benefit of our workmen, and when they are employed at good wages the entire country is prosperous.

"The President should have the power of, with the advice of his commission, should consider it necessary for the benefit of the country in case of shortage of our crops or prolonged strikers to suspend for a time the collection of duties on articles affected thereby. For instance, had he the collection of duties on articles of food or on coal he should all but much easier, as the situation before us is certainly serious. If there were no duty on coal and prospects of large importations the present outlook might reach an early settlement.

"When there is a failure of any of the crops that are necessary to the support of mankind, such as potatoes, onions, apples, beans, etc., the duty should be suspended for the time being, thereby enabling us to obtain them, if not at reasonable prices, at least at much lower than it would be dependent on our home supply.

"The simplicity of this scheme of tariff tinkering is one of its chief charms. An article has increased in price through diminished supply or abnormal demand. All you have to do is to take off the tariff and the price is forthwith lowered by foreign competition. Wages are too high to suit some people. Lower them by removing the tariff. Very easy, very simple. Much too simple many will think. The American farmer would be quite certain to think so. It is the votes of American farmers that support and maintain the protection principle. Take away the votes of agricultural protectionists and we would have free trade in short order.

"Now the time is a remarkable fact that all schemes of tariff reduction seem to prove first to the farmer. I'm farmer myself. He is quick to swallow the arguments of our politicians and statesmen if one is to judge by the readiness with which they pick this out for sacrifice and slaughter. If he grows sugar beets in Michigan or tobacco in Connecticut, no matter, take away the sugar and tobacco duties in the name of 'relief' or of 'reciprocity.'

"Take the Parsons idea of seasonable free trade in potatoes, onions, apples, beans, etc. There is a probable crop failure in ten states and a more than average potato crop in the other states, as often happens. Now, it would do at all to give the farmers in the ten full crop states the benefit of the higher prices that will naturally result because of the crop failure in the ten other states. The farmer might do the work, might have the money. It is true that his last year's potato crop was barely worth the digging because of the heavy yield in his own country and the consequent drop in prices. Don't let him reap last year's losses by this year's higher prices. Take off the Dingley tariff duty of 25 cents a bushel and give the benefit to the potato farmers of Canada, Ireland and Germany.

"I believe we shouldn't be high on account of short crops, because of storms or other unfavorable conditions in some sections, shall not the farmer who were lucky enough to grow good crops of basic table privileges of the improved prices? No, says Mr. Parsons, take off the Dingley duty of 45 cents a bushel; take 45 cents off the market value of every bushel of beans grown by American farmers. When apples or onions are scarce and high prices remove the Dingley rate of 40 cents a bushel. No matter if a million or more American farmers are thereby robbed of a natural and legitimate chance of getting better prices this year than they got last year. What is wanted is cheaper apples and onions. The farmer can go hang himself.

No, Mr. Parsons, you won't do. You are evidently a very raw protectionist, a very crude economist and a very bad politician. The party the kind of off the tariff from labor products where wages are high and hooks off the tariff from farm products when their price is comparatively high will not last long in this country, whether the knocking of it be done by an irresponsible bipartisan tariff commission or by legislative enactment. Some shallow tricks of tariff tinkering have already been attempted in connection with farm products. It would not be wise to try any more tricks of the same sort.

Expedient of Reduced Nobility.

An American who was spending the winter in Naples had taken a flat in a palazzo, the first floor of which was occupied by a noble family in some what reduced circumstances. He noticed, to his surprise, that every day he met a servant going up or down the stairs carrying a pair of carriage doors. At last the curiosity was explained. The noble family shared a carriage with some other families, but each had its own door, with the liveliv cost of arms to make their friends believe that they all had carriages.

TARIFF COMMISSION.

Would it Prove More a Benefit Than a Nuisance to Business Interests?

While greatly admiring the skill and energy with which the New York commercial is converting the tariff commission propaganda among the business men of the country, we could wish that its zeal might be expended in a better cause, not to say a cause that is more likely to prevail. There is, we feel sure, small probability that the tariff is going to be divorced from politics either through the creation of a bipartisan board, a non-partisan board, or any other sort of board. The tariff will stay in politics as long as its existence may in politics, and that promises to be a long while. The Commercial, however, is very much in earnest in its crusade, and in this and in circulating blank petitions for the signatures of business men. The petition reads as follows:

"A Petition for a Permanent Tariff Commission.

"To the President:

Sir:—We, the undersigned, citizens, manufacturers and business men of the United States, believe that any whole sale revision of our tariff schedules is inadvisable, as such action is sure to seriously disturb business conditions and cripple many business enterprises. We, therefore, are of the opinion that it is only a question of time when some changes must be made in these schedules, to provide for such changes we respectfully and most earnestly petition you to convene without unnecessary delay, such legislation as may be necessary for a bipartisan and permanent tariff commission, whose duty it will be to investigatively and congress in many such changes in our tariff and revenue laws from time to time, as may be found necessary.

Many men are too busy and too firm this petition without stops to think that it overstimates it—the idea of establishing which we trade boards and do not need. The country is now governed with a tariff commission that is both permanent and bipartisan. As a matter of fact we have two tariff commissions of this bipartisan character. First, the House Committee on Ways and Means and the Senate Committee on Finance. Both committees are first and afterward concurrently and having full charge of all tariff matters. Second, and auxiliary to this, we have the Board of United States General Appraisers, a permanent body of bipartisan (supposed) tariff experts, composed of five Republicans and four Democrats—that is to say, five protectionists and four free traders, holding office for life, or during good behavior, and subject to removal only "for cause and by death."

The two committees of Congress are made up for the most part of men who have made the tariff a special study and have become familiar with its relations to the industries and the trade of the country taken as a whole and also taken in all its parts. They are men who know, for example, that a protective tariff must be uniform and fair in its operations; that you must not deprive one interest of protection for the benefit of another interest which remains its protection. Along these and parallel lines these men have framed all our tariff laws, and they are the committees have had protection or free trade enterprises to take their framed protective or free trade tariffs. In short, a permanent bipartisan commission taking the powers and all the functions direct from the people, and from no other source.

Not a bad sort of tariff commission, we would think, but one of its very best features is to be noted in the fact that the permanent, bipartisan tariff commission into the tariff alone for years together and never touches it at all, and when commission to do by the voice of the people. In this way business and industry and trade go along with certainty and safety. They know "what they are at" all the time, so far as the tariff is concerned. Should we improve on this if we had a permanent board of bipartisan irresponsibles who, as Andrew Carnegie expressed it, "would have to be doing something with the tariff" all the time?

As to the second bipartisan tariff commission, which we already have, the United States Board of General Appraisers, these functionaries, some of them, are—experts and some free traders, afford a scientific example of the line of bipartisan irresponsibility as worked out in tariff matters. They often reverse themselves, and are reversed by courts of last resort. You never know where to find them. Their rulings have been so varied, so confusing, so many cases so ridiculous as essentially and so characteristically "bipartisan" that Congress has for some time past and under serious consideration the passage of a bill legislating them out of office. Originally constituted to serve as an overreaching quasi-judicial body which should interpose the failure of the regular courts, this bipartisan tariff commission has so complicated and muddled matters as to add materially to business uncertainties and the labors of the regular courts.

We would suggest that business men, business men of the New York Commercial's position, should ask themselves:

"What is to be gained by the creation of a third bipartisan tariff commission that shall have no final jurisdiction or authority, and whose functions shall consist in giving to Congress advice which Congress does not need and will not heed, together with the continued stirring up of things which had better be left alone until Congress get ready to stir them up?"

"Would not the proposed permanent bipartisan tariff commission be more likely to prove itself a nuisance than a benefit?"

EMERSON FIRM IN HIS IDEAS

Why Philosopher Was Opposed to the Use of Shoe Blacking.

Ytaki B. Sakhoff of Concord, introduced by Dr Curry at the tail of the Concord school of philosophers, says the Boston Transcript, presented without premium to a very personal and intimate prosecution of Emerson as he knew him during thirty years. His two most lasting impressions were of Emerson's way of looking from his companion's face as he talked, and of the philosopher's shoes, which were blacked, of all thinking. This latter circumstance was the result of a question asked of Emerson and his friends that if leather in tanning came out a certain color they would not change it by artificial pigments.

Astor's Gift to the Public.

In a published letter Col John Jacob Astor surrenders to the public all his rights, site and revenue in parcel No. 600,801, for a various angles. As the interesting his hope is "that the development of the ideal turbine may be hastened thereby." The engine is of novel design and Col. Astor thinks that the advantages certainable from it will be reduced weight, higher steam efficiency and "lighter machinery efficiency, by reason of the reduced speed, enabling the parts to be fitted more perfectly, permitting the diminution of friction and also the reduction of the leakage loss."

The French Sugar Harvest.

The Journal Official publishes the results of the French sugar harvest ended Sept. 1, 1902. The number of factories was 332, and they used 20,614,267,767 pounds of beet roots, against 19,218,444,406 pounds for 334 factories in 1901. The total output of refined sugar has been 2,494,694,704 pounds, which, or greater by 39,857,962 pounds than that of the immediately preceding harvest. The yield of refined sugar is 11.85 per cent of beet root, against 12.52 per cent in 1901.

Insanity in Professions.

A French investigator has come to the conclusion that the brains of naval and military men give out most quickly. He states that out of every 100,000 men of the army or naval professions 125 are in-pious insanity. Of the liberal professions artists are the first to succumb to the brain strain, next the lawyers, followed at some distance by doctors, clergy, literary men and civil servants. Striking an average of this group 172 go mad to each 100,000.

Take Off Their Veils.

Turkish women are said to be getting more liberal-minded every year. Nowadays, in spite of orders to cover their faces in public, many ladies let their veils fall aside and keep them off altogether when entering a shop.

Probate Order.

State of Michigan, County of Charlevoix—ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Charlevoix, session at the Probate office, in the City of Charlevoix, on Tuesday, the 15th day of November, A. D. 1902. Present, Hon. Frank E. Jones, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the estate of Sidney A. Shadler, deceased. On reading and filing the petition of Ella Shadler, praying for the probate of a certain instrument, purporting to be a last will and testament, and for the granting of letters testamentary thereon, as in said petition mentioned. It is ordered that the 15th day of December, A. D. 1902, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at said Probate office, be assigned for the hearing of said petition, and that the heirs at law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate are required to appear at a session of said court, then to be held at the Probate office, in the Village of Charlevoix, and show cause why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted. It is further ordered that said petitioner give notice to the persons interested in said estate of the pendency of said petition, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this order to be published in the Charlevoix Sentinel, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Charlevoix, for three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

Mortgage Sale.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage made by Mary Ann Lightner of Charlevoix, Michigan, to Catherine Lightner of Charlevoix, Michigan, dated the 8th day of March, A. D., 1900, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Charlevoix and State of Michigan, on the 2nd day of May, A. D., 1900, in Liber 10 of mortgages, on page 300, which said mortgage was given to secure the payment of the sum of $1,000 and the interest thereon, of which there is now claimed to be due and unpaid on said mortgage, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, Now, Therefore, By virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage, and the statute in such case made and provided, notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by sale of the premises described in said mortgage, viz: Lots 1 and 2 of Block 1 in the Lemmon's plat of the Village of Charlevoix, according to the recorded plat thereof, at public vendue, at the front door of the Waukazoo House, in said Village of Charlevoix, that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix holds its sessions, on the 29th day of November, A. D., 1902, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, to pay said debt and interest, and the costs and charges of foreclosure and attorney fee allowed by law. Let six (6) of block seven (7) of Mason's addition to the City of Charlevoix, according to the recorded plat thereof. Dated, August 29th, 1902. ONE THING AT A TIME.

Let the Tariff Alone and Attend to the Trusts.

The decision reached by the President and the leading Republican statesmen with whom he has conferred, not to attempt tariff revision at the next session of congress is the only one expedient at this time.

In industrial disturbances in this country is not an abstract mathematical problem to be solved upon general principles in the broad field of American prosperity the wheat and the tares are so intermingled that to adopt any sweeping method for removing the tares is to run a great risk of destroying the wheat as well.

The question is: Which do the people feelin the moment that the overwhelming abuses of the trusts be curbed or that the horizontal hatchet-stroke of the tariff be practiced?

To that question sober and practical men have but one answer. Protection benefits millions who neither gain nor lose by the trusts. Therefore on the tariff alone and attend to the trusts.

The first step toward curbing trust evils is plainly indicated by the facts and practically agreed upon by all concerned. It is that these great corporations shall give a wholesome publicity to their doings. That step can inflict no legitimate enterprise, and it will be welcomed by all honest capitalists are really honest.

When that step is taken—when the results of publicity are seen—then other steps may be necessary. One of them may be a revision of the tariff. But to insist upon taking that possible step now is both unwary and reckless.

For we cannot, without endangering prosperity, curb the trusts and revise the tariff at the same time. Our industrial situation is too complex that to be dealt with on all sides at once. To take up two great questions would call in question the whole foundation upon which our industrial system is built.

All lines of industry would halt until the uncertainty as to their future should be ended. The mill would work upon positive orders only. No merchant would buy only what he felt sure he could sell at once. Consumers would purchase for immediate needs only. Producers would have to wait until the items upon which they should benefit protection were determined and which consumers would call "hard times."

When confronted with such a situation, in which the welfare of all the people is bound up, it evidently behoves the nation not to do anything to move cautiously. Thoughts can come in the white rays to be achieved only by doing one thing at a time.

Parker Has Around Jealousy.

Now that Mr Gilbert Parker has established an enviable reputation in many directions—novelist, playwright, writer of short stories, parliamentarian, generous entertainer and author of numerous solid little pleasantry. A story in point is related of a noted literary man who is credited with saying that he frequently waked up in the middle of the night, when all is still, "I raise myself on my elbow," says the jealous literary person, "and I can distinctly hear Parker climbing, climbing, climbing.

School Teachers Threaten to Quit.

The little principality of Birkenfeld in the grand duchy of Oldenburg, is threatened with the strange spectacle of a general strike of school teachers. The population is about 42,000, all told, but the pay of school teachers is so low that, after many vain efforts to obtain redress, they have drawn up an ultimatum in form, declaring that unless a new scale of emoluments be granted within a specified time the entire body of school teachers will resign.

A Little Improvement.

WORDS OF WARNING

SOME FALLACIES OF LOPSIDED PROTECTIONISM POINTED OUT.

Protection is a Policy Designed for the Benefit of the Country As a Whole and Not for the Advantage of Special Interests.

The Boston Herald of several days ago contained an editorial on the tariff, a portion of which we have written somewhat. The reason why there is an increasing call for free raw materials is obviously logical one that when a duty is imposed on any material, which greatly increases the price, it should hinder the processes of manufacture from this very fact and under such circumstances we attempt to compete in manufactured products with nations which do not have these industries thus handicapped we are placed at a novel disadvantage.

The Hingham dispute to which the Herald refers is only begun in New England, and it speedily becomes limited when the manufacturers of that section were reminded, as they have been at times that the parts of the country which produce raw materials are willing to waive the protection on their products and permit the New Englanders to retain the tariff on manufactured articles before the West gave New England a sharp reminder on this point, and it will be apt to repeat its warning if the Protectionists of that section do not thoroughly learn the lesson that the tariff is designed for the benefit of the whole country and not alone for the New England states.

But it is also true that the demand for free raw materials is inspired by the same spirit of selfishness that Reginald N. Foss, a candidate for Congress in a Massachusetts district, gave the real reason a few days ago in a speech made to him at Amesbury Massachusetts he said:

"I believe that unless there is a reduction of the tariff on the items of free raw material the west ten years will see our great manufacturing establishments, our cotton and woolen mills, our iron and steel plants moving from the east to the west. We, where they will get their wool and hides at their door in the fields, where they will pick the cotton from the fields in Pennsylvania and Ohio where they will dig the iron and coal from the mountains and transform it into the raw material for the manufactur

TORTURED BY TURKS.

INHUMAN METHODS EMPLOYED AGAINST MACEDONIANS.

Christian Villagers Tortured in Shocking Manner to Make Them Betray Information—Litigants Taken Title to Rich from Sands in Minnesota.

Most severe from Constantinople comes the story of atrocious methods in vogue in the Macedonian remnants. The accounts from not in and are danger from our diplomacy hands to-day, yet the Turkish authorities seem to think the time has come to act. In the face of promises of free justice to those who return to their homes, Christian villagers have been shockingly tortured to make them betray alleged secret caches of arms or give information regarding the work of the Macedonian committees. The instruments has been frequently employed and the victim were compelled to stand their feet in water for 2 days by Turkish soldiers. Prominent men often lose their beards by the roots, and burning irons were applied to the tender parts of the victim's body. The Turkish officials have made no effort to punish the guilty.

TRAIN ROBBERS ARE FOILED.

Disconcerted by Flagman Who Proves Much Heavier Than Expected.

A futile attempt was made to-three men on the south bound Illinois Central train, the Chicago and Alton at Independence, Mo., early in the morning. Just as Independence there approached two men who ordered the train to stop on the rear platform. One of them pointed his gun at Flagman Parsons, who proceeded to throw up his hands when the robber in the face with a shotgun loaded with buckshot, scattering the robber and throwing up his hands through sympathy. The unappeased opponent discovered the robbers that they had left them the train and disappointed. Attempt was made by the robbers to follow the train.

WIN MILLIONS IN LAWSUIT.

Litigants Awarded Title to Tract Rich in Iron Ores.

Judge Lochren in the United States Court at St. Paul, Minn., decided that F. W. Eaton and his associates were entitled to the iron ore beneath a tract of land in Minnesota, thirty miles from Duluth. The suit was brought by the Pittsburg Duluth Iron Company, which claimed that the iron ore belonged to the United States. The property is a tract of land in the Vermilion Lake region, and the ore is of the Mesabi variety. The value of the property is estimated at $10,000,000.

SUICIDE ON THE WING.

Iowa Man Kills Himself While Martinique Guests Await Him.

Twenty miles from Dubuque, Iowa, yesterday, a man named Jas. Mahoney, at his parents' home, took a shotgun and blew out his brains. The cause of the suicide was unknown. Mahoney was a bachelor, 40 years of age, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Lynch of East Jim Mahoney. The wedding party proceeded to the home of Mr. Mahoney to find the bridegroom dead. The wedding breakfast was served to the guests, who had come from Martinique, Iowa, to attend the wedding.

ROBBERS FOILED AT ARKON, IND.

Forced to Flee After a Lively Battle with Citizens.

Arkon, Ind., early Wednesday morning the stores of Tompkins Brothers, Hardware and Grocery, were robbed. The town was roused by the firing of several shots from the rear of the store. The citizens armed and formed in the rear of the store. The robbers had left the place, and were hurrying south when they were discovered and fired upon by the citizens. The robbers fired back with shotguns and revolvers, and a lively battle ensued, in which one of the robbers was wounded. The robbers escaped, and have not been heard from since.
